SENATE WILL RATIFY NAVY TREATY TODAY; MAY BE UNANIMOUS

No Changes Suggested in Day's Debate on Agreement to Cut Sea Armaments.

LEAGUE ISSUE RISES AGAIN

Williams Predicts We Will Enter Yet—Going In by 'Back Door' Now, Says Borah.

But Kellogg Denies Hitchcock Charge That Borah Forced Harding's Hand.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—After four hours of debate on the naval limitation treaty, wherein the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy bind themselves to end competition in sea armament and maintain the status quo as regards fortifications in their insular possessions in the Pacific, the Senate agreed today to begin voting on it tomorrow at 3 P. M. The treaty will be ratified, possibly by unanimous vote.

During the day's discussion the Senate approved the nineteen articles relating to armaments and fortifications, after which it voted to dispense with reading of the chapter relating to execution of the treaty and other miscellaneous provisions.

No amendments or reservations to the agreement have been suggested, and the indications are for the ratification of the instrument in the form it came from the arms conference. Senator Reed, the only member who is known to be opposed to the treaty, is in Missouri.

Despite the general agreement of sentiment several Democrats voiced their regret during the day that nothing had been done to reduce land armaments, and asserted that some of the credit for the reduction actually in sight was due to their party. They sought to show that the 1916 Congress, controlled by the Democrats, originated the idea of an armament conference, which was finally, they held, forced upon a reluctant Republican Administration, partly through the insistence of Senator Borah.

As a result of the speed made today, it begins to look as if all of the conference treaties would be ratified by the end of the week. After the naval agreement is disposed of the only treaties remaining will be the two relating to China and the one relating to the use of submarines and noxious gases in warfare.

Senator Lodge Answers Reed.

In placing the treaty before the Senate, Senator Lodge discussed it section by section. He said that in its completed form it represented the considered policy of the Government and the views of technical experts. The ablest American experts, he added, were called into conference and their advice was asked. The delegation, he said, met repeatedly prior to Nov. 11, and the speech of Secretary Hughes, in which he placed the plan for naval reduction before the world, was the fruit of those conferences.

"The most important of the achievements of the conference was not," said the Senator, "the adoption of the plan for the scrapping of ships. That was perhaps the most spectacular achievement, but the outstanding and most important accomplishment was the agreement to terminate the fearful race for naval supremacy; in other words, to stop competition in naval armament."

Japan, said Senator Lodge, yielded in the matter of naval ratio with great reluctance, and then only when the other powers agreed to limit fortifications in the region of the Pacific.

He took up the charge recently made by Senator Reed that the 5-5-3 ratio was not borne out by the treaty, and said that the Missourian's assertion had no basis.

"I cannot understand," he added, "the assertion of the Senator from Missouri that Great Britain is scrapping only 92,000 tons of ships, when, as a matter of fact, the tonnage she is scrapping is more than 500,000 tons."

Mr. Lodge charged various inaccuracies and omissions to Senator Reed, who he asserted, used a foreign basis of computing tonnage rather than the American basis which the American experts used.

Turning to Article 19, which relates to the status quo on Pacific fortifications, the majority leader remarked:

"I have been not a little amused over this agony of apprehension regarding our agreement not to further fortify Guam. We took Guam in the Spanish War, and since then we have taken so little interest in it that we never have passed a line of legislation about it. It remains today in the hands of the navy which captured it. No one in Congress was willing to spend a dollar for its fortification."

Says League Made No Progress.

In closing his address Mr. Lodge said the League of Nations had made no real progress toward disarmament, having taken steps only for study and collecting of information. The Washington conference, he added, "has at least succeeded in getting definite action." He contended:

"This treaty will mean an absolute reduction in armament, the stopping of competition in naval building, and sensible reduction within a year to taxpayers. It is a real concrete achievement."

Senator Underwood took the floor afterward to answer questions as to the treaty. To Senator King, who asked

Wagner's Son to Ask Aid Here For 1923 Bayreuth Festival

BERLIN, March 28.—Hope of reviving the Bayreuth Festival in 1923 is entertained by Sigfried Wagner, son of the noted composer. He will visit the United States during the coming Summer to enlist American financial aid for the undertaking.

MANY FIRES IN BELFAST

BELFAST, March 28 (Associated Press).—Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, speaking in the Northern Parliament this afternoon in answer to the statement issued by Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, yesterday, said:

"I would have made no statement at this stage but for the serious charge made by Mr. Collins, which may convey the impression that I have not honorably kept my word. I will not deviate one inch from the policy I have pursued from the beginning."

Sir James said that when Mr. Collins signed the agreement with him Mr. Collins had kept him entirely in the dark concerning large territories and not merely concerning the boundary line involved in the Boundary Commission provided for by the Anglo-Irish treaty.

The Premier denied the charge that he had done nothing for the expelled workers of Belfast. He said Loyalist workers had admitted the principle of reinstating Catholics when trade had revived, but there were 67,000 men unemployed.

"The whole aspect has changed," he said, "since the revelation of predatory attacks being attempted upon the Ulster area. I cannot go on with the agreement when such an interpretation is placed upon it. Mr. Collins is not big enough to stick to his signature."

Sir James vigorously repudiated the charges that the Belfast Protestants were conducting a pogrom against the Catholics as Catholics.

"The Orange institution is particularly charged with being at the bottom of the pogrom," said the Premier. "I am an Orangeman myself, and I can say that the whole organization is built upon one simple statement—civil and religious freedom for all."

Alluding to the conference to be held in London tomorrow, Sir James said his desire was to create a helpful and not a destructive meeting. He expressed an earnest wish that at the eleventh hour vindictiveness and hatred would give way to a reasonable sense of proportion, leading to peace.

The Premier reiterated that the South of Ireland was sending men with bombs and arms to create unrest in the north, and, if possible, "the same surrender as in the south." He declared the Ulstermen were not up against the Catholics, but "against rebels, murderers, Bolshevists and enemies of the empire."

Fires Started; Bomb Thrown.

Several fires broke out in different parts of the city early this morning. A bomb was thrown into a crowd watching the burning of a jam factory in Unity Street, and three persons were wounded.

Firemen from all the fire stations in Belfast were busy throughout the night combating this new terror of nocturnal incendiarism, and although fires were continually breaking out they were able to save a considerable amount of property.

Among the buildings burned were a store in Ann Street, a flour mill in York Street and a shop in Kent Street, all of which were in the central area. The jam factory was situated in Unity Street, which is inhabited by large numbers of each faction.

Each faction accused the other of starting the fire, and it was in the midst of this hubbub that the bomb was thrown.

Armed men raided a number of trains today on the Sligo-Leitrim Railway, removing all goods coming from the Ulster area and burning editions of Northern newspapers which the trains were carrying.

WIRTH DECLINES TO LEVY NEW TAX OR ALLOW CONTROL

STILL SEEKS AGREEMENT

TONE OF NOTE CRITICISED

Fall of Exchange Attributed to It Adds 28,000,000,000 Marks to German Budget.

By CYRIL BROWN.

BERLIN, March 28.—"An utterly impossible and presumptuous condition," Chancellor Wirth characterized the Reparation Commission's demand that Germany pass new tax laws yielding an additional 60,000,000,000 marks by May 31. Foreshadowing Germany's formal note in answer to the Reparation Commission, Chancellor Wirth served notice on the Allies that his Government would reject these and all similar demands.

Speaking for nearly two hours, more temperamentally than his auditors had ever before heard him, and employing frequently phrases which will smite the allied leaders as at least cheeky and nervy in the circumstances, Herr Wirth as the keynote of his speech delivered what to many auditors sounded like a Teuton "declaration of independence" from allied control, again and again provoking the enthusiasm of the overfilled galleries and the majority on the floor, even the Chancellor's reactionary opposition being repeatedly swept off its feet into applauding sentiments that sounded good even to nationalistic ears.

Today's speech may mark the turning point in the Wirth Government's foreign policy, both the Government and the Reichstag majority being solidly united on the proposition to turn down the "offensive" conditions of the Reparation Commission's note.

Some of the more important points made by Wirth in the course of his long argument were as follows:

"The so-called tax compromise, consisting of fourteen new tax laws, which the Reichstag for the past week has been deliberating, form an integral part of our foreign policy whereby it was hoped gradually to bring the existing difficulties in the relations between the German and foreign Governments gradually to a sensible compromise agreement.

"The Government's foreign policy has been disturbed by the Reparation Commission's notes of March 21 wherein we must view the actual and new worsening of our situatio which rightly has caused the utmost excitement in all Germany. Obviously the Government's earnest endeavors have not been given credit by the Reparation Commission in any form. In particular there appears lacking an understanding of the significance of tax reform now in process.

"The most painful surprise for us is caused by two points in the conditions, namely, that we immediately prepare a plan for increasing taxes by at least 60,000,000,000 paper marks for the current year and pass and enforce these new 60,000,000,000 taxes by May 31. After thorough deliberation the Government has reached the conclusion that this is an utterly impossible and presumptious condition."

Willing to Discuss Tax Burdens.

"There is probably nobody here who seriously believes it is possible to raise an additional sixty billions taxes," the Chancellor continued." Our direct and indirect taxes have been increased to the limit, though we gladly are prepared to enter into a serious discussion regarding the German peoples comparative tax burdens with other countries.

"The Reparation Commission by granting a moratorium would have contributed to the stabilization of our currency and the creation of healthy basic conditions for our financial policy. The Reparation Commission's notes have actually achieved the diametrical opposite. The Reparation Commission's note by causing an increase in the gold mark's price has caused our budget deficit to increase by 28,000,000,000, to 224,000,000,000—a striking proof that a policy of might cannot foster the reparation problem.

"The parties representing an overwhelming majority of the German people

Harding to Keep Out of Fall Campaign; Said to Be Warned by Wilson Example

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—President Harding has informed inquirers that he has no intention of taking part in the Autumn Congressional campaign and that no political speeches may be expected from him.

The impression has prevailed in Washington, based mainly on statements by those close to the President, that Mr. Harding is irritated over the course of Republican Congressmen in standing for re-election on the record of the Administration, on the one hand, and in ignoring suggestions as to legislation that come from the Administration on the other hand. It will be recalled that when the President commented on his first year in the White House he was of the opinion that the record of the Administration spoke for itself. Consequently in the next Congressional election is to be fought along these lines, the President has no need to speak for himself, as voluble defense of his Administration will come from Republican campaigners.

There may be another influence that holds back the President from taking an active part in the Fall campaign, despite his firm belief in party organization and in party "regularity." This is the fate of the 1918 election appeal of President Wilson, when his request for a Democratic Congress was ignored by the country.

Mr. Harding does not look with favor upon suggestions that he shall issue an appeal for a continuance of a Republican Congress. He is anxious to take part and do his share in Republican campaign plans, but he does not regard it as the President's business to "harangue the multitude" in an appeal for a Republican Congress.

Fleet of Eighty Fords to Combat Crime; Only One Robbery Reported in the City

Police Commissioner Enright said yesterday that he intended in a few days to provide a Ford runabout automobile for every precinct to aid the uniformed force in running down robbers. He said that a sergeant and a policeman would be assigned to each vehicle for the twenty-four hours of each day.

The machines will patrol their precincts and the sergeants will keep in touch with the station by telephone so that in the event of a hold-up or other disturbance they can hasten to the scene and gather up other policemen on the way.

Altogether there will be about eighty runabouts used. There will also be twenty large touring cars for the use of detectives in branch bureaus and for members of the traffic squad. Detectives will cruise about the city in these cars and also will serve as flying squadrons to await word of hold-ups at their respective headquarters.

The only important crime reported to the police yesterday resulted in the capture of a negro accused of burglary in Brooklyn early this morning. County Judge George W. Martin, looking from a second floor window of his home at 357 McDonough Street, Brooklyn, saw a negro in front of a tailor's shop at 357 Stuyvesant Street. Then he saw a light in the shop go out. Judge Martin telephone Brooklyn Police Headquarters and several policemen were hurried to the scene.

Led by Judge Martin, the policemen forced the door, after drawing their pistols, and pulled a negro from beneath a pile of clothing. He carried several skeleton keys and wore gloves, according to the police. He gave the name of Francis Everett Kelly. He was locked up in the Ralph Avenue Station, charged with robbery. The lookout had fled.

The police also expect that under the powers conferred on the force by the bill recently signed by Governor Miller, which placed the licensing of automobiles in the control of the Police Department, the number of automobile thefts will be considerably decreased.

When the full force of police automobile squads was in operation, it was said at Police Headquarters yesterday, detectives aided by the uniformed force would begin a systematic search of the city for stolen cars.

COURT SETS ASIDE THE GRISWOLD WILL

APPEAL IS TO BE TAKEN

Recounting to Be Made in Behalf of Countess Da Contubia, the Daughter.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, March 28.—County Judge Ingersoll today set aside the will of Mrs. Alice Gerry Griswold of Baltimore, known internationally, which cut off her daughter, the Countess Anna St. Clair da Contubia of Milan, and left the bulk of the estate to Mrs. Mary M. Drischman, wife of a buther of this city.

Former Assemblyman Carlton Godfrey, one of counsel for Mrs. Drischman, announced tonight that an appeal would be taken. Former Judge Clarence L. Cole, chief of counsel for the Countess da Contubia, said he was authorized to contine the discovery proceedings entered in the Chancery Court to demand an accounting of the estate.

The Countess had appealed from the probate of the document on the ground of undue influence, conspiracy and untestamentary capacity, Mrs. Drischman served as trustee for Mrs. Griswold from July, 1915, until her death last April. It was shown that during her administration the estate dwindled from its pre-war appraisal of about $500,000 to $85,000. The hearing lasted more than a month.

Descendant of Napoleon.

The Countess is a direct descendant of Napoleon Bonaparte through her mother's second marriage to David Stewart, and a niece of former United States Attorney General Charles Bonaparte.

Judge Ingersoll, in his opinion, holds that the charges of undue influence and untestamentary capacity had been proved. He makes no references to the allegation of conspiracy.

Judge Ingersoll discusses the factors that led to the turning over of the estate, then conservatively valued at $500,000, to Mrs. Drischman. It was testified that for fifteen months before that the estate had showed a net income of $20,000.

Three deeds of trusts were made at intervals broadening the powers of Mrs. Drischman. The Court observes that the last allowed a commission of 10 per cent. for all sales and purchases and on moneys paid out for living expenses for Mrs. Griswold.

The opinion says: "These deeds of trust and Mrs. Drischman's management of the estate are evidences of the domination and control which Mrs. Drischman exercised over Mrs. Griswold, and it is as clear that this domination and control steadily increased from its beginning to the death of the decedent. It is an undisputed fact that the estate of Mrs. Griswold was reduced from a valuation * * * about $500,000, which Mrs. Drischman's books showed to be worth about $325,000, and was reduced in principal until, at the date of Mrs. Griswold's death, there remained only about $85,000."

"Commissions on realty sales and transfers and on the income and expenses amounted to over $105,000 in less than six years," the Court said. "During this time, according to the trustee's books, payments were made to Mrs. Griswold or for her support of less than $5,000 per year."

The opinion also says:

"A property known as the Little Rock Avenue property, which was valued at $70,000, was conveyed by Mrs. Griswold without consideration to a company formed for Mrs. Drischman, and afterward conveyed from said company to her. Miller is given $6,000 as compensation for an injury sustained, a property in Baltimore, and diamonds and clothing of considerable value. Fred Binder, a brother of Mrs. Drischman, is given a property in Baltimore, and Emma Schlieser gifts of lesser amounts. An exchange of property is made with Mrs. Clara Blizzard, a sister of Mrs. Drischman, in which Mrs. Blizzard apparently obtained a decided financial advantage."

Judge Ingersoll tells of Mrs. Griswold living in an obscure cottage in Northfield, near here, where she was held virtually a prisoner by Mrs. Drischman. He recounts how Miller was her house-keeper and general manager and that Mrs. Griswold was always kept under close guard.

"The influence of Mrs. Drischman over Mrs. Griswold is apparent," the Court says. "Her domination and control of the estate and the person of Mrs. Griswold is so clearly shown by the testimony and by the exhibits that her denial of the exercise of such undue influence is discredited."

RUM-FILLED CANDY SEIZED IN DRY RAID

Sheriff of Nassau County Captures the Edith and Thirty-Two Persons Aboard.

A raid by Federal prohibition agents yesterday afternoon on rooms in the rear of the third floor, 140 West Forty-second Street, just east of Broadway, ostensibly used as a broker's and real estate office, resulted in the seizure of a large quantity of liquors, including bonbons containing a liberal measure of a good grade of rum. Six men found in the place were arrested. This capture marked the first day in office of General Prohibition Agent John D. Appleby, who has charge of New York State and New Jersey, under the new zoning system of general prohibition agents. Agents on the staff of Director Ralph A. Day participated in the raid.

With the arrival of General Agent Appleby, whose forces will augment those of the state staffs, Director Day intimated he would transfer a number of men who have been in executive positions. He did not indicate what these changes would be but said they would bring about better results. He and Mr. Appleby, he said, would work in perfect harmony.

Seizure by the Sheriff of Nassau County of the steam yacht Edith and cargo of liquors, valued at about $300,000, and the arrest of thirty-two persons was another feature of the day.

Followed Police Seizures.

Yesterday, armed with a search warrant, Agent Michael Barry, in charge, with Agents Reager, Karrigan and Gareson of Director Day's staff, entered the elevator of the office building and went to the rear suit. The first room was furnished with a desk, a locked chest and a few chairs. The adjoining office contained a desk and chairs. Hanging on the wall just over the desk in this room was a card showing membership in a real estate board. In the two rooms, the agents said, they found six men, who made no resistance, but refused to open the third room, about the size of a large closet.

Forcing the door, the agents said they found sixty-five bottles of gin, forty-one bottles of port wine, thirty-four bottles of sherry, six bottles of rum, nine bottles of vermuth, fifteen bottles of absinthe, forty-nine bottles of Scotch, a few bottles of other liquors and twelve one-pound boxes labeled "Bon Bon Superfins," with candies alleged to have contained "sweet rum." The bootleg value of the seized stuff is about $2,000.

"Loaded" Candy Popular.

Agents said that the "bon bons" sold for $3.75 a box and that there had been a big demand in the last few days when they had the place under observation. This is the first time, the agents said, that they had discovered good liquor being sold in the city in this disguise.

The agents said they got an idea of the popularity of the brokerage office while they were making an inventory of the seized goods by the number of calls, both in person and by telephone, by persons who evidently had been patrons of the "office."

The steam yacht Edith, which was seized by Sheriff Charles W. Smith of Nassau County at Bayville, L. I., had on board, the officers said, 1,500 cases of rye whisky and 3,000 bags of six bottles of whisky each, the value, at bootleg prices, being about $300,000. Much of the liquor already had been loaded on six motor trucks. The liquor had just arrived, the authorities said, from Nassau, Bahama Islands.

The craft, a submarine chaser during the war, is said to be owned by Antonio

MISSION IN FEAR OF DEATH

Washington Hears That, With Famine Creeping on Moscow, Soviet Needs Him at Home.

RIGA, March 28 (Associated Press).—Discovery of what the secret police describe as a well organized plot to assassinate the Russian Soviet delegates to the Genoa conference while passing through Latvia resulted in a large number of arrests today. Among the principals of the alleged plot were several Russians who were said to belong to a monarchist movement making its headquarters in Germany.

It was owing to discovery of plotting against the Soviet delegates that the Letts, who granted safe conduct to the Russians, decided days ago to guard the delegation carefully.

A round-up of "Whites" and others active in anti-Bolshevist organizations was begun Sunday. Among those taken into custody was Princess Lieven, the wife of a General in the army of the Russian Emperor, who served later with General Yudenitch, and several other women considered by the police as agitators. It is announced by the police that the Princess and many others of the suspects will be released as soon as the delegates have passed out of Latvia.

Reports that General Boris Savinkoff, an active leader of anti-Bolshevist activities, is in Riga are denied in political and police circles, but the police have admitted the arrest of two of his leaders.

The Lettish officials announce their determination to prevent, if possible, any attempts at violation of neutrality, and that the Soviet delegates will be given all the protection within their power. Owing to the discovery of the plot the time of the expected arrival of the Russians will be kept secret.

PARIS, March 28.—To the French Foreign Office there has come both directly and indirectly news that the Soviet delegation as the time approaches for the conference, is beginning to suffer acutely from nerves. Fear of assassination by some exiled compatriot seems to have taken strong hold of the members of the Moscow Government and they have asked that the utmost secrecy be observed as to all movements of the delegates.

Permission had been obtained for them to cross the frontiers of all countries they must travel through to reach Genoa, but when they will start and what route they will follow is being carefully kept secret.

At Genoa the Russians will be lodged at Rapallo, which is nearly fifteen miles from Genoa, and this news, it is stated, has been received with mixed feeling by the Soviet delegates. Although at Rapallo they will be secure from attack and well guarded by special Italian police, they fear that they will be exposed to all kinds of danger while traveling back and forth.

Each member of the Soviet delegation and secretariat, says a Moscow message, is to receive 150,000,000 rubles with which to purchase an outfit worthy of their position and dignity of the envoys among other delegations.

Clerk Thought Draft of Ordinance Had Been Passed, Sent It to Enright.

OFFICIALS BUSY EXPLAINING

Get a Taste of What Might Have Happened—Hylan Never Crosses "the Ladies."

New York City has no ordinance to prevent women smoking in restaurants, it was discovered yesterday, and Monday night's police activity, based upon an order issued at headquarters, grew out of a mistake.

Daniel W. F. McCoy, a veteran clerk in the City Clerk's office, committed the original error by sending to headquarters a copy of the anti-cigarette ordinance, which he had clipped from the City Record at the time of the vote killing it, along with copies of several other ordinances passed by the Board of Aldermen and signed by the Mayor. City Clerk Michael J. Cruise accepted responsibility for the mistake in a letter to Police Commissioner Enright, but the view generally was held by city officials that the Police Department had been at least partly to blame.

The copy of the ordinance received at Headquarters lacked the certifying signature of Mr. Cruise, even by rubber stamp. Murray Hulbert, President of the Board of Aldermen, who obtained this copy, said that he could not understand why Commissioner Enright or some other official had not made inquiry.

Commissioner Enright announced the revocation of his order of the night before as soon as he learned that the ordinance never had been passed. A statement issued by him read:

"The smoking order has been rescinded. The ordinance came up with regular routine Aldermanic papers. It looked authentic, and an order was sent out for enforcement. It is now discovered that the Mayor's signature was not on it."

C. G. Young, secretary to Commissioner Enright, denied that the Police Department was in any way responsible for the error, and referred to City Clerk Cruise's letter, which follows:

City Clerk Takes Blame.

"On March 22, 1922, a copy of a proposed ordinance of the Board of Aldermen prohibiting any female from smoking in public places was delivered to you as being adopted by the Board of Aldermen and approved by his Honor the Mayor.

"This was an error on the part of one of the attaches of this office. The ordinance was not adopted by the Board of Aldermen and was not approved by his Honor the Mayor.

"Will you kindly return the copy to bearer."

Mr. Cruise said that McCoy had been accustomed to clip proposed ordinances from The City Record and to paste these clippings on paper and forward them to the city departments affected when the ordinances were passed by the board and signed by the Mayor. From the City Record of Jan. 26, containing the report of the proceedings of the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Jan. 24, Mr. McCoy clipped the proposed anti-smoking ordinance introduced by Alderman Peter J. McGuinness of Greenpoint.

$50,000 Launch for Harding To Be Used on Naval Yacht

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A speedy, luxuriously fitted launch has been completed for the Navy Department at a cost of nearly $50,000 and has been assigned to the Mayflower for the use of the President and Mrs. Harding when they go ashore during cruises on the Presidential yacht. It will be swung on board the Mayflower, now being overhauled for Summer duty at the Washington Navy Yard, as soon as deck space is available.

Commander Holmes of the Mayflower, the President's Naval Aide, has received leave for next week to take the new launch on a ten-day experimental cruise.

Assassins Fire at Milukoff in Berlin; He Escapes, but Naboukoff Dies Saving Him

BERLIN, March 28 (Associated Press).—An attempt was made to assassinate Professor Paul N. Milukoff, former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Russian Provisional Government, while he was addressing a gathering of Russians tonight.

The attempt was frustrated by Vladimir Naboukoff, who himself was killed by a bullet aimed at Milukoff.

Professor Milukoff was not injured. He was immediately surrounded by friends who hurried him from the hall. His assailants were two former Russian officers, who shouted, "We will have revenge for the death of the Czar," as they fired from seats in the auditorium. Professor Milukoff was speaking on his recent visit to the United States and regarding the European situation. His address was moderate in tone and non-political.

N. Naboukoff was Secretary of State in the first Russian Parliamentary Cabinet under Prince Lvoff. He was a noted authority on criminology and editor of the Russian [illegible] Rul in Berlin. [illegible] was speaking on the stage he [illegible] He leaped in front of Milukoff as the assassins fired, and fell dead with two bullets through his body. Several persons in the audience were slightly wounded. About twelve shots were fired.

The shooting caused a panic among the audience, which numbered about 1,500, and many persons were injured in the rush for the exits.

M. Milukoff, who held, successively, several portfolios in the Russian Cabinet of Kerensky, which lasted from the revolution of March, 1917, which overthrew the Czar, until it was overthrown in its turn in the following November by the Bolsheviki, has ever since been the representative-at-large of the Constituent Assembly, which the Bolsheviki would not permit to meet.

He came here in that capacity at the time of the Washington conference last November, and talked and wrote here, as he subsequently has done in Berlin. His view has been that Russia is capable of a democratic government and that the only reason she has not one is because Lenin will not permit it; that Lenin and the Soviets are alone responsible for the present deplorable conditions in Russia, and that to say that Russia, because of her mistake of November, 1917, is capable of and deserves no other government is to underestimate the Russians, who only await the chance to assert themselves.

RICKARD NOT GUILTY; VERDICT AT 12:19 A.M.; JURY OUT 91 MINUTES

THREE MORE INDICTMENTS

Prosecutor Uncertain as to Whether Similar Charges by Other Girls Will Be Tried.

BLACKMAIL, STEUER SAYS

Declares Rickard Will Devote the Rest of His Life to Seeking Out Its Instigator.

Tex Rickard was acquitted at 12:19 o'clock this morning of charges of assault and abduction based on the accusations of Sarah Schoenfeld, 18 years old.

The fight promoter faces trial on three other indictments growing out of allegations of girls, but Max D. Steuer, his attorney, said after the verdict that the District Attorney's office would quash those indictments. Mr. Steuer said Chief Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora had regarded the case concluded last night as a test and had promised him that he would not try to convict in the other cases if this failed.

Mr. Pecora when asked by a reporter for THE TIMES whether he had announced that he would not try the other cases against Rickard denied that he had made any such statement. "I didn't say that to anybody," he said. "I want to look over the proofs of the other cases before I come to any definite decision. I haven't had time to consider them yet, as I have concentrated on this one case.

"Out of the four indictments, the one tried out today and the one charging abduction of Nellie Gaske are predicated on virtually the same set of allegations. I think it fair to state that in view of the jury's decision I would not consider it worth while to submit these same facts to another jury on the abduction indictment."

Before the case went to the jury, Mr. Steuer, in his summing up for the defense, declared with dramatic emphasis that Rickard was out of the sporting world for good. The lawyer said his client would spend the rest of his life running down the enemy who had crucified and ruined him. Rickard, overjoyed at the verdict, which was reached in one hour and thirty-one minutes, had nothing to say on that phase of his future after the jury had found him not guilty.

He gripped the rail and almost sank to his knees in his emotion as the foreman's words lifted the charge from his head, and said a moment later:

"I am far too gratified to say anything. I've sohi craps for $30,000 a throw, but I never went through anythink like this last hour. "I didn't know how it was coming out. You couldn't tell. I want to tell you that jury had the greatest lot of poker faces I ever looked into."

Verdict Cheered in Court.

Rickard, who had been confined in the Tombs since the trial began, waited alone in the Sheriff's office or in the Criminal Courts Building for the verdict, after Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court had charged the jury and retired to his chambers.

Even the most sanguine of Rickard's friends did not anticipate so quick an ending of the case and there was surprise when the Justice ascended the bench at 12:19 and the jurors came filing back, led by Ibert C. Hoy, their foreman.

"Have you reached a verdict?" asked Chief Clerk William Penney as he rose, while Rickard stood like a statute, his tanned, wrinkled face barely betraying the strain of the moment. Before Hoy could answer, Justice Wasservogel warned those in the court that he wanted no demonstration and no commotion of any sort.

"We have," Hoy answered. "Not guilty."

There was an outburst of cheering and handclapping from the men packed in the sweltering courtroom, from which all women had been excluded.

"Bring those men to me immediately," ordered the Justice, while the clerk rapped for order. Court attendants were unable to identify those who had been noisy, so they began shoving persons out of the courtroom with a display of violence seldom equaled in the long history of important criminal trials.

Steuer Telephones Mrs. Rickard.

Meantime those who could not content themselves with the first demonstration, so quickly squelched, formed in line and filed past Rickard, shaking his hand. No one present seemed to know any of those who pressed near to the acquitted man, and it was said few, if any, of them were intimates and that none of the prominent persons who had appeared as character witnesses for him were there.

Mrs. Rickard, who had testified in support of her husband's alibi, was waiting at her home, 30 Madison Avenue, for the verdict, the edict against women having kept her out of the room. Steuer, as soon as he heard the words "not guilty" sprang to the nearest telephone and gave her the news. As soon as Rickard could disengage himself from his well wishers, he left the building to hurry to his wife.

With the first syllabel of the verdict some of those in the court room had flung themselves outside and passed through the big building, shouting, "Not, guilty!" at the tops of their voices that a curious throng held back from the court room doors by rigid police lines might know the outcome. Many of them lingered to give Rickard

From the time the series of charges against the fight promoter first startled the city and sport lovers throughout the world, Rickard asserted that he was the victim of a "frame-up." One witness was put on the stand with the intention of substantiating that explanation of the charges, but he was withdrawn without being questioned. Rickard's defense, instead, was based on a denial of the acts alleged against him, on the establishment of a carefully built-up alibi and on the presentation of character testimony of unusual quality, and the defense rested yesterday without having brought forward through its witnesses the assertion that the indicted man was the victim of hidden enemies.

Steuer's sudden reversion to the frame-up defense and his declaration that the rest of Rickard's career, already one of romantic ups and downs, would be devoted to clearing his name and exposing his enemies, was one of the few electric discharges in a tense day and evening.

The defendant held himself tightly, sitting, for the most part, motionless, his head resting on his arm, his right forefinger extending rigidly along his temple. The Westerner, neatly dressed and carefully groomed, looked all of his 32 years as he followed intently the plea of his own lawyer, the attack of the prosecution and the summing up which dissected the case, in such fashion that it could not have been altogether comforting to him. Not even when Ferdinand J. Pecora, First Assistant District Attorney, waded into him unmercifully did Rickard show by the flicker of an eyelid that his assailant's burning words hurt him.

The lean, dark, young prosecutor, whose chief, District Attorney Joab H. Banton, sat near him, lashed Rickard with such epithets as "moral leper" without a reaction from the accused. Pecora spoke more than three hours, his flow of impassioned oratory never waning, though the courtroom was hot and stifling and he sweated and mopped his brow.

Steuer adopted different tactics in trying to persuade the twelve men in the jury box that the fight promoter had been grossly wronged and should be given, not the benefit of the doubt, but a clean bill of moral health. This veteran of criminal causes was suave, persuasive, conversational.

He reasoned with the jurors, dwelling on the impressiveness of the character testimony adduced in behalf of his client, trying to convince them that it was preposterous that a man of Rickard's type would have committed such crimes. Now and again he addressed one juror or another by name. Steuer, with his thinning, curly gray hair looked old enough to be the father of his forensic opponent, but Pecora was undismayed as the defense made its final efforts.

Justice Wasservogel's Charge.

Justice Wasservogel began to charge the jury at 9:05 last night. He defined reasonable doubt, explained the various offenses of which the jurors might find Rickard guilty if they believed the charges against him, and dwelt upon their lack of responsibility for the consequences of their verdict. The punishment, said the Justice, was a matter determined by the Court under the law and the twelve men should not be swayed by any thought of what it would mean to the defendant if he were found guilty.

Next Justice Wasservogel took up the question of Rickard's alibi, dissecting it at length. He said that an alibi was one recognized form of evidence and that when established by honest witnesses it generally was regarded as credible. He pointed out that witnesses might establish the presence of the defendant among them on a given occasion and think they were testifying honestly, yet they might mistake the date. Not only in debating the worth of the alibi in the present case, but in considering other testimony, said the Court, the jurors should be mindful of the motives of those who testified. Some who appeared for Rickard, he reminded the jury, were friends and others were employes.

Turning to the question of whether the defense had proved its case, Justice Wasservogel said that it was not necessary for it to have introduced witnesses to actual acts charged, if the jurors believed that the stories of the young girls who had appeared against Rickard, I was only necessary that the State should have bolstered those stories with corroboration. This corroboration might be in the form of direct evidence, or well might be in the nature of circumstantial evidence.

Directs Attention to Vech's Testimony.

No point at issue received more attention from the Justice than the testimony of Herman Vech, janitor of the Forty-seventh Street house in which Rickard's relations with the young girls were alleged to have occurred. Testimony showed that after the charges were sprung Rickard told Vech to "keep his mouth shut." Taking the stand in his own defense, Rickard said he only wanted Vech to keep quiet because his supply of liquor was stored there and he feared that though it had been acquired legally, he might lose it. The Court told the jurors it was most important that the jurors decide why Rickard did tell Vech to keep quiet.

At the conclusion of his charge, Justice Wasservogel entertained motions from lawyers for both sides with respect to the instructions to the jury. Mr. Steuer asked that the jury be told not to consider testimony regarding Rickard's past life, either in connection with gambling troubles or alleged misconduct with women or girls. Mr. Pecora wanted the jury told that they need consider only whether the young girls in the case had testified truthfully with regard to events on Nov. 12 and that even if they had lied on other occasions that should not discredit them if the jury believed them in this instance. Justice Wasservogel granted both motions and so charged.

Long after the jury had retired a crowd of curious persons pressed against police lines drawn outside the court-room doors. Among them were few directly interested in the case. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Kermit Roosevelt, Charles A. Agnew, a publisher, who came here to testify for Rickard, and others who had championed him from the start, waited elsewhere for the verdict.

Calls Rickard Blackmail Victim.

The case went to the jury last night after day and evening sessions devoted to testimony by Rickard, one other witness, the summing up of counsel and the charge of Justice Wasservogel. Max D. Steuer, Rickard's lawyer, and Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand A. Pecora each devoted more than three hours to their addresses to the jury. Mr. Steuer began at 1 o'clock and finished at 4:10. He declared in his address to the jury that Rickard was a blackmail victim and that he would devote the rest of his life to finding out who was responsible for the charges against him.

"Rickard was an every-day victim of the Wall Street district blackmailers of the town," his lawyer declared. "Rickard has been robbed; Rickard has been in life. Rickard the promoter is no more. Boxing will no longer satisfy him. He seeks a new arena. He must ferret out and drag here by the boots the man who is responsible for his being brought here."

Mr. Steuer analyzed minutely the testimony of Sarah Schoenfeld and Nellie Gasko, the two little girls who appeared against Rickard, and drew a contrast between their stories and the testimony of the witnesses who declared that at the time the offense is alleged to have been committed Rickard was in his office at 25 Madison Avenue. Could [illegible] and sully their [illegible] who commit[illegible] Mr. Steuer [illegible] Rickard [illegible] Biddle, two of the character witnesses, as the type of men who believed in Rickard. Would they come here and testify if Rickard were the kind of a man that these girls say?" he continued. "Mr. Biddle is the kind of a man who needs greetings, doesn't he?"

Wife Steuer and Thorley.

"Don't you know that more defendants kill cases than all other witnesses?" Mr. Steuer said to the jury. "Nothing could stop Rickard from going on. He allowed them to pry into his very vitals. No man has passed through so much and come out so clean. I know that Rickard is not guilty."

Mr. Steuer said that if the girls had told the truth he himself was guilty of subornation of perjury. "If the jury knew what it means to me to be allowed to practice law," he said, "they would know that I would not jeopardize that right by standing by and allowing a witness to tell a story that I knew to be untrue. On Monday evening, Jan. 23, when the girls said they had gone driving with Rickard, I know that he was in my house with myself and Charles Thorley. I shall not insult my own intelligence so much as to produce Mr. Thorley to testify to that effect.

"I don't want a verdict on a reasonable doubt," Mr. Steuer concluded. "Rickard is not guilty, you understand—not guilty."

Mr. Pecora began his summing up at 4:35 and spoke until 8 o'clock. He attacked Rickard's alibi, asserting that the witnesses who had come forward on the fight promoter's behalf had done no more than many would to help a friend in trouble.

"I didn't know until Mr. Steuer opened his defense last Friday that the defense would be an alibi," he said. "I didn't know whether Rickard would be placed in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, the Polo Grounds or in New York Harbor. Hence the impossibility of calling witnesses to disprove the testimony of the defendant's witnesses. The only means available, therefore, to show the fallacy of the alibi defense was by cross-examination." Mr. Pecora then dwelt at great length upon the testimony of the alibi witnesses. Of Dr. Richards, who is the family physician of both Pecora and Rickard, the prosecutor said:

Attacks Doctor's Testimony.

"Dr. Richards, one of the alibi witnesses, has given aid and comfort to me and members of my family. He has given aid and comfort to t he defendant and members of his family also. Why was it that Dr. Richards told me in advance of the trial that he was going to be a witness for the defense to testify concerning an offense alleged to have been committed Dec. 16, and then came here and testified concerning Nov. 12? Doctors are supposed to respond to calls of distress. Doctors don't go to college to learn to commit perjury any more than they go to learn to make out whisky prescriptions."

Mr. Pecora said that he had interpreted the summation of Mr. Steuer as meaning that the two children involved in the trial were unworthy of belief. "They are not normal girls," the prosecutor said, or they never would have been lured by the great sportsman, the great gambler, Tex Rickard, lured to his flat and their souls and virtue sold for a few pieces of silver. They were just the type of girls that normally occupy the witness stand in cases of this kind—assault in the second degree. Whether they invoked your sympathy or condemnation, if you believe that the assault was committed Nov. 12, you must find the defendant guilty or hats yourselves all your lives because, like Benedict Arnold, you will be unfaithful to your trust. The insinuations that this is a frame-up are preposterous. This sophisticated globe trotter and gambler "framed up!" Brilliant counsel and alert private detectives have failed to establish this."

Calls Promoter "Moral Leper."

The prosecutor ended his charge with an appeal to protect children from "such a moral leper as Tex L. Rickard." After Mr. Pecora had finished the jury was taken to supper. They returned at 9:35, when Justice Wasservogel began his charge.

Rickard, on the resumption of his cross-examination yesterday morning, showed a remarkable ignorance of football. Mr. Pecora, in trying to break down Rickard's attempt to show that on Nov. 12, the afternoon of the day when the offense charged was alleged to have been committed, the sports promoter attended the Pennsylvania-Dartmouth football game at the Polo Grounds, it was the first football game Rickard ever attended, he told Mr. Pecora. Rickard confessed he didn't know how many men there were on a team, how the ball was placed or how the scoring was done. He said that the crowds impressed him.

"How did the game finally wind up?" asked the Assistant District Attorney.

"Four crazy looking men got out on the field and waved their arms and yelled and the crowd yelled back at them," was Rickard's reply.

The only other witness called yesterday was George McCann, a detective of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, who took Rickard into custody on charges made by two other girls—Anna Hess and Alice Ruck. He said that the girls had identified the house at 20 West Forty-seventh Street as the scene of some of the offenses they charge against Rickard.

Faces Trial on 3 Other Indictments.

Rickard was put on trial on March 20 on an indictment charging assault in the second degree and the abduction of Sarah Schoenfeld, 13 years old. Three other indictments have been found against him by the Grand Jury, one charging assault in the second degree and abduction of Alice Ruck, 15 years old, and the others charging abduction of Anna Hess, 11, and Nellie Gasko, 14. The fight promoter faces trial on all three of these indictments.

Rickard was arrested on Jan. 21 on a complaint made by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children on behalf of Alice Ruck and Anna Hess. After hearing the testimony of the two girls, Magistrate George W. Simpson in the West Side Court held him for the Grand Jury in $10,000 bail on Feb. 11. Meanwhile, agents of the S. P. C. C. found Nellie Gasko, who had disappeared, on a prize fighter's farm outside Poughkeepsie and brought her back to New York with Nathan Podd, who was arrested and indicted on the charge of kidnapping her.

The Schoenfeld girl told her story to the authorities in the meantime, and the Grand Jury returned two indictments against Rickard on Feb. 16 based on the testimony of the Ruck and Schoenfeld girls. His $10,000 bail was continued, but was increased to $25,000 on Feb. 23, when two additional indictments charging the abduction of Anna Hess and Nellie Gasko were returned. He remained out on bail until the first day of his trial, but has been confined in the Tombs since then pending the outcome of the trial. The jury has been locked up in a hotel every night. Because of the nature of the testimony, no one has been allowed to attend the sessions of court during the Rickard trial except witnesses, newspaper reporters and others with a legitimate reason for attending.

On Feb. 17, following his first indictment, it was announced that Rickard had retired from the management of Madison Square Garden and the promotion of boxing bouts there.

FOR NEW MAIL DEPOT HERE.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Erection by the Government of a new central mail distribution depot in New York, adjoining the Pennsylvania terminal, will be recommended by the Joint Congressional Postal Commission.

The commission decided today to recommend and submit a bill appropriating $8,500,000 for the new building and site. Proposals for rental of a privately owned building should be abandoned, in the view of the comission. The new mail depot has been urged by New York business interests for several years.

POLISH DEFICIT 222 BILLION

National Debt on Dec. 31 Was 534 Billion Polish Marks.

WARSAW, March 28.—George Michalski, Minister of Finance, today explained to the National Assembly the financial situation of Poland between Nov. 1, 1918, and Dec. 31, 1921. During this period the expenditures amounted to 324,000,000,000 Polish marks, and the revenues to 102,000,000,000, making a deficit of 222,000,000,000 Polish marks.

The internal debt of the country on Dec. 31, 1921, the Minister said, was in excess of 251,000,000,000 Polish marks, and the foreign debt was 283,000,000,000.

BURGLAR KILLS STUDENT.

ZURICH, March 28.—Richard Halder, a 22-year-old student, whose mother is visiting her married daughter in San Francisco, was killed last night by a burglar who entered their villa here.

Surprised by Halder, the burglar shot him in the chest, killing him instantaneously, and then escaped.

POLICEWOMAN FACES TRIAL.

Washington Lieutenant Accused of Refusing to Obey Orders.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, the only woman holding the rank of Lieutenant in the Washington Police Department, must stand trial on charges of conduct "prejudicial to the good order, reputation and discipline of the department," as a result of delay recently in releasing two runaway girls from Brooklyn, N. Y., who were arrested here.

Mrs. Van Winkle was ordered by her superior officer to release the girls, but declined, pending an investigation of the conduct of the girls by the Woman's Bureau, of which she is the head.

Mrs. Van Winkle was appointed to the police force by the late Superintendent Pullman several years ago. She was a resident of Newark, N. J., where she had engaged in social welfare work, which attracted the attention of the authorities here, who asked her to accept a commission in the Police Department.

WOMEN 99 PER CENT. INSANE, SAID STOKES

Wife's Counsel Retorts That Husband Himself Was 'Crazy as a Loon.'

LETTER TO MRS. LYDIG READ

Defendant Wrote That He Regretted Bishop's Stand on Grant Engagement.

The continuing interest of W. E. D. Stokes in Mrs. Rita d'Acosta Lydig, who divorced him, was shown in the Supreme Court yesterday in a letter he wrote to Mrs. Lydig recently referring to the announcement of her engagement to the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant and the comment as to Bishop Manning's attitude on the proposed marriage. The letter was offered in evidence by Samuel Untermyer, attorney for Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes in her suit before Justice Cohalan to set aside her release of dower in $6,000,000 of her husband's property on the ground of fraud.

Prior to offering the letter Mr. Untermyer referred to an alleged statement by Mr. Stokes that "99 per cent. of the women are insane," and declared that in making charges against his wife involving many different men Mr. Stokes himself was "crazy as a loon." The letter to Mrs. Lydig said:

"Dear Rita: It is with regret I read in the newspapers of the decision of the Bishop. You know there is one thing. I bear you no unkind feeling for having divorced me. It was your right. But you know on the other hand you can rely on me as your true friend. We have evidence that your husband (referring to Major Philip Lydig, her former husband) has been paying attention to my wife Helen. They met in Jack de Saulles apartment at Fifty-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue."

Mr. Untermyer asked Mrs. Stokes if she ever met Mr. Lydig in Mr. de Saulles's apartment, and she replied:

"I never met him anywhere in my life. I never knew him."

Mr. Untermyer then offered in evidence a letter written by Mrs. Stokes to her mother, Mrs. Arthur Miller, in December, 1921, some months after she had signed the papers releasing her dower in her husband's property to support a claim that Mrs. Stokes suspected that she had acted unwisely. The letter read:

Recalls Dower Incident.

"Well, mother, I have something on my mind. You remember this Summer I told you I had signed two papers for Will and how queer he had acted when he brought them to me? Well, I am going to tell you in detail about it. I have signed two papers for Will, one shortly after I had married him and one in June. Now the latter Ray saw and said was all right, but the first I can get neither Will nor Mr. Gleason (his attorney) to tell me what it was. They both look rather queer when asked, and both have a very convenient memory."

The letter then stated that Mr. Stokes came in a hurry to his wife and said, "Helen, sign this paper," and when she asked what it was he said, "Just a paper. I have to have it signed at once." She asked again what it was and he "swore and tore around and I thought, why of course I should sign it. And I put my name to it, just for peace and never thought of being suspicious."

Mrs. Stokes wrote that she asked again three days later and, continuing her letter, said:

"He talked so dreadfully I thought I would rather do anything than hear that talk. I never asked again. But it is hard I find it hard to get my allowance or even a decent word. I am suspicious and feel now he is not square with me. I am certainly suspicious. However, I have decided to live and try and make things as pleasant as possible and in doing so I will broaden and become more of a woman at least."

Mrs. Stokes Cross-Examined.

Isidor Gainsburg, attorney for Mr. Stokes, cross-examined Mrs. Stokes as to various entries in her diary to prove that during the period when she now alleges she was suspicious of her husband she was on good terms with him. Concerning a letter read by Mr. Gainsburg, alleged to have been written by Mr. Stokes to his wife's stepfather, Arthur Miller, Mrs. Stokes said she didn't know that Mr. Miller ever received it. The letter said in part:

"Matters have gone far enough. Either I have a wife in the city here or in Lexington, Ky., or wherever I happen to be, in Winter or Summer, or I have not. Your son Rollin I should dislike to humiliate by instructing my servants that he is not to be admitted to the house. However, if am the husband of Helen and the father of her children. If any advice is to be given, I am the one to give it. Ever since her marriage Helen has had one thought on her mind—how much money she could get out of me—how much money she could get while I live, and how much money she would get when I am dead."

Mr. Gainsburg asked if Mrs. Stokes's stepfather had not complained of the manner in which she posed for the late S. Montgomery Roosevelt, and she said he did not until after the completion of the portrait.

When questioned by Mr. Gainsburg concerning the bills paid for her by her husband, the attorney wanted to know if it wasn't a fact that Mr. Stokes paid $1,000 a month for her suite at the Vanderbilt Hotel when her second baby was born in 1916. She replied:

"I was at the Vanderbilt with my nurse and said about that time and I presume Mr. Stokes paid the bills."

$1,000 a Month for Suite.

Mrs. Stokes admitted that she got her trunks when she left, and when Mr. Gainsburg said she must know, then, that her bills had been paid, she reasserted that she didn't know anything about the Vanderbilt bills, but hoped he paid them.

Mr. Gainsburg offered canceled checks to show that the bills had been paid at the rate of $1,000 a month, and that $18,000 had been paid out for her that year.

Miss Marion Brophy, Mr. Stokes's secretary, was called to testify concerning a discovery made on Monday night by Mr. Gainsburg when going over the case, bearing on the entries in Mrs. Stokes's diary. Her diary stated that on Jan. 7, 1911, she went to the Meadow Brook Club with "Will" and later dined at her apartment and on Jan. 15 she "dined with Will" at the Westchester Country Club.

Miss Brophy identified a number of letters, checks, bills, &c., to prove that Mr. Stokes was in Lexington, Ky., during this period, and that the "Will" must have been some one other than her husband. Miss Brophy said she sent off certain letters to Mr. Stokes on Jan. 15, and when she admitted under Mr. Untermyer's questioning that it was not customary for her to be on duty on Sunday, Mr. Untermyer pointed out that Jan. 15 was on Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Miller, mother of Mrs. Stokes, was the last witness yesterday. She said that when she married Mr. Miller she had an independent income of $1,000 a month and that her daughter Helen was the only person she had to spend her money on. She said she gave her daughter $300 a month and was buying her clothes at the time she married Mr. Stokes. Mrs. Miller said she was not influenced by the letters from Mr. Stokes complaining of her daughter's friendship for various women, including the "ex-wife of the ex-champion skater, Kearney," as Mr. Stokes described Mrs. Kearney, because she "knew her daughter and did not believe she would do such things."

The trial will continue today.

On indictments found by a Federal Grand Jury in Nashville, Tenn., in the theft of $250,000 worth of platinum from the Government powder plant "Old Hickory" in that city two years ago, three men and a woman were arrested here yesterday. They were Ike Levine, 830 East 180th Street, Bronx; Samuel Middler of 90 High Street, Brooklyn; Herman Weinberg of 622 East 138th Street, and Emma Weiler of 222 East Thirteenth Street.

The arrests were made by Detectives Van Valenberg and Cornell of the bomb squad of the Police Department, cooperating with Department of Justice agents. Charged with conspiracy in connection with the theft, the four were taken to the Federal Building, where they were questioned by Assistant United States District Attorney Cotter. Later, the men were locked up in Police Headquarters and the woman was taken to the Clinton Street Station.

Assistant United States District Attorney John E. Jocyle, in charge of the criminal department of the Federal District Attorney's office, said that much of the stolen platinum had been disposed of in this city. Several men already have been convicted of a share in the crime and sentenced to terms in the Federal Prison.

Plans British Legitimacy Bill.

LONDON, March 28.—A bill to legitimize the offspring of unmarried parents is to be introduced shortly in the House of Commons as a Government measure, according to Captain George E. Bowyer, Member of Parliament for Buckingham. He made the announcement in an address at a recent meeting of the National League for Health, Maternity and Child Welfare.

$6,693 FOR VETERAN CAMP.

Women's Association, Disbanding, Sends Collections.

Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of Public Welfare, yesterday sent a check for $6,693.12 to Commander William F. Deegan of the New York State American Legion, to be used for the veterans' mountain camp at Big Tupper Lake. This represents the entire collections of the American World War Relief Association, which, in February, 1921, undertook to solicit funds for the relief of disabled soldiers.

The association recently came to the conclusion that the American Legion and the City Welfare Department were covering the field which they were in and decided to disband. The officers were Mrs. George E. Owens, Commander; Mrs. Stanley Lyman Otis, Mrs. Charles D. Hirst, Mrs. William G. Demarest, Mrs. Edward T. Herbert and Miss Beatrice J. Tyson.

AN EARLDOM FOR BALFOUR.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—There is authority for stating that Sir Arthur Balfour will soon receive an Earldom. It was only at the beginning of the present month that he surrendered his plain "Mister" to accept the title of Knight Commander of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, conferred upon him by the King. Only a small handful of commoners throughout English history have been thus honored.

There will be speculation as to the title Sir Arthur will choose. The general hope will be that he will take one by which, when it is mentioned, will still be easily recognized as the great statesman who worked so brilliantly and achieved so much for his country.

His elevation to the peerage will mean his translation from the House of Commons to the House of Lords, where he will become an invaluable asset in the deliberations of the Upper Chamber.

BRITISH DRINK MORE SPIRITS

Consumption Nearly Twice That of 1913—Much Less Beer Drinking.

LONDON, March 28.—The drinking of spirituous liquor in the British Isles has increased per capita of the population, and the consumption of beer has fallen off, according to a statement made in the House of Commons today by Sir Robert S. Horne, Chancellor of Exchequer.

The Chancellor said the present drinking was at the rate of 7¼ quarts of beer a person as against 10½ quarts in 1913, and 2 4-5 quarts of spirits as against 1¼ quarts for the same period.

W. W. Ashley, Coalition-Unionist Member for Fylde, asked the Chancellor if he was aware that the beer of today contained no alcohol.

"I am not so familiar as the gallant member with the subject," the Chancellor replied.

IN AID OF SICK VETERANS.

Mass Meeting Wants Tuberculosis Veterans Sent to Mountains.

The transfer of New York's war veterans who are tuberculosis patients to institutions in the Adirondacks or Catskills instead of to Sea View, Staten Island, was urged last night in resolutions adopted at a mass meeting in Town Hall called by the American Legion and the Citizens' Welfare Committee. Liberty, N. Y., and Saranac Lake were suitable sites for hospitals, the resolutions said.

"If this country," Martin W. Littleton, one of the speakers, said "ever expects to fight another war it must blot out the memory of ingratitude it has shown toward the boys who fought this war."

HARLEM BOYS' REUNION.

300 Who Went to School Together Years Ago Have Annual Dinner.

Three hundred Schoolboys of Old Harlem enthusiastically applauded the speech of their former school trustee, Leopold Wormser, at their sixth annual reunion and dinner at the Hotel Commodore last night. Among the other speakers were John Whalen, Miss E. Jury, a former teacher in Harlem, and United States District Judge Julius M. Mayer. Ronald K. Brown, President of the association, was toastmaster.

After the dinner, pictures representing Harlem in the days of the 80s and 90s were thrown on a screen.

AMERICANS GUARANTEE RED CROSS BUDGET

Bicknell Presents Offer to League of Societies—May Move Quarters to Paris.

GENEVA, March 28.—(Associated Press).—The second meeting of the Council of the League of Red Cross Societies opened today. Sir Claude Hill presided.

A striking incident of the meeting was an announcement by Ernest P. Bicknell, Director General of Civilian Relief of the American Red Cross, that the American organization would guarantee the budget of the league for the next two years by paying any deficit, if there should be one, thereby assuring the existence of the league. The announcement was greeted with cheering.

Mr. Bicknell praised the work already accomplished by the council. He approved the reduction in the annual expenditures from $600,000 in 1920-21 to below $400,000 during the last fiscal year. He also approved the budget for 1922-23, amounting to 2,226,000 French francs if headquarters of the league are taken to Paris, or 2,926,000 francs if the headquarters remain in Geneva. The question whether headquarters will be moved will be decided tomorrow.

The meeting endorsed proposals to hold an Oriental Red Cross Conference in 1922 and a Pan-American Conference as soon after that as possible.

The President of the council received a telegram from Pope Pius congratulating the league on its good work and expressing the hope that all Red Cross societies, without distinction as to nationality, will become united with it.

LADY ASTOR IS REBUKED FOR HER INTERRUPTIONS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—Lady Astor was called to order in the House of Commons today during a discussion as to whether, in accordance with the recommendations of the Geddes Economy Committee, women police should be abolished.

She made an earnest plea for their retention and her speech was received with cheers, but later, when Home Secretary Shortt was replying, she made frequent interruptions which tried the patience of several members.

Mr. Shortt also smilingly protested, saying: "I listened patiently to the member for Plymouth while she shook her fist at me."

Presently, however, Lady Astor again interrupted him with running comment until the members raised a chorus of "order."

VIENNA, March 28 (Associated Press).—Austria is rapidly developing a serious industrial situation, threatening to revive the political controversy which has been latent since the ultimatum of Lieut. Commander Edward H. Young, the British controller, that British credit was contingent upon the retention of the Schober Ministry. Unemployment is steadily increasing, and at the present time more than 100,000 craftsman are out of work, while the advance in the cost of living goes on unchecked.

Starting from internal causes, the industrial situation suddenly became worse by the decline of the German mark. The newspapers say that foreign buyers are transferring their orders to Germany, as Austria is unable to meet German prices.

Without a working majority, the Government is faced with determined opposition and is unable to accomplish anything. The Socialists, supported by various workers' organizations, are demanding an immediate increase in unemployment pay, the initiation of State works and the placing of State orders on a large scale.

Partisan feeling is running high. The Socialists have prevented by physical force several Conservative meetings. The publication of the plan of the Vienna Conservatives to form a sort of armed home guard, to prevent any attempt by the workers to gain their ends by force, has not served to allay the unrest. Talk of early elections has been revived.

ARRESTED WITH 32 CHINESE

New York Man Accused of Trying to Smuggle Them In.

Special to The New York Times.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., March 28.—Failing in an alleged attempt to bring thirty-two Chinese into the country, William Tact of New York and his group of Chinese were removed this afternoon from the jail at Roosevelt, near here, and taken to New York for a hearing before immigration officials at Ellis Island. The arrest took place at Roosevelt last night when the steamer Southern American, on which were the Chinese, docked at the plant of the United States Metals Refining Company with a cargo of copper.

Chief of Police Harrington had been notified several days before by immigration officials at Havana that the vessel had ten Chinese stowaways on board. When the Southern American, which is a British Canadian ship, owned by the American Transportation Company, reached the Roosevelt dock last night the local authorities and Customs House employes were on hand to make the arrests.

liament today, in which the Northern Premier said that when the Craig-Collins compact was signed Collins kept him entirely in the dark concerning large territories, and not merely the boundary line involved in the Boundary Commission, and also the charge by Craig that Collins was not big enough to stick to his signature.

To a request for a statement Collins simply said he stood by Article XII. of the treaty, which deals with the setting up of the Boundary Commission "to determine in accordance with wishes of the inhabitants, so far as may be compatible with economic and geographical conditions, the boundaries between Northern Ireland and the rest of Ireland."

DUBLIN, March 28.—Armed men today raided the home of a farmer named Dominick Horkan near Stradie, County Mayo, the birthplace of the late Michael Davitt. The daughters of Horkan held back the raiders until the father and their brothers made their escape through a back door.

During the raid the men fired at the girls, one of whom was so badly wounded that she died later in a hospital. One of the raiders also was wounded. The supposition is that he was accidently shot, owing to darkness, by one of his companions.

DUNDALK, March 28 (Associated Press).—In response to the notice posted near the Town Hall yesterday threatening reprisals for Catholics killed in Northern Ireland, a group of Protestants met today and reaffirmed their abhorrence of all outrages on Catholics.

The Protestants also expressed regret that any section of their fellow townsmen with whom they always had lived on good terms should have had any doubt concerning their views of the outrages.

(A statement contained in the notice posted yesterday read: "On and after March 29, for every Catholic man, woman, boy, girl or child murdered or maltreated, so also shall the same quantity of helpers of the systematic murder of our fellow Catholics meet the same fate.")

BUNCRANA, County Donegal, March 28.—Irish Provisional Government troops have taken over the police barracks here which were evacuated by the Royal Irish Constabulary. ARMY COUNCIL DENIES MULCAHY'S AUTHORITY

Order Calls on Soldiers to Rejoin Units and Ignore Minister and Chief of Staff.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, March 28.—The following notice was issued by the extremists of the Irish Republican Army to the units of the army today:

"A general convention of the Irish Republican Army was held in Dublin on March 26. An executive council was elected to control the army. Inasmuch as the Minister for Defense of the Dail Eireann and his chief of staff have been guilty of acts inimical to the Irish Republic in that they did adopt and do pursue a policy calculated to subvert the Republic established by the Irish people, by virtue of powers vested in the council, it is declared that from this date neither the Minister for Defense nor his chief of staff shall exercise any control over the army.

It is ordered that all officers and other ranks at present serving in the regular army and members of the civic guard return to their respective units and that recruiting for these forces shall cease forthwith.

"By order of the Executive Council, Irish Republican Army."

IRISH LEADERS IN LONDON.

Confer Today on Ways to End North and South Disorders.

LONDON, March 28 (Associated Press).—Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, and Eamon J. Duggan, Dail Minister of Home Affairs, arrived in London from Dublin this afternoon to attend tomorrow's conference of Irish leaders requested by the British Cabinet in view of the disturbed situation in Ireland. There was no one at the station to meet them and they drove straight to a hotel, where they declined to see representatives of the press. It was expected they would confer with Winston Churchill, the Colonial Secretary, this afternoon.

Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, who has announced his intention of attending the conference, was detained in Dublin by urgent business, but it was understood he would cross to England tonight, as would Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier and his colleagues of the Northern Cabinet who are to take part in the conference.

The conference was among the subjects discussed at the meetings of the British Cabinet today.

BLAME ULSTER FOR OUTRAGES

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

CLONES, March 28.—This is supposed to be the most sensitive city on the provisional government's northern boundary.

"How can order be restored in Belfast?" I asked a number here and in other towns along the Free State border. "Craig's Government can halt the gunmen at will, but has not done so," seems to be the composite answer.

All the Catholics I discussed the question with believed the Belfast disorder to be that of a highly organized brand of purely sectarian pogroms, countenanced and aided by the constituted authority. The Belfast Government's cry is "Protestant Ulster," just as Melbourne's is "White Australia," they say, and the Ulster authorities stop at nothing to obtain their objective and plainly do not think martial law is necessary to stop murder in Belfast. They are afraid of martial law, as they suspect that, if administered, it would not much help their people there, the Catholics declare.

Let the military forces were to disarm all, including the 40,000 armed constables, it would be all right. Otherwise it is thought that martial law really would be only Marshal Wilson, who is organizing an Ulster defense force.

The borderites on the North seemed more favorable toward martial law, although they dislike the stigma attached to it. They want the arms taken from the Irish Republican Army, who have been killing and burning, they say. But disarming the constables, too, is considered ridiculous. It would leave them without police protection, and they would be totally at the mercy of the Nationalists, who have secreted arms, they contend.

The people adjacent look most favorably on a possible cordon along the boundary, which Winston Churchill mentioned, to keep apart the armed forces of the North and South. They at least could carry on normal pursuits.

The closing of the border roads by the constables has created local feeling. The District Council of Enniskillen, County Fermanagh, before adjourning today, received a complaint of such action, signed by six Unionists and twelve Nationalists, adding that they had always been on friendly terms, and hope to continue, "despite the efforts of strange constables."

Newspapers are receiving an increasing number of letters, the writers of which are mistaking the tolerance of the South for apathy. They want the Catholic organizations to be up and doing. Some point out that William Coote, member of the Ulster Parliament from Tyrone, asserted he would lead the army into the South if the Protestants there were massacred.

SENATE WILL RATIFY NAVAL TREATY TODAY

why other nations were not included in the compact, the Alabama Senator replied that no one power was needed to insure that peace would be kept on the seas.

When Senator King answered that submarines, aircraft and other armament were not covered by the treaty and that the people "would wake up some day" and find that the pending treaty was not a forerunner of the millenium, Mr. Underwood said:

"We may discuss, contend and differ as to the other treaties, but in regard to the pending instrument I do not believe any document has ever been hailed with greater enthusiasm by the people of this country generally. This treaty is one of the great achievements of history. Not only does it provide for a naval holiday, but it also, in the end, means the saving of hundreds of millions of dollars to the hard-pressed taxpayers of this country."

Senator Walsh of Montana deplored the failure to get anywhere on the limitation of land armaments. He added:

"Apparently no effort was made to secure anything in the nature of an agreement."

He thought Premier Briand's declaration as to the limitation of French forces was rather justifiable.

Senator Lodge remarked that M. Briand's statement made a land agreement impossible.

Claims Credit for Democrats.

Senator Hitchcock, ranking minority member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, said he agreed with Senator Underwood that the treaty represented a great achievement, but he wanted the country to know that it was the Democracy and Senator Borah who forced the Administration to call the conference.

The Democratic naval bill of 1916, he said, contained the first disarmament resolution. It authorized the President to call after the war a conference of powers to take up the reduction of armaments. Four years later, he said, Senator Walsh of Montana introduced a resolution to have the United States join with the League of Nations to forward disarmament, but the Republican Senate killed this. A year later, when the "correspondent Senator from Idaho" proposed a conference of powers on disarmament the Democrats supported it.

"It was well understood," Senator Hitchcock went on, "that President Harding's Administration was opposed to this plan for a conference for limitation of armaments. The influence of the Administration was used in the House of Representatives and was sufficient to prevent incorporation of such a provision in the naval bill. The Senator from

BRITAIN BALKS USE OF LEAGUE AT GENOA

League Disarmament Committee Elects New Members, Sidetracks Proportional Armament Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

PARIS, March 28.—The struggle for control of the Council of the League of Nations which has been going on for some time between France and England has come somewhat dramatically to a showdown in the matter of the extent to which the League should be represented at the Genoa conference and should inherit from it all continuous organization which may follow the Genoa decisions.

It was at the suggestion of the Italian Foreign Minister, Senator Schanzer, that the League was asked to send to Genoa its technical organizations, which have already made considerable study of the transport, economic and financial situation of Europe, and at its first meeting last Friday the Council seemed disposed to accept the invitation. With the arrival of the British delegate, Herbert Fisher, Minister of Education, the discussion, however, took a new turn.

Mr. Fisher informed the Council that, though Premier Poincaré had extracted some kind of promise from Mr. Lloyd George that no permanent organizations should be set up as a result of the Genoa meeting, the British Prime Minister was absolutely opposed to the League getting the task of carrying out decisions. After a long private discussion, the Council decided to ask Mr. Fisher to return to London and argue the matter afresh, and further it was proposed by Senator Schanzer that he should also try to persuade the British Premier to alter his attitude.

This was the object, and almost the sole object, of the Italian Foreign Minister's hurried visit to London yesterday. Far from being welcomed, however, his suggestion met with a direct and emphatic negative from Mr. Lloyd George. The negative was indeed so emphatic that the Italian Minister did not pursue the whole program of requests which he had come to make further than the simple question as to whether his proposal that League collaboration in technical matters would be acceptable.

On his way through Paris today back to Italy he informed the League representatives of the answer he had received, with the result that at the Council meeting this afternoon no definite acceptance of the Italian invitation could be made and defeat of the plan had to be covered up in a motion stating that note had been taken of the invitation and that the Council authorized the General Secretary to take the necessary measures to give such technical help at Genoa as might be asked for in such measure as would not interfere with the regular League work.

The reason behind the British Premier's attitude is thought here to be his distrust of the growing predominance in the League Council of the French conception of how both Europe and the League should be run. Two months ago M. Viviani in an interview launched this accusation, and evidence has since accumulated that the conflict between the English conception of the League's purpose and the uses to which the French wish to put it has been growing stronger.

At today's meeting the Council elected to the Disarmament Commission as new members, with the idea of strengthening it, Gustav Ador, Switzerland; Lord Robert Cecil, England; M. Hontoria, Spain; M. Lebrun, France; Signor Nitti, Italy; Prince Sapieha, Poland, and M. Urrutia, Colombia. This strengthening of the commission is in effect a reply to an attempt which has been made to weaken it by the resignation of several members.

At the next meeting of the commission Lord Esher's plan for the reduction of armaments is to be discussed. But today the Council forestalled too quick acceptance of that plan by deciding to ask every Government to furnish a statement of the considerations which it wishes to put forward regarding the requirements of its national defense, its international obligations, its geographical situation and its other special conditions.

With these statements in its possession the Council hopes to estimate the special position of each country in relation to the general situation.

While no definite issue has been joined between the supporters of the Esher plan of proportional armament and its opponents, this action of the Council may be interpreted as a precaution against any such imposition on the countries concerned of a ratio in land armament, as was done with regard to naval armament at Washington.

LEAGUE TO APPEAL TO GENOA.

Will Ask Conference to Prevent Spread of Disease From Russia.

PARIS, March 28 (Associated Press).—In pursuance of a resolution adopted by the Council of the League of Nations today the Genoa Conference will be asked to take up the task of preventing the spread of contagion from Russia into Central and Western Europe.

A partial report was received this morning from the Hygienic Conference, which has been in session at Warsaw. This depicted the situation as of the gravest character. There have been 20,000,000 cases of typhus, cholera and other contagious diseases in Russia during the last two years, according to the statistics read to the Warsaw Conference, the report from which declared the measures taken to prevent the spread of these diseases into Poland and other bordering countries have been entirely inadequate.

GENOA SHIPPING TIED UP.

Longshoremen's Strike Blocks Commerce at Italian Port.

GENOA, March 28 (Associated Press).—More than a hundred ships are moored in this port as a result of the longshoremen's strike, which began at Naples a few days ago and spread to all Italian ports. It was estimated today that 300,000 tons of merchandise are in the Genoa harbor ready to be unloaded, and there are forty shiploads of coal on vessels lying at anchor.

Many industries in Northern Italy have been forced to shut down for lack of coal.

The Genoa Chamber of Commerce has asked the Government to intercede in an effort to arbitrate the strike.

BOSTON, March 28.—Two large icebergs were reported in the westbound transatlantic steamship lane today by the coast guard cutter Seneca, which is maintaining the international ice patrol.

The Seneca advised that all shipping keep south of latitude 41:30 between longitude 48 and 51 west.

FIRM ATTITUDE TO SOVIET

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—At a Cabinet council held in Downing Street this morning a complete agreement was arrived at on the Government's policy at the Genoa conference, and the terms of the motion to be moved in the House of Commons on Monday were approved.

It is understood that the motion is in simple terms. It will ask the House of Commons to support at the Genoa conference the Government's policy as based on the Cannes resolutions. The motion does not name the Prime Minister, but it will be described and treated as a vote of confidence. Mr. Lloyd George deprecated a personal vote of confidence. He will himself move the resolution on Monday and will expound the Government's policy. It is expected that the Independent Liberals will move an amendment to the motion.

The Premier after the Cabinet council lunched at the Savoy Hotel with his Liberal colleagues in the Ministry. This was a social meeting of a private character at which, it is gathered, Government policy and Monday's motion of confidence were discussed. At 4 o'clock Mr. Lloyd George had an audience with the King at Buckingham Palace and soon after left town for Chequers, where he will stay till Monday.

Genoa to Save Eastern Europe.

The view taken in Government circles is that absolute chaos is threatened in Eastern Europe which can only be averted by the Genoa Conference at which a policy of European agreement will be launched.

There is no question of immediate de jure recognition of the Russian Government unless Russia is able to prove at once her willingness to give guarantees as to her financial and other obligations and to establish her right to enter the comity of nations. One important factor would be the readiness of the Russian Government to enter into a compact of peace with the bordering States — Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Finland and the Baltic States.

The difference of opinion between the Prime Ministers and Winston Churchill in regard to Russia, it is stated, had at one time a serious aspect. Mr. Churchill objected to legal recognition of the Soviet Government though not to the de facto recognition involved in the Russian representation at Genoa. Mr. Lloyd George, on the other hand, is known to be anxious that complete recognition should be granted if and when the Russian Government makes this possible.

The misunderstanding was cleared up on the basis of the Cannes resolutions.

To Stop Paper Money Flood.

LONDON, March 28 (Associated Press).—Proposals for securing cessation of the practice of issuing uncovered paper money in Europe will be included in the program of the Genoa Conference, Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Young, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, announced in the House of Commons today. He said the British delegates would do their utmost to secure such action.

The allied experts who have been meeting in London for the past week to prepare plans for the Genoa Conference completed their work today and will submit reports to their respective Governments.

Francesco Giannini, the principal Italian expert, started for Genoa tonight to superintend the final arrangements for the conference. The Italian delegation will be there before the arrival of the other delegations and will have the whole machinery in working order.

Delegates to represent the British Dominions at the conference have been appointed as follows:

Australia—Sir Joseph Cook, High Commissioner in London.

Union of South Africa—Sir Edgar Walton, High Commissioner in London; Sir Henry Strakosch, and probably Robert Henry Brand, who was with the British delegation in Washington for nine months in 1917-18.

Appointment of the Indian delegates has been delayed by the changes in the India Office.

The British memorandum, it may be recalled, was presented by Premier Lloyd George to Premier Briand on Jan. 4 last and published in the press Jan. 12. The last of the Cannes resolutions was as follows:

"If in order to secure conditions necessary for the development of trade in Russia the Russian Government demands official recognition, the allied powers will be prepared to accord such recognition only if the Russian Government accepts the foregoing stipulations."

The stipulations briefly were: (1) No dictation as to the economic or political situation in another country, (2) no propaganda, (3) no aggression, (4) adequate means of exchange, (5) security for the property of foreigners who have lost their capital, (6) recognition of public debts, State and municipal, and (7) a system of law which protects contracts.

If the Russian representatives ask for recognition and accept these stipulations the British policy would be to grant recognition.

THE BABY AND RETAIL TRADE

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 28.—In a forty-two-page book which Marshall Field & Co. have just issued for their merchant customers the importance of the baby in retail business is stressed. It is pointed out that of every 1,000 customers, 240 are below the age of ten years. The importance of the baby as a customer is thus expressed:

"All the year round there is a steady demand in your locality for a line of merchandise that is used by 240 people out of every 1,000. That proportion, 24 per cent. of the population, are under ten years of age—potential customers for infants' and children's wear.

"This great part of your trade is especially powerful in the creation of good-will. Good-will, while partly due to reason, is largely based on sentiment. Acquaintance, personal likes, response to service, habit—many small, unanalyzed influences are back of your regular patronage. The sale of infants' and children's wear gives you the best opportunity to use sentiment to gain and hold customers. For if you please a mother with an article for her baby, you have entrenched your store in her favor more deeply and lastingly than you could have done in any other way.

"Aside from its peculiar power to create good-will, infants' wear is in constant demand and productive of good profits. Buying for the baby is a matter of importance—of unhurried, thoughtful selection. No mother casually purchases a baby's bonnet as she walks through the store—it is chosen after scrupulous examination, after hesitation over materials, after detailed comparison of shirring and embroidery. Quality is wanted, and fair value, of course, but not cheapness. The selling of this class of trade is of tremendous general value to your store."

TREATY TAKES SHAPE ON GERMAN CLAIMS

RHINE BILL NOT INCLUDED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Reports to President Harding show that progress is being made in the negotiation of a special treaty between the United States and Germany for the adjustment of American claims growing out of the World War.

Many Americans have filed claims against Germany with the State Department, and these are now being examined in preparation for the formation of a mixed claims commission to be authorized under the special treaty. Some of the claims are for the loss of American life and property in the sinking of the Lusitania.

The claim of the United States to $241,000,000 for the cost of its military occupation of German territory is not involved in the treaty negotiations. It stands apart from general war claims, in the view of this Government, which holds that it is already established and should be paid. The rights of Americans to compensation for property seized in Germany and the rights of Germans to recover enemy property now in the custody of the United States Alien Property Custodian are involved in the treaty.

Claims filed with the State Department against Germany by American citizens amount in the aggregate to a large sum which it is difficult to estimate. Department officials said today. It is expected that a considerable number of these claims will be reduced materially by the Claims Commission. German claims against the United States are also expected to reach a high figure.

As security for the payment of American claims the Alien Property Custodian holds German property to the value of about $325,000,000, which, under the Versailles Treaty and the peace treaty between the United States and Germany negotiated last year, is at the disposal of Congress. This total does not include the value of German merchant shipping seized by the United States.

A considerable portion of the American property seized by the German Government consisted of cash and securities in banks. The German Government has approached the owners of this class of property with the proposal to pay for it in German marks at the present low valuation. Most American claimants have refused to accept this mode of settlement. If any should elect to take the German offer the United States Government will not interfere, but it is obvious that the Government will not consent to accept German marks at the present valuation in behalf of American citizens who file claims for cash and securities seized.

GERMAN SHIPS NOT PAYING.

Stimming Blames American Operation on Uneconomic Principles.

BERLIN, March 28 (Associated Press).—German foreign shipping has now arrived at a point where receipts just about cover expenditures, Karl C. Stimming, a Director of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, today told the delegates to a joint convention of the German Nautical Society and the Maritime League.

Herr Stimming saw slight prospect of putting German shipping on a paying basis, "because of the fact that the United States, in order to retain her shipping trade acquired during the war, is able and willing to operate along lines which are at variance with economic principles."

He said a perusal of the German shipping balance sheets at first glance gave the impression of profitable operations, but this was a false conclusion, since capital which was invested on a gold basis earned only paper dividends. "Our calculations," he said, "are largely problematical in view of prevailing conditions." He said there were other difficulties on the horizon, among which was the possible working of the American policy of protection. He expressed hope, however, that the German passenger service would soon recover its former popularity, despite the restricted number of ships.

ARGENTINE PARTISANS FIGHT

With Elections Five Days Away the Campaign Grows Violent.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 28 (Associated Press).—With the Presidential elections only five days away, the political campaign is waxing violent, with almost nightly street clashes in Buenos Aires between adherents of the rival factions. Revolver firing is a feature of these clashes, but most of it is firing in the air, with the intention of terrifying participants in parades or street corner meetings of the opposing parties. Thus far two persons have been wounded. The police are kept busily engaged every night in suppressing disturbances.

VIVIANI SAYS FRANCE IS NOT MILITARISTIC

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 28.—Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of THE NEW YORK TIMES, was the guest at a luncheon given at the Inter-Allied Club today by Marcel Knecht, Secretary-General of the Matin. Among the guests were ex-Premier René Viviani, ex-Premier Gaston Doumergue, Count Peretti Della Rocca, political director of the French Foreign Office; Stephane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin; Eugène Schneider, head of the French Steel Corporation, and Etienne Grosclaude, a well-known French publicist.

Mr. Ochs was greeted as an old friend of France. There was a general interesting discussion of international politics, in the course of which M. Viviani with eloquence denied that France was militaristic and contended that, inasmuch as France felt she had been left alone to protect herself, her former friends should not misjudge what in that situation she had felt it wise to do for her security.

M. Doumergue said France was the most anmilitaristic of nations at heart, because less than any other citizens did Frenchmen like garrison life and the restraints of military training, with loss of time it entailed. They performed their military service not because they liked it, but solely because their country needed to have them do so.

METHODISTS PUZZLED BY HOLLIS DIVORCE

Doubt If Any Minister in Bulgaria Had Authority to Grant a Decree.

Representatives of the Methodist Church here yesterday joined with the Bulgarian Legation at Washington in saying they were puzzled how former Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire could have got a divorce in Bulgaria from his first wife, Mrs. Grace B. Hollis, in order to marry Miss Anne White Hobbs of Concord, N. H., in Rome last week.

It was said that neither the Methodist Church nor any Methodist minister in Bulgaria had any authority to grant a divorce. However, it was not known whether the Bulgarian civil Government, which, according to the Bulgarian Legation, puts divorce under the control of religious organizations, provided a means of divorce for persons belonging to denominations other than the Greek Orthodox Church, the national church.

Mr. Hollis is a member of the Methodist Church, and was married the first time by a Methodist clergyman, according to Edward T. Moore, an attorney and Hollis's New York correspondent. Mr. Moore has not received word of the details of the divorce decree, but is confident that Mr. Hollis complied with all the legal requirements.

Replying to statements by counsel for Mrs. Grace B. Hollis, Mr. Moore denied that the divorce was "contrary to American principles of justice or morality," or that the American courts would refuse to recognize it and the subsequent marriage.

"Mrs. Hollis's lawyers say that it is probable that American courts would not consider themselves bound by the Bulgarian divorce," said Mr. Moore. "The only State in America where it could be questioned in the courts is New Jersey, where Mrs. Hollis now lives. She could not question it in New York State because she does not live here. New Jersey will hold the Bulgarian decree valid, because New Jersey allows one to acquire residence and does not require personal service on the defendant.

"It is intimated, I read, that counsel for Mrs. Hollis will seek a judicial determination of her status if Mr. Hollis and his new wife return to this country. Certainly they will return here. There is no reason why they should not. Mr. Hollis has very important business to attend here soon, and there is no reason why his wife should not come with him."

PLAN FLIGHT AROUND WORLD

Smith Brothers, Who Flew to Australia, Will Start on April 20.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—By direction of the Foreign Office in London, the British Embassy here has requested the State Department to have all proper facilities extended to Sirs Ross and Keith Smith, British aviators, when they reach the United States on their attempted aerial circumnavigation of the world.

Sir Ross with his brother, Sir Keith, accomplished the flight from England to Australia more than a year ago. Their latest venture will involve a start from London April 20, the first step being in France. The route lies across Southern Europe, Asia Minor, India, China, Japan and Siberia. The Pacific will be crossed at Bering Strait, landings being made on some of the Aleutian islands and at Nulakaka, in Alaska. The course will then be across Canada to the Soo, where it will swing to the southeast to New York. Thence the line will be along the New England coast to Newfoundland, whence the start will be made across the Atlantic.

If weather conditions are favorable an attempt will be made to reach Ireland directly from Newfoundland, following the course taken by Hawker. Otherwise the plane will be directed to the Azores, thence to the European Continent at Portugal, and up the west coast to the point of starting.

The adventurers will use a Vickers Viking Amphibean plane which, as its name indicates, can alight on either land or water, being provided with wheels which are withdrawn into recesses in the hulls of the pontoons when not needed.

ACCUSE FRENCH OF INCITING TURKS

British Officials Say Near East Conference Results Are Endangered by Double Dealing.

BUT DECISION IS FINAL

Paris Terms Must Be Accepted If Anglo-French Relations Are to Continue Amicable.

LONDON, March 28 (Associated Press).—The results of the Near East conference in Paris were declared by British Government officials today to be seriously endangered by what the British officials term French encouragement to the Turks to refuse the recommendations of the Foreign Ministers for a settlement of the difficulties between Turkey and Greece.

British officials declare the Turks are being led to believe that the Paris recommendations were merely a basis for mediation and that additional concessions might be obtained, whereas the British view is that the last word concerning peace in the Near East has been spoken and that the belligerents must accept the Paris terms if Franco-British relations are not to be further strained.

British leaders who have just returned from Paris comment freely regarding the French attitude throughout the conference, their disregard of the fate of the Christian minorities and their open hostility to the Armenians.

The English delegates to the Paris conference say they have no assurance that the Greeks will accept the recommendations, but there is nothing to be gained by further incitement of the Turks toward renewal of hostilities in Asia Minor this Spring.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 28.—The Turkish Nationalist Government at Angora, through its Constantinople representative has handed the Allies a note in response to the allied note which suggested an armistice between the Greek and Turkish forces. The response states that the military aspects of the note are being carefully examined by the Commander-in-Chief, whose viewpoint will be communicated to the Allies after discussion by the National Assembly.

ATHENS, March 27.—The proposal by the Allied Foreign Ministers for an armistice between the Greeks and Turks in Asia Minor was laid before the National Assembly today by the Government. Premier Goumaris agreed to a suggestion by M. Stratos that all discussion should be avoided, the Assembly merely giving its decision.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES IN SERIOUS CONDITION

FUNCHAL, Madeira Islands, March 28 (Associated Press).—Former Emperor Charles of Austria is ill with broncho-pneumonia. His condition is serious.

The illness of former Emperor Charles was reported Monday by Lisbon on advices received from the former monarch's place of exile on the Island of Madeira. These advices said that three of his children also were ill.

CARSON'S REPLY AWAITED.

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, March 28.—The quarrel between Lord Birkenhead, Lord Chancellor, and Lord Carson, Lord of Appeals, is the principal subject of gossip among the politicians, most of whom, except the Tory "Die-hards," approve Lord Birkenhead's rebuke of Lord Carson last night for taking an active part in partisan politics while a judge.

A piquant feature of the quarrel is that the two men were old and intimate friends and were associates in planning the Ulster rebellion before the great war. Lord Birkenhead was then F. E. Smith, Lord Carson's galloper. A bitter quarrel came when Lord Birkenhead became one of the leaders in arranging the Anglo-Irish treaty and one of the most able advocates of the new British policy toward Erin. Lord Carson regarded his actions as those of a traitor and said so on all occasions.

Both men are great lawyers and great parliamentary orators, and every one is looking forward to Lord Carson's reply in the House of Lords, which may be tomorrow. Lord Carson was still ill in bed this morning, and he refused to discuss Lord Birkenhead's speech. It is also thought that Lord Birkenhead's attack on Lord Carson is an indication that the Government is determined to take a strong line in forcing Ulster to set its house in order or lose all British support.

Two Little Girls Probably in River.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 28.—Susan and Mareline Carels, 7 and 11 years old, daughter of Theodore Carels, were missing tonight and were believed to have been drowned in the east branch of the Housatonic River. Police believed that an embankment caved in and plunged the two children into the river. A small cart and a pail used by the children late this afternoon in picking coke behind the Pittsfield Gas Company were founud on the bank of the river.

HOLD WOMEN AT RIGA IN PLOT TO MURDER

the purpose of making it appear that Lenin is barred only by illness from making a tour of Europe and going to the Genoa conference.

Unless information received today is inaccurate, and there is no reason for doubting its trustworthiness, the Soviet régime is playing another of its little games, discovering an alibi for the failure of Lenin to go to Genoa and throwing out some smoke screens around the status of the Soviet leader's physical condition.

Part of the program appears to be the series of reports broadcasted from Moscow concerning the "summons" for eminent specialists to visit Moscow to treat Lenin and reputed instructions to district Soviet leaders to confer in Moscow as to the policies to be followed in the event of the "death" of Lenin.

It appears to be appreciated by the Soviet leaders that if Lenin should "swing around the circle" of Europe en route to Genoa he might be in danger of assassination from Russian counter-revolutionaries, but fear of assassination is not believed to be the main reason for the understood decision of Lenin not to proceed to Genoa. International conditions in Russia are growing progressively worse. Reports reaching Washington are that the Soviet leaders would regard it as the height of folly for Lenin to leave Russia at a time when the famine is creeping nearer and nearer to Moscow and Petrograd, the citadels of the Soviet Government.

Should the famine strike those centres with full force a crisis would result, according to information reaching Washington, that would require all the genius of Lenin to avert. He alone has been able to dominate the Soviet hierarchy. The chances for weathering such a crisis with Lenin away from Moscow would be much more difficult, as it is intimated a crisis famine in his absence from Moscow would tear the Soviet fabric to pieces.

Likelihood that the famine may reach Moscow is represented to be no exaggeration of the real situation. These fears are based on the apprehension that the Soviet authorities may have to put the Red army on rations. The power of Lenin and Trotzky has been sustained by the Red army, the loyalty of which may be shaken if it is placed on short rations.

Many men in the army were won over to the service by the better chance to obtain food and by the larger number of privileges offered. Many of the officers are naturally Bolsheviki, but the bulk of the men in the ranks are not Bolsheviki at heart.

The reports received indicate that unless Trotzky can produce a huge supply of food in some miraculous manner, the shortage in Red army rations will be inevitable. The impending foodstuffs crisis is considered responsible for the unusual activity of Trotzky with respect to both the army and navy of the Reds.

Lenin Tells Reds They Must Work.

MOSCOW, March 28 (Associated Press).—Premier Lenin, discounting recent reports of his illness, appeared yesterday before a secret meeting of the All-Russian Communist Congress and spoke two hours, according to today's accounts of the meeting, which was held in the Kremlin Palace.

The Soviet Premier made many sarcastic and witty remarks while appealing to the Communists to cease dreaming and theorizing and get to work. Otherwise, he declared, the Communists could not hold their own in the impending struggle with the capitalists for control of Russia. "You must be paragons of industry," he declared.

TO REVIVE RUSSIAN NAVY.

Trotzky Gives Orders to Put Ships in Fighting Trim.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Orders have been issued by Leon Trotsky, head of the Soviet War Council, for the rehabilitation of the Russian Navy, according to advices reaching here from Moscow through official channels, and there is considerable speculation as to the purpose of this move.

If all that is left of the Russian Navy were put into fighting efficency it would not constitute a first-class navy. Russian naval power could not be made a dangerous factor without the launching of a program of new naval construction of units of the post-Jutland type, something that Russia at this juncture is in no position to undertake. The mere rehabilitation of the Russian Navy by recommissioning vessels of obsolete type, and putting them on efficient basis, would possess no real military value.

Trotzky has recently been urging the necessity of a general strengthening of the offensive and defensive power of Soviet Russia, in speeches to the Red armies, in which he has not forgotten to discuss the Russian naval problem. Speaking on this subject, he asserted that Soviet Russia "must have powerful fleets for offensive purposes," which should be ready for defensive work should "capitalism and the navies of capitalism make it necessary." Trotzky is commander in chief of the navy as well as of the army, and therefore responsible for all Soviet plans for armed offense or defense. Directly under him is the Soviet commissar for the navy.

The Soviet navy, as now constituted, is understood to consist of 9 battleships, 4 cruisers, 3 light cruisers, 20 destroyers, 17 torpedo boats, 12 submarines and various gunboats, trawlers and ice-breakers, in commission, but not efficiently manned, while a number of other units are tied up at ports, out of commission and serving mainly as sleeping quarters for seamen.

BARTHOU TO HEAD FRENCH GENOA MISSION

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 28.—Minister of Justice Louis Barthou, former Premier of France, and Under Secretary Maurice Colrat, one of Premier Poincaré's personal lieutenants in the Government, will be at the head of the French delegation to the Genoa conference. Three other delegates will be appointed during the next few days, probably from among the staffs of the Ministries of Finance, Labor and Commerce, and, with the experts and secretaries, the delegation is expected in all to number seventy persons.

If and when he thinks his presence desirable, and preferably toward the end of the conference when President Millerand will have returned from his African tour, Premier Poincaré may himself attend. He is, however, unwilling at present to commit himself one way or the other and is content to let it be known that he will choose his own time and reserve his judgment as to the advisability of his going.

His original choice for head of the delegation was René Viviani, but in view of the fact that the conference is expected to last about two months and his professional affairs cannot be neglected so long M. Viviani has refused the mission.

Definite choice of the delegation was made at a Cabinet meeting this morning when M. Barthou, at the request of the Premier and President, accepted the mission.

Pride to Head Spain's Delegates.

MADRID, March 28.—Foreign Minister Prida will head the Spanish delegation to the Genoa Conference, according to Premier Sanchess Guerra, who added that another delegate was still to be chosen.

WIRTH DECLINES TO LEVY NEW TAX

By CYRIL BROWN.

have agreed on a tax program which reaches the limits of taxable power at the present moment. But even assuming that Germany's economic strength was sufficient to bear the additional 60,000,000,000 tax burden, I must still point out with all emphasis that these demands are utterly impossible if only from purely parliamentary, political and technical reasons.

"I must protest in the sharpest possible way against the principle of outside interference in the sovereign rights and lawmaking powers of the German nation. I consider such interference as irreconcilable with self-determination of a people and the honor of a great nation. We have had so many sorry experiences with control commissions that nobody among us could agree to the continuance of this tricky, costly, wholly unproductive system. We have today a large number of simple Entente soldiers in Germany whose incomes are three times as high as the maximum incomes of the highest German state officials. It would be insufferable if control commissions controlled where there is nothing to control. The extension of control of the German tax system would make illusory every attempt at economic reconstruction. The own self interest of our former enemies should induce them to desist.

"The contents of the reparation notes, particularly as regards control measures and the new sixty billion taxes, has occasioned our taking a critical negative attitude thereto. A row of other conditions is, however, in thorough accord with our interior interests. We are conscious of the fact that on our answer depends whether there is to be a throwback to the method of dictates or a continuation of the way of negotiations."

Exchange Slump Caused by Note.

BERLIN, March 28 (Associated Press).—The Genoa Conference will either be a shining star or a will o' the wisp, Chancellor Wirth told the Reichstag today at the conclusion of an hour's discussion of the decisions of the Reparation Commission.

Throughout his speech the Chancellor was unusually frank in his criticism of the Allies' treatment of the reparations problem, charging that the commission either was unamenable to everyday logic or had persistently neglected to acquaint itself with the actual status of Germany's economic situation. The reparations decision, accompanied by a letter which the Chancellor said was couched in a needlessly severe tone, not only had aroused national indignation, but incidentally had added 28,000,000,000 marks to the German budget in consequence of the unprecedented slump of the mark, which set in automatically with the note's arrival.

In the course of his analysis of the various points in the reparations decision, Dr. Wirth rejected the demand that the German Government levy an additional tax of 60,000,000,000 marks on the ground that it was both a financial and technical impossibility.

Liberal applause greeted the declaration that the German Government must politely decline the suggestion of financial and economic guardianship.

He reminded the Allies of their previous assurances that the Reparation Commission was not entitled to such prerogatives.

Denying that the German Government was wasteful in the conduct of its administrative organism, the speaker pointed out that two Entente Generals were receiving more pay than President Ebert and the entire Cabinet. He estimated that two-thirds of the budget as now computed was reserved for the Entente's demands, leaving one-third for the nation's internal needs.

With regard to the question of an international loan, Dr. Wirth hoped the Government soon would be able to start active negotiations, but he feared the barriers reared by "world capital" in the Versailles Treaty would effectively militate against Germany's ability to obtain financial relief abroad under tolerable conditions. A moratorium, he said, would have definitely stabilized German exchange.

"We are badly in need of a breathing spell," he continued, "in order to coordinate our affairs and put the financial and economic measures adopted into active practice."

Concessions to the Allies.

The only comfort afforded the Reparation Commission by the Government's statement was conveyed in the promise that Germany would proceed to inaugurate the most stringent economy in all Governmental departments. She would endeavor to extract the maximum revenue from the various tax sources to be opened through the laws about to be put into execution. The Government would also subject the commission's recommendations to a further scrutiny in an endeavor to arrive at a mutual working basis.

The Chancellor was in agreement, in principle, with the reservations regarding the export of capital, but pointed out this could only become effective with international co-operation.

Resumption of the publication of German statistics, as required by the Reparation Commission, and the restoration of the full independence to the Reichsbank would, in the opinion of Dr. Wirth, cause no difficulties.

The Chancellor declared that the scheme for an external loan was the only way of extricating Germany and the world from confusion, but he emphasized that obstacles to such a project were involved in the Versailles Treaty.

The Reichstag was crowded and the Chancellor frequently was applauded. His speech apparently winning favor with all except the Communist Party.

Spic and Span

"What are you so up-stage about this morning, Winnie?" inquired Ned, Winnie's partner in delivering Knickerbocker Ice. "Family pride, old dear," answered saucy Winnie. "Just look back of us. Our wagon is all dressed up in its Spring coat of fresh paint and looks so spic and span we must hold our heads a bit high to add to the general note of smartness—the tout ensemble, as it were."

And not only has Ned and Winnie's wagon been freshly painted on the outside, but it has—as are all Knickerbocker wagons once a year or oftener—been scraped and repainted inside. This makes sanitary assurance doubly sure

LILLIAN RUSSELL WOULD BAR ALIENS

SAYS NO GOOD ONES COME

President's Special Investigator Recommends 21 Years' Residence Here Before Naturalization.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A five-year "immigration holiday," or a system for selecting and sifting immigrants abroad and twenty-one years' residence in this country before naturalization are recommendations of Mrs. Alexander P. Moore, better known as Lillian Russell, the actress, who has just returned from a special mission to Europe commissioned by President Harding to investigate and report upon the immigration problem to the Department of Labor. Her report was presented to Secretary Davis and forwarded to the President today.

"The immigration of recent years," Mrs. Moore reports, "has been from that class of people which arrests, rather than aids, the development of any nation. When I declare that most of those now seeking to come here have not any of the inspiration of the necessity of the early settlers from abroad, I am stating facts that impress everybody who makes any study of European conditions."

Citing France and Italy as illustrations of countries where every able-bodied man is at work, Mrs. Moore declares that only those useless in the reconstruction of their countries are seeking to come to the United States.

"Our America has passed the transition stage," she says. "It is today a world power. An intelligent, cohesive, loyal citizenship is its propulsive force. The melting pot has been overcrowded. It has boiled too quickly and is running over. It were better to put out the fires under it and allow its contents to solidify before adding any more raw material.

"If we don't put up the bars and make them higher and stronger there no longer will be an America for Americans."

Wants "Teeth" Put Into Law.

Mrs. Moore commends the operation of the 3 per cent. restriction law, but urges amendments to put "teeth" into it. She suggests that American Consuls be given authority to put applicants through rigid mental tests and that American physicians be employed abroad to make physical tests.

The report recommends a change in the 3 per cent. quota law so that the demand for labor here from foreign countries should establish the number of passports to be issued three months in advance, and that the total quota of 3 per cent. of all countries, added together, shall not be surpassed. The Department of Labor thereby would have the power to choose the countries from which it is deemed the most desirable immigrants come. Mrs. Moore further urges that immigrants be disembarked at ports other than New York in order that they may be assimilated more rapidly throughout the country.

"The higher civilization of past ages, history teaches us, succumbed to such foreign invasions as now threaten us," Mrs. Moore declares. "It is against such a fate that America must protect herself, that the American Government must protect its people, including those of foreign birth or extraction, who have loyally taken up the duties of American citizenship.

"I believe it would be a good thing for America if an immigration holiday of five years could be declared. But if we must keep our gates open, I would urge a new system by which the sifting process should be carried on abroad, so that none but those who, physically and mentally, would make valuable additions to our population would be permitted to board ships for America.

Would Bar All Unfit Persons.

"Consuls should be authorized to refuse to visas to all unfit persons. All applicants for visas in the case of immigrant persons should be required to submit details three months before final action is taken. This should include a certificate from their native doctor stating that a blood test has been taken.

"In case of male immigrants a penal certificate should be presented, giving a record of their career, to which is attached a photograph of each man, thus allowing the Consul to obtain close information of the most definite character with regard to the alien's past history, physical condition, qualifications as farmer, laboring man, &c.

"There should be additional laws making it a felony for any resident of the United States to make a false statement concerning the admissability of any relative or other immigrant. This law should be so drastic that it will seal up one of the most intolerable loopholes in our immigration system.

"We take in too few productive immigrants and too many destructive. I look upon the question of immigration as closely associated with that of citizenship. Personally, I believe that no alien should be naturalized until he has lived in the United States twenty-one years. Our own men have to live here twenty-one years before they can become voting citizens.

"We have laws and regulations of a most painstaking character which prevent the shipment of live stock, living plants and seeds to the United States, and we prohibit entirely shipments under these heads instantly when danger arises; but until the last few months we have opened our national gates to human beings desiring to settle among us without much restriction as to moral consideration or purity of blood. And as a result we have a large problem with which to deal.

"If Congressmen should go abroad they could see the facts as I saw them. One particular fact is that no good immigration is turning our way. The good inhabitants of every foreign country are needed there and can possibly be happier and more contented there than in America."

OIL RACE IN SOUTH MEXICO.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—The Agulia Oil Company has held a meeting in Mexico City to determine on a campaign which will be started against the Standard and Hyastecs Oil Companies in Mexico. The Agulia is owned by the Royal Dutch Shell and has extensive properties in Southern Tehuantepec and a large refinery. The Agulia plan is to establish other refineries and develop oil lands in the States of Chiapas and Tabasco, where they claim to have twenty wells capped and waiting for pipe lines.

The Agulia company is attempting to control all the southern States of Mexico. For many years the Pearson, now the Agulia, interests have been developing the southern States, while the American companies have devoted themselves to the Tampico-Tuxpan region.

Reports state that the Agulia company has practically sewn up all likely oil lands in the State of Tabasco. Oil men expect a strong fight by American companies to obtain a foothold in these southern States.

COUE TELLS LONDON OF AUTO-SUGGESTION

LONDON, March 28.—Professor Coue, the French psychologist who has come to London to demonstrate his system of curing ills by auto suggestion, gave the first of his collective treatments today when there gathered at the London headquarters of the Coue movement many persons seeking his advice. They included cripples and paralytics, but those who received treatment today by appointment were chiefly women who complained of headaches, rheumatism, sleeplessness and other ailments which did not prevent them from doing their normal work.

One of the most touching cases treated today was that of a doctor who was severely paralyzed and had been told by most medical men he consulted that nothing could be done for him. Coue discourages any idea of instantaneous cure and certainly this medical man did not expect one, but he said that after treatment by Coue he felt distinctly better and very much more hopeful. There were no startling recoveries today, but almost all who were present said they had benefitted. One woman who complained she was suffering from a bad headache declared a few minutes after that it had gone.

Coue is something rather unfortunate in his adherents who claim too much for him. Indeed, the whole point of Coue's remarks in his private treatments today was his insistence on the power which men and women have to cure themselves, not in the flash of a second, but by continued and intelligent use of auto-suggestion.

Coue afterwards appeared at Wigmore Hall. After relating some of the cures his system has achieved he invited several persons to come on the platform for an experiment to demonstrate the power of imagination. He asked a young man to clasp his hands tightly together.

"Now say, I want to open my hands but I can't," said Coue. The young man appeared to be unable to move his hands.

"Now say I can," said Coue.

The young man did so and his hands were instantly unlocked. The experiment was repeated on others. Coue emphasized the fact that he had not looked at any of these people. "I don't want it said of me that I'm a hypnotist," he observed.

Coue then predicted the happiest of futures for all who used his familiar formula. They must say night and morning, twenty times, slowly and automatically with moving lips, "Every day in every respect I get better and better." They would always sleep well, be cheerful and active, have good appetites and be able to perform their duties easily and without fatigue, he declared.

TOWN AND CITY SPLIT ON AUTO MUD THROWER

Weston Demands Release From Court Jurisdiction of Waltham —Women Were Spattered.

WESTON, Mass., March 28.—A mud-spattering automobile has led indignant Weston citizens to demand a severance of relations with the adjoining city of Waltham. A dispute which started when a car owned by a well-known Waltham citizen splashed mud and slush on the finery of two Weston society leaders has resulted in a unanimous vote by Weston citizens in town meeting assembled to petition the Legislature to take Weston out of the court jurisdiction of Waltham.

J. Sumner Viles, Weston's traffic policeman, and with Chief McAuliffe, the whole Police Department, pursued the offender on his motorcycle, but Clerk Bannon of the Waltham court refused to issue a summons for reckless driving. Judge Abbott upheld the clerk's ruling.

In addition to asking for a new court jurisdiction, the town meeting resolved to petition State Registrar Goodwin to revoke the automobile license of the offender and voted to have a regular police force in addition to Viles and a police station.

STREET RAILWAY PARLEYS.

New York State Railways Seek to Negotiate New Wage Agreement.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 28.—Letters made public today by James F. Hamilton, President of the New York State Railways, indicate a decision of the corporation to negotiate separate agreements with their employes in Rochester, Syracuse and Utica.

The present agreement of the corporation with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America covers wages and working conditions in all three cities, and representatives of the divisions of the union in the three cities have already held several meetings to formulate terms on which to negotiate a similar general agreement this year.

Announcement was made in a letter from Mr. Hamilton to the Presidents and business agents of the union divisions in Rochester, Syracuse and Utica on March 23 of the desire of the company to negotiate a new agreement to take the place of the existing one, which, if neither side had desired to change it, would have run for another year.

The terms of a new agreement for the corporation's Rochester lines were communicated to the Rochester officers of the union on March 25. New working hours are proposed for regular motormen and conductors on the basis of nine to ten hours, with a half-hour leeway in which to complete schedules when necessary. The proposal is made to meet with officers of the union to negotiate a fair and reasonable wage with the further proposal that "in negotiating such a wage due consideration will be given among other things to the length of service of the employes with the company."

ATLANTIC CITY IN THE DARK.

Candles Lighted When Power House Has a Breakdown.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 28.—Atlantic City went back to the tallow candle tonight following a breakdown in the machinery at the power house of the Atlantic City Electric Company. Every circuit here and in Ventnor City was put out of commission, and the city was in darkness until candles could be lighted.

Darkness reigned along the boardwalk, and guests at the big hotels were obliged to finish their dinners in the dark, or wait until emergency lights could be brought into use. Atlantic Avenue from end to end was dark, and homegoers used lanterns in making their way. Theatres, stores and cottages were all affected, but in the motion picture houses the programs were carried on without interruption.

The only service unaffected by the tie-up was the trolley system, which had the fortune to draw its power from another source. The lights were out for more than an hour.

Mrs. Sanger on Way to China.

The American Birth Control League announced yesterday that Mrs. Margaret Sanger had cabled from Yokohama, Japan, that she had delivered her ten lectures and was leaving for China. Her itinerary covers Shanghai, Hong Kong and Peking and also Manila. From there she goes to Calcutta and Bombay, thence to England to attend the International Congress on Birth Control in July. Mrs. Sanger has been asked to be Chairman of the general session.

SHOTS FLY, 2 HURT IN LONG AUTO CHASE

Traffic Policeman Wings Fugitive and Also Hits Schoolboy of 15.

CRASH STARTS THE FLIGHT

Youngster Is Knocked Down in Harlem and Bluecoat in Car Makes Capture.

Following an automobile chase of nearly two miles, during which several shots were fired and two persons wounded, Patrolman William C. Bechtle, attached to the East 126th Street Station, arrested Joseph O'Connor of 71 East 128th Street and lodged him in the Lincoln Hospital with a bullet in his left arm. O'Connor was charged with running away from the scene of a motor accident.

In the course of the pursuit a fifteen-year-old schoolboy, Edward Grady, 373 East 135th Street, was wounded in the arm by a stray bullet. He also is in Lincoln Hospital.

The chase, the police say, followed O'Connor's flight after the machine he was driving knocked down Edward Mason Jr., 14, 5 West 126th Street. The youngster is in the Harlem Hospital suffering from contusions and lacerations.

As soon as he got off duty yesterday, Bechtle, who is a motorcycle policeman by day and an ardent automobilist when off duty, hurried over to a garage on Lexington Avenue where his own car was undergoing some minor repairs. It was a warm evening and he had promised Mrs. Bechtle to take her out and see how the other traffic officers did their work.

After he had left the garage at 7 o'clock and was driving along Lexington Avenue, he noticed a crowd at 125th Street. All seemed greatly excited and many were pointing up Lexington Avenue.

Hurries Toward Crowd.

The patrolman, who was in uniform, speeded his automobile in the direction of the crowd. Suddenly a woman saw him.

"Help," she called. "a man has just run over and killed a boy." A man came running and jumped excitedly on the running board.

"There he goes, get him," gasped the man, and pointed up Lexington Avenue where Bechtle dimly made out a speeding car.

In a second the policeman's automobile was careening from side to side in a mad dash after the fugitive. Across the Lexington Avenue Bridge the two machines roared. The scared pedestrians fled to the sidewalk and stood as machines ahead hurriedly got out of the way.

"It's the new police system working full speed," was what onlookers told each other. They sent yells of encouragement after the blue coat at the wheel of the rear car.

East on 135th Street they whirled and when they came to an open stretch between Alexander and Willis Avenues, according to Bechtle, O'Connor attempted to swing his machine so as to upset his pursuer. The patrolman got out his pistol and fired twice, one shot in the air and the other aimed at O'Connor. The second shot struck young Grady, who with his playmates was cheering on the race.

Cars Draw Abreast.

Straight on they continued to Willis Avenue where O'Connor turned south and rattled over the Willis Avenue Bridge. East on 133d Street they went. The two cars were almost even now, going at thirty-five or forty miles.

On 133d Street, the patrolman said, the fugitive again attempted to cause an accident by swerving his machine. Bechtle fired again. This time his aim was true and he saw his quarry crumple over the steering wheel. Breaks grinding, the two machines came to a stop at 133d Street and Southern Boulevard.

At the hospital O'Connor said that he was a repair man and that the car he drove belonged to a bakery at 1,565 Park Avenue. He said he was not aware that he had struck anybody and that he had run from the crowd because of "nervousness." He denied that he had heard any of the shots that Bechtle fired.

Isidor Baer, 75 years old, a retired real estate dealer of 220 West Ninety-eighth Street, and his wife, who is 78 years old, were knocked down by a taxicab at Ninety-fourth Street and Riverside Drive last night. The two were carried to a near-by house, where Dr. Barnes of Knickerbocker Hospital attended them for contusions, lacerations and shock. They were taken home.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 28.—Frank Francis of 163 Easton Avenue, driver of an automobile which last night, according to the police, ran down and killed Mrs. James Hahn of Lanio Park, was held in $5,000 bail today by Common Pleas Judge Peter F. Daly on a charge of manslaughter. Bail was furnished by Francis's employer, Peter F. Tenneson, a saloonkeeper, who was in the car at the time. With him were James Garity of 47 Stone Street, and William Van Arsdale of 113 Seaman Street, both of New Brunswick.

Women Elect Mayor of Iowa Town.

BRITT, Iowa, March 28.—With only one ticket in the field, and that hand picked by the men, it looked like smooth sailing in yesterday's election here until the women of the town, some 300 strong, stormed the polls in the afternoon and wrote in the name of H. C. Armstrong with such frequency that he was elected Mayor over H. G. Meyers by a margin of eight votes. Meyers had been Mayor for twelve years.

RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN RAILROAD STRIKE

Union and Non-Union Men of Western Maryland Line Fight in Hagerstown.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 28.—Rioting broke out in the yards of the Western Maryland Railroad late tonight when an attempt was said to have been made by non-union employes to run an engine. Members of the Federated Shop Crafts and of the Maintenance of Way Employes unions, who went out on strike last Saturday because of wage reductions, interfered with the non-union workers, and railway guards discharged revolvers in an effort to quell the disturbance. One man was reported wounded.

The rioting, however, continued with no sign of immediately abating. Railroad officials communicated with their general offices at Baltimore, with the possibility that State troops might be called for.

The trouble is a sequel to the taking over of the Western Maryland Railway shops and maintenance of way work by the Dickson Repair and Construction Company of Youngstown, Ohio. The walkout was called as a protest against a reduction in wages and an increase in the work day from eight to ten hours, the unions demanding that the contracting firm restore the rate of pay, rules and working conditions established by the United States Labor Board while the shops were being operated by the railroad.

The men also protested against loss of their seniority and riding privileges with transfer of the shops to the contractors. The question of the legality of railroads contracting with private firms for shopwork is pending before the Labor Board.

The strike is being directed from Hagerstown, where the operating headquarters of the railroad are situated.

FRONTIER DISPUTE DECISION

Swiss Findings in Colombia-Venezuela Case Favor Former.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 28.—The Swiss Government's decision of the frontier dispute between Colombia and Venezuela forms a book of 150 pages. It will be made public only when its contents have reached both parties. It was understood today, however, that the decision was at least partly in favor of Colombia, especially as regards juridical points in Colombia's thesis.

Regarding specific frontier questions, the Swiss Government, acting as arbiter, refused to decide definitely. It is submitting a complete list of these frontier uncertainties to a commission of experts which will visit the disputed points and make a report before Dec. 31, 1924.

EXPERTS TO DISCUSS TAXES

Business Men Start Campaign of Education.

A committee of tax experts, headed by M. L. Seidman, of Seidman & Seidman, will begin shortly a country-wide speaking tour under the auspices of the Committee of American Business Men to explain the principles of sound taxation. The committee will address meetings of trade associations and other gatherings of business men.

The tour is part of a campaign to educate the public to the need of studying taxation from the point of view of what is best for the country. The committee believes only evil can result if taxes are made so high that capital is driven from business into tax-exempt securities. Speakers will address any body of business men wishing to hear them.

SENTENCED IN MAIL THEFT.

Von Eschen Gets Five Years for Part in $1,477,000 Robbery.

Judge Julian W. Mack in the Federal Court yesterday sentenced Mark von Eschen, 20 years old, who said he was a salesman, to five years in prison and to pay a fine of $2,000, on his conviction of participating in the theft of $1,477,000 in cancelled Liberty bonds from the General Post Office, Eighth Avenue and Thirty-second Street, on July 15, 1921. Four other men and Mrs. Abe Attell, divorced wife of the former champion pugilist, were arrested several months ago in connection with the theft.

At von Eschen's trial it was testified he attempted to dispose of $29,700 worth of the stolen bonds to a brokerage firm at 66 Broadway. Assistant United States District Attorney Keith Lewis called Morris and Frank Hart to the witness stand yesterday to testify against von Eschen. They had previously pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them with aiding von Eschen in the attempt to dispose of the bonds.

90 TENANTS LOSE FIGHT.

Refused to Pay $1 Per Room More; Must Pay $1.50.

Ninety tenants who refused to pay an increase of $1 a room a month will have to pay an increase of $1.50 a room a month if they continue to occupy their apartments at 706 to 720 Cauldwell Avenue, according to a jury decision yesterday before Justice Shell in the Bronx Municipal Court.

Counsel for Well & Mayer, owners of the property, maintained that an increase of $3 a room would mean a reasonable profit and that present rentals did not permit them to realize 2 per cent. on the investment.

Effort at arbitration resulted in a compromise with sixty tenants who agreed to pay the $1 increase demanded. The remaining ninety tenants fought the case in the courts.

Cassese, a tobacco importer, of South Ozone Park, who was at the pier to meet the yacht. He was arrested along with thirty-one others, who included Captain Charles Orman, 152 Riverside Drive; Engineer John H. Oestling, Mate John Latimer, Steward John Ulnes, Firemen Michael Gurland, 829 Third Avenue, Manhattan, and George McGuire, a salesman, 58 West Eleventh Street, Manhattan, who said he saw the six trucks at the pier and went over to see what was going on. They also arrested the crew of six, nine helpers the six truck drivers and Joseph Bolon of 216 Twenty-seventh Street, Brooklyn, Cassese's chauffeur. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Augustus H. Morey, the men pleaded not guilty and were held for further examination.

Justice of the Peace Morey said the yacht would be taken to an anchorage off Oyster Bay and held by the State authorities.

The explosion of a five-gallon-capacity still making prune brandy for Passover in the apartment of Mrs. Diner Greenberg on the second floor of 185 Avenue C blew out the front window of the apartment. Mrs. Diner was arrested.

In Federal Court in Trenton, N. J., Captain Joseph Roy of the schooner Pocomoke, a liquor-running vessel operating between the Bahama Islands and this country, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act. Sentence was deferred. Andrew Grob, Winfield S. Haines and Harry Sower of the crew also pleaded guilty and will be sentenced later. Negroes in the crew who pleaded guilty will be deported. They are British subjects.

Two stills of 150 gallons capacity and two of 75 gallons capacity were seized by Federal agents from Newark on Water Street, Passaic, N. J. The agents also found ninety-eight barrels of mash and corn, sugar and yeast, as well as sixty gallons of the finished product. The owners have not been found.

William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League announced at the close of a Board of Directors meeting at the Hotel McAlpin that the board, deploring the defeat of the three bills authorizing cities, towns and villages to enact prohibition enforcement ordinances, would recommend to the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees that the league make the enactment of this legislation an issue in the coming legislative election.

LAYS DEFEAT TO LIQUOR.

Iowa Woman Candidate Lost Through Suffrage, Retorts Victor.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, March 28.—The charge that "booze and money won the election" was made today by Mrs. James McDermott, defeated woman's candidate for Mayor in yesterday's election here. "The charge is false," responded J. R. Kane, who won from Mrs. McDermott, 151 to 104. "Booze was not the issue at all," he continued. "It was woman suffrage."

The Mayor-elect added that every vote was out, and asserted that the challenge of the young women to their male friends to support the women's ticket or cease scorning them had added fuel to the feverish campaign. Mrs. McDermott maintained that not only "all of the voters in the town were at the poll, but imported ones as well."

DEMOCRATS PLEDGE PERSONAL LIBERTY

Campaign This Fall to Be Made on Censored "Movies" and Dry Espionage.

WET CHAMPION APPEARS

Irvine, Seeking Congress Seat Up-State as Volstead Act Foe Praised by Pell.

While Herbert C. Pell Jr., Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, fully realizes that national issues are bound to figure to a considerable extent in the State election this Fall, which occurs midway between two Presidential elections and will be the occasion for the selection by the voters of one United States Senator and forty-three Representatives in the Congress, he expressed the firm conviction yesterday that personal liberty would be the dominant issue.

Mr. Pell believes the trend of the Miller Administration at Albany has rendered that inevitable—that, in fact, Governor Miller has made that issue and "handed" it to the Democrats. Thus, while Democratic orators engaged in the coming drive to win back a number of Congressional districts now represented by Republicans naturally will draw heavily for their campaign material on the shortcomings of the Harding Administration and the Republican Congress, candidates for State offices will go out into the highways and byways and tell the voters that the election of a Democratic Governor and a Legislature with a Democratic majority will insure the return of personal liberty.

In elaborating on his statement, Mr. Pell said that undoubtedly the Democratic State platform would embody a pledge looking to the repeal of the motion picture censorship law as opposed to the idea of personal liberty and would give assurance to the voters that in the event of a Democratic victory there would be an end to the prevailing espionage in connection with prohibition enforcement.

Chairman Pell took pains to explain that he did not use the term "personal liberty" in the sense it is being used by the extreme "wets" or by "the sot who accentuates his right to a place in the gutter."

Awaits "Barometric" Election.

Whether when the time arrives to draft the Democratic platform the application of "personal liberty" will be held to involve the outright repeal or liberalization of the Volstead act was not among predictions made by the Democratic State Chairman. In all probability, this will depend largely on the outcome of the "barometric" special election to be held in the Thirty-seventh Congressional District, where former Public Service Commissioner Frank Irvine is the Democratic candidate, running on a personal liberty platform, in which the Volstead law is denounced as "lawless" and its repeal urged, while Lewis Henry of Elmira, the Republican candidate, is outspoken in his indorsement of that statute.

The district in which they are making their fight has been a prohibition stronghold, in which as recently as in 1920, when prohibition was not an issue, as many as 2,500 sentimental votes were cast under the Prohibition emblem.

"We, as Democrats," Mr. Pell said, "stand fundamentally for the right of the individual to live his own life, to express his own opinion and conduct his own business in accordance with his own desires as long as he does not interfere with the independence and the rights of others or the maintenance of public order and of justice.

"We believe Government should interfere as little as possible with the conduct of private business, as long as that business is conducted fairly in its relations to competitors, to employes and to the public."

Mr. Pell said that the establishment of the motion picture censorship undoubtedly was an infringement on personal liberty and an illustration of unjustified interference with private business.

"We oppose motion picture censorship on exactly the same grounds that we oppose censorship of the press," he explained. "Not one word can be said in favor of censorship of motion pictures that cannot be said with equal force in favor of censorship of the press. There is ample provision in the law to prevent the presentation of immoral pictures or pictures shocking to the sense of decency, just as there are laws dealing with libel."

Foresees Irvine Victory.

Commenting on the special Congressional election, Chairman Pell said that he was decidedly hopeful, even though the district was normally heavily Republican. He said:

"The election in the Thirty-seventh Congressional District of New York, which comprises Tompkins, Chemung, Steuben, Tioga and Schuyler Counties, is one of very considerable importance. This district is normally Republican and in the last election returned Alanson B. Houghton by a majority of 30,000. A part of this majority was due to the extraordinarily high qualifications of Mr. Houghton, but nevertheless the district is normally very strongly Republican. We have every hope, however, of being able to break this majority at the Spring election.

"The Democratic candidate, Frank Irvine, was a Judge of the Supreme Court of Nebraska, Public Service Commissioner of New York and Dean of the Cornell Law School. His experience and courage will make him a most valuable legislator, and he will bring to Congress that quality which is most needed there at the present time—a broad national outlook."

AUTO ORDINANCE KILLED.

Aldermen Reject Measure Requiring Use of Speed Governors.

The Aldermen killed yesterday the proposed ordinance to have motor vehicles equipped with a governor to regulate their speed through the city's streets. The Public Thoroughfares Committee, which had been considering it for some time, recommended that it be filed and the board voted to do so. A special traffic committee is framing in its place an anti-speed ordinance and this will be presented to the board before May 15.

Alderman Peter J. MacGuinness of Greenpoint, author of the ordinance to prohibit women from smoking in public places, introduced the ordinance to have speed regulators installed on motor vehicles. The report of the committee showed that of 827 deaths in the city by all classes of motor vehicles during 1921, about 30 per cent. were caused by trucks and the balance by taxis and privately-owned machines. The number of accidents were grouped in about the same ratio.

"It would therefore seem to your committee," the report stated, "that any ordinance looking to the correction of this grave situation and the matter of speed regulation by automatic governors should not be confined to one class of motor vehicles, and that class chargeable with less than one-third of all the accidents occurring in the city."

SUICIDE FEARED ARREST.

York, Who Shot Himself in Pittsburgh, in Trouble Over Checks.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 28.—Michael York of New York, who committed suicide here Saturday, shot himself when a detective went to his room to have him explain why he had passed worthless checks, it was testified at the Coroner's inquest today.

Edward A. Rauch, credit manager of the hotel, testified that York had received about $200 from the hotel on checks which were found to be worthless.

DRYS HAVE NO FEAR OF LOSING CONGRESS

Anti-Saloon League Leaders Deny Backing the Anti-Smoking Crusade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Prohibition leaders declared today that while they expected to find all the wet forces "boring underneath" and working openly in November to elect members of Congress opposed to prohibition, they did not expect to see any appreciable reduction in the hold the dry forces have on the House.

These leaders admit that there is a surface reaction against prohibition. This reaction, they say, is not against prohibition itself, but is directed against the non-enforcement of the law. The cry of the drys will be that men must be elected to Congress who will provide ample appropriations to enforce laws. The dry chiefs say that as time slips away from the period of the open barroom, the sentiment for a return to the olden days becomes less.

One authority said that sentiment west of the Mississippi and in the South was stronger for prohibition than in the early days of the Eighteenth Amendment. In his opinion there are not more than ten States in the Union where there is any pro-saloon sentiment developing. Such as there is, he believes, exists chiefly among people who take little if any interest in political elections. Even in States such as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey and Illinois, he asserts, a big majority is satisfied that prohibition is good for the community.

The dry heads were very emphatic in denying any connection with anti-smoking propaganda, which has appeared in New York, and, it is believed, may crop out in other communities. Those opposed to prohibition were saying some months ago that dry organizations, always insisting upon purification of public morals, would turn their attention to reforming the smokers of America.

"I am not interested in any anti-smoking movement," said Representative Volstead, author of the Prohibition Enforcement act.

Mr. Wheeler believes that the next Congress will be quite as strong for prohibition as the present.

DEATH THREAT LETTER SENT TO ANDERSON

Anti-Saloon League Head Blames Certain Newspapers for Inciting Selfstyled Ex-Service Men.

Special to The New York Times.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 28.—The receipt of a letter threatening him with assassination if he does not stop fighting the bootleg traffic was publicly acknowledged here tonight by William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, at a rally of the Christian Laymen of Schenectady. He charged that the message was incited by the "incendiary character of the utterances of certain New York newspapers," as surely as the assassination of President McKinley was "inspired by the mendacity of certain newspapers." For the threat against himself, Mr. Anderson blamed The New York World, The Brooklyn Standard Union, Brooklyn Citizen, Buffalo Times and The Albany Knickerbocker-Press "and others." Referring to the "cold-blooded threat of assassination," received last week, Mr. Anderson said:

"This letter, purporting to come from former service men, though it does not represent the spirit of the American Legion, says that if I do not keep quiet, 'we mean to kill you without the slightest compunction.' The reason for this threatened action is the charge that the Anti-Saloon League has spread its poisonous tentacles over the length and breadth of the land.' This is the maliciously false doctrine preached by The New York World."

Superintendent Anderson announced that the "poison-gas attack" of the newspapers was being met by the Anti-Saloon League with a counter-offensive in which the league was furnishing the leading religious journals of the country with full information as to what the league was doing.

"I am not seeking a martyr's crown," added Mr. Anderson, "but if it is necessary for me, or rather for my family, to make this kind of sacrifice, in order to awaken the American people to a sense of their responsibility for law enforcement, I shall neither run away nor hesitate."

WON'T FIGHT LA FOLLETTE.

Milwaukee Socialists Will Name No Candidate Against Him.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, March 28.—Milwaukee Socialists will aid Senator La Follette in next Fall's Senatorial election by not naming a candidate against him.

Alderman John Doerfler, one of the Socialist leaders, stated that signs were appearing that a powerful combination was being formed to defeat La Follette and that it would be "folly" to put another man in the field.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The first railroad in the United States to equip a train with wireless for the benefit of passengers is the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, which today announced the installation of radio sets on its Pioneer limited trains between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis. News received en route will be posted for the benefit of travelers as fast as it is received.

MILLER WILL RUN, GLYNN DECLARES

HARDING SAID TO WANT IT

Conference Opens at Rochester—Governor Says Announcement Was Not Authorized.

ROCHESTER, March 28.—"Of course Governor Miller will be our candidate in the State election next Fall. Why, everybody knows that. He has got to run on his record," said George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican Statt Committee, upon his arrival this morning with the New York City members of the Women's Republican Executive Committee, which began a two days' session here today.

"Everybody is for Miller," Mr. Glynn added. "The ladies are all for him, aren't you?"

With this he turned to Mrs. Arthur Le Livermore, Chairman of the Women's Executive Committee, and Mrs. Rosalind Loew Whitney.

"Well, I should like to have somebody suspect that we were not," said Mrs. Livermore. Other women answered, "You are right; we are for Governor Miller."

When it was suggested to Chairman Glynn that some political wiseacres had insinuated that Governor Miller would rather be a candidate for United States Senator to succeed Calder, he replied that such a possibility was forestalled by his statement that Governor Miller would be a candidate perforce on his record.

In an address at a banquet tonight given in honor of Mrs. Livermore, Mr. Glynn declared that Governor Miller would be obliged to run again, because of the demand for him, and that he would be elected on his record. He urged the women to begin work at once for the Governor's re-election.

Governor Miller's record was praised by Mrs. Livermore and Mrs. Whitney in addresses in which they urged the women to regard the conference as the opening of the campaign.

Mrs. Livermore said that when President Harding asked her to serve on the American Commission for the Brasilian Exposition she demurred, saying that she wanted to give her attention to the re-election of the Governor. The President told her, she said, that he was as much interested in Governor Miller's re-election as she and that he would not expect her to give attention to her duties on the commission until his re-election was assured.

The conference opened in the morning with a meeting of the Executive Committee, at which plans for organizing the women's part in the Fall campaign were discussed. Discussion along this line was continued at a meeting in the afternoon of State officers of the women and representatives of the State Republican organization.

In opening the executive session Mrs. Livermore said that the Rochester conference had attracted the attention of the party leaders in the State and that as a result of it further conferences might be expected, since the women had come to be recognized as important factors in politics.

Open sessions of the conference will be held tomorrow.

ALBANY, March 28.—"He had no authority to make that statement," Governor Miller said today when informed that George A. Glynn had declared at Rochester that the Governor would be a candidate for re-election next Fall.

BELL OUT OF SENATE RACE.

Leaves Pennsylvania Field to Reed and Crow May Now Resign.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—As the result of an alleged deal, John A. Bell, a wealthy Pittsburgher, announced tonight that he would not be a candidate for United States Senator to take the place now held by William E. Crow, who is ill in a hospital.

Bell's action leaves as the sole candidate in the May primaries Major David A. Reed, member of the Pittsburgh law firm which P. C. Knox founded. Reed made known his candidacy after a talk with Secretary Mellon, aiming at the full term of six years, which Crow has stated he would not seek.

It is expected that with Bell out of the way, Crow will promptly resign, permitting Governor Sproul to appoint Reed to the vacancy, thereby giving Pennsylvania two members in the Senate for the first time in many months. Senator Crow has been ill almost continuously since he took the oath as successor to Knox.

With Bell eliminated, the expected clash between the Vare State organization of the old Penrose-Grundy-manufacturers' elements may be avoided. W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia is said to be the man the Vares have picked for Governor.

As a result a ticket, including Senator Pepper for the unexpired Penrose term, Major Reed for the six-year Knox succession and Kendrick for Governor is expected to be the harmony combination.

WOMEN SMOKE ON, 'LAW' JUST A SLIP

customary sentence, "This ordinance shall take effect immediately." He failed to clip the fact that the ordinance had been filed on motion of Alderman William T. Collins, the majority leader, by a vote of 55 to 3, with Aldermen Larney, McGuinness and McHenry voting in the negative.

The copy sent to the Police Commissioner was headed "In the Board of Aldermen," followed by the date, "Jan. 26, 1922," put on by a rubber stamp. The foregoing date had been scratched through and above had been written in ink, "March 14, 1922." Below this were the printed words, "Approved by the Mayor," and the date, "March 21, 1922," printed by a rubber stamp.

Copy Was Never Signed.

At the bottom of the sheet was a space to provide for the signature of the City Clerk. This was blank in the copy sent to the Police Commissioner. It was said that the City Clerk's signature had been affixed by rubber stamp on the copies sent to the Law Department and the Chief Magistrate.

The attempt of the police to enforce an ordinance that had not been passed brought out considerable jocularity at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen when another ordinance, introduced by Alderman McGuinness, to compel the use of governors to limit the speed of motor trucks and taxicabs to fifteen miles an hour was ordered placed on file.

"I move that the Police Commissioner be notified that the proposed ordinance has been filed," said Alderman John J. Kelly, Republican.

"This was a serious error by the Police Department," said Alderman William F. Quinn, another Republican. "We don't deserve the unsavory notoriety it has caused."

"There is no need for jocularity," said Alderman Jacob W. Friedman, Republican leader. "It isn't a joke. The Board of Aldermen is joke enough in itself."

Discovery of the error did not come in time to avert a flood of protests, most of them from women, who took the ground that the ordinance imposed an unjust sex discrimination. Inspection of restaurants last evening showed that the police order apparently had acted as a stimulus.

Alderman McGuinness came in for some good-natured bantering from his colleagues. He asserted that he intended to introduce the ordinance again within a month and would try to bring about its passage.

HYLAN GLAD IT'S OVER.

Policy "Never to Interfere With the Ladies—Do as They Please."

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Mayor Hylan of New York, before returning home at noon today, was informed that Police Commissioner Enright had rescinded his order of yesterday prohibiting women smoking in public, and expressed satisfaction.

"I make it a policy in my administration," the Mayor commented, "never to interfere with the ladies—for they will do as they please anyway."

Chicago Alderman Has Similar Bill

CHICAGO, March 28.—An ordinance to prohibit women from smoking in public places has been drafted by Alderman John H. Lyle for presentation to the City Council tomorrow, the Alderman announced today. He said that few women smoke, but that those who do set a bad example to the young.

STATION SMOKING STOPPED.

Captain Donohoe Orders Policemen to Desist in 47th Street House.

Captain Thomas Donohoe of the West Forty-seventh Street Station surprised the policemen of that precinct by having "No Smoking" signs posted conspicuously about the station house yesterday. There is a department regulation against smoking on duty, but it has not been strictly enforced since Commissioner Bingham's day inside of station houses.

The only place in the West Forty-seventh Street Station where policemen can smoke now is the back room, where the men rest before and after duty.

MINISTER ARRESTED OVER ODD 'CHARITY'

Rev. E. C. Holman, Treasurer of Golden Rule Alliance, Accused of Soliciting.

POOR GOT LITTLE, IS CLAIM

Salaries and Expenses Used Up Nearly All the Money, Say Investigators.

The Rev. Edwin C. Holman, a Presbyterian minister who described himself as the Treasurer of the Golden Rule Alliance, with offices at 75 Fifth Avenue, was arraigned before Magistrate Ryttenberg in Washington Heights Court yesterday charged with soliciting funds without a license from Commissioner Bird S. Coler of the Bureau of Public Welfare.

The clergyman, who is 62 years old, was summoned to court by Detective Francis E. Mullahey, of Commissioner Coler's staff. It is charged that in addition to distributing and collecting from mite boxes throughout the country, the Golden Rule Alliance has about 500 of these scattered about the city. The complaint cites that the clergyman, as Treasurer of this organization, had caused many of these boxes to be placed in the upper Broadway and 181st Street section after he had been denied a permit by Commissioner Coler.

Detective Mullahey said that the Golden Rule Alliance had collected $5,084.96 from mite boxes in 1921. Of this amount the report of Holman, which the detective brought into court, showed that $4,124.18 was disbursed in salaries and other expenses, leaving only $160 to be devoted toward a "building fund to be used for erecting a home for blind children."

Had Been Warned Against.

The minister was represented in court by Dr. Samuel Buchler, Deputy Commissioner of Markets. The hearing was adjourned at the request of the defendant until April 5.

At the offices of the National Information Service, 1 Madison Avenue, which investigates charitable enterprises to determine their worthiness, it was said yesterday that the subscribers to the information service had been warned against the Golden Rule Alliance. The last annual report of the Golden Rule Alliance available, it was said, that for 1916, showed collections from mite boxes of $4,057.15, out of which a total of $146.38 went for relief or charity. The balance was charged up to "salaries, rent, incorporation taxes, office, light, telephone and printing, &c.

Dr. Holman, it was learned, began collecting for a home for blind girls to be established in Franklin Furnace, a small New Jersey mining town, in 1913. The Golden Rule Alliance used the name of Fannie Crosby, a blind hymn writer, in connection with its literature long after Miss Crosby died. No home for blind girls was established at Franklin Furnace. Instead one of Holman's solicitors was arrested in Newark. Jurge Hahn discharged the collector, but ordered the mite boxes removed from Newark. He found that the organization operated under a blanket charter permitting it to collect for nearly everything, both charity and profit.

Year after year, it was said, Mr. Holman said he was about to build a home for blind girls and his organization collected for that purpose.

Withdrew From New Jersey.

In 1919 the idea of establishing a home for blind girls apparently was abandoned. At any rate, it disappeared from the literature and advertising of the alliance. Instead, the cards simply urged help for "blind and working girls," according to the National Information Bureau.

In 1920, Assistant District Attorney Kilroe, who investigated the Golden Rule Alliance, reported that the organization had spent about $18,000 to collect $20,000 during the years of its existence. He said no effort had been made to found a home. In the same year the Department of Institutions and Agencies of the State of New Jersey made an investigation and asked the Attorney General to take steps looking to the revocation of the charter of the alliance. This action was forestalled by the Golden Rule Alliance, which forfeited its New Jersey charter and ceased operations in that State. Solicitation, however, had been exceedingly active through mite boxes in other parts of the country, the bureau reported.

INDIANA WOMAN SLAIN IN ATTACK ON TANAKA

SHANGHAI, March 28 (Associated Press).—Mrs. W. J. Snyder of Brazil, Ind., was killed today and four other persons were wounded when two Koreans made an abortive attempt to assassinate General Giichi Tanaka, former Japanese Minister of War, upon his arrival here from Manila.

Mrs. Snyder was just stepping off the ship and was not more than twenty feet from the Japanese General, when the Koreans opened fire. She was accompanying her husband on a trip around the world.

The Koreans were arrested immediately. They made a full confession that their purpose was to kill General Tanaka.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

Cornelius Van Vliet, 'Cellist, the Assisting Artist at Metropolitan.

D'Albert's 'cello concerto, duplicated by two orchestras last night, was heard in a philharmonic program at the Metropolitan Opera House, the audience there filling the lower floor and a large portion of the theatre's galleries. Cornelius Van Vliet was applauded in the solo piece, and a member of the local orchestra, his appearance in d'Albert music enlisted the evident zeal of his fellow-players as well as of their leader. Mr. Mengelberg repeated for his Metropolitan subscribers Bach's B minor suite and Tschaikovsky's "Pathetic" symphony, which given by him at Carnegie Hall [illegible] there.

Nipissing Mines Co.'s Report.

The annual report of the Nipissing Mines Company, covering operations in 1921, shows a deficit, after dividends, amounting to $1,402. This compares with a surplus of $246 in 1920. The net income before dividends amounted to $898,598, equal to 75 cents a share earned on the $1,000,000 of capital stock before dividend deductions.

WASTE IN CHARITIES DEPLORED BY LEADERS

Speakers at Better Times Dinner Say Public Understanding Would Be a Remedy.

New York has made considerable progress in social work, but satisfactory results are not being achieved, principally because of duplication of work and the public's lack of understanding of just what is required, according to speakers last night at the Better Times dinner at Hotel Pennsylvania, attended by 500 prominent men and women interested in charitable organizations in this city. The subject for discussion was "Is Social Work Making Good in New York?"

Glenn Frank, editor of The Century Magazine, presided. Bailey B. Burritt of the Association for Improving Conditions of the Poor pointed out that much progress has been made in the matter of health and child hygiene, but generally speaking there has been a great waste.

Barry C. Smith of the Commonwealth Fund, in discussing the question, "Is There Wasteful Duplication Among New York's Social Agencies?" declared that there was no argument to the contrary, and that a real social council was needed to obtain information upon which to base a definite program.

New York does not understand what the social agencies are doing, declared Dr. John H. Finley. He said that if it did the evil of waste in duplication would be stopped and also that the donations to the work in the aggregate would be much larger.

Babson Recommends That All Files in Washington Be Combined.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The establishment of an interdepartmental statistical library for the use of Federal departments, business organizations and newspapers will be urged upon President Harding tomorrow by Roger W. Babson, who has headed a committee of business men investigating the situation.

It is planned to eliminate the overlapping of effort among Federal departments in acquiring independently virtually the same information and statistics. For some time business interests of the country have been puzzled by the number of questionnaires and requests for statistics which have come to them from many executive departments in Washington. A committee was formed, consisting of Mr. Babson, Franklin T. Miller, President of the F. W. Dodge Company, and Clarence N. Stone, a business expert. This committee, Mr. Babson reports, has found not only a preventable amount of overlapping, with one Federal department sending for information which other departments already have gathered and put on file, but it has found a wealth of information in Washington that they recommend be made available through a central clearing house to industrial and commercial interests of the country.

The Babson report recommends that all these statistical libraries be combined and a librarian be appointed by the President's Cabinet. It is understood Mr. Babson will suggest that Herbert I. Brown, now Chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, serve as statistician for the Cabinet.

WOMAN HELD AS KIDNAPPER.

Father's Cousin Accused of Abducting Ida Cramer, 7 Years Old.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 28.—Esther Tannenbaum, 28 years old, of 729 Chestnut Street, Camden, was arrested today charged with having feloniously abducted Ida Kramer, 7 years old, of Woodbury. The Kramer child disappeared Saturday night and has not been found.

Miss Tannenbaum is a cousin of the Kramer child's father, and is said to have had some trouble with the family. According to the police she at first denied having seen the child on Saturday, and later admitted that she had seen her.

Two men, the police say, have positively identified her as having been with the child on a trolley car between Woodbury and Camden Saturday. Talmage Reid, a conductor, it is said, declared Miss Tannenbaum was on his car Saturday night with the girl, and Herbert Corsey, a laborer, said he saw her get aboard Reid's car with the child at North Woodbury.

CANNEFAX IS VICTOR.

Defeats Palmer in Benefit Exhibition Billiard Match, 50 to 32.

Two exhibition games were played at the National Recreation Billiard Rooms last night in the billiard match for the family of the late Charlie Otis, formerly instructor at the Amateur Billiard Club.

In the first game, which was at three-cushions, Bob Cannefax defeated Ray Palmer, 50 to 32. Cannefax had two runs of 6, one of 5 and two of 4. Palmer got one high run of 5. In the second game, which was at 18.2 balkline, R. M. Steinbugler, former amateur Class B titleholder, defeated the present Class B champion, Julian Rice, 150 to 142.

The benefit will be continued tonight, with Alfred De Oro and Pedro Cerda scheduled to play a three-cushion game. Albert Cutler and Francis S. Appleby will clash at 18.2 balkline.

Get rid of constipation through the use of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, and you'll be another and healthier, happier person. The action of Kellogg's Bran is natural—but it is wonderful. If you will eat at least two tablespoonfuls each day you will free yourself from constipation permanently. Chronic cases should eat as much more as necessary for results.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is one of the simplest but one of the most remarkable nature foods. Kellogg's Bran, while delicious as a cereal or with your favorite cereal, sweeps and cleanses and purifies. It clears the intestinal tract in an easy and natural but positive way without irritation or discomfort.

Kellogg's Bran must not be classed with "remedies," or with pills or cathartics, which at best can give but temporary relief, at the same time aggravating the delicate conditions that already exist.

If you or any one in your family or your friends suffer with constipation, Kellogg's Bran will relieve it! It is a revelation! Your physician will indorse Kellogg's Bran for constipation. We guarantee that it will prove effective in the most stubborn, persistent cases. Kellogg's Bran will also clear a pimply complexion and sweeten the breath.

Kellogg's Bran can be used in many appetizing ways besides as a cereal. Put it in raisin bread, or muffins, pancakes, macaroons, etc. See recipes on package.

Kellogg's Bran is especially desirable for children. Your grocer has it.

A.R.A. CONTROLS TRANSPORT

Prediction Gain Will Be in Time to Save Millions of Lives and for Sowing.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 28.—Lupton A. Wilkinson, who is on his way home after accomplishing a special mission in Russia and Central Europe for the American Relief Administration, said today:

"I feel certain the American program for adult relief in the Volga will be carried out. From personal investigation of the Russian situation and telegraphic advices that have reached me since leaving Moscow, I am fully convinced that transportation of American grain to the distribution centres is being successfully effected. Unless unforeseen contingencies arise, the grain will reach the famine area in time not only to save millions from dying of starvation, but to allow sowing for this year's harvest.

"'Upward of 60,000 tons of corn is already on the rails, which is sufficient to insure one month's adult feeding. There is no reason to anticipate a breakdown of transportation. Owing to the blockade of the southern Baltic due to the unprecedented ice conditions in January and February, which caused the simultaneous arrival of many cargoes in Baltic ports, there may be temporary congestion, but the deliveries will not fall below what is necessary to keep up our program.'

Absolute Priority for Shipments.

"Colonel Haskell has obtained from the Soviet Government absolute priority for all grain shipment on the railroads and direct telegraphic communication with the ports and district centres. The American Relief Administration headquarters in Moscow has also obtained direct relations with the Russian railroad authorities. What this means is that Americans can arrange shipments with the latter immediately by word of mouth, telephone, or telegram instead of approaching them solely through the Russian liaison officer, which frequently involved delay.

"Vigorously stimulated by Colonel Haskell, the Soviet Government is delivering goods on the transportation proposition more successfully than the study of railroad conditions would have led observers to anticipate. It is worth remembering, however, that control and the detailed planning of operations are in the hands of the Americans.

"Though it is the Soviet authorities who handle the actual transportation of grain from the ports to the distribution centres Colonel Haskell is absolute arbiter of the disposition and distribution of every ounce of American goods, and it is from American Relief Association headquarters at Moscow that instructions are issued to the Russian railroads how and when shipments are to be moved.

"In addition to the Russian freight cars the American Relief Association has arranged to utilize the rolling stock of the border States where necessary, but the latest cable received from Moscow states:

"'There is every indication that within a month our full quota of freight cars will be furnished regularly and even increased. The Baltic situation is improving. All the corn ships which sailed from America in January have arrived at the Black Sea ports and been or are being unloaded. No demurrage to date. Corn trains have reached Ufa, Orenburg, Samara, Saratov and Tsaritsin, and deliveries have begun.'

"I think you will agree that this warrants temperate but definite optimism. It does not seem too soon to say that one of the most difficult enterprises Americans have ever undertaken abroad is being carried toward a satisfactory conclusion."

Mob Clubs Food Thief to Death.

STERLITAMAK, Russia, Feb. 28.—After admitting at a public meeting that he had broken into the American Relief Administration Kitchen No. 175, at which fifty starving Russian children were being fed, Isangouge Bajanasarov, a peasant, was publicly clubbed to death.

The theft was committed Feb. 12, in the village of Abdrakhmanov, in the Sterlitamak canton of the Bashkir Republic. The trial and execution took place Feb. 14. The complete, but simple record of the theft, apprehension and execution of the death penalty is contained in an official protocol on file in Sterlitamak, both with the American Relief Administration and with the Government.

According to the protocol, the first American foodstuffs for starving children arrived in the village early in February and the feeding started Feb. 10. The night of Feb. 12 the kitchen was broken into and all of the food excepting a box of cocoa and twenty cans of milk stolen. The food stolen was to provide for the kitchen for the next eight days pending the arrival of additional shipments.

The entire village turned out and the search for the fod and the culprit started. Bajnasarov was seized when an iron bar, which he could not explain, was found in his hut.

Questioned while the crowd listened the man admitted the theft. He said he had removed the food to another village. Because of the meanness of the theft and because it endangered the lives of children, Banjnasarov was sentenced to death. He was executed by mob action in the public market place of the village.

The stolen food was recovered and the kitchen reopened.

THINKS ALL ARMENIA FACED WITH BLINDNESS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 28.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the entire Armenian nation is faced with blindness, according to Dr. R. T. Uhls, an American eye specialist from Kansas City, head of the medical department of the Near East Relief.

This situation, he says, is due to the epidemic of trachoma raging throughout the country. Examination of 30,000 refugees revealed the fact that 27,000, or 90 per cent., were in the first stages of the disease. As at the beginning the disease is painless, both eyes are often deeply affected before its presence is known. The disease has been known in the Caucasus for many generations, but the present epidemic is due to the lowered resistance of the population.

"If the proportion holds good in all parts of Armenia," Dr. Uhls says, "the situation is one of the most serious with which any nation was ever confronted. Only an extensive medical campaign can save the country from becoming a nation of blind."

DENY CUTTING NAVY BELOW TREATY RATIO

CAN MAN 18 BATTLESHIPS

So Chairman Will Declare on Reporting the Bill in the House This Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A denial of the charge that it was cutting the navy below the treaty ratio was made today by the sub-committee of the House Appropriation Committee, which is drawing up the Naval Appropriation bill. When Representative Kelly of Michigan, Chairman of the sub-committee, presents the bill to the House late next week, he will state that it provides for manning eighteen battleships, and, in addition, all the auxiliary craft necessary to make up a fleet. The sub-committee brushed aside today the argument that its bill would man only thirteen first-class fighting ships and asserted that it had the figures to prove otherwise.

Assertions were made that the naval officers who appeared before the committee could not refute the figures which would be presented. It was also said that the sub-committee used as a basis for fixing the size of the personnel the number of men needed for eighteen capital ships, as furnished by the naval witnesses themselves.

There seems little chance that the House will not sympathize with the recommendations of the sub-committee fixing the enlisted personnel at 65,000, with 19,500 marines. Recently the House clearly indicated where it stood when it voted to cut the army strength to 115,000 enlisted men, and it is thought it is in the same mood as far as the navy si concerned. The sub-committee believes that, notwithstanding any pressure it may meet when its bill comes back to it from the Senate, it will have the wholehearted support of the House.

Comparisons of the strength of the British and Japanese navies recently issued from the Navy Department have not made much impression upon the sub-committee. There was statements today by sub-committee members that the figures had been skilfully manipulated or had not been sufficiently explained, the idea being that the computations of the British and Japanese forces comprised men ashore as well as at sea.

A short time ago some high naval officers said that if the sub-committee's intentions were carried out by Congress the fleet would not be large enough to maintain squadrons in two oceans, and therefore it might be necessary to concentrate it in the Pacific. This statement was scouted by sub-committee members, who said today that it set up a straw man which was hardly worth while knocking down.

NORTH GERMAN LLOYD CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Shipping Board officials have been informally negotiating with officials of the North German Lord Steamship Company with a view to ascertaining whether it is possible to reach a co-operative agreement for American and German steamship service between this country and Hamburg. The Shipping Board, it is understood, would like to enter into such an arrangement if can be done satisfactorily, and it is believed the informal conferences which have been held on the subject indicate the likelihood of a co-operative agreement being ultimately reached.

Director Stadtlander of the North German Lloyd Company, who has been in Washington conferring with the Shipping Board has returned to New York, where he will confer with representatives of the board in charge of the operation of its vessels between New York and Hamburg. The board is not altogether satisfied with present charges made at Hamburg for the use of German facilities by American vessels, believing these charges should be reduced.

It also desires co-operation in arranging sailings of German and American vessels in the future, to avoid conflict. The Shipping Board intends to have the reconditioned Leviathan in operation in the Summer of 1923. The Germans expect to have the Columbus, a larger, new liner, in operation by that time. Officials of the board are anxious that there be no conflict in the sailing dates of these mammoth ships.

HARDING SPEEDS UP TARIFF.

Senate Committee to Sit Nights to Complete the Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Night sessions for speeding up the permanent tariff bill were decided upon today by Senate Finance Committee Republicans, following a visit by Senators Curtis of Kansas and Latson of Indiana to the White House, where they were informed by President Harding of his desire for an early reporting of the measure.

Some committee members said the bill ought to be ready for the Senate by the middle of next week. It is the plan now, according to Senators, to have the measure ready for action by the entire committee next Monday. Aside from general "odds and ends," the majority has yet to act on the dye embargo and valuation questions, and consideration of these is expected to consume the most of this week.

The dye matter was taken up late today with extended hearings on both sides. Senator Freilnghuysen is leading the fight for an embargo against foreign dyes, while Senator Smoot, Chairman of the Special Dye Sub-Committee, is opposing this, advocating a rate of 7 cents a pound and 60 per cent. ad valorem on finished coal tar products.

The committee fixed a rate of $3 a ton on magnesite, mined largely in Washington State and used as a lining for steel mill furnaces. This commodity is now on the free list, but a duty of $15 a ton was fixed in the Fordney bill. Steel manufacturers opposed a rate in excess of $5 a ton.

The committee majority confirmed the tentative decision to leave shingles on the free list, with a provision that if a foreign country imposed a duty on shingles from the United States the same duty should be imposed upon shingles coming into this country from that country. Senators from the North Pacific States and some of the New England States sought to have shingles placed on the dutiable list.

GERMAN SHAREHOLDERS HIT

BERLIN, March 28 (Associated Press). The shareholders of the Siemens Halstrische Betriebe have been severely hit by the appreciation of foreign exchange, especially that on Swiss money, according to the company's annual report.

The report states that the company's debt on this account amounts to 183,000,000 marks. Part of this can be recovered from the reserve fund, but there remains an uncovered loss of more than 163,000,000 marks.

SIAMESE TWIN DYING, OTHER AWAITS DOOM

Rosa, Who Is Recovering, Knows That Josefa's Death Means Her Own as Well.

AN OPERATION IS PLANNED

Doctors Decide to Sever Pair the Moment One Succumbs as Last Effort to Save the Other.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Great interest has developed in the illness that has befallen Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the "Siamese Twins," joined together since their birth forty-two years ago. Both are suffering from yellow jaundice. Rosa is recovering from the malady.

Lying beside her "Siamese Twin" sister ron a cot in the West End Hospital, Rosa smiles as she counts off the minutes until eternity, with emotions of regret at leaving her 12-year-old son. For the doctors say that Josefa's death means Rosa's also. So Rosa waits patiently for that hour which is to release them from Josefa's suffering.

Josefa lapsed into unconsciousness today. Her condition continued to grow worse and virtually all hope for her recovery was given up by physicians shortly after noon. The doctors said she probably never would awaken. Her heart action, 100, is growing weaker.

An operation to sever the twins has been decided upon as a last desperate measure the moment either one of the twins dies.

"It is an extremely critical case," said Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone. "The natre of their connection is so intimate that the operation will have to be a last desperate resort. The operation will be delayed until all other means have failed."

J. L. Triska, an attorney for the twins, was also waiting at the bedside ready to make out the last wills of the sisters. He explained that two wills would be necessary, as the law regards them as different individuals.

Rosa was widowed during the war when her husband, a Bohemian, was killed. She has a twelve-year-old son, Franzel. The other sister did not marry.

"I know that Rosa wants to leave her money to her son," said Triska. "I am not sure just what disposition Josefa wants to make of her property, but she has always been fond of her sister's child and she probably will name Franzel as her heir, too."

Both have accumulated considerable property in their journeyings and lately announced that they were tired of traveling and would settle down in the Czecho-Slovakian colony in Chicago. Nearly two weeks ago Rosa contracted yellow jaundice. Josefa became ill a week later.

PLAN DRIVE THROUGH $3,000,000 PROPERTY

The straightening of Riverside Drive from 155th Street to 174th Street, through privately owned property assessed at $3,000,000, was proposed at a meeting yesterday of the City Plan Committee of the Board of Estimate. The matter will be considered by Borough President Julius Miller of Manhattan, President Murray Hulbert of the Board of Aldermen and Controller Charles L. Craig, who have been appointed a committee to study the plan.

The proposed driveway will run parallel to the tracks of the New York Central Railroad along the Hudson River. It is probable that a viaduct will be built from 155th Street to about 166th Street, where a roadway will continue its course on high ground. At present there is a viaduct from 153d Street to 155th Street, where the Drive takes a sharp turn toward Broadway. The plan proposed will eliminate this sharp turn.

The new roadway will be known as Riverside Drive West. The present driveway will be retained and used, probably, to divide the heavy streams of traffic north and south. Streets will be opened between the existing drive and the proposed drive and considerable property will be available for housing development.

WILL PLEAD FOR FATHERS.

'Children's Crusade' to Ask Harding to Release Wartime Offenders.

ST. LOUIS, March 28.—The "children's crusade," being organized by Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, Socialist leader, to go to Washington and plead with President Harding for the release of their fathers and other prisoners, totaling 113, convicted of violating wartime acts, will depart from here between April 12 and 15, Mrs. O'Hare announced today.

The crusaders will stop at Marion, Ohio, Buffalo, New York and Philadelphia, Mrs. O'Hare said. She announced that those accompanying the children will include:

Mrs. Ralph Chaplin, Chicago; Mrs. W. T. Nef, Philadelphia; Mrs. Francis Miller, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Mary Graber and rMs. E. E. Doree, Philadelphia, and Mrs. John A. Vila, Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. O'Hare was paroled from the Jefferson City, Mo., penitentiary in May, 1920, by President Wilson, after she had served fourteen months of a five-year sentence on a charge of having vioalted the espionage act by making a seditious speech in North Dakota, in which she was quoted as saying, "The mothers of world war soldiers are no better than brood sows."

EXTEND TAX EXEMPTION.

Aldermen Free New Dwellings Begun by April 1, 1923.

The Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance yesterday extending the period of tax exemption on new dwellings from April 1, 1922, to April 1, 1923. Under this law, made permissive by a bill signed by Governor Miller, all new construction commenced before April 1, 1923, will be exempt from taxation until Jan. 1, 1932.

Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert sent an emergency message to the Aldermen, asking them to pass the ordinance introduced by Majority Leader William T. Collins. He pointed out that the present tax exemption ordinance expires at midnight Friday.

The Collins ordinance provides for an exemption of $3,000 a room in apartments in multi-family houses, the exemption not to exceed $5,000 an apartment. A similar exemption was provided for single and two-family houses. The State law would not be effective if the Board of Aldermen failed to concur with the action of the Legislature.

Am. T. and T. Co. Re-elects Officers

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company yesterday, the directors and officers were re-elected and other routine business transacted. There were 122,060 shareholders represented in person or by proxy and 3,500,667 shares voted.

JEWELL SAYS WORKER NEEDS $2,636 BUDGET

CHICAGO, March 28.—Industries should use the same principle in supplying energy to their employes as in supplying coal under their boilers, B. M. Jewell, head of the Shop Crafts Union, told the Railroad Labor Board today in presenting a budget requiring $2,636.97 a year for sustaining a workingman's family.

America, "with such productive power and such natural resources, should afford all her workers more than a shabby existence," he declared in continuing his fight against wage reductions sought by 204 railroads. To obtain what his budget provided, however, he said railroad mechanics must earn 40 per cent. more than at present.

"But the railroads propose to cut wages again," he continued. "Instead of 70 per cent. of the budget which railroad mechanics are now able to purchase, under the cut they will be able to buy only about one-half of the budget. Do the railroads propose to put their employes on the blockade ration of Germany during the war?"

Mr. Jewell's budget, he said, was based on an average railroad mechanic's family. It provided, he asserted, no more than a "sahe supply of food and only the barest minimum in other respects." The food menus would furnish the wage earner 4,140 calories a day. The $2,636.97 family budget, he said, was about $300 more than the Department of Labor's budget.

"Under the 67½ cents an hour rate which the railroads propose, a mechanic can make $1,650.40 a year, $1,000 less than the amount necessary to purchase the essentials listed in the budget," he continued.

"The there is the rate of 40 cents an hour proposed for helpers. With not an hour of regular working time missed this means annual earnings of $979.20. The allowance for food of $383.20 provides 10 cents a meal for the man and 6 cents daily for the youngest child. For clothing $180 is allowed.

"Every article of clothing must wear from two to three times as long as is contemplated in the budget prepared by the ecoromists for the railroad workers. Three Summer union suits must do about three years' service. The man's suit must wear eight years, his Winter overcoat ten years. Oatmeal, potatoes and coffee prevailed in the menus because coffee acts as a stimulan in place of adequate nourishment, and oatmeal and potatoes are filling."

CUT KINGS COUNTY GAS TO $1.40; REDUCE UNITS

Service Commission Also Permits Minimum Monthly Charge of 50c—Test Britis Standard.

An order made yesterday by the Public Service Commission cuts the rate of $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, charged by the Kings County Lighting Company for gas, to $1.40 and authorizes the company to make gas of 525 British thermal units instead of the 22-candle power gas required by law. The company is also permitted to fix a minimum monthly charge of 50 cents. All of the changes are to becoe effective on Friday.

The company has been making the B. T. U. gas for some time, but the basis was 550 units. The reduction to 525 units saves the company from much of the decreased income through a cut in the rate. The company serves Bay Ridge, Bath Beach, Bensonhurst and Borough Park.

During the inquiry into the affairs of the company, testimony was obtained which showed that when the company was supposed to make 22-candle power gas that the standard often dropped to less than 4-candle power and that since 1918 it has been making gas of the heat unit standard.

It is understood that the cut in the rate was agreed to in recent conferences between the commission and the company and that there is an understanding that a further cut is to be accepted in the Fall.

If the 525 heat unit gas to be supplied by the company proves satisfactory, this standard may be adopted for the entire city if the commission finally grants the companies permission to change the standard from the candle power to the heat unit.

GIVES HOME FOR CHILDREN.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 28.—Mrs. Edward S. Harkness of New York City, who owns a Summer place at Goshen point and who recently purchased the Hoffman property, adjoining her estate, is to establish a home for convalescent children on the Hoffman place. Workmen are now engaged in making alterations in the mansion for that purpose.

Mrs. Harkess is to maintain the institution from her own funds and hopes to have the house in readiness to receive patients at an early date. A matron and nurses will be engaged and children recovering from illness to whom the salt air and proper nourishment are beneficial will be admitted.

The house was built forty years ago by Dr. William Appleton of Boston. It faces the Sound and has extensive grounds. It is planned to accommodate about twenty-five children.

Mrs. Harkness is the donor of the Harkness memorial erected at Yale in memory of her son.

OLD SURVEY BRINGS $785.

O'Brien Books on West and Wilderness Total $10,292.

The sale of the books on the West and the Wilderness, owned by Dr. Frank P. O'Brien, was ended at the Anderson Galleries yesterday. The session brought $3,390. The grand total is $10,292.55.

The highest price of the day was $785 paid on order for the original manuscript, survey and maps made by Abraham Swagerty in 1795, describing six tracts of land, embracing one-sixth of the present State of Tennessee. Ernest Dressel North gave $750 for the finest known copy of the "Narrative of the Adventures of Ezras Leonard," Clearfield, Pa., 1839.

Walter M. Hill paid $150 for "The Mississippi," by H. Lewis and George E. Douglas, Dusseldorf, 1850. He also obtained for $210 "Sketches," by John Reynolds, Belleville, Ill., 1854. G. A. Baker & Co. paid $200 for Joel Palmer's "Journal of Travels," Cincinnati, 1847, and $230 for "Friendship's Offering," by John Reynolds, Belleville, Ill., 1838.

HACKENSACK, N. J., March 28.—Miss Margaret Fox, 18 years old, one of two Newark girls who leaped from an automobile Friday night near Westwood to escape the attentions of two men who had taken them iding in Newark, is still semi-conscious. County Detective Taylor, who has been edeavoring to obtain the names of the men from her, will remain away from the Hackensack Hospital until the girl is further recovered.

Miss Fox greeted her brother and father this afternoon, and admitted in a whisper that she knew the men's names, but she refused to tell them.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN COMPANY

Archdeacon of the Yukon Has Vision of News Broadcasted to Far Camps.

KEY TO COUNTRY'S PROGRESS

Believes Phone in Every Cabin Would Speed Trade, Mining and Whole Intercourse.

The wireless telephone could save lives, prevent much suffering and be of great commercial advantage in Alaska, according to the Rev. Frederick B. Drane, Episcopal Archdeacon of the Yukon, who is now on a vacation in New York.

"Think of the convenience the wireless telephone would be to men in remote mining camps, where mail goes, at best, once a month, and where supplies come in only once a year," said Mr. Drane yesterday at the General Theological Seminary. "When a camp needs supplies it must send its order well in advance. If the order does not arrive at the supply base in time for the goods to be sent out on the annual boat, the order has to wait until the following year, or the goods must be sent by dog sled, the cost of which is very high. For instance, we have to pay 25 cents a pound merely for transportation of supplies by dog sleds.

"If illness occurs in one of these isolated camps, a physician can be summoned only by messenger. In some cases the messenger could not reach the nearest town in less than eight or ten days. Equal time would be required for the return trip, after which the sick man would have had ample opportunity to die. If the camp were equipped with a wireless telephone, the necessary time for the summoning of a physician could be cut in half. The saving of time might well mean the saving of life.

"In my own mission work the wireless telephone could be of great help. For instance, one of our Episcopal missionaries stationed in Stephen's Village, 170 miles from the nearest mission station, is cut off from the rest of the world by any regular means of communication. The village is made up of 170 Indians. If anything goes wrong there, word cannot be sent to us until a messenger can make the arduous trip. If the station were equipped with a wireless telephone, we could know at once. Quick communication would not be of service only in such emergencies, but would be of advantage in the ordinary transaction of business between mission stations.

"I assume that its operation is sufficiently simple for the ordinary person to understand and that the price would be in reach of the average man. The serviceability of the wireless telephone to all of us in Alaska would vary directly with its simplicity of operation and its cost. One of the great services would be the dissemination of news. Towns other than those touched by the telegraph line are out of communication with the rest of the world. For instance, it may take a month for the newspaper published in Fairbanks to reach the miners in remote camps. The distance by air line may not be so great, but travel is difficult.

"Wireless stations in Alaska might broadcast news, just as wireless stations near New York broadcast concerts. There are already wireless stations in Eagle, Fort Yukon, Fort Gibbon, Fairbanks and Valdez. Aside from the pleasure and satisfaction a miner in a remote camp would derive from learning promptly the happenings of the outside world, it would be of great economic value to learn at once of the price fluctuations of gold, furs and other commodities."

REFUSES TO DEPORT PROBST, SWISS BUTLER

Court Sends Former Rolling Rock Club Employe to Ellis Island to Be "Judged" There.

August Probst, a Swiss, formerly butler at the Rolling Rock Club, Ligonier, near Pittsburgh, will remain in this country a while longer. This was made clear yesterday when Federal Judge John C. Knox gave his decision in Probst's habeas corpus proceedings to prevent his deportation for unlawful entry to this country.

Probst, who deserted his post as steward on the White Star liner Olympic on June 1, 1921, has made sensational allegations in his effort to dodge the deportation order of the Secretary of Labor. He charged that members of the club named had "kidnapped" him and were "railroading" him back to Switzerland, because the butler and a prominent Pittsburgh girl were in love.

Judge Knox held that only one immigration inspector had decided the case of Probst, whereas the law stipulated that in deportation proceedings against an alien seaman three inspectors should sit in judgment. The court remanded Probst to Ellis Island for the inspectors to pass on his case, intimating that unless the Ellis Island board convened promptly he might entertain a motion by Bernard Sandler, the butler's attorney, for Probst's release.

POLICE COMMITTEES TO ASSIST ENRIGHT

Thirteen Are Named by the Commissioner and Also an Executive Board.

To facilitate the handling of the many matters that come under the jurisdiction of the Police Department, and to assist Police Commissioner Richard Enright in his duties, thirteen committees have been appointed by the Commissioner.

Each committee, headed by a Deputy Police Commissioner and assisted by a secretary, is composed of members of the Police Department. An executive board, which consists of all the Deputy Police Commissioners, has also been established. The committees follow:

Audit Committee, Buildings and Uniforms Committee, Crime Committee, Efficiency Committee, Honor Committee, Laws and Regulations Committee, Parade, Strikes and Meetings Committee, Pension and Relief Committee, Police Reserve Committee, Rewards Committee, Traffic Committee, Ways and Means Committee and Welfare Committee.

In the order announcing the creation of the thirteen committees the Police Commissioner explains the duties of each of the committees, their personnel, and the general instructions to be followed.

NO "LANDRU" TOMBSTONE.

PARIS, March 28.—Henri Desiré Landru, guillotined Feb. 25 for the murder of ten women and a boy, lost his name when he lost his head. The man who astounded those who watched his trial by his remarkable desire for publicity is buried in an unmarked grave, where his daughter and two sons have been authorized, at their request, to place a small cross marked only "Henri Landru."

The children have also asked authority to change their names to Remy.

HOLDS CIVIL SERVICE HINDERS EFFICIENCY

Attorney General Daugherty Says More Employes Do Less Work Under Present System.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Belief that the civil service is a hindrance to government efficiency was expressed by Attorney General Daugherty testifying recently before the House Appropriations Committee.

"It is probably a gratuitous suggestion, but I believe the civil service is an interference to some extent in the discharge of public business," said the Attorney General, as quoted in the printed record of the hearing. "I suppose I have been voting in party platforms and local elections for the civil service proposition for a great many years. About one-half of the employes in the Department of Justice are under civil service. While I am Attorney General and while the civil service law is in the statutes I will enforce it and observe it, as I expect to enforce and observe all laws.

"I believe if it were not for the civil service we could get along with less than two-thirds of the number of employes under civil service and probably get twice as much work out of them."

Asked by a member to explain just how that might be done, Mr. Daugherty said:

"I suppose the Department of Justice has as good employes and as faithful who are under civil service as those who are under the civil service in any other department, but they are not as anxious generally to be in place to commence work on the dot as they are to quit work before the dot.

"I do not speak for the Administration, but I am giving you the benefit of my observation and judgment, about which I have no doubt, and I am thoroughly convinced that the civil service is a hindrance to the Government. I would rather take the recommendations of a political committee, either Democratic or Republican, a self-respecting committee, for the appointment of a man or woman than be compelled to go through the requirements of the civil service to secure an employe. They are hardly as ambitious, hardly as energetic under the civil service as are those not under the civil service.

"I discovered both before I came here as Attorney General and since that civil service employes spend too much time in trying to work out plans to make themselves secure in their positions. While this situation cannot be remedied at the present time, still it is worthy of careful study."

TESTS FOR AIR SERVICE AND COAST ARTILLERY

Weeks Orders Operations This Summer to Insure Co-ordination of Both Branches.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Joint tests to show the value of coast artillery when trained for use in conjunction with the army air service will be conducted during the coming Summer under orders issued by Secretary Weeks. Action to insure the co-ordination of these two important branches of the service on the coast defense is being taken by the department in accordance with the basic principles of warfare and training recently laid down as a result of studies by experts of the General Staff of the army.

Both branches are recognized by the General Staff as having important roles to play in coast defense, but they have never before been tested jointly. The tests will include:

1. Anti-aircraft target practice against air targets to determine the vertical range at which bombing planes could operate without being subjected to effective fire.

2. Bombing practice against coast defense installations to determine the effect of aircraft bombs on such a target.

3. Combined target practice at extreme coast artillery ranges to determine the relative efficiency of bombing planes and large calibre coast artillery guns in operation against an enemy fleet.

The war with Germany, it is asserted by General Staff officers, furnished such an exhaustive test of the powers of mobile troops that the doctrines of training for such troops were firmly established. But coast defense was not extensively tested and many questions of the best methods and material to be used were not solved in battle.

It was demonstrated in the tests last Summer off the Virginia Capes that the bombing planes were able to keep in touch with the shore base by radio telegraphy at all times. The airmen assert that it would be just as easy for the airmen to keep in touch with coast defense fortifications and that the two operating jointly would be able to completely protect the coast against attack by an enemy fleet.

PLAN A FEDERAL LAW TO CONTROL FIREARMS

Congressmen to Frame Bill to Regulate Manufacture and Sale as Anti-Crime Measure.

United States Senator Calder of Brooklyn and other members of Congress, it was learned yesterday, have agreed to present a bill in Congress providing for Federal control of firearms in order to prevent crime. It will be a sweeping measue and will regulate the manufacture and sale of weapons, as well as the issuance of permits.

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis, former District Attorney of Kings County, said yesterday that he would write to Senator Calder supporting the proposed bill.

"The law in this State," said Justice Lewis, "prohibits the possession of firearms except upon a permit, yet all manner of weapons can be purchased in the city without the prerequisite of a permit. The law is wholly inadequate and insufficient, for if wt had a law in the State of New York prohibiting the sale of firearms here, within twenty minutes, unless the law was similar in adjoining States, any one who desired to purchase a revolver could go to New Jersey or any other bordering State and obtain it in that community.

"What is needed is Federal control and supervision of all who are engaged in the manufacture and sale of firearms, and no one should be entitled to stil firearms except to those who have a permit which has been issued by a responsible Federal officer to be designated."

RENTS HIGH, FLATS VACANT.

5,000 Empty in Chicago as the Summer Exodus to the Forests Nears.

CHICAGO, March 28.—There are 5,000 vacant flats in Chicago today, and by June 1 that number will be doubled, says M. B. Walsh, Secretary of the Tenants' League. The reason, he says, is that prices are too high.

"Landlords are asking anywhere from $75 to $250 a month for them, and people can't pay," Mr. Walsh declared.

"With the coming of fine weather, according to the renters' champion, thousands of apartments will be vacated by families who will take up their abods in tent colonies in the forest preserves surrounding the city. Last year, it was estimated, 10,000 families saved rent by this method during the Summer.

AMUNDSEN'S RADIO LINK WITH WORLD

EXPLORATION BY AIRPLANE

Two Machines Expected to Reach Parts of the Frozen North Hitherto Inaccessible.

From the depths of the silent Arctic, Roald Amundsen will keep in daily touch with civilization by the wireless telephone as he progresses in his five-year drifting voyage over the roof of the world among the unexplored mysteries of the north polar seas.

"We cannot ignore the possible benefits of the wireless telephone on this trip," said Captain Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole and explorer of the north polar regions, after his arrival here from Norway to start final preparations for his north polar trip. "Advances in radio have been so great in the last few years, and particularly in the field of wireless telephony, that it is probable that a voice from the silent North may call out each day to tell the known world what lies locked within the ice of the polar seas."

One of the most powerful of wireless sets has been bought from the Marconi Company in London by Captain Amundsen, who says that his ice-bucking polar cruiser, the Maude, will be able to send wireless messages in international code at a distance of about 2,000 miles. This means that he will be in touch with wireless stations in Alaska, the Bering Sea and Norway. Linked up with this powerful radio equipment will be one of the best wireless telephone sets Captain Amundsen can find in this country, and he will start out today on a search for this apparatus.

"The greatest advances in wireless telephony have been made in this country," said Captain Amundsen, "and I expect to be able to find apparatus here fitted for the needs of this modern expedition."

Has Record-Holding Monoplane.

As the first arctic explorer to use the airplane for soaring over the unexplored polar regions, Captain Amundsen has accepted the gift of an all-metal monoplane from J. L. Larsen, President of the J. L. Aircraft Corporation, and on Thursday will start test flights with the machine at the field at Central Park, L. I. It has been decided that the second plane to be taken on this exploration will be an Avro airplane of British make.

The Larsen company offered him the J. L. all-metal plane, which established a record for endurance flight at Mineola on Dec. 29 last by remaining in the air for 26 hours 19 minutes and 35 seconds, and which was flown about 6,000 miles from Mineola to Fort Norman in the arctic circle. On its long hop to the frozen north the machine functioned perfectly at temperatures as low as 48 degrees below zero, and it is believed that the plane will be of ideal type for the uses of the explorers. The plane cost about $40,000. The Avro was selected because of its dependability. It was used as an instruction machine during the war and is an exceptionally stable machine in the air. Aviators say that it is one of the easiest landing machines made and useful for all kinds of aerial reconnaissance.

Mr. Larsen said that he would equip the monoplane with skiis, pontoons and wheels so that it would be capable of landing and taking off on snow, water or land. The machine itself weighs about 2,400 pounds, with a thirty-foot wing spread, and is capable of carrying 3,000 pounds, or one and a quarter times its own weight.

Avro Will Pick Out Course.

"Due to Mr. Larsen's fine co-operation," said Captain Amundsen, "I feel that this is going to be the crowning achievement of my life. The north polar basin is included in some millions of square miles of territory which has never been visited by scientists. There is no way to penetrate that region by vessel because of the drifting ice. We will take the Larsen plane hundreds of miles away from the mother ship and operate independently. We will also have an Avro for scout purposes and to show us the best course over the ice."

Captain Amundsen, who arrived yesterday from Norway on the liner Stavangerfjord, brought with him one of the two aviators who will accompany him on the exploration trip, and in the afternoon they visited the offices of the Larsen Company at 347 Madison Avenue for a two-hour conference. Both were enthusiastic over the prospect of aerial exploration of the north polar regions, and predicted that hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory may be explored at a saving of a cost of millions of dollars and years of time over the ship and dog-and-sledge exploration of the past.

The aviator who arrived yesterday with Captain Amundsen was Lieutenant Oskar Amdal of the Norwegian Navy, who has been in the air for 400 hours and during the last Winter made a special study of flying under polar conditions. They will be joined at Seattle by Lieutenant Udd Dahl, also of the Norwegian Navy. Lieutenant Amdal will spend three weeks at Central Park, L. I., tuning up the planes, and may fly one of them across the continent to Seattle.

Expedition to Start About June 1.

Captain Amundsen will visit Washington this week to confer with H. U. Sverdup, who is to be chief of scientific research work on the expedition, who has been preparing meteorological maps for several months and conferring with officials of the Carnegie Institute there. All maps and plans for the scientific studies are now complete, and Captain Amundsen and Dr. Sverdup will proceed along the original outline prepared by them several months ago. These include study of the meteorological conditions, study of the ocean currents and search for traces of oil, minerals and other natural resources. New regions will be mapped.

In a few days the Maude will go into dry dock in Seattle in preparation for the start of her north polar trip on June 1. About ten days later the expedition will put in at Nome to take on dogs for the exploration, and then start its long drift through the northern seas, which, with luck, will carry the explorer over the pole to his home in Norway in from three to five years. A seven years' food supply of canned meats from Norway and fruit from California will be packed into the hold of the ship, and about fifteen Norwegian rifles of 6 and 8 millimeters in calibre will be taken along to provide fresh bear and walrus meat for the expedition.

One of Captain Amundsen's regrets on the start of his expedition is that he will be so long away from Cakonita and Carmilla, the two native children which he rescued from starvation in the arctic and took to Norway recently for a modern education. "Cakonita is 7 and Carmilla is 13," he said pensively, "and both will be young ladies when I return."

BELGIUM LODGES PROTEST.

BRUSSELS, March 28.—In answer to a question in the Chamber of Deputies today concerning the killing of Lieutenant Graff near Düsseldorf March 22, M. Devèze, Minister of National Defense, said the Belgian Government was convinced that the crime was premeditated, and that demands were being made for the punishment of those guilty. He said the Belgian Minister at Berlin had been instructed to lodge a protest and to demand official apologies and moral and material compensation.

During the discussion of the interpellation concerning Lieutenant Graff, M. Devèze declared that he had just received news that two Belgian soldiers were stabbed yesterday during a fight at Duisburg, and that one of them was seriously wounded. The Chamber showed keen indignation on receiving this information.

INDUSTRIAL PRISON TO BE ESTABLISHED

CAMP GRANT MAY BE SITE

Attorney General Says the Younger Prisoners Should Be Taught Trades and Paroled.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—As a result of a conference today between President Harding, Attorney General Daugherty and the Rev. Heber Votaw, Superintendent of Federal Prisons, a bill will be drawn for introduction in Congress providing for the establishment of a Federal industrial penal institution. The Federal prisons already are overcrowded and vigorous enforcement of the Volstead act is expected to add to the congestion.

Mr. Daugherty and Dr. Votaw suggested to the President that the site at Camp Grant, near Rockford, Ill., be chosen for the proposed penal institution. The President has been urged to assign Camp Grant as a training camp for the National Guard and on that account no decision was reached. It is probable, however, that Camp Grant will be chosen for the Department of Justice experiment in penalogy.

The prospective section of Camp Grant for either National Guard or penal purposes calls attention to a recent act of Congress approved by President Harding on March 8, which provides for Government purchase of sites leased for military camps during our participation in the World War. That act was the outcome of a conclusion by the War Department that it would be cheaper to buy these sites than to carry out a provision of its contract with camp site owners to return their property to them in the same condition as it was when the sites were taken over by the Government under leases.

The act made a special exception in the case of about 588 acres embraced in the Camp Grant site. This particular tract contained valuable Government works, such as pumping stations, power plants and other improvements estimated to be worth $2,000,000. Under the act these 588 acres are returned to the original owners. Claims have been made that the Government could have acquired this property through condemnation proceedings for between $150,000 and $200,000. The valuable Government structures on the land to be returned are the key to the control of the rest of Camp Grant if used for a town site or for Government purposes.

No satisfactory explanation for the special exemption of these 588 acres with their valuable public utilities and their return to private owners has been made.

The Secretary of War informed the Senate Committee on Military Affairs that the provision seriously affected the future usefulness of the rest of Camp Grant to the Government and the Chamber of Commerce of Rockord sent a protest to Congress against the return of the property to the private owners. The reason for the insertion of the Camp Grant exemption provision has remained a mystery.

The act making the exemption authorizes the Secretary of War to purchase from the owners such number of acres as may be necessary for the operation of the existing water plant erected by the Government or to lease the plant, and if necessary to resort to condemnation proceedings to obtain ownership. One objection to this provision of the act, which does not appear to have attracted any public attention until after the act had become law, is that with the land again in their possession the owners are in position to demand higher prices due to the valuable buildings on it and the availability of Camp Grant for Government purposes.

"The country has outgrown the old type of penitentiary," said Mr. Daugherty, after his conference with the President today. "The number of Federal prisoners is increasing and we will have to build additions to them or adopt other means of providing room for prisoners. The additions would have to conform to the present architectural type of Federal prisons and that type is antiquated and contrary to healthful principles.

"There are now between 400 and 500 young prisoners serving first terms in Federal prisons. They comprise good salvage material. To keep them in these crowded places is bad for their health and morals. What I want to see is these young people taken away from prison influences, taught trades, their health built up and their habits corrected, and given an opportunity to get jobs when they are released. The record of paroles justifies our expectation that nine out of ten prisoners can be trusted on parole. The more a man is kept in jail the more likely he is to indulge in crime. The quicker they are let out the quicker they are saved."

EXPORT OFFER FROM RUSSIA

CHICAGO, March 28.—A hand-written letter, scratched with pen and ink on newsprint paper and plastered with 5,000 rubles worth of postage stamps, arrived today at the headquarters of the Illinois Manufacturers Association from Ural, Russia, with the first offer to export goods known to have been received here from that section of Russia.

The letter enumerated a sizable list of goods, manufactured and raw materials, which the National Commissariat on Foreign Trade has for sale. The communication inquired which items could be sold in and around Chicago and under what terms.

Metals listed included iron, copper, gold and platinum. Ten ores included manganese, malachite, talc, jasper and precious stones and a list of chemical goods contained caustic soda, caustic magnesia and silver-fir oil. Licorice, woodenware, leather, horse hair, feathers and other animal products are enumerated and the list of furs names twenty-four varieties.

Some of the more unusual offerings mentioned were ural stone handiwork, mineral collections, ijumen carpets, kashi cast iron, art goods, polished precious stones and asbestos fabrications.

The letter was mailed from Ekaterinburg where the former Czar and his family are said to have been executed.

BOSTON, March 28.—A petition favoring the claims of the Jewish people to Palestine as a national homeland was presented to the Joint Rules Committee of the Legislature today by Representative Coleman Silbert of Boston. It was signed by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, Attorney General J. Weston Allen and others.

"We join," the petition set forth, "in urging our country to champion once more the cause of the small nation seeking to regain its home."

SCHOOL HEAD BANS SHIFTERS AS A FAD

SAYS PUPILS ARE EXPLOITED

Condemning the "Shifter" craze as a form of unwholesome fraternizing and a menace to the morals of children, Superintendent of Schools William L. Ettinger, in a circular letter sent to the Principals of all elementary and high schools in this city, asks them to aid in stamping out the fad. The notice was as follows:

A number of complaints have been received with reference to the existence among pupils of the elementary schools and high schools of a loose fraternal grouping, the members of which are known as Shifters, a title and distinction of doubtful honor.

While the movement has spread rapidly among our pupils, the phenomenon is probably possessed of little vitality and no doubt will be very short lived.

However, I think that the best influence of Principals and teachers, properly exerted, will hasten the demise of the craze by awakening pupils to an appreciation of the basic evils involved, which, briefly, may be summarized as follows:

(a) The fad makes it possible for certain commercial firms to exploit pupils by selling so-called emblems at exorbitant profits.

(b) The basic slogan—"Get something for nothing"—is the ideal of the grafter, and as such ought to be utterly repugnant to pupils possessed of proper moral standards. The contemptuous designation of the Shifter as "a giggling grafter" seems to be well deserved. It has been reported that many Shifters devoid of principle have preyed upon their more gullible associates and have profited much at the cost of their own personal degredation.

(c) Probably the worst aspect of the craze is that the demands made under the guise of good-fellowship are sometimes of such character as to break down moral and social barriers that ordinarily prevail among decent, well-behaved children. "Be a good fellow" may often prove to be a veiled invitation to indulge in promiscuous cordiality that endangers those rules of decorum which make for proper living and good order not only in the school, but in social life generally.

I would urge that you give due attention to this evil insofar as it manifests itself in your school organization, either through emblems or activities, and enlist the best efforts of your pupil leaders to substitute for this unwholesome fraternizing the normal relationships of good-fellowship and cooperative effort that are always productive of fine character.

The Official Shifters' Emblem Company at 303 Fifth Avenue, one of the concerns which has been selling Shifter pins in large quantities, was the subject of a protest from the agents of the building at 303 Fifth Avenue to the firm of Lowenstern & Jacob, which rents a room to the emblem company. Harold S. King of the emblem company said that the room would be retained until May, but that the company's name would be removed from the building directory, "and as far as the public is concerned, we are not here." Mr. King said that mail orders for pins would continue to be filled. The agent's protest, it was learned, was due to the fact that the owner's written consent had not been obtained by Mr. Lowenstern for the subletting of office space.

ACQUIT BROKER LILLY OF MISUSING $1,000

He Denies That He Fled From City Before Indictment—Cotton Exchange Evidence All In.

A jury in Judge Mancuso's part of General Sessions yesterday acquitted J. Frank Lilly, formerly a broker, on a charge of misappropriating $1,000 which, it was alleged, was given to him by Herman N. Diamond of 15 Park Row on June 15, 1919, to purchase stock in the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Lilly was head of the brokerage firm of J. F. Lilly & Co. at 62 Broadway, which failed in July, 1919, with liabilities of $1,500,000. The jury was out about five minutes.

Lilly was indicted in November, 1919, but it was not until December of last year that he was arrested in Dallas, Texas. He denied after his acquittal that he fled from this city before the indictment was returned. He declared that when he left in September he was informed no indictment was expected to be lodged against him, and that he went to the home of his parents at Fort Worth. He was surprised, he said, when informed at the time of his arrest that he had been indicted.

"I intend to say here," he added, "since I am convinced that there are many hidden securities and other assets of Lilly & Co. that can be recovered. I want to see how much of them I can get back for the creditors of the company."

District Attorney Banton announced yesterday that all the evidence gathered against members of the American Cotton Exchange in connection with allegations of bucketing orders of customers had been submitted to the Grand Jury, and that it was expected the body would make an announcement in the matter today or tomorrow.

SON ACCUSES MOTHER NAMED CO-RESPONDENT

Says He Protested Over Conduct But She Told Him It Was Not His Business.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 28.—Austen Henry Bonifer, son of Mrs. Catherine Bonifer, of Elmhurst, L. I., accused his mother today in a divorce action brought by Mrs. Elsie Schnell of Hastings-on-Hudson against Edward L. Schnell. He boarded at the Bonifer home following separation from his wife several years ago. Schnell, who is in the upholstery business at 921 Broadway, New York, has contended that he went to board in the Bonifer home on the invitation of the corespondent's husband, Henry Bonifer, and denied the charges. The Schnells have four children and he is contesting the divorce.

Young Bonifer said that he looked through a keyhole and saw his mother sitting alone with Schnell in the parlor at night, that he remonstrated with her, but she told him it was none of his business.

W. P. Teaney of Ronkonkoma, L. I., testified that in 1920 he lived over the Bonifer apartment and that when Schnell was ill Mrs. Bonifer nursed him.

Mrs. Theresa Bonifer, wife of the son, said that she saw Mr. Schnell give her mother-in-law money and that the corespondent said Schnell had purchased her costly clothes.

THE HIGHEST CONCEPTION OF A MOTOR CAR

THE HIGHEST pitch of satisfaction in motoring is reached when the car performs its appointed duties, not merely without hesitation or delay, but with a certain buoyant and exuberant energy; when the mind is free to dwell upon the comfort and luxury of the car, and the eye rests upon each fitting and appointment and approves of its good taste and harmony, as well as convenience; when, in short, the car adds to previous conceptions of motoring a further satisfaction and enjoyment.

VETERANS' PLIGHT LAID TO POLITICIANS

William M. Deegan, New York State Commander of the American Legion, said yesterday that the "deplorable condition of ex-service men in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut was the result of strife among politicians in those States over the juicy plums in the local offices under the United States Veterans Bureau."

Major Deegan made this assertion in view of the shake-up in the Veterans' Bureau here, three administrative officials having been displaced.

In the reorganization Major Henry G. Dodyche, Director of the Second District, which comprises New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, got out. His place has not yet been filled. Leopold Stocker has been succeeded by E. H. Hale as administrative officer, and L. C. Wardwell has taken over the work of J. B. Holloway as chief of rehabilitation. For the present Major Leon Fraser, Assistant Director of the Veterans Bureau in Washington, is temporarily in charge in New York.

"Politics and politicians are getting the best of the Veterans' Bureau," Major Deegan said. "Because of this fact the disabled men are up against it in the Second District. If they would let Colonel Forbes, head of the bureau, pick his own men, we believe he would accomplish things, whereas at present the accomplishments, so far as New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are concerned, are negligible.

"The job of Director here is worth $6,000 a year, and subordinates in very large city draw about $4,000. These jobs are considered prizes by politicians, and there is a merry war on among Senators, Representatives and leaders as to who shall be appointed. Meanwhile the wounded man is suffering.

"One of the things badly needed is decentralization as provided under the Bonsel law. The files of ex-service men should be returned to the localities in which they live. We have only about 10 per cent. of these files in the Second District. Hence, when a man applies for compensation his application generally has to be sent to Washington and he must wait two or three months for action. The men are protesting to the Legion and saying they get no justice. Meanwhile, the scramble for plums go on."

At the Veterans' Bureau at 23 West Forty-third Street Major Fraser said that some of Major Deegan's complaints were justified, although he declined to comment on the charge of politics.

"New York has been badly treated, that is a fact. The State has got no hospitals; the program of decentralization that is being followed by the Government has left New York to the last in delivery of the files. This district seems to have had especially hard luck in administration. The whole district is in a turmoil and it is a fact that we have found in this office (I am not blaming anybody) evidences of total lack of efficiency."

ACCUSED ARBUCKLE, NEW WITNESS TESTIFIES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The State late today rested in the third manslaughter trial of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle(with testimony offered by Miss Virginia Briggs, a surprise witness. The defense began by calling Adolph Juel, head of the Police Identification Bureau.

Miss Briggs, who is secretary to Dr. Francis Wakefield, at whose sanitarium Miss Virginia Rapp died, testified that Miss Rape told her that "Arbuckle took me by the arm and threw me on the bed and put his weight on me; after that I do not know what happened."

At the end of Miss Briggs's testimony the defense moved that her statements be stricken out as hearsay. The motion was denied.

Miss Briggs explained that she had gone into Miss Rappe's room on the day of her death.

"She asked me about the amount of the hospital bill that would be due," said the witness. "She said she didn't see why she should pay the bill, as Arbuckle was responsible for being there.

"I told her that if Arbuckle or any one else should pay the account after she left, the money paid by her would be returned. She replied that she was not going to leave, that she was going to die.

"Then I asked her why she thought she was going to die, and it was then that she told me the details of the party."

Good Window Lighting

An Effective Selling Agency

To-day the show window attracts the attention of the passer-by. If it is artistically arranged and attractively lighted it compels attention. At night it draws the crowd, and never stops its selling mission

Electric window-lighting greatly increases sales. In one instance, in one of the larger stores of the city, the increased revenue, compared with the former period of no illumination, equalled the rent of the entire store

Good show window illumination includes the placing and character of the lamps, as well as their number and size. For such lighting, our Illuminating Engineering Bureau will be glad to prepare plans and designs, or to be of other service, without cost or other obligation

The actual equipment will of course be made by an Electrical Contractor—preferably the one who has already been doing satisfactory work. The names and addresses of a number are given in the Edison Directory, which will be mailed to any one upon request

Certain buildings stand out above the average, because in them each of these items has been carried to the highest point of development.

More windows, perhaps, and therefore more light; one or two more elevators than are absolutely necessary to handle the traffic; location a little more convenient; the equipment, the staff and the willingness to give a little better service—and, by virtue of these things, tenants of a higher character.

AGED SUICIDE LEFT $226,000 IN STOCKS

Sued Government in Submarine Deal—Sister, 67, Tells of His Early Life.

Seeking light on the death of George R. Reiners, 66, who leaped ten stories to death in the Pulitzer Building early Sunday, George Strate, a clerk in the offices of Editor and Publisher, 23 Park Row, yesterday opened a bag Reiners had left in his care over the week end. To Strate he was just "the old man," a rather odd character who worked in a lawyer's office upstairs.

Strate brought the bag from behind a desk, where he had placed it for safe keeping. It opened easil. To his amazement he found himself staring at a thick bundle of securities. Others of the papers looked important. There were dozens of promissory notes and, at last, a will.

Presently the whole office force had heard of the find, and older heads totaled the face value of the papers—stock certificates and notes due—as $226,000, although there was nothing to show they had an actual value. No complete list of the items was available last night, the bag having been locked in a vault.

There were 1,900 shares of the capital stock of the Toledo, Evansville & Indiana Railroad, par value $50, with perhaps a widely different market value. Poor's Manual for 1921 does not list any Toledo, Evansville & Indiana Railroad. There is a Terre Haute, Evansville & Indiana Railroad, which is in the hands of a receiver and is operated by the Big Four Railroad.

Had Sued the Government.

There were also shares of a knitting company and a bundle of promissory notes for sums due Reiners and one Amos De Forrest Le Fevre. Letters of administration issued to Reiners indicated, it was said, that he had been administrator of the estate of Le Fevre.

Then there were legal documents which told of a suit brought by Reiners against the Government in 1883, asking $75,000—a suit which seemed from the papers still to be pending, over a "submarine whale," an early type of submarine invented by a young German.

The will, made by Reiners in 1900 in what appeared to be his own handwriting, contained several codicils. It named as beneficiary a sister, Miss Maud M. Reiners, 148 Cator Street, Jersey City. It also referred to a Miss Helen Ludwig of Newark, whom Reiners evidently had planned to adopt when she became 18 years old. Papers indicated that she became 18 two months ago.

Reiner's body was identified at the Morgue by Richard Marschauser, 274 Henry Street, Brooklyn. It is the general belief among persons employed in the Pulitzer Building that Reiners was driven to self-destruction through constant brooding over the death of his closest friend and chief employer, Clark A. Wick, who died on March 19 in the Swedish Hospital, Brooklyn. He long had served legal papers and done odd jobs around Mr. Wick's law office.

"Just before we closed the office on Saturday," Strate said, "the old man came to me carrying a bag, and asked me if I would not keep it for him, saying: 'I'm going on a vacation and may be gone some time. I'll get it when I come back.' I took the bag into the office.

"The old man looked very mournful. I thought probably he was worried about his prospects, as he seemed to have been deprived of a means of support.

Notified the "Beneficiaries."

"I found his will was very carefully drawn. After I read it and talked the matter over with others I sent telegrams to the persons named in it. Then I put the while business in the vault."

Others in the offices of Editor and Publisher said they thought the bag contained relics of Reiners's business experience, but were not inclined to believe the papers had much value.

Miss Maud M. Reiners, named as beneficiary under the will was found last night in a three-room apartment at 148 Cator Avenue, Jersey City. She lives alone.

"I had not seen my brother in four years," she said. "At that time I gave him $5. We had been estranged since 1883 owing to family trouble. We were born in Hanover, Germany. I am 67 years old. My brother was 66."

Miss Reiners said her brother, to the best of her knowledge, acted as the agent in the United States for a young German inventor who was anxious to sell his "submarine whale" to the Government. The upshot of the deal was the suit brought by Reiners, as agent for the inventor.

"I know very little about my brother's affairs," she added. As a young man he was a grocery clerk. I know no Helen Ludwig. When I last saw my brother he referred to his niece, and when I questioned him about her I got little information."

The family dispute, Miss Reiners said, arose upon the death of another brother, Harry Reiners, on June 13, 1883. He kept a saloon at 149 Fulton Street. She said Harry Reiners left his saloon and bank account to George, who "went right through it." She said she had received a telegram from George Strate and would go to his office today.

"I can't believe that George left anything behind him, but if he has I will devote whatever he left me to the poor children of Germany," Miss Reiners added.

OFFERS JUARES ARMY PLAN.

French Socialist Wants 2 Months' Training and 6 Months' Service.

PARIS, March 28 (Associated Press).—General discussion of the Government's Army bill in the Chamber of Deputies was ended this afternoon and discussion by articles was begun.

Deputy Paul Boncour introduced an amendment representing the Moderate Socialist views and reproducing largely the ideas of Juares, the Socialist Deputy assassinated during the war, in his book "The New Army." The amendment calls for two months' instruction to be followed by six months under colors.

M. Boncour took up the entire time of the session in setting forth his proposal. He argued that in addition to the economies that would result his plan would mean a saving of a billion of francs yearly through extra production throughout the country.

MIAMI, Fla., March 28.—Frank A. Wildman, proprietor of a pharmacy and a prominent church worker here, was in a critical condition at a hospital tonight from a bullet wound received at the hands of Mrs. Francis Hancock, who also operates a pharmacy. Mrs. Hancock told the police she shot Wildman when he tried to be familiar with her. Wildman has been unable to give his version of the affair.

Many Released on Parole.

SING SING, March 28.—Fifty-five malefactors, whose minimum terms in Sing Sing expire at various times during April, applied to the State Board of Parole here today to be released on probation. Most of the applications were granted, but each applicant was warned to observe strictly the conditions of his parole.

If you have faith in the young men and women of New York— If you would have loaned Lincoln the books he walked miles to borrow— If you employ University-trained men or use their services— If you ever intend to give to education—

Give to New York University Now When Each Dollar Counts as Two

$385,000 is still needed to complete the fund of $1,500,000 that New York University must raise by March 31st, to secure the gift of $500,000 from the General Education Board.

Each dollar pledged within the next two days will be worth more than two dollars to us, because it will help to secure this $500,000 gift. Within the past week alumni (many of whom had previously given) and other citizens have subscribed nearly $75,000. We must raise $385,000 more in the next two days. Will you help?

How much can you give?

Perhaps you have decided to give to New York University sometime, but have preferred to wait until you could afford a gift of substantial size.

Or perhaps you have felt that in a city like New York there are so many others wealthier than yourself, that your assistance would not be needed.

Know, then, that we do need the support of every one who can afford to give, no matter how small the amount.

There will never be a time when your help will be more opportune. A pledge now will accomplish more than a far greater gift sometime in the future.

The General Education Board has endorsed the purpose for which this fund is to be used; it is vital to thousands of able and ambitious boys and girls of New York.

Give as much as you can—and please give now.

Can it be done?

We have not dared to consider the possibility of failure, knowing what failure would mean to New York.

One out of every four of New York's sons and daughters who seek a university education now seeks it at New York University. We are training 13,000 students annually, and of these 10,000 pay their tuition out of their own earnings.

These ambitious young men and women deserve the best instruction it is possible to give. We are trying to provide it. We are also trying to enlarge our facilities to take care of the thousands of others, equally ambitious and capable, that we are now compelled to turn away for lack of room.

What other cities have done New York can do—and more

In a city not one-thirtieth the size of New York the public-spirited citizens recently pledged over $500,000 to the University that bears the city's name.

The citizens of New York can do as much for their university. They will, we are confident, when they realize—as they must realize now—how urgently their support is needed.

The Goal is in sight; help us to reach it

We must not fail now. Your pledge, however small, will help to swell the total. Make it $1000 or $500, if you can; but any sum will be gratefully received.

If you want New York's sons and daughters to have their opportunity to secure the education they demand, sign the coupon below.

Remember that every dollar you pledge is an investment in New York's ambitious young men and women. And every dollar will help to secure the gift of $500,000 from the General Education Board. Please sign and mail the coupon on or before March 31st.

GOVERNOR SIGNS CRIME WAVE BILLS

ALLOWS MORE GRAND JURIES

Approves Act for Dissolution of Marriage After Five Years' Absence of Either Party.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 28.—Governor Miller signed today three of the so-called Crime Wave bills. Two of the measures, introduced by Assemblyman Jesse, have to do with increasing the number of parts of the Court of General Sessions in New York and providing for additional Judges and juries. The other, introduced by Assemblyman Cotillo, is designed to curb bail bond evils.

Under the Cotillo bill, any person, firm or corporation who goes on a bail bond more than twice each month will be regarded as a professional bondsman. It provides that all professional bondsmen must be licensed by the State Superintendent of Insurance and they also must file a bond of $5,000 with the Superintendent. The granting of such licenses shall be discretionary with the Superintendent and he has the power to revoke them whenever he deems it advisable for the public interest.

A premium of not more than 3 per cent. of the amount of the bond shall be charged. Any member of the bar having any financial interest by which he profits through the furnishing of bail shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

In signing this measure Governor Miller said:

"This bill, if rightly enforced, should go a long way to stop the bail bond evil. The proper enforcement of the act now rests with the Superintendent of Insurance and the court Judges."

The act does not become effective until September 1.

Under one of the Jesse bills the Court of General Sessions will be divided into as many parts as the judges of the court may prescribe. At present there are six. The measure also provides for three new deputy clerks, one additional interpreter, three more stenographers, two more record clerks and three more chief court attendants.

The other Jesse bill provides that additional Grand Juries for any term of the Court of General Sessions may be drawn on the order of a Judge of the court, as the public interest requires.

Governor Miller also signed the Swift bill, which provides for the dissolution of marriage on the ground of absence. It provides that after either party has been missing for five successive years and a diligent search has been made to discover evidence showing that the missing person is living and no evidence has been found the court may order the marriage dissolved.

The Governor announced the appointment of Carl H. Fowler of New York City as Trustee of the State Institute of Applied Agriculture in Long Island to succeed Herman D. Nesler.

There will be a hearing before the Governor next Friday noon on the Robinson bill providing for the development of the surplus waters of the barge canal by the State.

A hearing on the bill which would put chiropractors under the supervision of the State Board of Regents will be held tomorrow noon. Hundreds of protests from chiropractors have been received by the Governor in the last few days asserting that enactment of the bill will virtually put them out of business.

ARCHDUKE ASKS PAUPER AID

BASLE, Switzerland, March 28.—The former Austrian Archduke Leopold, who broke with the house of Hapsburg ten years ago as a result of his marriage to a Viennese actress, has applied to the little town of Regensberg for aid from the paupers' fund. His wife, whom he divorced, has also asked for aid.

BELGIAN ROYALTY IN ROME.

King, Queen and Crown Prince Visit the Quirinal, Then the Vatican.

ROME, March 28 (Associated Press).—The King and Queen of the Belgians, with Crown Prince Leopold, arrived this afternoon on a special train, to find Rome gaily bedecked and wearing an appearance of the greatest animation in their honor.

The King, Queen and Crown Prince of Italy met them at the station, and Premier Facta and many other Government officials were also present. After going to the Quirinal the Belgian royalties paid an official visit to Pope Pius.

After visiting the Pope and Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, royal visitors witnessed from the Vatican the eclipse of the sun at its maximum phase. Mgr. Canali, who was escorting them, told King Albert: "The firmament also seems to be joining in celebrating your visit."

Almost immediately afterward a cloud came up and the party returned to the Belgian Embassy through a downpour of rain accompanied by sharp claps of thunder.

Kolynos Dental Cream

How Long Does Its Effect Last?

THE beneficial, hygienic effect of KOLYNOS extends from the time you brush your teeth with it to the time when you should AGAIN brush your teeth with it.

Your mouth NEEDS cleansing after every meal.

Vast quantities of the disease germs in your mouth are destroyed by a TWO-MINUTES' USE OF KOLYNOS, and those which remain are greatly reduced in virulence and power of reproduction.

THE WHOLE DISEASE-GERM FAMILY IS RETARDED AND DISCOURAGED WHEN IT FINDS THAT KOLYNOS HAS BEEN "ON THE JOB."

There are myriads of germs in the air, in your food and in the water you drink. If you haven't disinfected your mouth, in the course of the day THRIVING COLONIES OF INJURIOUS BACTERIA MAY EASILY ESTABLISH THEMSELVES IN YOUR MOUTH AND THROAT—the gateway to your stomach and circulation.

If you have used KOLYNOS, these germs find your mouth and throat in a fortified condition for several hours.

One brushing of your teeth, "once in a while," will not suffice, any more than ONE VISIT TO YOUR DENTIST EVERY YEAR OR TWO WILL SUFFICE.

You should visit your dentist every three or four months, with the greatest regularity. AND YOU SHOULD BRUSH YOUR TEETH MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT WITH KOLYNOS.

More than two-thirds of all the dentists of the United States ARE USING AND RECOMMENDING KOLYNOS.

They certainly know more about dental creams than anyone else in the country. ASK YOUR OWN DENTIST. Your druggist supplies Kolynos.

helps digestion and cleans a coated tongue

THOUSANDS of men and women have found relief from various digestive disturbances by eating Fleischmann's Yeast.

It is human nature to want to find out "why." So far as science can tell us this is the reason:

Fleischmann's Yeast is a food abundant in certain elements which are necessary to health and life itself. It promotes the flow of bile and of pancreatic juice. It has a remarkably beneficial effect on the whole digestive system. It cleans a coated tongue.

Try Fleischmann's fresh yeast in orange juice or, if you prefer, in milk. Men like it in milk shakes and malted milks. Women like it spread on bread or crackers.

Keep your digestion in the pink of condition and your tongue clean and healthy by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast fresh every day before or between meals. Get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

How Shall the Banker Know?

From time to time the Banker and the Bond House must pass on the safety of a proposed issue of Bonds or Stocks. What is the criterion? What facts ought he to know?

So far, the Banker has not always been right. He has been sponsor for some issues, which did not pan out at all as we were led to expect.

Bankers have their methods of deciding. You hear about the two-for-one statement. Announcements are made that the required charges on the new issues have been earned several times over for years back. Yet they have guessed wrong. Could this have been avoided, if they had looked further?

Recently a firm discussed their marketing with us, telling us that a Bond House was considering selling an issue of Bonds for them. They showed us a report, which a firm of engineers had made for the Bankers.

Much emphasis was laid on the potential capacity of the mill. The cost accountants showed what profits the mill would make, if it were run at capacity. Nothing was offered as to whether the mill would be able to sell its capacity. Really, the mill had operated at one-half capacity for a year.

We were told that about all the mills in that industry were running on that basis. Yet, we found another of the same sort running full time and six weeks behind on its orders. We think we found the reason why.

The mill whose Bonds were being considered had no brand reputation and sold on price.

This Bond House is depending almost entirely in the making of its decision on the firm's financial statement and the report of the engineers. Quite properly the engineers can make no comment as to the ability of the firm to properly sell its product. They can only report as to the manufacturing and as to how the cost figures would look, if full operations are carried on.

During the past decade, when the trend of prices was upward and often the demand was greater than the supply, it was probably almost right to judge a firm's possibilities and prosperity by the amount of its raw materials and plant capacity.

In this new cycle with its trend of declining prices, the Banker might in substance ask, "How well and easily do your goods sell? How much demand do you control? Over how many minds have you favorable control?" It may seem strange for a Banker to discuss whether his customer has an intangible asset known as "Consumer Mind Control." Yet, in some of the recent bad business break-ups, this same "Consumer Mind Control" has been the one remaining marketable asset which brought enough money to pay the value of the Bonds or Stocks.

The balance sheet and the engineers' report are absolutely necessary as a guide, but in our judgment the Bankers and Bond Houses should make the applicants for new capital prove through a competent outside firm that they are properly doing what should be done to secure and to hold a demand for their product from the court of last appeal, the consumer who uses it.

It is possible and practical to have the marketing policies of a firm passed on by men who know. It is possible to have surveys showing what the wholesale and retail trade think of a firm and its product. It is possible to find out what the consumer thinks. Finally, the condition of an industry as a whole can be determined.

Before anybody goes into a new enterprise they should, we believe, have an investigation made of the marketing conditions and possibilities of that business. Many times when we have made such studies, we have advised our customer not to enter the business. It costs less money to find out at the beginning.

MISS STONE WARNED OF DUTY TO COUNSEL

Attorney Wants to Quit Case, but Court Instructs Him to Continue Defense.

JURYMEN ARE SWORN IN

Only Time During the Day Defendant Shows Interest in Trial for Murder.

When the jury to try Olivia M. P. Stone on a charge of killing Ellis uy Kinkead, former Corporation Counsel of Cincinnati, had been completed yesterday in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, E. J. O'Reilly, assigned to defend her, told Justice Aspinall that she objected to his continuing in the case.

"No man in the world can tell me that I am no longer wanted in a case," Mr. O'Reilly said. "I have given this woman the benefit of seventeen years' experience at the bar, and I owe it to my self-respect to ask the Court to relieve me at this instant."

Remarking that the laws of the State could not be set aside by the whim of the defendant, Justice Aspinall replied:

"Ordinarily the Court would respect the wishes of a defendant when the life of that defendant was involved. However, your examination of jurors shows that you have this case well in hand, and because of your experience I reassign you to defend this action."

"Then the de endant must be made to understand that she must listen to counsel," said Mr. O'Reilly. Justice Aspinall warned Miss Stone to acquiesce to the desires of her attorney.

Only once during the day did Miss Stone raise her head—while the jury was being sworn. Leaning forward on the arm of her chair at other times, she shielded her face with a handkerchief, apparently taking no interest in the proceedings. A matron who accompanied Miss Stone said that she had spent a more or less sleepless night and had eaten no breakfast.

In an opening address to the jury Assistant District Attorney Herbert N. Warbasse characterized the act of Miss Stone as a brutal, revengeful murder, actuated by motives of jealousy. He accused her of scheming to extort money from Mr. Kinkead by threatening to sue him for breac hof promise. Telling of a series of illnesses which befel Mr. Kinkead in 1916, Mr. Warbasse said:

"He was a nervous wreck. He went from Cincinnati to Atlantic City with this defendant as his trained nurse. He was a child in the hands of this woman, mentally and physically. He got better, returned home, suffered a relapse three months later, and again visited the Jersey resort, Miss Stone acting as nurse.

"During this time Miss Stone very adroitly made a claim of breach of promise, which he declined to honor. The defendant resorted to the ingenious strategy of trying to force him to either deny or admit her claim. He refused and she took the position that she was married to him."

The State called Max Platkin, proprietor of a tailor shop at 75½ South Elliott Place. Platkin told of hearing shots on the late afternoon of Aug. 5 and of finding Miss Stone standing with a pistol in her right hand over the body of a man heidentified as Kinkead, a customer of long standing.

Mr. Reilly, on cross-examination, indicated the defense of insanity by questions he asked the witness as to Miss Stone's actions and appearance. Lieutenant Frank Farrell of the Rockaway Beach Station, who happened to be waiting for Mrs. Farrell on a nearby corner, told how he saw Miss Stone firing bullets into the prostrate body. He ran up and ovewpowered her, aided by Frank J. Spadora, a private detective. She collapsed in his arms and he carried her into Platkin's tailor shop.

Spadora recalled Miss Stone saying at the station house to Detective Flynn, who pretended that Kinkead had been only slightly wounded, "I didn't kill him? That's too bad. I'd be willing to go to hell and shovel coal over him."

The trial will be continued this morning.

CINCINNATI, March 28. — United States District Attorney James Clark will appear as a witness for the State in the prosecution of Olivia M. P. Stone, who shot and killed Ellis G. Kinkead, former Corporation Counsel of this city. Clark has been granted permission to testify by Attorney General Daugherty. He will tell, it is expected, of a visit which Miss Stone paid him and requested that he cause the arrest of Kinkead on the charge of violating the Mann act.

AMERICAN FLAG SAVED OUR SCHOOL IN ALBANIA

PARIS, March 28.—Bitter fighting and much bloodshed characterized the recent insurrection of tribal groups against the Albanian Government, according to a dispatch received in Paris today from Tirana describing the rebellion. The whole population of Tirana fled from the city in terror, said the dispatch.

The Junior Red Cross elementary school, which is supported by American children, was seized by the insurgents and used as their main position. The upper floor and walls suffered severely from bombs and rifle fire.

Only prompt action by Ambrose Kelly, director of the school who hoisted the Stars and Stripes over the building while the battle was in progress, saved it from destruction. Mr. Kelly dispatched an ultimatum to the chiefs of both sides, saying that they would have to answer to the United States Government for any damage they did. Parleys then ensued between the combatants, a truce was signed and peace was restored.

The recent action of the Allied Council of Ambassadors in withdrawing allied troops from Albania is causing much apprehension on the part of the Albanian Government and the people, says the dispatch. If the stabilising influence of these forces is removed, renewed disorders and uprisings are feared. The city is quiet at present, but clashes between Government forces and mountain tribes are imminent.

VOTE FOR DR. SLATTERY.

Grace Church Rector Leads Informal Poll for Massachusetts Bishop.

BOSTON, March 28.—The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Slattery, rector of Grace Church, New York, received the largest number of clerical and lay votes for the Bishop Coadjutorship of the Massachusetts Diocese in the informal poll taken at a meeting of clergy and laymen yesterday. Another meeting will be held next Monday.

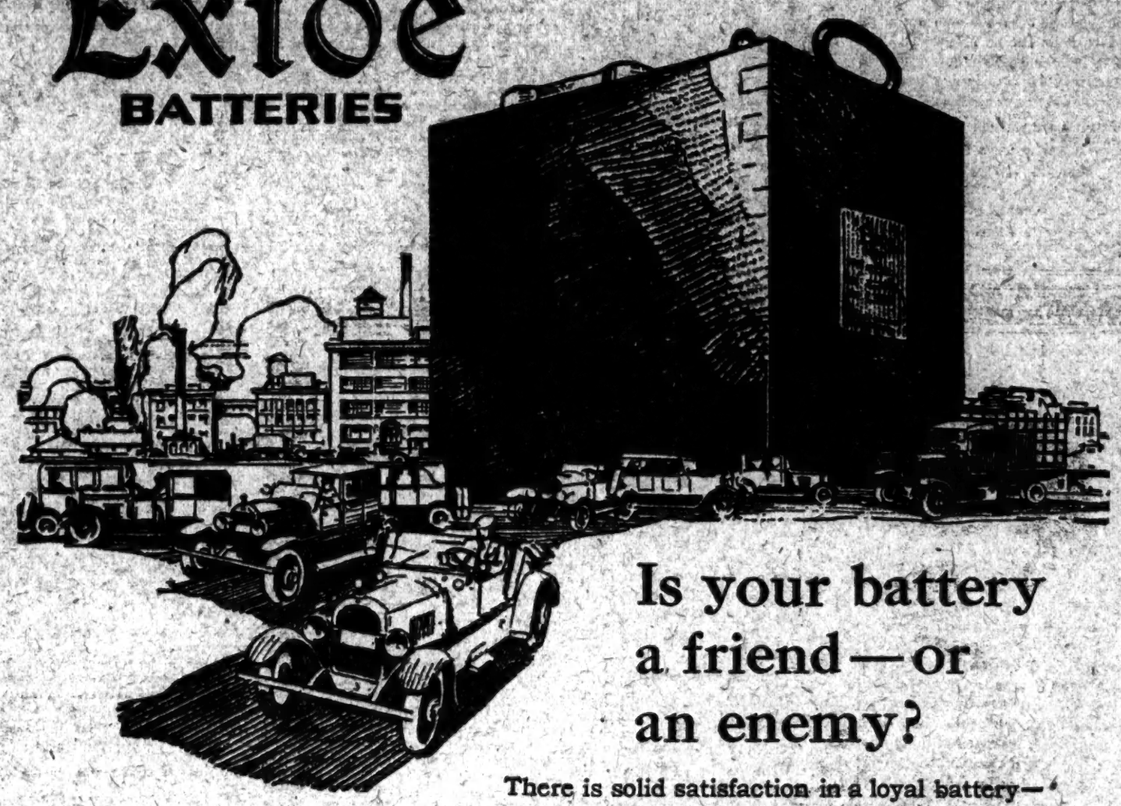
BATTERIES



Is your battery a friend—or an enemy?

There is solid satisfaction in a loyal battery—one that you can rely on to do its duty in your car and never leave you in the lurch.

But a frail, untrustworthy battery is about the most pesky thing in motordom.

It is up to you whether your battery is friend or enemy, or it will be when the time comes to choose a new battery.

When an Exide is in your car, you know there will be instant response as your foot touches the starting-pedal. Click!—and the road is bright from your lights. Never does your motor lack the spark to give it life.

But bodily comfort is not all you get from an Exide Battery. You can get pocketbook comfort as well, because the Exide lasts so much longer.

At the nearest Exide Service Station there is a battery made for you.

PATIENCE.

"Beware the fury of a patient man." But this implies that there is a breaking-point in even sublime patience. And the question today is whether there is one in President HARDING'S. Congress seems bent on finding out. The House flouted his known views on the soldiers' bonus. It is going against his expressed wishes in regard to the size of the army and the personnel of the navy. Just now it is roughly trampling upon what must be a highly sensitive spot in the President's official anatomy—the Budget. He has more than once dwelt upon this as an achievement of his Administration in which he takes peculiar pride. But a runaway House of Representatives is snapping its fingers at the Federal Budget. Despite its own committee reports and the protests of its own nominal leaders, it tacked on a cool $15,000,000 to the estimates of the Director of the Budget for river and harbor improvements.

All these buffetings Mr. HARDING has borne with exemplary patience. It is an admirable quality in him—admirable, that is, up to a certain point. It sometimes enables him to attain ends that he has at heart without the need of stormy self-assertion and intervention. His present plan is apparently to have the Bonus bill slowly smothered to death in a Senate committee room. If this asphyxiation is actually achieved, it will be partly a result of the President's long-suffering, and by so much a justification of it. But the time will surely come when President HARDING will have to let Congress and the country know that his patience is exhausted. We know about "The Terrible Meek," but if the meekest man on earth does not somehow contrive to suggest that there is something in him for his enemies to dread—why, they will go on deriding him instead.

FRENCH RESERVATIONS.

No doubt there will be indignation in the Senate at the idea that any other Power should assume to make reservations to a treaty signed by the United States. We alone have the privilege of amending the contract after we have signed it, and demanding that the other signatories accept our afterthought. However, the French seem to think that if anybody can make a reservation everybody can make a reservation. M. POINCARÉ is credited with the intention of attaching to the Four-Power Treaty a reservation similar to that of Senator BRANDEGEE. No objection can be offered except that it is unnecessary. Though M. TARDIEU thinks that the Brandegee reservation "ruined" the treaty, he probably thinks it for political purposes only. But the case is different with the reservations to the naval treaty, which are discussed more or less seriously in the French press.

Here the French are dealing with a condition, a regrettable condition, and not a theory. American public opinion has been temporarily set against France. This feeling may be, and probably is, a passing current; it is in large measure unjustified. But it is there. An amendment to the naval treaty raising the French capital ship ratio from 1.75 to 2.50 would increase it immensely, and would give a powerful weapon to the enemies of France.

Now, the bogy of French "navalism" is for the present something to scare children, but not to cause statesmen to lose sleep. Even French submarines are hypothetical, dream children of the sterile fantasists of French naval theory. Still more are future French capital ships the fictions of an [illegible]. The French will not build them; at most they may attach a reservation declaring that they have the right to build them. Perhaps they will not even do that. The whole discussion may amount to no more than the assertion by the French press that France has a right (which she will not exercise) to attach an amendment to the treaty, providing that she may (though she will not) build so and so many capital ships. National prestige may be somewhat enhanced by this bold assertion, but in the process national good-will may be lost. For the ordinary American will hear that France means to build a big navy, and will wonder why France—again France—is standing in the way of disarmament.

MENTAL MEASLES.

Dr. ETTINGER, Superintendent of Schools, has spoken of the "shifter" contagion as "mental measles." This seems something more than a metaphor. The similarity between the spread of a pathogenic idea and of a germ disease is so close as to allow one to imagine that there must be mental bacteria which sweep from mind to mind as physical bacteria from body to body. There should, for example, be a bacillus criminalis to account for the "crime wave." The source of procrastination might be sought in the spirillum tardum, particularly prevalent at this season. Beggary might be traced to the micrococcus parasiticus, and so on.

One wonders whether there is ever to be immunity from contagious error. Children cannot be continuously kept in a germ-proof atmosphere. Can there be mental vaccination against a fatal demagogic disease? At any rate, there should be protection against the abnormal. It is said that white rats when fed upon a vegetable diet, fowls when their temperature is greatly reduced, dogs when bled, frogs when given chloral and men when accustomed to excessive use of alcohol become susceptible to diseases against which they are proof under normal conditions. The moral is obvious. The mind must be kept alert and vigorous through exercise in as pure air as can be had in life and literature and free from unnecessary exposure.

THE ZEAL OF DOGBERRY.

Our police authorities have again shown their wonted eagerness to rush with tremendous energy into something that will advertise their activity. They are so devoted to the enforcement of law that the Commissioner issued a general order to carry out a proposed ordinance that was never passed by the Board of Aldermen. To interfere with the multitude of women smokers in public places would be a rich field for the beneficent labors of the police. The order based on the spurious ordinance was read to all the men. Some industrious Sergeants notified the proprietors of restaurants where the nefarious custom prevails. There was a great fluttering of hearts and tea leaves. From the police point of view it is most unfortunate that the ordinance was invalid. It would have given the mighty minds charged with our protection exactly the kind of pragmatical, piffling, trouble-making employment that they like.

With this premature dedication to a great purpose that had to be abandoned came an account of the eighty automobile runabouts that are to patrol certain sections of the town night and day and scare the hold-up men who still dare to ply their trade in "the cleanest and safest city that ever stood beneath the sun." Knowing the announced districts and the routes, these gentlemen should have no difficulty in avoiding their pursuers. This is fair and honorable treatment, open and with no stain of unbecoming secrecy. Villains have fair notice to keep out of the way. Doubtless, if any of them are inattentive, they will be further warned by police whistles. An intelligent system of armed pursuit in automobiles of automobile "bandits" is desirable, of course. Is there anything more to hope from this latest advertisement than the intermittent clatter and futility that are the usual result of Mr. ENRIGHT'S detecting intellect? Will the runabouts be any more effective than the discarded motorcycle side cars which they supplant?

A misplaced sporadic energy, divorced from intelligence, is the characteristic of the present police management. In the noble words of headquarters, the force is to be "modernized, motorized, stabilized." It is stabilized by frequent inexplicable shiftings and transfers. Nobody on the force knows where he is at, and the better work he does the more likely, it seems, he is to be sent to "pound the pavements" in some remote part of the city. It is modernized by becoming incompetent successfully to deal with crimes which it is its policy and habit to deny. It is motorized by the ten runabouts at least. The other night four detectives raided an inn uptown. They charged that there was "improper dancing" in it. Seventy-one men and women in the place were confined in a police station from midnight until 11 o'clock the next day, when all were discharged by the Magistrate.

This is a typical case. Instead of employing whatever talent they have in detecting dangerous criminals or preventing dangerous crimes, too many of our detectives waste their time in impertinent censorship or petty interference. It is the habitual practice of our Police Department to neglect the essential, the protection of life and property, and to work hectically on minor matters, often with a zeal to which the courts are cold. "Inspect the city by day or night," our inveterate diner-out Police Commissioner tells an unbelieving people, "and you will be as safe on any street at midnight as at noon." Inspect the newspapers and you will find that you are not safe at any hour.

A SECOND CHAMBER ABOLISHED.

If Lord BACON were still alive, he would be keenly interested in the action of the Queensland Government in abolishing the Legislative Council. This corresponds for that province to our Senate. A bill to put an end to it has recently received the Royal Assent, so that Queensland will hereafter be governed by means of a single chamber. The reason for the change was succinctly stated by the Prime Minister of Queensland when he said of the Legislative Council: "It was "the home of reactionary interests. "Few will mourn its fate, and few "hope for its resurrection."

May this be regarded as the handwriting on the wall for the House of Lords in England, or even for the United States Senate? Probably not. The Lords are again merely to be "mended"—if the Government keeps its promise—not "ended"; and as for our Senate, it would regard a proposal to shear away its powers as little short of sacrilege. Senator LA FOLLETTE would doubtless agree that the American Senate is even more the home of reactionary interests than the Queensland Council, but could not urge that it be abolished without including his own abolition. The latter would reconcile Americans to almost anything, but no such luck is in sight for them. Meanwhile, the old discussions about the advantages and drawbacks of the bicameral system may be enlivened by this Queensland modern instance.

GETTING TOGETHER FOR RAPID TRANSIT.

The Corporation Counsel's recognition of the Transit Commission's existence by appearing before it was the first sign of the city's perception that ultimately it would have to do business with it. Other signs have followed. On Monday the Board of Estimate was advised by the city's counsel that it would be prudent to avoid a mandamus by providing funds for the commission's support. At its last meeting the board voted $4,000,000 toward ending the Forty-second Street shuttle nuisance by extending the subway from the Grand Central to Eighth Avenue. Only the city's obstruction has prevented progress with rapid transit links which should have been completed years ago. Conditions at Canal Street are almost as bad as on the shuttle. Nothing but the completion of Brooklyn's crosstown route can relieve them. The feeding of Brooklyn's elevated into the Fourth Avenue route over the Manhattan Bridge is years overdue. Richmond's hopes will revive by the Board of Estimate's approaching inspection of the routes to and from the Cinderella borough. The board recognizes that the city's competition with the Port Authority is about to die an unlamented death.

When the rapid transit companies see, as the Mayor begins to see, that disputes will be settled by authority if not settled by agreement, they may adopt a policy of co-operation rather than obstruction. The commission's rejection yesterday of the Interborough's application for a higher fare should make the Interborough see—as the Governor pointed out—that an increase can be had, if at all, only through co-operation with the commission. Naturally, the commission will wish to try out first its own plan for a universal fare. The companies which are fighting each other as well as the commission can count on its assent to a reasonable agreement between them. To challenge the commission by taking disputes into court is the sure way to increase the dissatisfaction of all who prefer service to litigation.

SPRING IN THE THEATRE.

Pussy willows may bloom to be blighted and the first bather at Coney Island may be nipped by a blizzard, but when it is proclaimed that New York is at last to have a repertory theatre Spring is positively here. The present announcement is unusually luxuriant. Where the New Theatre attempted only an American Comédie Française, the promised temple of repertory will "combine the best qualities" of that great institution with the best qualities of Daly's, of the old Lyceum, of the Deutsches and the Lessing Theatres in Berlin. If the Director had happened to recall the glories of the Moscow Art Theatre, he would doubtless have added a quintessential dash of that also. Why do these flowers of fancy bloom only in the Spring? Possibly because theatres go dark with the waning of the season and managers grasp eagerly at any tenant, while actors confronted with the unprofitable idleness of Summer are easily kindled with enthusiasm for the ideal. And the Director has always at least one great play to produce—frequently of his own composition.

This year something besides Spring is here. If the Theatre Guild is not precisely a repertory theatre, it is the next best thing. It indulged in no preliminary tuckets and flourishes, nor did the Washington Square Players, of which it is an outgrowth; but it has to its credit a lengthening list of productions of genuine quality, both literary and dramatic. What is even more, they have been popularly and financially successful. A group of practitioners in all the allied crafts of the theatre have co-operated joyfully and effectually, and have firmly established themselves in the favor of a large and rapidly growing group of discriminating playgoers.

If the Theatre Guild resembles any of the art theatres of the Continent, it is the Lessing under OTTO BRAHM. Like BRAHM, its directors are eclectically modern. And as BRAHM produced his ponderous cycle of the prose plays of IBSEN, so the Guild is obsequious to BERNARD SHAW. Unfortunately, it has fallen upon SHAW'S sere and yellow leaf. From the point of view of the war, at least, "Heartbreak House" was yellow. "Back to Methuselah" is high-top bald with dry antiquity. Whether or not the author will, as he apparently hopes, live to be three hundred, the Theatre Guild audiences feel nigh about that age enduring the three parts of this play—or all except the few of them who elect to be "short livers" and depart that life. But honor is due none the less to the institution that has had the courage and the means to do this Shaw cycle of eternity, and with it the prestige to fill the theatre.

SAFEGUARDING AIRPLANE TRAVEL.

The tragic loss at sea of the Miami flying boat bound for Bimini with five passengers on board has had a depressing effect upon the Florida coast resorts, where such excursions were becoming popular. But it will not retard the progress of commercial aviation. Many cases of long-continued operation of passenger-carrying planes without fatal accidents can be cited. Between Jan. 1, 1921, and Sept. 17, 1921, 582,000 miles were flown on the Paris-London, London-Brussels and London-Amsterdam routes without the loss or serious injury of a passenger. Twelve types of planes were used—French, British, Dutch and German. In all 9,051 passengers patronized these lines. Mail and freight were also carried. On the London-Amsterdam service (265 miles) ninety-six journeys were completed, which was the best showing; on the Paris to London route (240 miles) 10 per cent. were not finished. All the details of landings for one cause or another are not available, but if destinations were not reached it was mainly because the service was conducted with caution, the safety of passengers coming first.

Early in the year the German Airship Company, founded after the armistice, published a report showing that in three years of operation "the number of aviation accidents, in proportion to the number of miles covered, "was no greater than the number of "railroad accidents." However, there was on the Continent one disastrous landing just outside Le Bourget aerodrome at Paris, a machine of the Warsaw-Paris line crashing to the earth when the pilot lost control of it. He and four passengers, three men and a woman, were killed. Such accidents cast a damper upon airplane travel, but it is only fair to weigh them against the many hundreds, even thousands, of journeys that prove successful. European railways cannot guarantee the safety of their passengers. Every now and then occurs a wreck in which many people are killed. There is generally some one to blame, a train dispatcher, an engineer or a signalman, just as in most airplane accidents there has been a faulty inspection by mechanicians or a blunder by a pilot.

In the United States confidence in the security of airplane transportation will grow slowly until construction of the machines, inspection of them, and the training and licensing of pilots are so well regulated by Federal law that there will be no more "joy-riding," and companies operating services can be held responsible for damages. The Miami-Bimini disaster carried its lesson. "Loss of this plane off the Florida coast," said Rear Admiral WILLIAM A. MOFFETT, Director of the Naval Air Service, "is an additional "proof of the urgent need of the "passage of the bill now before Con-"gress creating a Bureau of Aero-"nautics in the Department of Com-"merce for the regulation of commer-"cial aviation." Admiral MOFFETT declared that "all airplanes carrying "passengers should be required by "law to be equipped with radio." If the flying boat which was wrecked in the sea almost within sight of Bimini had had a signaling apparatus, every one on board would probably have been saved. A call for assistance would have been picked up ashore as well as by vessels plying up and down the coast.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

For Once They Ask Help.

Unusual, if not unprecedented, is a request just sent out by mail from the office of the State Tax Commission in Albany. If it has gone "to those who may be interested," as its first line reads, then the circular has been received by everybody in the State with an income of $1,000 or more, and by most of the relatives and all of the advisers, eager or reluctant, of such persons.

For what the President of the commission wants is help, if anybody can give it, in making the income tax blanks simpler and more easily comprehensible by the average taxpayer. Whoever can do that is asked to write at once to J. S. T. IVINS, Box 301, Albany, and tell him how the thing is to be done.

Officials are not wont thus to confess the need of outside assistance in the performance of their work, and commonly they resent its offer as a reflection on their ability. That the Tax Commission is willing to learn from anybody able to teach is commendable, but all and sundry are warned in the circular that the blanks as issued are the products of long and careful study and that their improvement will not be easy. Quite useless, it says, will be "abstract suggestions," such as "make the instructions simpler" or "make the blanks shorter," as the whole office force already has done its best in both those directions. Wholly impracticable, too, is declared to be advice to have different kinds of blanks for people with incomes from few sources and for those who draw from many. No such lines can be drawn, and even if they could the correct distribution of the right blanks to the right people would involve an enormous waste of time and paper.

Differences Seemingly Unnecessary.

The more one thinks about the problem set by the Tax Commission's circular, the better does one realize the troubles that would follow the elimination of any of the details that now worry so many of us and quite overwhelm with despair not a few. One improvement, however, does suggest itself—the making of the State blanks more like the Federal blanks.

It would not be impossible, surely, to cut out not a few of the present differences, especially of arrangement, and then the bewilderment of the taxpayer would be considerably decreased. "Deductions," "contributions" and half a dozen other items that appear on both blanks could be put in the same places on both, and it ought to be made easier to explain why the two vary as regards "net income."

Instead of seeking similarity, the State officials seem to have sought its opposite, at least in some cases, and while argument in support of their way presumably could be offered, the very fact of difference, if unnecessary, is open to criticism.

He Is Tired of Talk About Genoa.

A writer in The Manchester Guardian, just returned from Moscow, reports the decidedly amusing fact that on the door of the office of TCHITCHERIN, the Soviet Minister for Foreign Affairs, he saw tacked a large card, bearing in large letters the inscription, "It is forbidden to everybody, whosoever he may be, to speak to the People's Commissar on the subject of Genoa."

There spoke a comprehensible desperation or an utter weariness, for the words can hardly be an expression of humor.

That the command will be obeyed by all who have approach to the Minister cannot be believed, for what happens at Genoa and what the Bolshevist representatives say there are of enormous importance to the men in power. Therefore it is not at all astonishing that everybody TCHITCHERIN meets wants to talk to him about the conference and give him advice in regard to his conduct there. It will be the first time the Reds have come in close and open contact with the combined spokesmen for the capitalistic Governments, and fears for the consequences must be at least as great as the hopes.

Many another great officer of state probably would like to put a similar notice on his door, and it is queer that the only one of them who could venture to issue an order so arbitrary is he who goes as a proletarian.

Divorce Via Bulgaria.

Confident as are the particular friends of former Senator HOLLIS that his divorce was legal and his new marriage valid, other people with more or less knowledge of Bulgarian law have doubt on the subject. That the doubters may be wrong is possible, but at least they are not entirely ignorant, and what they say has the merit not only of being more plausible on general principles than the opposite contentions; it also fits in better with the common notion of right.

Divorce in Bulgaria, they declare, is granted or withheld, not by the courts, but only by the several recognized religious denominations, each for its own followers. If that is the case, it is a thing that would be known by just such persons as are questioning the claims for complete regularity made in behalf of the man who went so far to get the liberty refused to him at home. They would not need to be deeply versed in international law. Familiarity with the customs of the country, such as anybody living in it would have, might be enough.

For a while one can hope that they are right, it being offensive to the common sense of decency that a man should be able to get rid of a wife and acquire a new mate merely by going to a far country and asking for a divorce in circumstances that make protest impossible.

Secretary Davis's Economics.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the issue of THE TIMES of March 19, over the name of James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, appears the following paragraph:

"How many of us realise when we talk of drastic wage deflation that a radical cut of a dollar a day in the wage of every wage earner in the United States means a cut of $40,000,000 a day for the entire country? It means cutting the buying or saving capacity of the country to the extent of $40,000,000 a day—a pretty hard and fast fact, and a serious thing not only to the wage earner himself but to the business of the country in general. It means drying up the rivers of purchasing power at the rate of $15,000,000,000. Can that be good business?"

It is not surprising that few of us "realize" what Mr. Davis calls "a pretty hard and fast fact." If I deflate my gardener's wages one dollar, it does not mean "cutting the buying or saving capacity of the country to the extent of a dollar," for I would have the dollar to spend or save.

"If the wages of the railroad employes were reduced a quarter of a million dollars a day, and the railroad revenues remained the same, then the owners of the roads, the stockholders, would have the quarter of a million to spend or save and "the buying or saving capacity of the country" would not be diminished one cent. If by lowering rates the railroad companies passed to the general public the full benefit of the amount saved from wages, then the general public, paying a quarter of a million less per day for the transportation that it now buys, would have a quarter of a million more to spend or save. Further, the lowering of railroad rates would stimulate trade and production and lower prices, so that "buying or saving capacity of the country" would be increased several times the quarter of a million daily saved from wages of the railroad employes.

That the country loses in purchasing power what it cuts from wages cannot be accepted as "a hard and fast fact."

BREAD LINE.

It Does Not Make for Mendicancy and Encourage Laziness.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Every once in so often there crops up either a city official or some irresponsible who claims that bread lines make for mendicancy and encourage laziness—witness the articles appearing in your paper recently.

We thought that our experience, given to the public time and again, had effectually shown the fallacy of such statements; and we consider our forty-two years' service in this work makes for knowledge and good judgment.

Prior to and including the Winter of 1914-15 (the first year of the war) unemployment was as bad as now, and our bread line averaged 1,000 men a night. During 1915 business improved amazingly, and so during the next Winter, 1915-16, the attendance at our bread line, through no effort on our part, fell automatically to 35 men per night—a reduction of over 90 per cent. The men had a chance and took it.

Let me cite two recent events: One night the Street Cleaning Department called for men in our bread line and we found seventy-five men present, sixty of whom immediately volunteered. Again, the last snowfall, March 2, the department called for men and of the forty-two present thirty-two accepted the job. The men had a chance to work and took it.

To men ill fed and clothed it smacks of the heroic to work all night in the snow and rain, especially if one's shoes are broken.

During the Winter we supplied the Street Cleaning Department with all the men they asked us to furnish, viz.: Dec. 23, 187; Jan. 11, 225; Jan. 12, 36; Jan. 14, 32; Jan. 23, 252; Jan. 30, 139; Feb. 12, 105; Feb. 15, 219; Feb. 20, 30; March 2, 32; March 4, 50—1,308.

The men had a chance to work and took it. We could have furnished hundreds more if called upon.

The men on the Bowery are not loafers—they are decent, law-abiding citizens, anxious to work at anything and only patronize bread lines through dire necessity.

We hope this will convince the general public even if it has no effect on a small band of critics who find fault and do nothing constructive.

Suggestion to Police.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a great many of the recent robberies committed in this city the thieves have been able to escape by means of an automobile which was ready at the curb, the most recent case being that of the murder in the neighborhood of Columbia University, where the robbers escaped in the touring car which was waiting for them.

This fact prompts the suggestion that the traffic department of the police force might make a rule that a certain number of blasts from a police whistle would indicate that a robbery had taken place, and at the signal every automobile in the neighborhood should come to a halt and not move until released by another signal from the policeman's whistle.

This plan is followed throughout the city in the case of a fire, when the engines are running down the street and all traffic is automatically stopped as soon as the gong of the fire engine is heard. The plan apparently works perfectly in the case of the Fire Department. Why would it not in the case of a police emergency, like a robbery or murder?

With such a rule any car attempting to move in defiance of the whistle would be instantly stopped and easily identified. In fact, others could block its progress as soon as it became evident that the car was trying to get away, accomplishing this, if necessary, by the drivers turning their cars across the street.

There is such universal compliance with the traffic rule where a fire is concerned that it should be equally easy to enforce the same rule in the case of a robbery or murder, when the alarm is given on the street.

Court Reform.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

An article in last Sunday's NEW YORK TIMES deals with changes necessary in our courts of law, recommended by the Committee on Courts of the City Club through its Chairman, Abraham Benedict, whose qualifications entitle him to be heard with respect. That the delay in the administration of justice in New York is caused by the absence of proper organization and inefficient administration is generally conceded. We are a business people, but the conduct of one of the most important institutions affecting our lives and possessions is characterized by methods which might confer a dim sort of credit on medieval civilization. That Judges are appointed or elected whose capabilities are not what should be demanded of men in their position, and that their subordinates should be ignorant, arrogant and stupid, cannot be denied by those whose knowledge of court procedure is "extensive and peculiar."

Reforms in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court are necessary, and efforts should be exerted to bring appeals before the courts within a reasonable period. I am in perfect agreement also with the suggestion that in all cases, civil and criminal, the verdict of three-fourths of the jury shall be sufficient. And certainly the direful proceeding known as the "third degree" should be abolished. Any attempt by the police or judicial officers to exact evidence by the means now in force should not only vitiate the charge against the accused but render the officials practicing it liable to prosecution. I hope that THE TIMES will open its columns to the discussion of this blemish on our legal system, so that ultimately it may be heard of no more.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue yesterday you publish the picture of several East Indians who took part in the St. Patrick's Day parade, though why East Indians should appear in such a place, any more than Filipinos or Canadians, I cannot see, unless they were simply using the occasion and the association to emphasize an anti-British feeling.

But the point I wish to call attention to is the fact that three of the men seem to have their heads dressed with American flags, if one may judge from the stars and stripes that are to be observed very plainly. Why is such apparent disrespect allowed? And if the persons in charge of the parade did not see the thing, how could the police fail to act? It is my impression that we have a law governing the use and the misuse of our flag; and, particularly when it is misused, we do not wish this to occur at the hands of foreign agitators who use the hospitality of our land for fomenting trouble with a friendly neighbor. "Mud at a Statue."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I add a word of appreciation of Miss Emmett's letter in today's issue, referring to the City Hall fountain and the abuse it has received?

It is far from encouraging to those who have struggled to maintain the integrity of our parks that mud should be thrown at a statue which is apparently of such great beauty.

IRISH-AMERICANS.

Points Out Role They Played in United States History.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Relative to the attack upon Irish-Americans made by Senator Williams in the Senate the other day, the account of which I read in your paper, I would like, with your permission, to reply to some of his statements.

The Senator wishes his critics to speak plainly, and I shall endeavor to follow his advice. In the first place, when he makes the statement that there were no Irish here during the Revolutionary days, he simply states what is not true. Of course, there were not as many then as later, but neither were there as many of any other nationality as conditions brought later. In proportion to the whole population the Irish were, however, quite numerous. The patriots whom Senator Williams mentions (Washington, Jefferson, &c.) may have been, as he says, of "pure English stock," but there were many who were not. Charles Carroll of Carrollton, for instance, perhaps even Senator Williams will not claim for the English or the "Scotch Irish." One thing most amusing in Mr. Williams's remarks is the way in which he proves that because Andrew Jackson's parents were born in a town in Ireland, they are to be considered Scotch. The North of Ireland is not Scotland.

Mr. Williams says that his ancestors were in British prisons during the Revolutionary War, but he does not tell us where he and his ancestors stood in the Civil War, between 1860 and 1864. The Irish who came to this country after the famine of 1847, to which the Senator refers, were here in time to carry a gun in the fight to save the Union. This constant slur against "hyphenated Americans" is disgusting to people whose memories are good enough to remember back even a short while.

Some of us remember the time when William Lloyd Garrison and Wendell Phillips were chased through the streets of Boston by an angry mob, crying "Down with the d——Abolitionists!" And those who chased them were not hyphenated Americans. Neither were they hyphenated Americans who fired on the flag at Fort Sumter and compelled Colonel Anderson to pull down the Stars and Stripes. Incidentally, we remember that the State the Senator represents was one of those that seceded at that time. If the Senator wants to be fair he must admit that if it were not for the hyphenated Irish and Germans during 1860 and 1864, we might have no Union today. Then the hyphenated Americans were marching with Sherman on his way to the sea, or standing with the man from Galena under the old apple tree, while the so-called 100 per cent. Americans were doing all they could to destroy the Union.

And where were our so-called "allies" then? Any little schoolboy can tell Mr. Williams who built the Alabama, where it was built and manned, and what country afterward paid the Alabama claims. Our English "cousins" said at that time, "If there were not so many of the d—— Irish over there, we would give them bullets instead of gold." We remember, too, that when President Lincoln sent two men to England and France, to try and turn public opinion in those countries in favor of the North, Henry Ward Beecher was sent to England, and a hyphenated American, John Hughes, Archbishop of New York, was sent to France.

In view of all these circumstances, will Senator Williams please tell us why Irish-Americans should have nothing to say about the government of this country?

Report on Haiti.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some short time ago there appeared in your columns a defense of General Russell's administration of Haitian affairs, signed H. B. M. I have no reason either to attack or defend General Russell, but would recommend to the writer of the above communication and to your readers the report of the investigation conducted by Professor Carl Kelsey, Ph. D., in behalf of the American Academy of Political Science of Philadelphia, Pa. This report is entitled "The American Intervention in Haiti and the Dominican Republic," and may be obtained from the above academy.

To my mind it draws a remarkably clear yet condensed picture of conditions in the two republics, scientific and accurate as to geographical, political and economic data, yet composed with sympathetic understanding of native psychology and native reaction to American intervention. Mistakes in policy and the injustices that have resulted are pointed out for future avoidance, and the many benefits that have resulted from American occupation are duly commended.

It is an unfortunate fact that there is little public interest in or knowledge of conditions in Haiti or the Dominican Republic, although our forces are there at the ultimate expense of the citizen and taxpayer. Few could outline the causes leading up to the American occupation in either case, nor the reasons for its being continued.

Original Lincoln-Bixby Letter.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A letter in THE TIMES asks as to the whereabouts of Lincoln's letter to Mrs. Bixby.

I have a small book entitled "One Hundred and One Famous Poems," copyrighted in 1916 by R. J. Cook and issued by The Cable Company, 57 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, which contains a facsimile of this letter, with date Nov. 21, 1864. Underneath the facsimile is the following: "On the walls of Brasenose College, Oxford University, England, this letter of the 'rail-splitter' President hangs as a model of purest English, rarely, if ever, surpassed."

WHAT WAS HE?—A MEMORY TEST.

The day was hot, the way was hot,
But Oh! you were a happy lot,
And when you reached the chosen spot
There was a race at merry clip
To see who'd be the first to strip
And take the primal thrilling dip.
And he that did (both jeered and cheered)
Would fling back as he disappeared,
A taunt upon his freckled phiz,
"The last one in knows what he is!"
Strange how, to no one's known behoof,
And deaf as adders to reproof,
We rough-housed on some woodshed roof.
What was the charm? I am not sure.
Not shingles! They were no boy's lure,
However rated as a cure!
But I can hear at times like these
A host pre tem. distraughtly wheeze:
"Say fellas, here comes ma. Geswhiz!
The last one down knows what he is."
Of course all laggardly lose caste!
The stigma of arriving last
Throughout our lives sticks hard and fast:
And our young hopefuls now, no doubt,
Still brand with scoff and treble shout
The last ones over, up or out.
You who are fifty years from youth,
Come, let us have the honest truth,
In your day, and, senescent sir,
Do you remember WHAT they were?

TRIBUTES TO MEADE ON MONUMENT SITE

Harding and Taft Participate in the Breaking of Ground for Memorial Near Capitol.

GIFT FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Weeks Cites Record of Gettysburg Hero as Showing Value of Regular Army Trained Officers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—President Harding and Chief Justice Taft participated today in the breaking of ground for the construction of a memorial to General George Gordon Meade, the hero of Gettysburg and one of the great military commanders of the Civil War. President Harding turned the first spadeful of ground that marks the beginning of the heroic monument the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will erect in the National Botanic Gardens at Third and Pennsylvania Avenues. The monument will face the Grant Memorial and these two figures of the Civil War will form the only decoration of the plot at the foot of the Capitol, as the Botanic Gardens will be removed in the next year.

The exercises were impressive, not only because of the presence of distinguished civilians and soldiers, but for the gathering of men of the Army of the Potomac—men who had fought under Meade. These survivors unfurled the flags and stood behind the President while the ground was being turned.

Secretary of War Weeks presided and made a brief speech extolling the greatness of General Meade, as did Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania and Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles. President and Mrs. Harding witnessed the ceremony, sitting in the rain. The first spade of ground was turned by the President, the next by Chief Justice Taft, while Governor Sproul, George Gordon Meade, grandson, and George Gordon Meade 3d, great-grandson of the commander, also participated in the breaking of ground.

All the Heroes Now Honored.

"This is not the time to discuss the details of distinguished services of General Meade, or dwell on the most conspicuous accomplishment of his career when in command of the Northern Army at Gettysburg," said Secretary Weeks. "His victory at Gettysburg proved to be the turning point in the Civil War. When our minds revert to that period and to the distinguished men who successfully commanded the Northern armies, the ones whose names occur first to us, perhaps in the order named, are Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Thomas and Meade. Suitable memorials have already been erected in Washington to the first four and to that most distinguished volunteer, General John A. Logan. Of the heroes of the Civil War, I think it is generally agreed that Meade stands at the head of those remaining who were conspicuously instrumental in bringing the war to a successful conclusion.

"I wish to express two thoughts which have application to his career. He had reached middle life in the service of the Government in a relatively minor military grade and in a service which did not give him conspicuous position, yet his reputation was so thoroughly established through his character and his ability to perform the duties assigned to him that at the beginning of the Civil War he was almost immediately made a Brigadier General of Volunteers, although his life work had been as an engineer and but a short part of his army service had been with troops.

"Without scheming on his part or the efforts of political or other friends, but based wholly on his service at the battle front, where he took part in substantially every engagement in which the Army of the Potomac was engaged, he was advanced to the grade of Major General, from the command of a brigade to that of a division and a corps, and in those June days of 1863, when the Government was looking for a suitable man to take command of the army in the great crisis facing the nation, General Meade was the man selected to meet the emergency and bring the terrific three days' battle to a successful conclusion.

"It would probably be impossible to picture the state of mind of that modest, retiring, though self-contained man when he found himself placed in such position, hardly knowing the location of the different bodies of troops under his command, and reaching the great battlefield in the night of the first day of that contest to find two of his army corps defeated, defeated after terrific fighting, and the necessity for a immediate disposition of arriving troops to successfully meet the onslaught sure to come the next day. But the character and skill which he had gained during his service came to his aid, and the dispositions made during the night of that fatal day brought about a great victory and forever made the people of the United States his debtors.

Meade as an Illustration.

"It is not out of place for me to use General Meade as an illustration of the value of having in the regular army trained officers, even if they are not engaged in strictly military activities during much of their service. It furnishes a storehouse of material which always has and always will provide for the necessities of the Government in time of need and without which the early days of any war would necessarily result in untold uncertainties and perhaps disaster. This is a lesson we should not forget today and has direct application to any material reduction in the number of regular army officers.

"It is therefore with real satisfaction that I take this brief part in the ceremonies

FETE CHARMANTE AT VINCENT ASTOR'S

For the benefit of the League of Foreign Born Citizens a Fete Charmante was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor, 840 Fifth Avenue. Members of the Junior League presented a fashion display with gowns from Lucile's and jewels loaned by Cartier valued at $750,000. "The Triangle," a drama of yesterday, today and tomorrow, by Alexander Leftwich, was given by members of the Amateur Comedy Club.

Nathaniel Phillips, President of the league, made an address of welcome, which was followed by selections by the Clef Club Orchestra. Among the professional entertainers appearing were Nora Bayes, Nan Halperin, Adele Rowland and Louis Giuffrida. Mrs. B. Tappan Fairchild gave several whistling selections.

Those taking part in the drama included Mrs. S. Hinman Bird, Sterling T. Facto, Francis J. Danforth, Vernon Radcliffe, Dreincourt Martin, Gordon Grant and Harold W. Gould.

Among those attending the fete were Edward F. Albee, George Gordon Battle, George W. Wickersham, Mrs. Roland Hinton Perry, Otto H. Kahn, Mrs. James B. Haggin, Adolph Lewisohn, George Foster Peabody, George McAneny and Miss Marjorie Cleveland. Mr. Harold Fields is executive director of the league, which was founded as an institution for Americanization. William Fellowes Morgan is Chairman of the Advisory Board, and on the board are Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Arnold Gottlieb, Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, Dr. George F. Kunz, Mr. Kahn, Mr. Lewisohn, Abraham I. Elkus, John J. Flaherty, Mr. Battle and M. L. Erstein.

METHODISTS MEET TODAY.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 28.—Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati arrived here today from New York City to preside over the 123d annual session of the New York Methodist Conference which will open at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Washington Street Church, of which the Rev. Dr. George A. Shahan is the pastor.

This afternoon and evening Bishop Anderson held a meeting of the cabinet of the conference which consists of the four district superintendents to discuss the requests of pastors and congregations for changes. The superintendents are the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen of the New York City district, the Rev. Dr. George W. Grinton of the Kingston district, the Rev. Dr. Herbert E. Wright of the Newburgh district and the Rev. Dr. George A. MacDonald of the Poughkeepsie district.

Bishop Anderson is to preside over the conference for the first time. He is substituting for Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York City, as the Methodist discipline requires that an outside Bishop shall preside rather than the resident Bishop once in a quadrennial.

The conference will open with a celebration of the Holy Communion. The organization for business will follow. Then will come a memorial service for the ministers who have died during the year. Tomorrow evening the annual memorial fire of the New York conference will be held.

There is considerable interest from the fact that the laymen have asked for a place on the docket for Friday morning, and it is believed that they are going to fight for lay representation in the annual conference, as they have had for many years in the Quadrennial General Methodist Conference. Their memorial is ready.

SOLVING NURSE PROBLEM.

Lying-in Hospital Finds Lay Assistants Successful.

Employment of law assistants as pupil nurses and the enlistment of more graduate nurses for supervisory and administrative work has proved an effective remedy for the nurse shortage in one hospital—the Lying-In—according to a report submitted yesterday to the Board of Governors by Dr. Asa B. Davis, the chief surgeon. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in an interview yesterday in Washington, Texas, predicted the general use of trained attendants as an emergency measure against the shortage throughout the city.

The Lying-In Hospital would have found it necessary to curtail its work if it had not adopted this system, was the comment made by Dr. William F. Spiller, Medical Superintendent, in discussing Dr. Davis's statement before the meeting of the Governors. "The hospital ordinarily needs a nursing staff of eighty-five, and the average number of pupil nurses affiliated here at any one time from general hospitals, does not exceed fifty. We have made up the difference by employing about twenty assistants, who relieve the nurses themselves from many ordinary routine duties, and by retaining fifteen graduate nurses as supervisors.

"Institutions which specialise, like the Lying-In Hospital, are dependent for their pupil nurses upon the general hospitals. When the general hospitals suffer a shortage the shortage is immediately felt in the hospitals which specialize.

"There were 5,056 confinements under the care of the Lying-In Hospital last year, which is about a tenth of all confinements in the Borough of Manhattan. This work is continuing regardless of our shortage in funds, and must certainly continue, regardless of the shortage of nurses."

Concert to Aid Vienna Children.

A concert under the auspices of the Vienna Children Relief Fund will be given on Sunday, April 2, at 8:30 P. M., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Adler, 300 West End Avenue. BEGIN TO SPEED UP WILSON FUND DRIVE

BROOKLYN JOINS EFFORT

Two Hundred Men and Women Appointed as Canvassing Committee for City.

Committees conducting the movement for the establishment of a series of annual prizes as a tribute to Woodrow Wilson started yesterday to speed up their efforts to raise $1,000,000 for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. Plans for making up the State's quota were discussed at a meeting of the Founders' Committee at the Manhattan Club in the afternoon.

An intensive Brooklyn campaign was opened at a meeting yesterday in the chambers of Justice Mitchell May of the Supreme Court in the interest of the Foundation. The women of Queens, as the first step in their campaign, gave a luncheon at Rogers Hotel, Rockaway.

As a further step toward raising the $225,000 quota set for New York City, Mark Eisner announced last night the appointment of a committee of 200 men and women who have been organized as a canvassing committee by Alderman Murray W. Stand.

Althaus, Lieut. H.	Higgins, Mrs. P. A.

Graham, Heloise.

Declines to Discuss Politics, but Tells Legion That Triumph of Principles Is at Hand.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Woodrow Wilson has declined to discuss current political issues in response to an invitation to do so sent by Palmer D. Edmunds, Past Commander of a local post of the American Legion and Chairman of the service men's organization of the regular Democratic organization. The former President, in replying to Mr. Edmunds, however, makes the declaration of his belief "that we shall very soon indeed wipe away the ugly record we made in failing to fulfill the objects for which our gallant comrades fought."

"Certainly service men above all others are qualified to express their devotion to the principles we believe in," says the letter to Mr. Edmunds. "It was for those very principles that they offered their lives. For my own part, I believe these principles to be in themselves so powerful that no political blindness or iniquity can defeat their triumph. I believe that triumph to be immediately at hand, and that we shall very soon, indeed, wipe away the ugly record we made in failing to fulfill the objects for which our gallant comrades fought."

JEROME FIGHTS AUTO SUIT.

Asks Change of Venue in Case Growing Out of Accident.

Justice Stephen Callaghan, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday reserved decision on the application of William Travers Jerome, former District Attorney, for a change of venue in a suit for $1,000 damages brought by William S. McClure of 377 First Street, Brooklyn. The suit is pending in the Sixth District Municipal Court, the result of a collision between an automobile in which Mr. McClure was riding and one driven by the former prosecutor. There are three other suits for $60,000. In his answer Mr. Jerome denied charges of negligence and said that some, if not all, of the occupants of the other car had been drinking.

This charge Mr. McClure denied, and alleged that after the accident Mr. Jerome went to a receptacle in his car, got out whisky and insisted that every body have a drink. Some of the party refused the liquor, according to McClure. Mr. Jerome asked that the suit be tried in Dutchess County, where the accident took place, because most of the witnesses live there.

ELOPED, WED, DIVORCED.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Mrs. Marie K. Earp-Thomas obtained a divorce from Dr. George H. Earp-Thomas, a New York bacteriologist, in Common Pleas Court, No. 3 today.

Mrs. Earp-Thomas said that the physician persuaded her to elope in 1911, when she was 17 years old. She said the ceremony was performed in a town, the name of which she did not remember.

She learned later, she said, that Dr. Earp-Thomas had a wife still living. He obtained a divorce from this wife and then remarried his second wife in Camden in 1917.

Mrs. Earp-Thomas brought suit for separation in August, 1920, in New York. The physician filed action for divorce in that city in October of the same year. The couple have a son, George, 2 years old.

TOWNLEY CASE TAKEN UP.

Court Refuses to Dismiss Embezzlement Charge Against League Head.

FARGO, N. D., March 28.—Preliminary hearing in the case of A. C. Townley, founder and national head of the Nonpartisan League, charged with embezzlement of $2,000 from the closed Scandinavian-American Bank here, was opened today. Judge A. T. Cole of the Cash County District Court overruling a motion for its dismissal.

The demurrer was on the claim that the alleged offense had been committed more than three years before the complaint was filed and, therefore, the statute of limitations had rendered evidence void.

Mr. Townley declared last week his intention of resigning as President of the Nonpartisan League, but thus far he has not submitted the matter formally to the National Executive Committee.

COLUMBIA'S SHOW, 'STEPPE AROUND,' SEEN

A flapper, a professor and a reporter adrift in Russia and slightly complicated in a scheme to refill the vacant thrones of the Czars, are the materials out of which the Columbia University Players have fashioned their amusing sixteenth anual varsity show, "Steppe Around," presented last night for the first time in the grand ballroom of Hotel Astor.

If the "Gentle Sex Chorus" did not display such well-developed biceps, "Steppe Around" might compare favorably with the average Broadway musical comedy. It is interspersed with tuneful songs and comedy numbers. The banjo playing of the Mitchell brothers was vigorously applauded, as was the song "Don't Let the Old Jokes Die," sung by Edmund B. Hourigan, '24, and Harry M. Worth, '24.

The role of Enid Porter, the heroine, a New York reporter in Russia, fell to Max J. Liebowitz, '23, who was amusing in a take-off of "Kid" introduced in the second act. Milton R. Kroop, as the professor searching for "Wiffles" in Russia, was amusing throughout. "Wiffles" were defined as an entomological specimen resembling a horsefly with mumps. All of the parts were well taken, and the costuming was elaborate.

The music for "Steppe Around" was composed by Roy Webb, '10; Melville Humbert, '23; James F. B. Zweighaft, '22, and Kenneth Webb, '26. Mr. Zweighaft also wrote the book. The lyrics are by Roy Webb, '10; Walter G. King, '21, and Melville Humbert, '23, while the scenery was designed and executed by Adolf Uman, from the Grand Opera House, Moscow.

"Steppe Around" will be given every night this week in the grand ballroom of the Astor, closing Saturday night.

Strong Cited by Appellate Division on Appeal by Accused Men.

Justice Selah B. Strong of the Supreme Court must go before the Appellate Division in Brooklyn next Monday and show cause why he should not be compelled to turn over to Both & Weston, contractors of Lawrence, L. I., or their attorney, William J. Morris, the information, affidavits and depositions taken by him as committing Magistrate in the John Doe proceedings instituted in Nassau County last December and ended recently when the Grand Jury handed up indictments against the members of this firm. Papers containing the order of the Appellate Division for the Justice to appear when served on him yesterday while he was presiding in Long Island City.

In the affidavits attached to the moving papers the Appellate Division John, Both and Andrew Weston, members of the firm, said that their books were seized unlawfully by State troopers and they were subjected to examination in the John Doe proceedings until they became aware that they were about to be charged with an offense. They said that they have been indicted, but, as there have been no court proceedings, could not learn what the real charges were.

JUSTICE HOTCHKISS'S WILL.

In his will, filed here yesterday, the late Henry D. Hotchkiss, Justice of the Supreme Court, leaves the bulk of his estate to his widow, Alice C., though appreciable bequests are made to members of her household at 315 West Seventy-fifth Street. The bequests outside are small.

Those of the home, besides the widow, who are named as legatees, are his cousin, Mary H. Roche, who is to have 500 shares of City Investing Company stock, and his "faithful friend," Ida Wahlestrom, who is to have 100 shares. The widow is to have the residue absolutely. On her death, 300 shares of the company's stock are to go to her grandchildren who, with their mother, also live at the Seventy-fifth Street address.

The document names the Bankers Trust Company executor, and the accompanying petition gives the value of the estate at more than $100,000.

SNAG IN RECASTING BUREAUS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It is regarded as doubtful that the Administration plan for a reorganization and regrouping of Federal departments and bureaus can be whipped into shape for submission at the present session of Congress.

Walter F. Brown, the Chairman, President Harding's personal representative on the joint congressional committee for the reorganization of the executive branch of the Government, had a conference with the President late this afternoon. The situation in which the reorganization scheme is warrants the assumption that the conference sought to remove snags in the plan that have already caused irritation between a number of departments and bureau chiefs.

It has been made known at the White House that President Harding is not disposed to sanction hastily framed plan put forward as the fulfillment of his campaign pledges to eliminate the duplication of administrative functions. He has sought to obtain voluntary agreements of Cabinet members to proposed changes, agreements that are admitted at the White House to require time and patience to secure. Once the Administration plan is completed the details will be presented to the Joint Congressional Committee to be incorporated in legislation which will be asked.

One of the best evidences that the plan will not be completed at the present session of Congress is that President Harding is desirous of visiting Alaska this Summer to study at close range the administration of the territory, which is now divided among a number of Federal departments.

ADVISES CORSETS FOR MEN.

Amelia Bingham Advocates Flexible Kind for Trimness.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Men, as well as women, should wear corsets, in the opinion of Amelia Bingham, actress, who today addressed the New Century Club.

"Trimness," she said, "is desirable, not only in women but in men as well. All women should avoid slouchiness by wearing corsets. Why shouldn't the men wear flexible ones for the same reason?"

Miss Bingham opposed censorship for plays and films, declaring that "if they were not thus hampered," they would develop into one of the greatest educational forces in America.

EDWIN U. CURTIS DEAD.

Boston Police Commissioner Who Quelled Police Strike.

BOSTON, March 28.—Police Commissioner Edwin Upton Curtis, who was generally credited with having fought the police strike of September, 1919, to a successful finish, died suddenly this afternoon at his home in the Back Bay district.

Commissioner Curtis was appointed in December, 1918, and the police strike came nearly a year later. Commissioner Curtis immediately notified the striking patrolmen that they would not be reinstated, and began to organize a new force.

In telling Governor Coolidge, now Vice President, that he intended to bar the strikers from further service, it was said that the Commissioner also gave notice he wanted the support of the Commonwealth or was ready to resign. Governor Coolidge's famous "law-and-order" proclamation was subsequently made.

Mr. Curtis was 61 years old. He successively was Clerk, Reporter, Assistant United States Treasurer in this city and Collector of the Port. Vice President Coolidge and Governor Cox have issued public tributes to Commissioner Curtis.

Frank X. McCaffry.

Frank X. McCaffry, a former Assistant District Attorney of Kings County and one of the most prominent lawyers in that borough, died yesterday in St. Catherine's Hospital. The funeral services will be held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Burke, 295 Parkside Avenue, Brooklyn, on Friday morning. Mr. McCaffry was 58 years old and on Jan. 1 was forced to give up his law practice because of failing health. He was born in this city and was educated at St. John's College, where he won the honor medal. He studied at the New York Law School and was admitted to the Bar in 1894, opening an office in Wall Street under the firm name of McCaffry & Carey. Mr. McCaffry was formerly active in Democratic politics in Brooklyn and in the Knights of Columbus and the Elks Lodge, No. 22.

Dr. James Rufus Bird.

Dr. James Rufus Bird, for more than fifty years a practicing physician in the Bedford section of Brooklyn and one of the first attending physicians of St. John's Hospital, in that borough, died on Monday at his home, 282 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home of his son, 347 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn. Dr. Bird was born in this city eighty-seven years ago, and was graduated from Trinity College and the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was one of the oldest members of the Kings County Medical Society and was a member of De Witt Clinton Council, 419, Royal Arcanum.

TIGER FIVE TAKES TITLE FROM PENN

QUAKERS MAKE GAME BID

Teams.	G.	W.	L.	P.C.
Princeton	11	9	2	.818
Pennsylvania	11	8	3	.727
Dartmouth	10	6	4	.600
Cornell	10	5	5	.500
Columbia	10	2	8	.200
Yale	10	1	9	.100

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 8.—Princeton won the intercollegiate basketball championship tonight by defeating Penn in the play-off for the title by the score of 28 to 23. The Tigers jumped into the lead within three minutes after the play had started and were never headed, although the Quakers came close to tying the count on several occasions. The score at the end of the half was 12 to 10.

The game, which was witnessed by a crowd of 3,500, the largest ever assembled in the local gymnasium, was marked by whirlwind basketball from start to finish, the Orange and Black always just enough superior to the Quakers to maintain a scanty lead, which usually amounted to about four points. Both colleges had a big cheering section for the fray and although the enthusiasm was at the highest pitch ever seen at a basket ball game here, the feeling between the rivals was very friendly.

The Tiger quintet, generally regarded by experts at the beginning of the season as a fit candidate for one of the lower berths in the standing, has proved to be the best that ever represented Old Nassau, for this is the first championship in the long series of contests to have ever been brought to Tigertown, and the opposition this season has been of the highest calibre.

Penn Legs Held Sway.

The defeat means for the Red and Blue the loss of the first championship in five years.

There were no outstanding stars for the victors in the battle tonight, the Tigers playing together as a machine under the tutelage of Coach Hill Zahn, who finishes first season as coach here with a championship team. Stock Gaines, the lanky centre, led in the number of field goals with four, as many as the entire Quaker team made, but they never would have been possible without the single-handed set shots of Grave.

The Princeton five displayed wonderful basketball in all departments of the game, shooting a total of nine baskets and guarding the Quakers so closely that they were able to cage but four goals from the floor, all of these in the last period. The foul shooting of Captain Bill Grave of the visitors was the only thing that kept the Penn shooters in the running during the first half, every one of the ten points being registered from the fifteen-foot mark. Grave made good ten out of eleven attempts in that period, but fell down in the second half, missing the first four, after which the burden was passed on to Huntsinger and then to Goldblat with only fair results.

The initial score of the evening was made by Grave on a foul one minute after the opening gong, followed a moment later by a field shot by Loeb, but the Princeton sharpshooter got a free chance after this, bringing the score to 2 to 1. This was the only time during the entire battle that the Orange and Black of Princeton was below the Red and Blue of Penn, for Captain Grave sunk the first of his three field goals on a follow-up shot and the tally was hoisted to 4 to 2 as Loeb repeated his deadly performance from the penalty line.

Another field goal by Kiaer, again a follow-up shot, and two fouls by Grave brought the count to 6—4, after which the Tigers pulled away to a four-point lead at the middle of the half.

Quakers Keep the Ball.

The Quakers retaliated at this juncture of the proceedings and succeeded in keeping possession of the ball most of the remaining time, although they were never able to sink the all-important goals from the field.

Just after the second period got under way Seidensticker, substituting for Jefferies, brought the crowd to its feet by the most sensational shot of the entire game, the long throw from the centre and side of the court. The two teams settled down to the steady grind after this, with Grave faltering on his foul shooting. Rosenast brightened the spirits of the Penn rooters by slipping in the first Quaker field goal, but the Orange and Black came back and increased the lead to five points, at 17 to 12.

With twelve minutes to go Emil Rosenast, Penn's crack forward, who has been out of the game for six weeks, was hurt, but resumed play. The Quakers made a brave attempt to pull the game out of the fire with a spirited comeback, but Gaines sent the Tigers into a seven-point lead with a close-range basket, although he was guarded by two men.

Huntsinger now began to shoot the goals for Penn, and with two of these fouls and a goal brought his team to within three points of the flying Tigers, the Bengals evidently aroused by this spurt to work again and sewed up the game with field goals by Loeb, Gaines and Klaess, all sunk within the last five minutes of play.

Many Fouls Called.

Fouls were called with great regularity by both teams, twenty-two being tabbed against the Tigers and eighteen against Penn. Loeb was not up to his usual form in this department, caging only ten of his trys, but the Quakers rang up fifteen of their twenty-three points by this method.

By virtue of their victory and the championship the members of the Princeton quintet will receive a straight varsity letter o&a design made especially for championship minor sport teams.

The line-up:

PRINCETON (28.)		PENN (23).
Jefferies	L.F.	Rosenast
Klaess	R.F.	Huntsinger
Gaines	C.	Grave
Yoemans	L.G.	Vogelin
Loeb	R.G.	Miller

Goals from fouls—Loeb 10 out of 15, Grave 10 out of 18, Huntsinger 3 out of 4, Goldblat 2 out of 4.

Substitutions—Princeton: Seidensticker for Jefferies, Dailey for Foster, Jefferies for Dailey, Winfield for Gaines. Penn: Bassett for Miller, Goldblat for Bassett.

Landis Says No Profession Has Been Cleaner Than Baseball

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 28.—Judge K. M. Landis told local business men here today at a luncheon in his honor that no business or profession, not even the pulpit, has been cleaner than baseball in the last fifty years. The Commissioner rejoined the Giants here last night and left with the champions tonight for Vicksburg, Miss. On behalf of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, which gave the luncheon in the Judge's honor, Federal Judge Miller presented the baseball chieftain with a large and flapping sombrero hat. The Commissioner wire it rather proudly at the game in the afternoon.

"I came into baseball to keep it clean, not to make it clean," Judge Landis said in his talk. "It's always been clean—as clean as any profession, none excepted. I say this despite the unfortunate disclosures in the Fall of 1920."

YANKEE PROSPECTS SATISFY RUPPERT

President of the Club Returns From New Orleans With Warm Praise for Players.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, President of the Yankees, and Ed Barrow, business manager of the club, arrived in town yesterday afternoon after a week's stay at the training camp of the American League champions in New Orleans. Both expressed satisfaction over the progress made by the players and both were enthusiastic about the team's chances of again winning the American League pennant.

Bob Tecarr, a pitcher obtained by the Yankees from the Jersey City club of the International League, accompanied the two club officials on the trip from New Orleans. Tecarr, who has not yet fully recovered from the effects of his severe illness of last Winter, will leave for Lakewood, N. J., immediately and will practice with the Jersey City players there that resort until the Yankees return from the South.

In discussing the Yankees' outlook yesterday, Colonel Ruppert said: "I am delighted with the showing made by the team while I was in New Orleans. All of the players are in wonderful condition and declare they will be in the pennant race again this year from the very start of the season. The injury which Babe Ruth sustained in the second game of the series with the Robins last Sunday is by no means serious. It was simply a strain brought about by overanxiety to hit the ball out of the park and, although it was painful and caused his retirement from the game, he ought to be able to return to the line-up in the very near future.

Taking Things More Seriously.

"Incidentally, the appointment of Ruth to the captaincy of the team has brought about a marked change in his playing. The big fellow is taking the game more seriously now and is hustling more than ever before. He is in better physical condition than he was at this time a year ago and from present indications he ought to have a banner season.

"Despite the absence of Ruth and Meusel for the first five weeks of the season, which, of course will handicap the team to a considerable extent, I expect the club to make a strong showing from the opening day of the campaign. Our outfield problem, which appeared the most serious only a month or so ago, has been solved as well as possible under the circumstances. The wonderful showing made by young Norman McMillan assures us of a strong outfield even during the early part of the season. To me McMillan looks like a splendid base runner. Of course, he still lacks experience as an outfielder, but his work thus far in right field has been highly satisfactory. Elmer Miller and Chick Fewster, who, with McMillan, are patrolling the outfield, are also doing well.

"The entire pitching staff is in splendid condition and not one of the twirlers is complaining of a sore arm, a common ailment during the training season. Mays looks every bit as good as ever and is almost down to normal playing weight. Even at this stage of the training season, he is able to bend them over as well as ever. Shawkey is rounding into fine condition and I expect him to have a great year. Bob says his arm, which troubled him during most of the season, feels as well as in previous years. Bush and Jones are also going along at a great rate. Lefty O'Doul looks fine. He is working hard and taking life more seriously than when he was with the team two years ago. Murray is another young pitcher who looks like a coming star. Besides showing great form in the box, he is hitting the ball like a fiend.

"I was also greatly pleased by the ability shown by our three catchers, Schang, Hofmann and Devormer, and I think that this trio will prove to be one of the strongest catching staffs in the league this season. Schang and Hofmann are coming along in fine shape and Devormer has shown remarkable improvement over last year. The infield, too, is living up to all expectations. Scott is playing up to his usual standard and nothing more than that need be said about the former Red Sox star. Ward is playing great ball at second base and has improved to a marked extent as the pivot man on double plays. He and Scott are proving to be a wonderful keystone combination. Baker is doing better at third base than he did at the close of last season. Pipp, who has been indisposed, is coming around slowly at first base, but he ought to hit his normal stride within the next week or so. With McNally and Johnny Mitchell, we are well fortified as far as reserve infield material is concerned. In the event McMillan is removed from the line-up after Ruth and Meusel get back into the game, we shall also have the former Rochester star as a reserve infielder and, from what I have heard of his work during the first two weeks of the training season, he is a third baseman of more than ordinary ability. On the whole, the team appears to have more pep than last year and the players are hustling more than ever."

When asked whether the club officials were satisfied with New Orleans as a training camp site, Colonel Ruppert said that conditions there were highly agreeable with the exception that at times the players were bothered by the high winds that sweep the city.

Praise for the Cardinals.

Colonel Ruppert was an eye-witness to the decisive trouncings received by the Yankees at the hands of the Cardinals in the two-game series a week ago Saturday and Sunday, and the President of the local American League club declared that he was greatly impressed by the strength of the St. Louis players. "Branch Rickey spoke to me a great deal about his team," said Colonel Ruppert. "The Cardinals can hit like a bunch of demons and they are also getting some fine pitching. From what I observed of their ability I expect them to cut a big figure in the National league pennant race this year. While in the South I was informed by several of those who have seen the Browns in action this Spring that St. Louis will also have a strong representation in the American League during the coming campaign."

Bob Meusel, hard-hitting outfielder of the Yankees, is due to arrive in town today from New Orleans. Meusel has been sent home to have his tonsils removed and will rejoin the Yankees when the team returns to New York at the end of next week.

RUTH HELPS YANKS TO DOWN DODGERS

Special to The New York Times.

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 28.—Miller Huggins's Yankees nosed out the Robins in the third game of their exhibition series, which was contested here this afternoon before a crowd of 5,000 fans. The score was 6 to 5. Babe Ruth did not oblige the local fans by making one of his famous drives, although he was favored with a short right field. However, the Babe helped his team to victory with two passes and a single, all of which figured in the runmaking.

The Robins made a gallant effort to win in the ninth, but it failed when Norman McMillan made a spectacular running catch of Ray Schmandt's terrific drive to deep left, which appeared good for at least three bases. Hy Myers was on first at the time.

Leon Cadore pitched the first four frames for the National Leaguers and Harry Shriver, one of Robbie's young right handers, finished the game. Bob Shawkey started on the mound for the American League champions, and twirled five chapters. George Murray succeeded Shawkey. Ground rules prevailed, and a ball hit over the right-field fence went as a two-bagger.

Baker Hits a Double.

The Yankees were the first to score. In the fourth inning they bunched three hits off Cadore and sent three tallies over the plate. McMillan drew a pass, and took third on Ruth's single over first. Baker doubled to left, scoring McMillan. Pipp's sacrifice fly to Wheat scored Ruth. A single to centre by Ward sent Baker across the plate. The Robins made one run in their half of the same round. Tommy Griffith led off with a two-bagger, and rode home when Wheat hit over the right-field wall. The ground rules held Zack on second.

In the following session the National Leaguers gathered three more hits and evened the score. Crane opened the frame by hitting over the fence for a double, and De Berry followed with a grounder to Shawkey, who threw Crane out going into third. Bert Griffith batted for Cadore, and was retired on a high fly. Olson then singled to left and Andy High, who had succeeded Johnston at third in the Robins' infield, drew a pass. Tom Griffith then hit over the right-field barrier for another two-bagger, which sent De Berry and Olson home.

In the sixth the Yankees found Shriver for one run. Ruth, after hitting a long foul, drew a pass, and pulled up on third when Baker singled to deep centre. Pipp walked, filling the bases, but Ward whiffed. Scott raised a sacrifice fly to Myers, and Ruth ambled home.

Robins Score First Run.

In the seventh session the Robins scored their first run off Murray. With two out, High hit to left for three bases, and crossed the plate on Tom Griffith's three-bagger.

The Yankees scored what proved to be their winning runs in the eighth. Ruth, first up, drew a pass, and Baker scored him with a long two-bagger. Pipp followed with a single and Baker registered.

High started the Robins' late rally with a two-bagger over the fence, and Tom Griffith walked. High took third while Wheat was forcing Tommy, and Andy continued to the plate while Myers was forcing Zack. Then Schmandt drove the ball high and far to deep left field. McMillan raced back, and, as the ball was sailing over his head, threw up his hand, making a great catch. He fell to the ground, but held on to the sphere.

GIANTS AGAIN WIN FROM WHITE SOX

Special to The New York Times.

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 28.—The Giants played some more sweet music with their bats this afternoon and won their second straight game from the Chicago White Sox by a score of 8 to 5.

The Giants' pitching, in the hands of Messrs. Virgil Barnes and Pat Shea, was adequate without being exactly brilliant, but it was as nothing compared to the cannonading from the champions' bats. The hits were not so many—only twelve—but two were home runs and most of the others were of the long and lusty variety. Every time a Giant swished his bat a Sox outfielder ran for the fence.

McGraw's men wasted no motions getting started. Dave Bancroft, the lead-off hitter, pelted one of Southpaw Russell's curves higher and yon over the left field fence in the first inning. This was fair enough, but Dave saw room for improvement. So when he toed the plate for the third time in the fourth inning, having been walked on his second appearance, Banny put another over the same fence just to demonstrate that such things are not always accidental. In the sixth he came up batting left-handed and laid a wicked liner up against a low screen in front of the distant right field bleachers, making two bases on the blow.

Circuit Clout for Mostil.

This was a fair sample of the Giants' hitting, and it proved far too much for the aforementioned Russell and José Acosta, who worked from the fifth inning on. By well bunched hitting the champions scored two runs in the first inning, one in the third, three in the fourth and one each in the fifth and sixth. Virgil Barnes left the pitching burden to Pat Shea at the end of the fifth, with the score 7 to 4, and the only run the Sox got off the red-thatched one was Mostil's home run over the left field barrier in the eighth.

Both of McGraw's youngsters looked good enough for further inspection. Barnes was bad in spots and good in others, but he wavered enough to let the Sox get five hits and four runs in four innings. Shea started in a wabbly fashion. He passed the first batter and then swung into his stride. He allowed the Chicagoans four hits, scattered among as many frames.

The Sox made two of their five runs on homers. In addition to Mostil's gorgeous hoist, little Ray Schalk took a man-sized swing in the fourth and nearly hit a caboose in the railroad yards back of left field.

Russell was greeted by Bancroft with a home run to open the festivities, and Groh and Young then filed out. But Frisch had a single to unload and Irish Meusel then contributed the longest hit of the game, a terrific line drive that hit the centre field scoreboard squarely amidships and bounced back for a two-bagger. Frisch had time to score on the swat.

White Sox Tie Score.

Hooper's single, a walk to Falk, a force-out and Schalk's single to left coined a Chicago run in the second, but the Giants took the run back in the third on walks to Bancroft and Groh, Young's sacrifice bunt and Frisch's long hoist to Mostil.

The Sox, however, had one punch left and tied the score in the same stanza. Johnson strolled, McCallan singled, Collins scored the former with a hit to left, Hooper advanced both runners with a bunt, and Falk brought McCallan in with a high and lofty one to Meusel.

This was the issue right up to the Giants, and they scored enough runs to win the fourth session. Kelly led off with a hot single which nearly decapitated Mr. Russell. Shinners fanned, Snyder singled to left and Virgil Barnes struck out. Bancroft then delivered his second home run, Kelly and Snyder trotting home as an advance party.

In the fifth Frisch walked with one down and worried Acosta so much that the pitcher tossed wildly to first, Frankie going to second. When Meusel stung one to left for a base the Fordham flash hastened home. The eighth and last Giant tally came in the sixth out of Bancroft's double to right, Groh's sacrifice fly and Ross Young's single to left. The Sox scored their two other runs on homers—Schalk's in the fourth and Mostil's in the eighth.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 28.—The project of removing football coaches from the playing field to the grand stands or else leaving them at home during Yale games was warmly endorsed editorially today by The Yale Daily News. The News said that allowing graduate coaches to direct the men while the games were in progress robbed the players of their initiative and that there was no more excuse for depriving athletes of their initiative than of preventing students from exercising the same faculty in the classroom. The News advocates allowing trainers who are not coaches to remain on the side lines and take players who are weakened through exhaustion or injury out of the game.

CHAPMAN LEADS 70 PINEHURST GOLFERS

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28.—John D. Chapman of Greenwich and Howard G. Phillips of Moore County, a former Yonkers resident, each started off with an eagle 3 on the first hole of the championship course in the Tin Whistles Best Ball Tourney versus par at Pinehurst today, and led the big field in gross scoring at the finish with a round of 36—38—74 for Chapman and 37—40—77 for Phillips. Donald Parson of Youngstown came in third with a 78, and W. C. Fownes Jr., former national champion, was fourth in gross scoring with a round of 38—41—79.

About 70 players took part in the tourney which resulted in ties for the four sets of prizes, as follows:

Charles S. Waterhouse, Ardsley, handicap 14, and R. C. Steese, Youngstown, handicap 8, 1 up; H. I. Thayer, Bear Hill, 11, and Henry Hornblower, Boston, W. E. Wells, Oakmont, even; H. Bradford Lewis, Tedesco, and H. G. Waring, Moore County, even.

Other pairs who finished near the par figures were: William Hager, Roselle, and J. T. Newton, Brooklyn, 1 down; S. Q. Miller, Englewood, and George VanKeuren, Englewood, 1 down; H. P. Drysdale, North Adams, and John L. Wyckoff, Holyoke, 1 down; G. M. Howard, Halifax, and G. W. Statsell, Philadelphia, 1 down; C. B. Hudson, North Fork, and P. B. O'Brien, Detroit, 2 down; J. R. PRO GOLFERS PRACTICE.

Stars Gather at Pinehurst for Open Tourney Starting Friday.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28.—Joe Kirkwood, the Australian professional champion and golf expert extraordinary, arrived at Pinehurst today and started practice work for the North and South open championship tournament, which begins on Friday.

Kirkwood plans to sail for England in about a month and, after the British Open, will return to this country in time to participate in the United States open ournament. After that event he plans to make a tour of the country giving exhibitions of his trick and fancy golf shots.

Other prominent pros who arrived here today were Jim Barnes, United States open champion; Michael J. Brady, Tom McNamara and Tom Kerrigan and Gene Sarazen, respectively winner and runner-up in the open tournament held last week at Asheville.

COLUMBIA FENCERS NAMED.

Bencoe, Bloomer and Farley Will Contest in Intercollegiates.

As a result of the elimination contests held recently to select the men who will represent Columbia University in the fencing intercollegiates at the Hotel Astor today and tomorrow, Bencoe, Bloomer and Farley have been named to represent the Blue and White. Besides these three, Nahan, Barrett, Fuertes and Ernst entered the elimination trials. Nahan made an excellent showing, and will go to the intercollegiates, along with the first three named, as substitute.

Under the direction of Coach Murray, the Lion fencers have been undergoing intensive training for two weeks. Bloomer, who did not show his true form in the last two meets, has improved considerably, and Captain Bencoe and Farley have both shown this they are ready to give excellent accounts of themselves. Yesterday the workout was eased off considerably, and the men will not take up their weapons again until the competition starts at the Astor. Besides Columbia, Harvard, Yale, the University of Pennsylvania, the Naval Academy and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will be represented on the strips during the intercollegiates.

HARVARD FENCERS COMING.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 28.—Harvard's contenders for the intercollegiate fencing championship will leave for New York tomorrow afternoon. Captain Burke Boyce, Brewster, Lane and Edwards compose the varsity fencing squad, and Manager John Barss and John Watson will take part in the epee events. Ronald Kerr, Paul Dayler and R. M. Morrison are entered in the Clemens medical novice tournament. The Harvard team closed its regular season with a clean slate.

SPORTS IN FULL SWING.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., March 28.—With lacrosse and tennis candidates appearing for first practice and with baseball and track in full swing, Colgate undergraduates started Spring sports in earnest today, the clearing of the weather making possible activity in all branches of athletics, although the baseball diamond was not in condition for use owing to recent rains.

Coach Bill Reid had fifty baseball men out for a three hours' workout. They knocked flies and chased grounders in regular mid-season fashion. First call for candidates the varsity lacrosse team brought out eleven letter men from last year's squad and twenty-four new stick wielders.

Baltimore Holdout Signs.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 28.—Wickey McAvoy, holdout catcher of the Baltimore Internationals, signed his contract yesterday and was expected to rejoin the Orioles in training at Winston-Salem, N. C., today.

MISS CUMMINGS'S DEFEAT A SURPRISE

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28.—The first upset in the woman's North and South championship golf tournament occurred in the semi-final round here today, when Miss Edith Cummings, the medalist, went down to a defeat of 2 and 1 at the hands of Mrs. M. Johnson Scammel of Uniontown, Pa., and the Oakmont Country Club, who qualified on Friday two strokes from the bottom in the championship sixteen and fourteen strokes behind Miss Cummings.

Miss Glenna Collett, the young Providence girl who led the field in the qualifying round of the last national title event, disposed of Mrs. C. F. Ubelacker of Hackensack, N. J., by the rather unusual margin of 8 up and 7 to play.

In the match between Mrs. Scammell and Miss Cummings the first hole was halved in 5, or par, and the second went to Miss Cummings with a well-executed par 4. Then Mrs. Scammell annexed the third by sinking a 20-foot putt for another par 4, and on the fifth she laid her third shot dead to the pin for a stroke under par.

On the eighth, a 222-yard affair with its green invisible from the tee, Miss Cummings, who was 1 down at the time, drove to the green and ran down a 15-foot putt for a 2, following this with a fine 8 on the ninth, which left her 1 up at the turn and with a total of 43 for the first nine holes, despite a 9 on the long seventh. Mrs. Scammell was out in 47.

Mrs. Scammell Trails.

Miss Cummings trapped her second shot for the tenth, but won the hole by the simple process of recovering dead to the pin. This left Mrs. Scammell two holes behind, but she got back one at the eleventh with a good 5 and squared the match at the twelfth, where Miss Cummings overapproached and took three more to go down.

The thirteenth, one of the most difficult holes on the Pinehurst course, was halved in par 4 after a poor start on Mrs. Scammell's part and the fourteenth halved in par 5, after Miss Cummings had driven into the woods.

The end of the match came with dramatic suddenness at the next hole, the short seventeenth. Mrs. Scammell drove into a bunker guarding the green. Miss Cummings's fine drive rolled onto the sand and it looked like a sure victory for the medallist. But Mrs. Scammell's shot from the depths of the trap came to rest about eight feet from the pin. Miss Cummings's bravery for a match needed a better wrong and left her five feet from the cup. Then Mrs. Scammell ran down her put for a 3, Miss Cummings failed in her try for a half, and it was all over.

The cards:

Out—
Mrs. Scammell	5	5	4	5	3	4	4	4	4	—37
Miss Cummings	5	4	5	5	4	5	3	2	5	—43
In—
Mrs. Scammell	5	5	4	5	3	5	3	5	5	—40—87
Miss Cummings	4	6	3	4	5	4	5	4	4	—42—85

Miss Collett Wins.

Miss Collett, who, as it proved, might have taken things easy in her match with Mrs. Ubelacker, played the most rapid golf of the tournament from start to finish. She allowed her opponent to win one and halve another, gathering in the other nine holes herself and bringing the match to an end on the eleventh green. Miss Collett disposed of the first nine holes in 37.

Miss Harriet Shepard of Hartford and Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich fulfilled expectations by coming through to the final consolation section of the first division. Both won their semi-final matches by wide margins, Miss Shepard defeating Mrs. Francis J. Doyle of Philadelphia by 7 and 6 and Mrs. Chapman winning by 5 and 4 against Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown.

Final ounds were reached and disposed of today in the other divisions. Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, Jr., the second division medalist, who defeated Miss Louise Elkins of Pittsburgh, who defeated Miss Frances Stebbins of Brae Burn in the final by 2 up. Mrs. Agnes

there is no escape

EVERYWHERE the same unyielding hardness underfoot. Just standing is a strain—every step is a jolt. Never was the need of a heel that gives real protection as great as it is today.

The price of O'Sullivan's Safety Cushion Heels to you is generally the same as the price of ordinary heels, in spite of the fact that they cost the repairman more.

The repairman has two reasons for accepting this smaller profit—first, because O'Sullivan's always make satisfied customers; second, because the good will of these customers builds bigger business for him.

Ask for O'Sullivan's when you leave your shoes—see that they are attached.

SCHAEFER RETAINS LEAD OVER HOPPE

CHICAGO, March 28 (Associated Press).—Willie Hoppe tonight gave one of the gamest exhibitions of billiards in his long career, but was unable to overcome the spectacular playing of the champion, Jake Schaefer, in their 1,500, 18.2 balkline match for the world's title and the second block of play ended with "Young Jake" still in the lead, 1,000 to 952. Schaefer won tonight's block 500 to 486, but at one time led his challenger 300 to 97. The champion rounded out his string of 500 with an unfinished run of 58.

Schaefer Makes Good Start.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Jake Schaefer stepped away from Willie Hoppe in the first two innings of their second relay in their 1,500-point match for the world's 18.2 balkline championship at Orchestra Hall here tonight. Schaefer made runs of 157 and 143, while Hoppe, in his first turn, ran 43 successive billiards without missing.

Schaefer started from the 500 mark, while Hoppe, at the end of his first frame, had 509 points, or only nine more than Schaefer, before the latter started play. The champion, as the second block started, had none of the stage-fright which spoiled his early play in the first relay and his exhibition of wizardry drew warm applause. He played the open table game and, in only one instance, in the first inning, had the balls bunched for a series of line nurses. At one time he had three successive line-ups which required difficult masses, and he executed each admirably.

Schaefer started the match with the balls in the same positions as at the close of play the first evening. He had a dual advantage, a score of 500 to start with, while Willie had 469, and the first chance at the ivories. He made good use of both and friends of Hoppe were slightly inclined to wane in their enthusiasm as he ran point after point.

Hoppe, however, was the same magician as of old when he obtained his turn at the table and his miss, after running 44, was the result of a draw shot which was short by a hair's breadth.

Table Is Tested.

The table was tested tonight for the second time. Spectators the first evening were inclined to believe the table might be slightly faulty after Referee Levis had announced the balls frozen and Schaefer had then found an open space between them. Scientific tests and measurements tonight, however, showed everything true to the hundredth of an inch.

The match tonight drew the same packed house as on the opening night, and the enthusiasm registered by the fans, from the boxes to the loft, was on the same high pitch.

Schaefer's run of 143 in his eleventh inning of the match was followed by a 54 by Hoppe. Schaefer ran 33 in his half of the next frame and missed a two-cushion draw. Hoppe, in his turn, registered his first goose egg in the two nights of playing. Schaefer ran sixteen points in the thirteenth, missing a hard bank shot.

Hoppe played some excellent shots in his thirteenth, but the run was stopped after scoring 71 because of failure to drive the ball out of anchor. Jake made 53 in the first half of the fourteenth and Hoppe 17 in the same frame.

Schaefer ran 27 in his fifteenth inning, missing a three-cushion shot by a hair.

Schaefer had 931 points and Hoppe 785 points at the end of fifteen innings of play. Schaefer had an average of 62 1-5 and Hoppe an average of 52 1-5 at that point.

Hoppe ran 134 points in his fifteenth turn at the table. He made more than 100 of these tallies by judicious use of the line nurse and played deadly position shots. His miss was the result of a one-cushion draw across the table.

Hoppe ran 167 in his sixteenth inning, making his total 952, ten points ahead of Schaefer. He made a series of the same sure position shots as in the previous high runs, but broke on a rail shot, when the balls were scattered.

The score by innings:

RYAN IS BILLIARD VICTOR.

Defeats Mills, 30 to 12, in Metropolitan Three-Cushion Tourney.

The victor in the second game of the metropolitan three-cushion title tournament, under auspices of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, now in progress at the Broadway Billiard Academy, was A. V. Ryan, who last night defeated John Mills by a score of 30 to 12. The winner had a high run of 4 and Mills a high run of 3. The game went forty-nine innings.

Mills got away to a good start, and held the lead through fourteen innings. Ryan, in the fifteenth, made his cluster of four, which put him in the lead, and Mills did not figure again in the match.

Tonight Ira Brussel will meet C. Hanf.

SCHEIDER CUE WINNER.

Wins From Ackerman in Title Pocket Billiard Tourney, 100-82.

In the continuation of the Greater City amateur pocket billiard title tourney in progress at Cranfield's uptown billiard academy, Carl Scheider, State titleholder, last night defeated Martin Ackerman by the score of 100 to 82. Ackerman got away to a good lead, and midway through the match was forty points ahead of Scheider. The titleholder then began playing safe, leaving little for his opponent, and these tactics, coupled with a high run of 16, presently put Schneider slightly ahead. A run of 14 increased his margin to a safe point, and Ackerman did not again threaten.

BATES TO LEAD VIOLET.

Jersey Lad Will Lead N. Y. U. Quintet Next Season.

Floyd F. Bates, a graduate of Dickinson High School of Jersey City, has been elected Captain of the New York University basketball team for next season. Bates started with the Violet court squad this season and made a brilliant record, but got into scholastic difficulties early in the schedule and appeared in only a few games. Bates, a good student, removed the ineligibilities by some hard classroom work, but too late to get back into the game until just as the season closed, when he went into the game with Union as a substitute and almost pulled the same role of the bole single-handed. Bates started the season as a forward, but was later used at center.

Chaplain Blackman Willing To Box Brother Minister

TOPEKA, Kan., March 28.—The proposal for a boxing match between the Rev. Earl A. Blackman of Chanute, Kan., national Chaplain of the American Legion, and Chaplain Beard of the Washington State Legion, as a feature of the next National Legion Convention, is approved by Chaplain Blackman, he announced in a letter to The Associated Press today.

HOQUIAM, Wash., March 28.—The Rev. J. W. Beard of the First Presbyterian Church here, when notified today that the Rev. Earl A. Blackman had offered to meet him in a boxing contest before the American Legion next Fall, said he was not yet prepared to accept.

"I am ready to meet any man on earth in a friendly boxing match," Mr. Beard, who was the "Fighting Parson of the Ninety-first Division," said, "but I fear a bout before a great convention might result in too much undesirable publicity."

SWIMMERS SEEK NATIONAL LAURELS

Beginning with the national 400-yard relay championship, which will be decided in the pool of the New York Athletic Club tonight, the stars of the swimming world will be kept busy in a series of title events which will continue until Saturday, when the national 300-yard relay and the national pentathlon championships will be decided in connection with several open events at the Central Y. M. C. A. in Brooklyn. Many of the leading swimmers of the country, including several Olympic, American and district champions, are either already quartered in the city awaiting the tests or are heading toward the metropolis.

Following the 400-yard relay event tonight, the Mercury Foot organization will continue to hold the centre of the stage tomorrow night, when the national water polo championship will be the feature. For Friday night the newly-formed Municipal A. C. has arranged an open meet and on Saturday the two national championships will be held as stated above.

Headed by its famous record-breaker, Johnny Weismuller, the Illinois Athletic Club team, favorites for the four title events on the program for the next few days, is now in the city ready for the fray. Other stars who will represent the Chicago organization are Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Norman Ross and Davy Dumas, who are scheduled to take part in all the championships.

The first three men and Weismuller will probably make up the team which will swim in the 400-yard relay event tonight and in view of Weismuller's record-breaking achievements, the I. A. C. is looked upon as the probable winner of this title as well as the 300-yard title which will be decided at Brooklyn on Saturday. The water polo contest is expected to result in a desperate battle between the I. A. C. team, holding the title, and the New York Athletic Club, which will be considerably stronger than that which faced the tri-color swimmers in Chicago last year.

Weismuller is also expected to win the pentathlon, one of the new championship events added to the A. A. U. title list last November. The I. A. C. star only recently set a new world's mark for the 440-yard free style and the 150-yard back stroke, two of the events which are included in the pentathlon list. On Saturday night at Philadelphia, Weismuller hung up four new world's marks at 50 yards, 250 yards, 300 yards and 300 meters.

Other stars who are expected to take part in the various events are: Hal Vollmer, Steve Ruddy, Leming Jelliffe, Philip Genthner, Dr. T. Nelligan and Ewald Wildfoster of the New York Athletic Club; Stuart Damon of Amherst, who, together with George Algar of Huntington School, S. N. Williams of Wesleyan, Chandler Wood of Huntington and R. P. Adams and R. Almy of Brown, will represent the Brookline Swimming Club; Victor Kiffe and James Hall of the Central Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, and Sam Jensen and Abe Siegel of the Illinois A. C.

Another title event on the cards is the 220-yard championship national junior for women, which will be decided at the Omaha A. C. tomorrow night. The Women's Swimming Association of New York has sent two of its youngest stars to represent it, Miss Ethel Baker and Miss Ethel McGrary.

SEEKS NEW SWIM RECORD.

Johnny Weismuller of the Illinois Athletic Club, the 18-year-old swimming champion, will attempt to break his own world's record for the 100-yard swim in the Columbia University pool on Friday afternoon in a special exhibition that has been sanctioned by the Metropolitan A. A. U. The youthful natator established the world's record for the century recently when he covered the distance in 58 1-5 seconds. He is also the world's record holder at 50 yards, 200 yards, 220 yards, 300 yards, and 300 meters.

Weismuller feels confident that he can get a new mark because of his unofficial record-breaking stunt in a 100-yard swim last Monday in the Columbia pool, when he covered the distance in 58 4-5 seconds.

SWIMMING TIME CHANGED.

Yale and Navy to Meet Saturday Afternoon Instead of at Night.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 28.—The dual swimming meet between Yale and the United States Naval Academy will be held next Saturday afternoon instead of Saturday night. The change in the arrangements was made today at the request of the navy athletic authorities.

RICE PUTS MEN ON DIET.

Members of the No. 1 varsity and junior varsity crews at Columbia University reported yesterday to the "Man-the-Oar" restaurant near the Union Boat house on the Harlem for the first taste of training table food this season. Coach Rice intends that the table this year shall be the strictest in the annals of Columbia rowing and the chef at the "Man-the-Oar" has been instructed that only the foods named by the trainer are to be served.

Coach Rice put the freshman and the varsity boats through the usual workouts yesterday and was well pleased with the showing made by all the boats. The varsity particularly displayed excellent form and with a continuation of the rapid improvement they have been showing should be in tip-top shape for the opening of the season.

The Bogue, the varsity eights' famous shell, has been repaired and repainted and will be ready for use on the water in a few days.

ANTI-BETTING BILL KILLED IN MARYLAND

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 28.—Friends of racing in Maryland triumphed tonight when the Senate, by a vote of 15 to 12, substituted the Norris bill, providing for a continuation of racing under regulation, for the Hall anti-betting measure passed by the House. The victory for regulated racing came after President Norris of the Senate, author of the substitute bill, had given a convincing expose of the bookmakers' methods and presented exhibits to show how racing was conducted in other States which had laws similar to those proposed in the Hall measure.

The Norris plan increases the daily license fee paid to the State by the tracks from $6,000, the present figure, to $10,000 a day and limits racing days on the mile tracks to seventy-two days a year. Under the Burke law now in vogue ninety-two days of racing is permitted.

The vote on the Norris plan, which came as a distinct surprise to both sides, caused joy in the ranks of racing men and came as a bitter disappointment to the so-called uplifters.

Both sides had been in doubt as to their strength up to today and, if anything, the backers of the anti-betting bill had more confidence than did the friends of the sport of kings.

Most of the credit for the victory was given to President Norris, whose forceful exposition of the evil of unregulated racing undoubtedly wielded a powerful influence over any Senators who approached the question with open minds.

Previous to adoption of the Norris plan as a substitute for the Hall bill, the Senate voted down an amendment to the Hall anti-betting measure proposed by Senator Parran of Calvert County calling for the banning of all racing for purses in Maryland except at county fairs. The vote on this amendment was 18 to 8.

While the Norris bill is yet to be finally passed by the Senate, the action of the Senate tonight marked defeat of the Hall bill. If, after passage of the Norris bill by the Senate, the House refuses to concur, the Burke law will continue in effect.

RACERS GO THROUGH PACES.

Thoroughbreds Obtain Workout on Belmont Park Track.

Trainers in charge of thoroughbreds stabled at Belmont Park took advantage of the Spring atmosphere yesterday to gallop the racers rather slowly around the still heavy course. George Odom had several of the Gerry string out and Tom Welsh cantered a few of J. E. Widener's horses. J. S. Healy sent forth most of the twenty-two youngsters in his charge and Scott Harlan allowed the Kentucky Derby candidate, Letterman, a moderate workout. Careful, Walter J. Salmon's fleet filly, and Pillory, R. T. Wilson's colt, which gave unfurled promise last year, were galloped under the watchful eye of Trainer T. J. Healey.

YACHTSMEN MEET TONIGHT.

Sound Racing Association in Annual Session at Harvard Club.

The annual meeting of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound will be held tonight at the Harvard Club, 27 West Forty-fourth street. The principal business will be the ratification of the 1922 regatta schedule and the election of officers. The Nominating Committee's slate is: President—George Nichols, Sewanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club; Vice President—Charles A. Marsland, New Rochelle Yacht Club; Secretary—James D. Sparkman, Larchmont Yacht Club; Treasurer—Donald Cowl, Manhasset Bay Yacht Club; Executive Committee—Adrian Iselin 2d, Port Washington Yacht Club; Philip R. Mallory, American Yacht Club, and Clifford D. Mallory, Indian Harbor Yacht Club. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner given by President Nichols.

SHERMAN HOYT HONORED.

Sherman Hoyt of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club of Oyster Bay has been elected Vice Commodore of the club, it was announced yesterday, to fill the post left vacant by the resignation of Junius S. Morgan Jr. Former Vice Commodore Morgan, who is a son of J. P. Morgan and a partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., will soon sail for England to enter the London branch of the New York firm, Morgan, Grenfell & Co.

Vice Commodore Hoyt was one of the after-guard of the Seawanhaka Corinthian six-meter yacht Shiela, which took part last Summer in the team races in the Solent for the British-American Cup.

TO CAPTAIN YALE CREWS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 28.—Captains were today elected for Yale's second and 150-pound varsity crews. Ward Cheney was chosen to lead the second varsity, which has been rowing as the Blue crew. The first eight, or White crew, is captained by Langhorne Gibson, who is rowing at No. 5. Cheney is at No. 2 in the Blue crew.

These two eights will race the first and second crews of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, April 15. A. L. Riker, of Fairfield, Conn., was elected Captain of the 150-pound eight. He is a junior in the Sheffield Scientific School. A change was ordered by Coach Jim Gorderry in the Blue crew today when R. B. Russell replaced Bigelow at No. 3. Russell rowed in the first eight last year.

The Yale squad was visited at Derby today by John M. Gootonius, '94; Seth Low, Captain in 1916, and Payne Whitney, Captain in 1898, all members of the Rowing Committee.

WILL ROW COLUMBIA.

M. I. T. to Send Two Varsity Crews for Races on the Harlem.

BOSTON, Mass., March 28.—Although no coach has been appointed, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has arranged a number of important events for the oarsmen, including two races with the Columbia crews on the Harlem River on May 20. The engineers will send their varsity and second varsity to meet Columbia.

The first event on the schedule is the regatta at Annapolis on April 29, when the Tech varsity will row the varsity and junior varsity middies and the Tech second eight will race the navy's reserve eight. On May 6 Tech varsity will race the Union Boat Club on the Charles River and the second varsity will race Yale's second varsity at New Haven. On May 13 the two crews will race the corresponding Harvard crews, and it is possible that the varsity may enter the Henley regatta at Philadelphia on May 27.

COACH TRIES STROKES.

Dr. Howe Takes Coxswain's Seat in Harvard Varsity Shell.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 28.—Dr. Heber Howe, head coach of the Harvard crews, got into harness this afternoon and took the position of coxswain in the varsity crew, during which time nine candidates for stroke were tried out, one after another, while the doctor held the rudder string.

After the practice five strokes were retained for further trial, including Walter Amory, the freshman stroke last year, and Eddie Matthews, who set the pace for the Harvard second crew when they defeated the Yale second eight last June at New London. During his college days, Dr. Howe was coxswain of

Lewis Would Meet Dempsey For $50,000 Bet and Receipts

DONCA CITY, Okla., March 28.—Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, world's wrestling champion, offers to meet Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer, at 101 Ranch, here, in the proposed wrestling-boxing match for a side bet of $50,000 and the winner to receive the gate receipts. The offer was contained in a letter from Lewis today, replying to Colonel Joe C. Miller, who had offered a $200,000 guarantee and a split in receipts. Dempsey has not been heard from, Miller said.

SHARKEY PUNISHES SPENCER SEVERELY

Jack Sharkey of the west side last night got the decision over Willie Spencer of the east side in the stellar twelve-round bout at the Pioneer A. C. The Italian bantam had an easy victory, winning every round by a comfortable margin. Although he had an advantage in weight of seven pounds, he was unable to land a knock-out blow. Sharkey weighed 123 and Spencer 116 pounds.

Sharkey was the aggressor from the sound of the gong. He tore into Spencer in the first round, punishing the east sider severely in the clinches with powerful rights to the stomach. The winner followed this style of infighting throughout the bout.

In a fast exchange of rights and lefts in the fourth round Sharkey shot over a sharp blow to the jaw which sent Spencer to the canvas. The east side boxer, however, got up without waiting for the full count. This was the only knock-down.

In the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds, Sharkey used boring and clinching tactics, holding with the left hand and hitting with the right to the stomach and kidneys in the in-fighting. Spencer taking punishment which he could not avoid.

In the semi-final twelve-round bout, Johnny Murray of the Bronx, 137 pounds, got the decision over Happy Smith of Yorkville. Smith weighed 131½ pounds. It was Murray's bout all the way.

CHAMPION IS DEFEATED.

George Quinn, Brooklyn Amateur Boxer, Loses at Crescent A. C.

George Quinn of the Rex Athletic Club, only recently crowned 147-pound champion of Brooklyn, last night discovered that the paths trod by title-holders are filled with pitfalls. In the preliminaries of the amateur boxing tournament conducted by the Crescent Athletic Club, Brooklyn, last night, Quinn was defeated by Sam McClurkin of the Steinway Athletic Club, a simon-pure without a title but with a formidable punch. The Steinway representative landed a right on the point of Quinn's jaw in the third round, flooring his man, and after he had repeated with another to the same spot, the bout was stopped and the decision awarded to McClurkin.

In order to demonstrate that the victory was no fluke, McClurkin came back in one of the second trial bouts and knocked out A. Jaftok, an unattached athlete, in the first round.

Twenty bouts were run off during the evening and the semi-finals and finals will be held tomorrow night.

Outside of the Quinn-McClurkin bout, the feature of the evening was supplied by Charles Morris of Loughlin Lyceum and Leon Spieler of Clark House in the 118-pound division. Spieler had the edge on his rival when it came to ring knowledge, but Morris dropped him with a right to the jaw in the middle of the second round and was awarded the verdict at the end of the third stanza.

The summaries:

118-Pound Class, Preliminary Bouts—Charles Morris, Loughlin Lyceum, defeated Leon Spieller, Clark House, three rounds, judges' decision; A. Rosofsky, Clark House, defeated J. Donoughue, unattached, three rounds, judges' decision.

Joe Stecher, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, has been added to the program of the all-star show which will be held at the First Regiment Armory, Newark, on Monday night. Stecher's opponent will be Frank Jetlinski, the coach of the Harvard University wrestling team. The pair will grapple twenty minutes, one pin fall to decide. Two other matches will follow the Stecher-Jetlinski match. In one of these Wladek Zbyszko and Nat Pendleton, the Olympic champion, will engage in a thirty-minute tussle, while in the other Renato Gardini and George Calza, rivals for the Italian heavyweight title, will be the principals.

RUTH ASKED TO REFEREE.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 28.—Babe Ruth has been asked to referee a wrestling bout here April 3 between Stanislaus Zbyszko, former world's heavyweight champion, and Charles Rentrop, claimant of the world's middleweight championship. Ruth will be here on that date with the New York Yankees.

Jersey Golf Tourney Aug. 22.

The New Jersey State saddle and saddle masters' championship will be held on Aug. 22 on the lower course of the Essex County Country Club, according to the announcement of the New Jersey State Golf Association yesterday.

Cleveland Wins at Hockey.

Notables Attend Army's Farewell Show in Paris—Carpentier Gives Exhibition.

FRENCH STAR LOOKS THIN

Two American Doughboys Win Their Matches and One Is Defeated, All Going Limit.

PARIS, March 28.—A gala boxing night, in which American Army boxers from Coblenz participated prior to their departure for the United States, was held this evening. Men from the Cologne, Mayence and Coblenz armies of occupation, representing Great Britain and France, and the French veteran soldiers, Georges Carpentier and Eugene Criqui, took part.

The exhibitions were witnessed by a large crowd, including Marshal Foch, Mr. Herrick, the American Ambassador; Baron Hardinge, the British Ambassador; Major Gen. Allen, commander of the American Army of Occupation; Prince George of Greece and other notable persons.

Two Americans won their bouts, but one American was defeated. Private Johnny Myers of Pittsburgh received the decision over Tommy Evans of the British Army, and Kid Murray of Philadelphia won from a French soldier named Lacaille. George Ilstrap of Minneapolis lost to Private Rouguet of the French Army. All the bouts went the limit.

Carpentier and Criqui gave a three-round exhibition. Carpentier appeared to be in fair condition, although he looked rather thin.

KNOCKOUTS ARE PLENTIFUL.

Glencoe A. C. Stages Fast Bouts—Singer and Quagliorelli Win.

Knockouts were plentiful in the preliminary round of the Glencoe Athletic Club's amateur boxing tournament last night at the Central Casino. In six of the ten bouts staged, the loser either went to the canvas or the fight was stopped by the referee in order to save the beaten man from further punishment.

Two special matches were also staged by the Glencoe managers. One was between Herman Singer of the home club and John Quill of the Union Settlement in the 120-pound class, and the other between Nick Quagliorelli, recent winner in the 110-pound class in the Pastime A. C. tournament, and Joe Maloni of Glencoe. Singer floored Quill in the second round with a right to the jaw.

In the other special, Quagliorelli got a close decision. The Pastime A. C. fighter had all the better of the first round, but in the second Maloni came back equally fast. The judges agreed that Quagliorelli was enough better in the third to entitle him to the decision.

The semi-finals and finals in the tournament will be boxed tomorrow night.

110-Pound Class, Preliminary Round—A. Comiglia, unattached, defeated J. Balten, Union Settlement, two rounds, judges' decision; A. Marreck, Lenox Hill Settlement, defeated M. Barrer, three rounds, judges' decision; R. Beck, Glencoe A. C., defeated J. Richmond, Royal A. C., three rounds, referee's decision.

118-Pound Class, Preliminary Round—H. Georsky, Pastime A. C., defeated J. Murphy, Glencoe A. C., two rounds, referee's decision; H. McKay, St. Cyrus A. C., defeated E. Pollock, Glencoe A. C., two rounds, referee's decision; M. Dismonti, unattached, defeated M. Leveler, Greek-American A. C., two rounds, referee's decision; F. Coyne, Union Settlement, defeated J. Dumalsary, Paulist A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

Babe Herman, Jack Dempsey's featherweight protégé, and one of the numerous challengers for the crown now worn by Johnny Kilbane, may attach himself to the champion's party and sail for Europe on April 11 with the idea of meeting the king of the featherweight division on the other side.

Dan McKetrick, who is allied with Jack Kearns, yesterday sent a cable to Major Arnold Wilson, one of the leading fight promoters across the water, asking him to sound out Kilbane regarding a match with Herman in England. His cable follows:

"Meet Kilbane on Aquitania, arriving today. Learn if willing to box Babe Herman in England. If match is arranged Herman will sail with Kearns and Champion Dempsey on April 11."

At the time that Kilbane left America, both Herman and Vincent (Pepper) Martin were down at the dock to see him off, each one seeking to exact from the champion the promise of a match upon his return. Kilbane refused to show any partiality, however, suggesting that the two rivals settle their grievances and stating that he would agree to meet the winner.

OREGAN BOXING CAPTAIN.

Staten Islander Will Lead Naval Academy Team Next Season.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 28.—Midshipman William V. Oregan of Staten Island, N. Y., has been elected captain of the Naval Academy boxing team for next season. Boxing in the 175-pound class, Oregan won every bout in which he contested this year. Regular members of the boxing squad who will be lost by graduation are Captain Zotti, O'Donnell, Sebald and Latta.

JACKSON OUTPOINTS RICE.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Willie Jackson, New York, outpointed Frankie Rice, Baltimore, tonight in an eight-round bout. They are lightweights.

In the semi-final, George Chaney, Baltimore, had the better of Jimmy Hanlon, Denver. Chaney had the advantage in six of the eight rounds.

NOT PERMITTED TO BOX.

BOSTON, March 28.—A ten-round bout between Johnny Curtin of New York and Young Montreal of Providence, bantamweights scheduled for tonight, was cancelled because Curtin was still suffering from an injury to his nose sustained in a recent bout and the Boxing Commission physician refused to permit him to box.

DUNDEE IS MATCHED.

Will Meet Goodrich in Ten-Round Bout in Toronto.

Johnny Dundee has been matched to box Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo at Toronto on April 4. They will go ten rounds to a decision. In the semi-final Dundee's sparring partner, Jimmy Kirke, will meet Frankie Bull. Both are welterweights. Dundee also will fight Johnny Shugrue at the Lake A. C. Worcester, Mass., on April 10, the condition calling for the match without a decision.

ELEVATED OWNERS BENT ON FULL RENT

THINK WALL ST. WOULD AID

$10,000,000 Loan Believed Easy if There Was a Prospect of Future Prosperity.

MORGAN AGENTS IN COUNCIL

Efforts yesterday to bring about modification of the elevated lease held by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company ended with nothing accomplished so far as could be learned. According to an apparently reliable report, the Manhattan company was determined to hold the Interborough to the strict terms of the lease. These terms call for a 7 per cent. dividend on a valuation of $80,000,000 and the payment of about $3,400,000 interest on bonds and taxes.

The matter was discussed in the office of Alvin W. Krech, Chairman of the Stockholders Committee of the Manhattan Company. All of those present realized that the most critical period in the life of the Interborough was drawing near and that without some help it would be difficult to keep the company out of the hands of a receiver.

On April 1 the legal limit for the payment of the elevated rent for the last quarter of 1921 will expire. The amount is $1,060,000, and the same sum will be due under the lease for the first quarter of the current year. The Interborough has determined not to make any more payments at the 7 per cent. rate, and the efforts of yesterday were intended to shave down the rate to 5 per cent. or less. One suggestion was reported that if the Manhattan would waive the payment for a limited period, until the Interborough could recover, that the 7 per cent. payment then would be resumed.

Among those who discussed the situation in Mr. Krech's office and elsewhere during the day were James L. Quackenbush, general counsel of the Interborough; George Welwood Murray, counsel of the Manhattan company; Mr. Krech and representatives of J. P. Morgan & Co., which marketed the $162,108,000 of 5 per cent. bonds and the issue of $38,144,400 notes which first paid 7 per cent. and on renewal 8 per cent. interest. Frank Hedley, President of the Interborough, and Alfred Skitt, President of the Manhattan Company, were in close touch throughout the day.

It was pointed out that this was no time to press for the last dollar in any railroad ventures, and statements were made that the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, now getting an eight-cent fare on its trolley lines, soon would apply for an increase to ten cents, and that the Interborough would have to follow on Friday proceedings in applications for a receivership before Federal Judge Mayer.

It appeared from the discussion that a reduction in the rent paid the Manhattan Company would make it easy for the Interborough to borrow as much as $10,000,000 on short notice and fairly good terms. Such an amount, it was said, would place the company in good condition. Figures show that it soon will need about $9,000,000 to tide it over and that it has only something like $4,000,000.

It was believed, according to statements made during the day, that Wall Street would be willing to help the Interborough carry any load that might be placed upon it if the future appeared to hold any hope of prosperity, because it would dislike to be placed in the position of refusing aid to one of the greatest railroad corporations in the country.

CITIZEN'S SUIT OPENS TO HALT CITY BUSES

Whalen Believes Court Victory Would Open the Way for $30,000,000 Program.

Trial of the suit instituted by Edward Schafer, a taxpayer, to restrain the Board of Estimate from appropriating $1,000,000 for bus lines began yesterday before Justice Mullan of the Supreme Court. The action originated two years ago. Out of it came directly on indirectly court orders restraining bus operation on streets paralleling trolley lines, and involved in it is the right of the city to continue the operation of fifteen such lines.

Since the action was begun Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, has submitted to the board a plan to spend $30,000,000 for a bus system. Mr. Whalen believes that if the city wins this fight it will have the right to proceed with its plan. Both sides are determined to carry the case to the Court of Appeals. If the city wins it will have to obtain from the Transit Commission a certificate of convenience and necessity before it can put its plan into operation. That such an application would be refused was said yesterday to be practically certain. In this event the city undoubtedly would begin other proceedings.

Louis Marshall represented the plaintiff and Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien and Assistant Corporation Counsel William E. C. Mayer appeared for the city. Among the witnesses was Chairman George McAneny of the Transit Commission who was called to show that the present transit facilities were inadequate and that an emergency existed.

In opening the trial Mr. Marshall argued that the city was not authorized by any law to embark in the bus business. He contended that the city contemplated two illegal acts, the wasting of public funds to establish bus routes and the paying over to Commissioner Whalen $1,000,000 of the funds.

Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien denied that the taxpayers' money was being wasted or that any such waste was contemplated or could take place under the city plan.

TRANSIT WORK CHEAPER.

Bids for the reconstruction of the Lawrence Street station of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company were received yesterday by the Transit Commission. This work was held up during the war, and it was estimated that the delay had resulted in a saving of about $180,000.

The lowest bid submitted on Sept. 21, 1920, was $325,365. The lowest bid submitted yesterday came from F. L. Crandell and was for $242,080. The station serves the shopping district of lower Fulton Street.

Prague Typists Must Wear Blouses 'Closed Up to Neck'

VIENNA, March 28.—According to a report in the Prague newspapers, the Czechoslovakian Government has decided to issue orders to all female employes in the civil service that in the future they must appear at the offices in string blouses "closed up to the neck."

This limitation of the "principle of self-determination," the ground on which the new State came into existence, is causing indignation and consternation among the flapper typists of Prague.

CITY TO ASK $150,000 FOR TRANSIT PAVING

LACK OF FUNDS THE EXCUSE

Only Necessary Work Has Been Done Since 1916—Promise Good Pavements by Fall.

Borough President Julius Miller disclosed yesterday that suits aggregating about $150,00 probably would be brought by the City of New York against the various traction companies operating surface lines to compel these corporations to pay for repaving and other repairs within the railroad area. This work was undertaken for the street railroad companies by the city on March 15, according to Borough President Miller, who said that his engineering staff had assured him that the entire Summer would be required to put the city's streets back into as good condition as they were before the war.

The belief that the city would have to resort to the courts to collect for the work it is now doing for the traction companies is entertained by the Borough President because the transit companies, in refusing to do this work on their own account, pleaded that they were without funds. It was further explained by Borough President Miller that no option was left to the city but to repave and repair the railroad area, because the city assumes responsibility for accidents resulting from unsafe conditions of the streets, and the railroad law authorizes the municipal authorities to make the necessary repairs and go to the necessary repaving, for which it may seek to compel payment by the street railroads affected.

"The Railroad law," said Borough President Miller, "places upon the Borough President the responsibility of keeping the streets of this city in a safe condition. The law is very definite on the subject. Section 178 of the Railroad law, as amended in 1921, reads:

"'Repair of streets, rate of speed, removal of ice and snow—Every street surface railroad corporation, so long as it shall continue to use or maintain any of its tracks in any street, avenue or public place in any city or village, shall have and keep in permanent repair that portion of such street, avenue or public place between its tracks, the rails of its tracks and two feet in width outside of its tracks, under the supervision of the proper local authorities, and whenever required by them to do so, and in such manner as they may prescribe, but nothing contained in this section shall require any street railroad corporation to make pavements or repairs over openings made in the streets by any person, municipality or corporation other than such street railroad corporation, for any purpose other than the pavement or repavement of the street.

In case of the neglect of any corporation to make pavements or repairs after the expiration of twenty days' notice to do so the local authorities may make the same at the expense of such corporation.

"Since 1916, or just before the war," explained Amos Schaeffer, consulting engineer to the Borough President, "we have not bothered the street railroads very much by requiring them to lay new pavements. We have only asked them to make the most necessary repairs. The result is that the railroad areas are now in a bad shape. We are now going to remedy this situation."

The repaving and repairing of the railroad areas will be done in connection with the regular work of the Borough President's office. There will be no special force assigned to complete this undertaking, so the work will not be finished before the end of the Summer when the Borough President promises that the streets of Manhattan will be in excellent condition.

WOMAN GIVES DETAILS OF MURDER LONG AGO

Mrs. Anna Iacondina, 45 years old, testifying yesterday in General Sessions at the trial of Giuseppe Di Palma, a Buffalo carpenter, for shooting and killing Crescenso Tanzillo, a Harlem butcher, twenty years ago, told how, immediately after the killing in East 107th Street, near First Avenue, the wife of a business rival stuck a broom up in front of her husband's shop, "just like a flag," in jubilation over the butcher's death.

Mrs. Iacondina, who was a sister-in-law of the slain man, proved a most interesting witness because of the clarity with which she described the murder and events that led up to it. She unhesitatingly identified Di Palma as Tanzillo's slayer, although, as she admitted, he had removed his mustache since the murder and she had not seen him in twenty years. Tanzillo was killed on Sunday morning, March 9, 1902.

Her testimony was so closely along the line of her story of the killing given at the Coroner's inquest which followed the murder that Leslie S. Lockhart, counsel for Di Palma, asked her how she was able so vividly to recall all the incidents. "I can never forget it," was Mrs. Iacondina's dramatic reply.

Dr. Albert T. Weston, who as a Deputy Coroner performed the autopsy on the body of the slain butcher, and Dr. Charles E. Green of 811 Gravesend Avenue, Brooklyn, who was an ambulance surgeon connected with Harlem Hospital was called to examine Tanzillo after the shooting, declared that they were unable to recall the murder.

Carmine Iacondina, husband of the principal witness, testified that he saw Di Palma and two other men fire shots at Tanzillo and then run away. The trial will be continued this morning.

"CIVIC VIRTUE" ENDORSED.

National Academy of Design Tells Officials Its Attitude.

The National Academy of Design announced yesterday that it had adopted resolutions approving the acceptance by the city of the MacMonnies statue, "Civic Virtue." Notifications of the Academy's action have been sent to Mayor Hylan and other members of the Board of Estimate.

Charles C. Curran, Secretary of the Academy, said yesterday that the resolution deprecated the criticism leveled as a work of art before it was placed in the position it had been designed to occupy. The fact that the Art Commission of the city had passed upon and endorsed the work made "premature" criticism so much the more to be deprecated, according to Mr. Curran.

TEXTILE STRIKERS GAIN IN STRENGTH

MINOR CLASHES MARK DAY

Rhode Island Troopers Enforce New Rule Limiting Picketing at Pontiac Plants.

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 28.—More active picketing, resulting in increases in the ranks of striking mill workers, and two minor disturbances marked the second day of the extension of the New England textile strike to seven mills here. Approximately 9,000 persons, as compared with 7,500 yesterday, were on strike, and it was estimated that 7,000 more were idle. The strike was brought about by a wage cut of 20 per cent.

The disturbances occurred when the workers were leaving the mills tonight. A woman picket in front of the Everett Mills attacked a woman worker and pulled her hair. Police intervened and crowds gathered, but dispersed after police reserves were called.

As workers were leaving the Washington Mills, one of those not affected by the strike, two revolver shots were fired in the air. A large crowd gathered, but there was no further disorder.

Officials representing the mills which announced the wage cut asserted tonight that there was no need for action by the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, as they were determined to fight the issue to the end. On the other hand, labor leaders said they were ready and willing to lay the case before the board. Mayor Daniel W. Mahoney and Alderman Peter Carr went to Boston today to request the State Board to take action, and were assured that the board had the question under consideration.

Although officials of the Pacific and Everett Mills asserted that their mills were running with as large forces as yesterday, strike leaders maintained that their forces had been increased by 1,200 from the Pacific mills alone. In the Everett Mills many workers left the plant at noon.

BOSTON, March 28—The State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration began an inquiry into the textile situation in this State several weeks ago, when it first appeared that a crisis was imminent. The general inquiry now has been directed more especially to conditions at Lawrence, where the principal disturbance to the industry in Massachusetts has occurred. After all available facts have been considered, the board will decide what action can be taken, it is stated.

Troops Order Less Picketing.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 28.—New picketing regulations, restricting greatly the number of strikers who may picket the Pontiac mill and bleachery at Pontiac, were put into effect today by the National Guard troops in charge of the situation in the village.

The new rules, which limit the strikers to three pickets, were promulgated following disturbances in the vicinity of the bleachery yesterday and today, in which one woman was arrested and a mill official stoned.

While the mill is closed, the bleachery is operating one of a few departments, finishing up cloth which was in process when the strike began ten weeks ago, and which, it was feared, would spoil. Importation from outside of a few workers to take care of the cloth led to the report that an attempt was to be made to operate the plant with strike breakers.

The 200 men employed in the weave shop of the Solway Dyeing and Textile Company, Fall River, went out today, and the weave shop was closed. The cause of the trouble and the closing of the department was in dispute between the men and the management of the mill.

William Dow, Treasurer and general manager, said it was "neither a strike nor a lockout" and that he didn't know why the men quit. The weave shop, he said, would not be reopened before next Monday.

The men, who are members of the Weavers' Union, declared that some of the weavers struck when three of their number went as a committee to the management to protest against changes in working conditions and were discharged. The rest of the men, they asserted, were told to leave the plant and the weave shop then was closed.

Blackstone Valley strikers are expected at the State House in force tomorrow in accordance with the announcement that a pilgrimage to the Capitol would be made in an effort to obtain some kind of action on the Lavan Forty-eight-hour bill, which has reposed in the Senate Judiciary Committee since its passage by the House two weeks ago.

The Senate was flooded to day with petitions for and against the measure, the petitions opposing its passage coming from many of the larger manufacturing concerns of the State.

Says Union Misleads Workers.

Frederick K. Rupprecht, President of the Consolidated Textile Corporation, issued a statement yesterday charging the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America had garbled a report they made public on the financial affairs of the corporation, "with the intent to mislead the employes now on strike in Rhode Island." The statement was based on data obtained by the Labor Bureau, Inc., economic adviser of the union.

The report declared the corporation was grossly overcapitalized, and asserted this condition made it impossible for the corporation to grant workers a reasonable wage. Union officials, in a statement accompanying the report, said their answer to demands for a 20 per cent. wage reduction was a demand for a 50 per cent. reduction in capitalization of the New England textile mills.

Disclaiming any wish to debate the financial status of the company, which, he said, was a matter of public record, Mr. Rupprecht declared that the "capitalization of this company, high or low, has absolutely nothing to do with the issues involved in the strike."

"It is unfortunate," he continued, "that the striking employes of cotton mills in Rhode Island should be deluded into a belief that they are being denied the wages and working conditions they seek because of alleged excessive capitalization of the mills that employ them. Wage reductions were sought in Rhode Island and elsewhere for the reason that the public would not buy cotton goods at a price which the higher wage scale made necessary."

BOSCH INQUIRY IS STLL ON.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Investigation of the sale of the Bosch Magneto Company about two years ago to Martin E. Kern of Allentown, Pa., by the Alien Property Custodian is still far from complete, it was stated today at the Justice Department. It was learned authoritatively that Mr. Kern was in Washington yesterday, and the impression was given that he had conferred with officials of the department, although Attorney General Daugherty and other high officials refused to comment on the case.

Special to The New York Times.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 28.—Martin E. Kern arrived here this evening from Washington. Newspaper men were informed that he would be ready in a day or two to issue a statement of his case and the proceedings in Washington, where he has been the last three days.

If Kern was alarmed at the investigation he did not betray it on his arrival home. He greeted each of many friends with a hearty handshake and appeared in the best of health and spirits.

300,000 Will Strike in Britain Today; Shipyard Union Chiefs Order a Walkout

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—Three hundred thousand men employed in the shipyards of the United Kingdom will stop work tomorrow. The new rate of wages, 10 shillings 6 pence a week less than that hitherto paid, will come into force, and, although a ballot is being taken for the acceptance or rejection of this rate, the executives of the unions have ordered a complete stoppage at once, their appeal to the employers to suspend the reduction until the result of the ballot is known having been refused.

After negotiations lasting until late tonight the position with regard to the 600,000 members of unions in the engineering industry who are threatened with lockout notices still remains critical. In trade union circles the gravest doubt is now expressed as to the possibility of the notices being withheld.

LONDON, March 28 (Associated Press).—It was reported late tonight that a complete breakdown had taken place in the negotiations between representatives of the engineering trade unions and the employers at which it had been hoped to avert the threatened lockout in Great Britain's engineering industries. Early today there were appearances that the trouble might at least be temporarily averted, as the representatives of the engineers were reported to have decided to accede to the employers' proposals as a basis for renewed negotiations.

The employers gave the engineers until 10 o'clock this evening to make a definite reply on the question of acceptance or rejection of vital principles in the dispute relating to managerial functions. At the set hour the workers reported that it was their unalterable determination to reject them.

The situation was so grave this evening that Dr. T. J. McNamara, Minister of Labor, was summoned from the House of Commons to attend the conference of the union workers.

GANG'S 'BIG FELLOW' GETS TWENTY YEARS

JUDGE GIVES THE LIMIT

End of a Series of Drug Store Hold-Ups Which Culminated in a Murder.

Frank Lentino, 18, of 203 Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, who pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery in the first degree, was sentenced yesterday by Judge George W. Martin, in the Kings County Court, to serve twenty years in Sing Sing Prison. Despite his youth Lentino had already served a term in Elmira Reformatory for burglary. Lentino was a member of the band of youths living in the vicinity of the navy yard in Brooklyn who held up a number of drug stores in various sections of the borough and robbed the proprietors and clerks. The brief career of the band culminated in the murder of Paul J. Gilman, a druggist, of 162 Court Street.

William J. Evans, the leader of the band, has been convicted of murder in the first degree for the death of Gillman and is in Raymond Street jail awaiting the imposition of the death sentence. Three other members of the crowd pleaded guilty to crimes of a lesser degree in connection with the death of Gilman and are also awaiting sentence. They are Frank Evans, a brother of William, who pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree, and Stephen Collins and John J. Keough, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree.

Thomas McLaughlin and Peter Puzyn, two others of the Evans gang, pleaded guilty yesterday to robbery in the third degree for their share in several of the robberies. Several others have already pleaded guilty and only one of the band of ten rounded up after the Gillman murder is standing out for a trial before a jury. He is Pellegrino Mucci, 18, of 239 Nassau Street. In passing sentence upon Lentino Judge Martin said:

"You were the inspiration of this gang, the big fellow among them, the one who could get the others to do his bidding. Well, you are trapped now in a condition where for a long time you will follow the hard commands of others. Moreover, notice can go out to others inclined to deeds similar to yours that when called before me for sentence they will get the limit punishment."

BONE-DRY PROPOSAL MUST WAIT IN CANADA

OTTAWA, March 28.—Prohibition advocates today called on Premier King to make all of Canada bone dry.

The Premier promised that the suggestion for a Dominion-wide measure to supplant Provincial liquor laws would receive careful consideration by the Cabinet, but said that no such measure would be introduced at the present session of the House of Commons.

Explaining that his Ministers had hardly had time to familiarize themselves with their problems, the Premier added that, for his own part, he did not favor prohibition in anything, although he favored temperance in everything. He assured the delegation which waited upon him that the Government would do everything in its power to foster the temperance movement and assist the Provinces to enforce the laws as they now stand.

In considering any measure to ban the manufacture, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors, the Premier indicated that a careful study would be made of how the experiment was working out in the United States.

The delegation was headed by J. B. Carson of Montreal, President of the Dominion Alliance of Canada, who referred to the liquor traffic as "an immense evil which must be dealt with in the most drastic way." Then he introduced Secretary Benjamin Spence, who told the Premier that the manufacture of liquor in Canada was on the increase. S. J. Carter of Montreal, President of the Quebec branch of the alliance, said that high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church had assured him that they were friendly to a Dominion prohibition law. Mrs. Asa Gordon, President of the W. C. T. U., said that the women of Canada had been asking for the measure for forty-seven years.

DAUGHERTY TO INVESTIGATE

But Inquiry Into Constitutional League Is Not Due to Anderson.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Some sort of investigation of the Constitutional League of America will be undertaken by the Department of Justice, Attorney General Daugherty said today.

The Attorney General in making his announcement said that the decision had in no way resulted from the charges and request for investigation recently made on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League of New York State by Superintendent Anderson.

Banton Praises New Judges.

Governor Miller's appointment of Assistant District Attorney Robert S. Johnstone and former Judge Morris Koenig as additional members of the Court of General Sessions yesterday was praised by District Attorney Joab H. Banton. The Governor signed the bill creating the two new Judges on Monday. They will serve until the end of the year. It was said they probably would be nominated by both the Republican and Democratic parties to succeed themselves.

BUILDING WAGE CUT OR TIE-UP PREDICTED

Labor Balks at Absence of Untermyer and Presence of Public Group.

Unless labor in the building trades accepts an early wage reduction and takes steps to make a new agreement with the employers, work on extensive commercial buildings will be curtailed, said Christian G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, yesterday at a meeting of the Public Group of representatives of civic and financial organizations. The meeting was in Room 252, Metropolitan Tower, and was held in an endeavor to bring together the contestants in the present wage dispute.

Mr. Norman declared that the attitude of the Building Trades Council was not constructive, and was bound to cause unemployment. His remarks were made after communications had been read from the Lockwood committee and the Building Trades Council. The latter organizations flatly refused to take part in the negotiations because of the conditions which would have barred from attendance Samuel Untermyer, counsel to the Lockwood committee.

To Defend on Public Group.

Mr. Norman asked the Public Group to ratify the statement of principles submitted to it by the employers and also to take up for consideration at the next meeting a wage schedule prepared by the employers. If the Public Group approves of the principles known as "the fourteen points," and also of the new wage schedule, Mr. Norman said, the matter would be submitted to the Board of Governors of the Building Association, after which the wages would be proclaimed as existing in this city. Yesterday's meeting adjourned nine dis.

In the meantime the employers will continue to pay present wages until the Board of Governors takes action at its next meeting.

Robert D. Kohn, Secretary of the Public Group, resented the intimation in the communication from the employes that the Lockwood committee more particularly represented the public interest.

"The council cannot tell us that we do not represent the public interest," he declared. "Twenty-five civic organizations are represented on the committee and we have a perfect right to interest ourselves in this situation and to represent the public."

Says Profits Are Exorbitant.

In its letter to Chairman Walter Stabler of the Public Group the Building Trades Council stated that the refusal of the Lockwood Committee to attend yesterday's meeting made it impossible for the council to be represented.

"If your committee will but for a moment consider the disclosures made by the Lockwood Committee," the letter continued, "showing the extent to which the skilled and unskilled labor represented by the unions in our council have been exploited by the employers and the exorbitant profits that the public has been made to pay over and above the wage received by the members of the unions, I think you will agree with us that there is a fundamental infirmity in the argument of the association that there shall be wage reductions that do not inure to the benefit either of the builders or contractors or of the public and that go directly into the pockets of the employers to add to the exorbitant profits they have already been taking out of labor."

When Mr. Norman was asked to present his views he said emphatically: "We will not enter into any agreement without the public sitting in on the conference and having a voice in it."

"All that labor can see," he said, "is that wages are at the war-time peak and the housing situation is at present such that it gives employment and they want to hold on to the very end." He then predicted unemployment because of the probable curtailment on commercial structures if a new wage agreement were not negotiated soon.

HERBERT RAWLINSON SUED FOR $200,000

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, was made defendant in a suit for damages of $200,000 filed in the Superior Court today by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark of New York, who charged Rawlinson had committed a statutory offense against her daughter, Dorothy Clark, two years ago.

Mrs. Clark and her daughter are now in New York, but their exact address was withheld by their attorney, J. K. Stickney, who said he had filed the action at the request of Mrs. Clark.

The alleged offense, according to the papers in the suit, was committed in New York in 1920 when the girl was 15 years old.

At that time, it was said, the girl had had a brief experience in motion picture work. More recently, Stickney stated, she had been on the legitimate stage in New York.

Father Dying, Boy Falls to Death.

With his mother seriously ill at home and his father dying in a hospital, James Geering, 9 years old, 1,190 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, while playing yesterday afternoon on the fire escape of his third floor rear of 238 Albany Avenue, back of his home, fell to the pavement below. He struck a clothesline at the second floor and he was suspended a few seconds until the rope broke. He was picked up unconscious by Albert Stevane, a salesman, of 262 Albany Avenue, and rushed to St. John's Hospital, where he died a few hours later.

COAL PEACE DERIDED BY UNION OFFICIAL

OPERATORS STILL HOPEFUL

S. D. Warriner Expects Miners to Be Back at Work Before Public Suffers.

Nothing but the acceptance of every one of the nineteen demands of the United Mine Workers by the coal operators will prevent the suspension of work by the 150,000 anthracite miners next Saturday, Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, Pa., Chairman of the miners' wage scale committee, announced yesterday, following reports that there was a possibility of the walkout being averted by a temporary understanding with the operators.

The operators, on the other hand, through their spokesman, S. D. Warriner of Philadelphia, President of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, expressed the hope that the miners would be back at work before the public experienced any serious shortage of hard coal. They said negotiations would proceed, with the object of completing an agreement as soon as possible.

"The attitude displayed by both parties to the wage conference," said Mr. Warringer, "shows a sincere desire to come to an agreement which will work towards a peaceful resumption of mining. I believe we have made real progress."

Miners Submit Living Data.

The miners' representatives in conference with the operators' scale sub-committee at the Union League Club, submitted data on the cost of living collected from business men and others in Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton and Shamokin, Pa., and other mining centres, showing that the main necessities of the miner have increased 25 per cent. since 1920.

"We have data to show," said Phil Murray, International Vice President of the United Mine Workers, "that the price of foodstuffs, rent, lighting, taxes and many other things have increased 2 per cent. Of course the price of some staple foods as sugar, flour and potatoes has been reduced some, but these reductions are offset by the increases on other foodstuffs.

"Clothing in the anthracite region has been raised very little in price. Rents have increased 60 per cent. and taxes 56 per cent."

The operators questioned the authencity of the figures. They will make a detailed reply later, probably next week.

Insists on "Check Off."

While the demand of the miners for the "check off" system of collecting union dues has not been considered at any length by the wage committee, Mr. Murray said that it would be insisted upon by the miners in the new agreement.

While expressing the desire of the miners to have the co-operation of the longshoremen and seamen during the strike, Mr. Murray said the miners had no fear that the walkout would be jeopardized by the importation of British coal.

Competition with bituminous coal, coke, oil and other fuel makes it necessary that the price of anthracite be reduced, Mr. Warriner said in discussing the situation with newspaper men after the conference session. He said lower wages would permit price reductions and competition would increase and miners would be assured steady work.

"It is a question of one or the other," said Mr. Warriner. "If the present wages were to go on and the prices stay up, the demand would shrink and the miners would find themselves working fewer days a year. We believe that in the future miners will be able to earn more money on a reduced wage scale than they would if the wage scale remained the same and prevented us from decreasing coal prices.

Deems Reduction Vital.

"Only by such a decrease can the normal consumption of anthracite be insured and the men provided with regular employment at the mines." The drop in the price of mine material, he added, did not amount to enough to cause any drop in the price of coal.

Asked regarding the operators' efforts to prevent a suspension, Mr. Warriner said they had pointed out the necessity of the mines operating, but could do nothing, as the miners' representatives already were instructed by the Shamokin, Pa., wage convention to bring about a walkout if no agreement should be reached.

Mr. Warriner said the operators supported their contention that "the costs of anthracite production today are far above the war-time peak," by pointing out that because the present wages were set by a Government commission there had been no deflation.

The statement of Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, that the hard coal companies had made huge profits and were being backed by big financial interests and Wall Street was declared by Mr. Warriner to be "far from a statement of fact." As an example of inaccuracy in Mr. Gompers statement, he referred to the assertion that the former railroad or "line" companies produced 96 per cent. of the anthracite output.

"The line companies," Mr. Warriner said, "produce between 65 and 70 per cent. of the output. They have been legally divorced from the railroads and sales agencies."

EXPECT CONFERENCE TO FAIL.

Illinois Miners and Operators Will Meet Today.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Illinois miners and coal operators will meet here tomorrow in a wage scale conference in conformity with their expiring contract. Neither side expects an agreement.

Frank Farrington, President of the district union, called the meeting to carry out his expressed intention of abiding by the present contract, but in view of the decision of the General Policy Committee of the mine workers not to sanction separate State wage agreements, operators today said they had no hope of averting the walkout.

Both Farrington and spokesmen for the operators said previous to the decision against separate agreements that the miners and employers in Illinois could get together if "outside interference" was removed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 28.—A committee of the Kanawha Coal Operators' Association was today drafting a new wage scale for presentation to the miners employed in this territory on Thursday.

PREDICTS NON-UNION AID.

Lewis Asserts All Classes of Miners Will Strike.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 28.—Non-union miners in both the anthracite and bituminous fields will join in large numbers with union miners in the coal strike on April 1, John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, predicted today in a statement issued at his home here.

"My reports, from all sections of the country, indicate that the organized mine workers and a great number of unorganized miners will cease work on April 1," Mr. Lewis said. "This will include the anthracite and bituminous fields and is indicative of wonderful unity of thought and steadfastness of purpose among the mine workers of the country."

CAR SHORTAGE RETURNS.

FAIRMONT, West Va., March 28.—A car shortage was felt in the Fairmont bituminous district today for the first time in many weeks, due to a sudden demand for prompt shipment of coal in anticipation of the strike called for Saturday. Cars ordered for the day were 1,016, of which number 879 were sent to the mines for loading. Similar conditions, coal authorities said, might be expected until the strike begins.

Miners and operators today were completing arrangements for the strike. The only public announcement was by Nick Acolo, Sub-District President of the United Mine Workers, who sent out a circular letter directing the miners to observe the law and to see that pumpers and other men necessary for the preservation of the mine property were provided.

COLORADO LAW INVOKED.

Miners Required to Give 30 Days' Strike Notice.

DENVER, March 28.—District Attorneys in Colorado counties where coal mines are located have been asked to start criminal proceedings against all miners in their counties who quit work April 1 without giving thirty days' notice of intention to do so, as required by a State law, according to William I. Reilly, a member of the State Industrial Commission.

He said the commission had sent letters to all District Attorneys requesting them to enforce the law requiring the giving of notice of intention to quit.

DAUGHERTY ASKS INQUIRY.

West Virginia Miners Tell of Eviction From Operators' Houses.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Attorney General Daugherty asked Secretary Davis today to send a representative of the Labor Department to Charleston, W. Va., to investigate reports of the ejection of miners from their homes by operators. Mr. Daugherty said he received a message today from Charleston, signed by ten union miners' officials, stating that miners were being ejected from their homes and asking that the Government provide them with tents for shelter.

Pacific Coast States. In the event of a prolonged coal strike, could obtain some relief from the navy's Chickaloon coal field in Alaska, it was said today at the Bureau of Mines. Although the field at present has an output of only about 250 tons a day, many times this amount has been stored by the navy, so that an initial shipment would amount to several thousand tons.

Ship transportation from Seward or Anchorage to the Atlantic, it was said, could be furnished by the Shipping Board, which has a number of lake-type vessels tied up on the Pacific Coast.

Consumers had approximately 52,500,000 tons of bituminous coal in storage on March 1, according to a statement issued jointly today by the Census Bureau and the Geological Survey. This was in addition to 5,160,000 tons on the upper lake docks and 674,000 tons held by producers at mines or intermediate points. Estimates based on the rate at which coal has been leaving the mines recently indicated a reserve of at least 63,000,000 tons by April 1, equal to the maximum reached at the end of the war. At the rate of consumption prevailing in January and February, it was said, the reserve on hand March 1 was sufficient to last forty-three days if evenly divided.

GIRL, LONG A CRIPPLE, TO BE CIRCUS RIDER

Fred Bradna and his wife Ella have been circus equestrian stars these many years, about twenty-five, to be exact, with Barnum & Bailey. Probably the happiest day of their circus experience came yesterday when they were joined by their 17-year-old daughter Helen, who arrived from Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine. Helen was crippled by infantile paralysis when she was 3 years old, and until two years ago it was thought she would be an invalid for life. Now her recovery is so complete that she plans to learn to ride a horse like her father and mother and will join the circus.

"I have Professor Bagymil Lange of Stuttgart to thank for my recovery," the girl said yesterday. "He is famous like Dr. Lorens and took me under his wing for two years. I, who had expected to spend my life in an invalid's chair, will presently—if they will employ me—be riding about the ring with my father and mother."

Last night Helen saw the circus for the first time. She had seen tiny one-ring traveling carousels which sometimes "made" Strasbourg, but she had never seen anything like "the greatest show on earth."

"It was wonderful," she exclaimed. "You do everything in such a big way here in America. You know that although my father and mother have been here many years this is my first visit. I'm going to master English first so that an American horse will understand me, and then I'm going to ride. Through association and because I have the very keen desire to be a performer, I think there will be little difficulty about arriving at the goal I intend to reach. Some day I, too, will be a wonderful rider."

Fred Bradna said he considered his daughter's recovery remarkable in that nearly every physician who attended her during her early years reported that she would be a cripple for life. Professor Lange, he said, was very patient and journeyed from Stuttgart to Strasbourg to see his patient. Bradna said his daughter's cure had taken $5,000 from his earnings.

"And that's a lot in French money," he added, "but it was more than worth it."

SEEK MEXICAN LANDS.

180 Americans Among 300 Foreigners Making Applications.

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—More than 300 foreigners, including 180 Americans, have requested permission to purchase Mexican properties under the terms laid down yesterday by the Foreign Office, says an announcement issued today.

The order of the Foreign Office is designed to facilitate property transfers by providing that applications shall be made direct to the Foreign Office, thus eliminating much red tape.

British Airplanes for Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—Twenty airplanes purchased from the British Government arrived here this morning on a special train. They will be assembled at a local plant.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR JERSEY TUNNEL

$19,331,723 BID ACCEPTED

Work to Begin About May 1 and Be Completed Within Thirty-Six Months.

TO SPEED SIGNING OF PAPERS

The contract for constructing the vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River was awarded yesterday to Booth & Flinn, Ltd., whose bid for driving the tunnel and sinking the shafts on the New Jersey shore is $19,331,723.50. The New York and New Jersey Tunnel Commission stated that work would begin about May 1 and that the tunnel probably would be ready yfor use within the thirty-six months specified in the contract. No date for the breaking of ground was set, but it was said that this detail would be attended to as soon as all the preliminary formalities had been completed.

Haste will be made to have the contract signed because of rumors that the price of steel may go up and that possibly labor may soon demand larger wages. The contracting firm will have five days in which to sign the contract and thirty days thereafter in which to begin work. The ordnances for the acquisition of certain streets in Jersey City needed for the tunnel plaza have not yet been approved by the Jersey City commission, but the committee appointed to discuss the matter with Mayor Hague has reported that the ordinances would be approved soon.

Clifford M. Holland, chief engineer of the commission, submitted a report which, showed that the comparative actual cost of the tunnel is only about 10 per cent. greater than of the tunnels contracted for in 1914 before the high prices which attended the war period. Part of the report reads:

"In detail, the average bid price for the vehicular tunnels for cast-iron lining is about precisely the same as the prices received for constructing the rapid transit tunnels. Cast iron in the case of the vehicular tunnels will be about 27 per cent. of the total cost, as compared with 30 per cent. in the case of the rapid transit tunnels.

"The estimated cost for excavation for the vehicular tunnels is about 44 per cent. of the total cost of the work, as compared with 50 per cent. in the case of the rapid transit tunnels. In this connection it is to be noted that the average unit cost for excavation for the vehicular tunnels is $21.30 per cubic yard in 1922, as compared with $20.40 per cubic yard for excavation for the rapid transit tunnels in 1914, or almost precisely the same."

Some idea of the magnitude of the work is shown by Mr. Holland's estimates of the quantities of materials that will be needed. Approximately 172,000 barrels of Portland cement will be required and 56,000 barrels of natural cement. To get this cement and ship it will require between 100 and 125 men a day. The average number of employes in the tunnel will be 600 men a day. It will take fifty every day for a year to get out and ship the sand, stone and gravel that will be needed, and hundreds of other men will have to be employed for long periods in fashioning the steel, cast-iron segments, cast iron pipe, waterpro

MUSIC

The Philadelphia Orchestra.

The Philadelphia Orchestra last evening presented a program of familiar orchestral works: the overture in Wagner's "Flying Dutchman"; Mendelssohn's "Scotch" symphony; Strauss's tone poem, "Tad and Verklarung." Mr. Hans Kindler, formerly the first 'cellist of the orchestra, was the soloist and played Eugen d'Albert's 'cello concerto.

Mr. Stokowski was in a vehement mood. The "Flying Dutchman" started it; the overture needs vehemence and got it. Then it was carried over into Mendelssohn's symphony and was manifest especially in the blowing of brass instruments. Mr. Stokowski has as beautiful a choir of brass players that it was a pity to make them sacrifice so much of their beauty of tone as they had to meet his requirements last evening.

It created something of a disturbance in Mendelssohn's symphony, though this is not quite so tame a piece as it is sometimes made to be. And then, in the adagio movement, when he wanted the brass to play softly Mr. Stokowski had them play at only points with stopped instruments—another pity, for the brass players command a most beautiful pianissimo with their instruments in their natural state. Dir Mendelssohn write for stopped trumpets in this movement? Did he even write for stopped trumpets?

Mr. Stokowski commendably met Mendelssohn's wishes in regard to this symphony by playing the four movements without interruption. He might have gone a little further and played the score as it is written. In other respects he gave an admirably finished, brilliant and rhythmically stirring performance of the symphony—a work which well deserves a hearing at not too frequent intervals.

Mr. Kindler played d'Albert's concerto while Mr. Van Vliet, a few blocks further downtown, was playing the same concerto with the Philharmonic Society; another instance of the failure of deep thought and anxious care on the part of conductors to avoid duplications of each other's schemes.

D'Albert's 'cello concerto is not one of the most frequently recurring items on the programs of symphony concerts. It was heard here twenty-one years ago; it seems now cloyingly sweet in its sentimentalities, to which the composer devoted most of his attention, apparently inserting now and again elaborate passage work such as is least fitting for the 'cello to deliver, not because it had anything to do with the case, but because he remembered that he was writing a concerto, and such things are necessary in concertos.

Mr. Kindler played the sweet melodies fervently, though his tone is not quite of the warmth and expressiveness that they cry for, and the elaborate passage work skillfully and fluently; an excellent performance that was much applauded.

AMATEURS BURN FUSES TRYING SQUIER SCHEME

Signal Corps Experts Tell How to Catch Broadcasting on Electric Light Circuit.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Ever since the recent announcement by Major Gen. Squier, Chief Signal Officer of the Army, that radio broadcasting could be diverted to the wires of an ordinary electric light current, the General's headquarters have been flooded with inquiries from ambitious amateurs as well as from manufacturers of radio apparatus.

It was learned today, however, that while the system has been amply demonstrated by the Signal Corps, it requires technical skill perhaps beyond that of the amateur. There are certain principles involved which demand acquaintance with electrical science, and the discovery is not ready for experimentation by the uninitiated.

All over the country amateurs seem to have been attempting to emulate the Squier achievement, with the result that hundreds of electric circuits have been burned out. Experts of the Signal Corps say there are two ways to avoid this. The first is to connect up only one wire from the aerial connection on the receiving apparatus to a terminal of the plug to be screwed into the wall socket. The second, which is more desirable, is to lead two wires from the wall plug and to "shunt" in across these a "fixed condenser" and then to lead one wire, preferably the "grounded" wire, to the aerial connection.

Up to date, the experiments conducted by the Signal Corps have been carried on only over a direct current. What the result would be on an alternating current is not known. Electrical experts at the Navy Department said the use of alternating current for transmission purposes might not be as satisfactory because a heavy humming sound might come in over the wire.

The employment of the electric current also involves the use of an added high voltage thrown in on the wire. It was understood, scientists said better results would be obtained if the wires were in a conduit instead of overhead, for with the overhead wires there might be a hum and also a radiation which would not be in the case with underground wires.

An interesting feature of the Squier development of a discovery he made ten years ago is that "static," that bugaboo of the wireless enthusiast, is completely eliminated when the messages are sent over the electric light current. There is no ethereal interference.

HAWAII WANTS RADIO NEWS.

Governor Urges Extension of Naval Facilities for the Press.

HONOLULU, T. H., March 28.—Governor W. R. Farrington has sent to Representative W. S. Greene, Chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, a plea for a five-year extension of the naval radio facilities in the Pacific for press messages at a low rate.

"This is a measure fraught with the greatest possible power for promoting peace and good-will as well as the development of the American merchant marine and commerce in the Pacific," declares the Governor. "The rates for news that can be granted by private cable and wireless companies are prohibitive, owing to the limited financial resources of Pacific newspapers. If such use of the naval radio is eliminated the present satisfactory news service will end and the service through privately owned companies will be so reduced in quantity owing to its cost, that the profit to the incomes of the private companies will be immaterial.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The facilities of the Naval Radio Service in the Pacific should be made available for the transmission of press dispatches, in the opinion of President Harding, it was learned today at the White House. The President, it was explained, understands that the problem involves the old question of the Government going in business, but he believes some method can be devised by which the radio can be made available to the press of the country without any undue interference with private enterprise.

The President appears to be convinced that Congress will find a way to extend the use of the naval radio, provided it is understood that the practice shall be discontinued when private interests have sufficiently developed their facilities to take care of the demands of the communications situation.

WOMEN'S PORTRAITS SHOWN

There opened at the Hotel Plaza with a private view yesterday afternoon an interesting exhibition of portraits by la Marquise de Fraysseix-Mazieres. They are portraits of women and studies of models, the greater number in the soft medium of the pastel, which is so gracefully effective in reproducing the flesh tones and the delicate gowns of women. One of the most serious and beautiful is that of la Marquise de Charette, who was Susanne Henning of Kentucky. There are Miss Helene Sullivan, daughter of James Francis Sullivan of Philadelphia; Miss Genevieve Glendenning and the portrait of Mrs. Stuyvesant Dudley, not yet finished, among others. A painting of a little peasant girl has received many honors in Paris.

The exhibition will continue through the week, from 11 A. M. to 1 P. M., and from 3 to 6 P. M.

'Samson and Delilah' Next Thursday

"Samson and Delilah" will be restored to the Metropolitan on Thursday evening of next week, with Martinelli, Julia Claussen, Whitehill and Rothier in leading rôles, and Hasselmans conducting. "Lohengrin" again, with tonight's cast, ushers in the last three weeks of the season next Monday. Other repetitions will be "The Barber" on Wednesday night, with Ottoin, Harrold and Ruffo; Thursday matinee, "Aida," Music, Gordon, Kingston, DeLuca, Mardones; Friday evening, "Madame Butterfly," Farrar, Gigli and Scotti; Saturday matinee, "Boheme," Bori and Martinelli, and Saturday night, April 8, "Andre Chenier," with Salazar as hero. Clara Butt, Lenora Sparkes, Harrold, Rothier and others sing at the opera concert next Sunday.

Frederic Dixon, Pianist, Pleases.

Frederic Dixon, pianist of long arms and nimble fingers, made himself welcome in a first matinee at the Town Hall yesterday, playing as he had in Chicago with frank homage to Joseffy and Bloomfield-Zeisler. He brought power and swiftness, if not all its tenderness, to MacDowell's "Keltic" sonata, adding works of Beethoven, Chopin, Rachmaninoff and Liszt.

Augusta Redyn Gives Song Recital.

Augusta Redyn, mezzo-soprano, gave a recital in Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon, assisted by Emily Miller at the piano. Her tasteful program neatly tabulated the poets with the composers' names, while her voice was easily forced to a vibrato for emotional stress. Her singing had a note of sincerity, however, and the erwas novelty in songs of Loeffler, Cyril Scott and Florence Grandland.

AMELIA BINGHAM'S WILL TESTIMONY READ

Testimony by Amelia Bingham, widow of Lloyd Bingham, who was the nephew of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Pegg, was read in the Surrogate's Court yesterday in the contest of Mrs. Pegg's will by heirs at law who contend that she was of unsound mind. Mrs. Pegg, who died in November, 1920, at the age of 87 years, leaving her $100,000 estate to four favorite nieces and a nephew, to the exclusion of fifty others, was born on the site of the W. K. Vanderbilt mansion.

Mrs. Bingham, who was questioned at her hotel because she was sick, said that Mrs. Peg was of sound mind until 1913, but then began to show signs of mental weakness, and that when Mrs. Bingham and her husband went abroad in 1915 in the Ford peace ship, on which trip her husband died, Mrs. Pegg did not know them. She said that later Mrs. Pegg did not recognize her own husband. Mrs. Bingham said that in her later years Mrs. Pegg had a mania for wearing too many clothes, being accustomed to putting on two or three dresses and a half dozen waists at once.

The trial will be continued today.

THE WEATHER.

The disturbance that was central over Kansas Monday night moved rapidly northeastward to the St. Lawrence Valley, where it was centred Tuesday night. Pressure was also low Tuesday night over the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions and there were three centres of depression, one over British Columbia, another over Northwestern Wyoming and the third over Western Colorado. Pressure remained high Tuesday off the South Atlantic Coast and it was high and rising over the upper lake region, the upper Mississippi and the Missouri Valleys and Manitoba.

This pressure distribution has been attended by rains over much of the country within the last twenty-four hours and by snow in Minnesota and the Lake Superior region. The temperature continued much above normal Tuesday in the Eastern and Southeastern States, while considerably colder weather overspread the northern lake region, the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri Valleys and the southern plains States. The temperature remained abnormally low in North Dakota, Montana and the Canadian Northwest.

The Factor Of Safety

In times like these the factor of safety is by far the most important consideration of every true investor. The promise of excessive profit does not appeal to him. His chief aim is to have his capital conserved and his interest punctually paid.

Our circular The Factor of Safety contains numerous suggestions for the investor whose first consideration is security.

Recovery in Stocks, Strength in Bonds Continues — Foreign Exchange Slightly Higher.

On the Stock Exchange, yesterday was marked by irregular recovery from the declines of the day before. A number of stocks advanced a point or more, but most of the day's changes were fractional. They merely showed, as the stock market has shown on several recent occasions, that under present conditions speculative "attacks" do not call forth the promiscuous selling by actual holders which such demonstrations used to cause a year ago. Whether we may not before very long be confronted with some unpleasant turn of events in the general news is a matter of pure conjecture; things have been moving smoothly for a pretty long consecutive period.

The German mark recovered yesterday; slightly if measured by numerical differences, very substantially if measured in the percentage of advance from Monday's 23/4 one-hundredths of a cent to yesterday's 31/4. Monday's extreme weakness found perhaps partial explanation in the cabled reports of the German Chancellor's announcement, that day, of his purpose to reject as unacceptable the Allies' quid pro quo in their proposed reduction of the burden of reparations. Experience of the past few years makes the outside world take the resultant situation less gravely than the Germans seem to take it—which perhaps explains the mark's recovery yesterday. Other European exchange rates also advanced, but the changes seemed to be only one oscillation of the purposeless swing of prices which is always apt to last for some time after a really important movement of values has been completed.

Exactly the same principle has lately been governing the purposeless fluctuation of grain and cotton prices. Whether prices of a given day have risen or fallen, the market is always able to explain the change from the facts of the grain or cotton situation; this notwithstanding that the facts are just the same on one day as on the other. After a while, when the new crop is being planted or is beginning to grow, and the old crop is showing what supplies are left to bridge over actual requirements until harvest, both of these markets will doubtless move to some purpose. Even now one occasionally hears an interesting estimate, though not often one so courageous as the Russian Commissary's forecast of the Russian grain crop, cabled yesterday from Moscow. The Russian harvest of 1922, as foreshadowed by this eminent authority, will be "about one-half the average before the war." Considering that Russia used then to raise 700,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels, that her people have neither seed to plant from the crop of 1921 nor railways to carry the crop, and considering also that the Commissaries estimated the 1921 crop at 528,000,000 bushels, one can only be reminded of the mountains of piled-up wheat which the Germans expected to find when they went into Southern Russia in 1918.

The curious irregularity with which the increase in railway earnings during February was distributed is shown by the fact that, of twenty-four of the more important roads which have thus far made their statements, the gross receipts of exactly one-half were larger than in February, 1921, and of the other half smaller. A compilation telegraphed from Washington, and covering sixty-one railways, makes their aggregate increase in gross earnings $3,052,000, or only 2¾ per cent. But the whole comparison is difficult. At least one railway company has apparently added to its actual earnings of February, 1921, the monthly proportion of certain large payments by the Government on old accounts; which made last month's earnings show a decrease, instead of the increase which occurred in the actual February trade. Again, car loadings could foreshadow only freight earnings, and here comes Union Pacific, whose classified statement shows the month's freight revenue to have increased $709,-963 or nearly 8 per cent., while its passenger revenue decreased $641,465 or 23½ per cent. The only clear facts in the matter are that last month's railway gross revenue in the face of somewhat lower rates has made the first increase since April, 1921, and that the car-loading figures indicate a substantially larger increase during March.

MONEY.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 1922.

Money on call on Stock Exchange was easy at 4½ per cent. all day. A few outside loans were also reported at the same figure. Time money market is quiet, with demand light, two to four months' money offered and loaning at 4½ per cent., five and six months' funds 4½ bid, offered at 4¾. Renewals are arranged at both rates. Mercantile paper market is firm, prime name paper discounting unchanged at 4½, with less well known at 4¾. There is no change in rates for prime eligible acceptances, though call loan rate dropped ¼ to 3½ per cent.

BARNSDALL CONFIRMS BAKU OIL NEGOTIATIONS

Negotiations for the exclusive rights to drill for oil in the Baku fields and to join with the Russian Government in the marketing of all products of the Trans-Caucasian countries, on a mutually beneficial arrangement, are under way between executives of the International Barnsdall Corporation, a subsidiary of the Barnsdall Corporation, and officials of the Soviet Government. Robert Law Jr., President of the Barnsdall Corporation, confirmed the report of the negotiations yesterday. Henry Mason Day is in Europe completing the negotiations, and it is expected that an early decision will be reached.

A preliminary excursion into the Russian oil fields was made by Mr. Day in October, 1921. He returned with various definite concessions signed by Rabinowitch, the authorized trade representative of the Trans-Caucasian States of Soviet Russia. On his return, the Barnsdall Corporation became interested in the project, and the International Barnsdall Corporation was formed, Mr. Day owning a 25 per cent. interest and the Barnsdall Corporation the balance.

The tentative negotiations, officials of the company say, call for developments to be made by the International Barnsdall Corporation, mainly confined to the drilling of new wells, in return for which the exclusive oil development rights in the Baku fields are to be given.

Mohawk Mining Profit $270,272.

54,000 STANDARD OIL SHARES ARE OFFERED

Blair & Co., Inc., Will Dispose of Kentucky Corporation's New Issue at $76.

Blair & Co., Inc., have acquired a block of 54,000 shares of the capital stock of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky of the par value of $25 each, subscriptions for which will be received, on a "when issued" basis, at $76 per share. C. T. Collings, Chairman of the board, has written a letter about the financial affairs of the corporation to the bankers in part as follows:

"The company's net profits for the year 1921, after all deductions, including Federal taxes, amounted to $2,717,592, which exceeds the average for the previous four years, being the largest of any during the last five years, except-ing 1920. The company is well supplied with working capital, which increased from $4,806,000 on Dec. 31, 1916, to $6,-941,000 at the end of the last fiscal year, and this latter amount is to be further increased by the proposed issue of $2,-000,000 additional stock.

"In addition to the regular cash dividends of 12 per cent. per annum, the company has made substantial distributions to its stockholders in the form of stock dividends, one of 200 per cent. being paid in 1916, and one of 100 per cent. in 1917. Following the stockholders' meeting to be held on April 3, 1922, it is planned to issue a 33 1-3 per cent. stock dividend and make an offer of stock at par to the existing stockholders equal to 33 1-3 per cent. of their present holdings."

Orders 250,000 Motors for Starrs.

The Durant Motors, Inc., has placed an order for 250,000 motors with the Continental Motors Corporation, for use in the new Starr car which is being produced by W. C. Durant.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Recovery in Prices.

Following the reaction in prices on Monday, due to professional attacks, the stock market yesterday made a fair recovery from the previous day's closing. It was stated in some quarters that the reaction had brought some new buying into the market, but prevalent opinion ascribed the advance to covering operations by the speculators who had been operating for a decline. The feeling in the Street regarding the immediate course of prices continued mixed at the closing yesterday. It is generally assumed that the strike of coal miners scheduled for Saturday cannot be averted and that bear operators will attempt to make further capital out of this development before the close of the week. Gains of 1 to 2 points or more were numerous yesterday, with stocks like Sears Roebuck, Lima Locomotive, Barnsdall, Consolidated Gas, American Locomotive, Electric Storage Battery, International Harvester, Realty and Improvement and Mexican Petroleum the most active.

The Market for Liberty Bonds.

While the majority of active investment bonds, home and foreign, continued to sell yesterday at or around their high record prices, the most interesting movement of the bond market was in Liberty bonds, practically all of which advanced again; the third and fourth 4¼s going to new high records. At yesterday's high price the fourth 4¼s, of which more are afloat in investors' hands than of any two other war loans combined, sold at 98.58, as against 98.42 the day before, 98.24 a week ago and a high record price of 98.10 in all their open market history up to last December. In May, 1920, these bonds sold at 82, showing the respectable advance of 20 per cent. in value during less than two years. It is believed that these bonds have been bought freely by the Treasury for the sinking fund, as they can still be obtained at a substantial discount from the par price at which they will have to be redeemed in 1938.

New Haven Again a Feature.

An incident in the late trading yesterday was the buying of New Haven stock, which forced the stock up to 21, a new high record for the current year and the highest at which the stock has sold since the early part of last year. The high record for 1922 previous to yesterday was 20½; it sold at 12¾ in January. The rise has been based upon a reported improvement in earnings, it being calculated that income for the first two months of the year was at the rate of more than $4 a share on the stock. The movement yesterday, however, arose from a report that announcement will be made before the end of the week that the refunding of the $27,-552,163 4 per cent. debentures which fall due on Saturday has been satisfactorily arranged. The company's plan was a payment of 10 per cent. in cash on condition that the remaining 90 per cent. be extended for three years, with the interest rate increased to 7 per cent. annually.

Allied Chemical Sells Off.

Allied Chemical, after selling in the early dealings up to 65, the high record for the year to date, sold off shortly after noon when the announcement was made that the Directors declared only the regular dividend of $1 quarterly. The stock broke to 62¾ and closed at 63¾, a loss of 1¾ net for the day. Operators in the stock bid the shares up on the report that the dividend would probably be increased from $1 to $1.50 quarterly, thereby placing the shares on a $6 annual basis. Reports are now in circulation that the company will soon issue its annual report, which is expected to show up favorably.

Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies Loans.

Formal announcement was made yesterday by the Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies Steamship Company that its bank loans, approximating $1,320,000, which fall due and are payable on April 1 have been extended to Oct. 1. Six banking institutions are interested in the loans and it was announced by the corporation that all six of the banks have agreed to the extension.

February Railroad Earnings.

If the combined showings of sixty-one carriers for February may be taken as an index the conclusion is immediately reached that the earning power of the railroads is showing marked improvement. According to reports issued yesterday the sixty-one Class 1 railroads have a net operating income of $15,-671,183, while in February, 1921, the same sixty-one companies reported a deficit of $573,051. These roads represent one-fifth of the total mileage of the country, but it would be dangerous to project any general conclusion based on this fact, because of the vacillating manner in which the recent statements are showing up. Yesterday's report shows that the Eastern and Western lines lost money in February, while the seven Southern roads earned $460,270. In the Eastern district thirty-nine roads reported showing total operating revenues, in spite of the rate reductions, of 3.9 per cent. in excess of the corresponding total for last February. The operating expenses, however, dropped 13.6 per cent.

Rotterdam Bank Shares on the Curb.

Trading was inaugurated on the New York Curb Market yesterday in the shares of the Rotterdamsche Bankvereeniging, a block of which was recently sold in the New York market. The shares are of 500 guilders ($80.40) and were traded in yesterday at 84 per share. Dividends for the year have not yet been declared by the bank, but during the last eleven years they have ranged from 8 per cent. to 12 per cent. It is expected that the full year's dividend will be declared in April and paid in May.

Rounding Out the Market.

Another step forward in making New York an international market was taken yesterday by the Stock Exchange, in the announcement that the Stock Clearing Corporation will clear the foreign Government bonds beginning with contracts due Friday, March 31. Heretofore the only bonds which have been cleared were the Liberty and Victory issues. The growing importance of the foreign government list and the great activity in them in recent weeks is back of the decision of the Exchange authorities to provide clearing privileges for the bonds.

New Inquiries for Foreign Loans.

Many countries which never before have been in the American money market are shopping around here, to see what they can do in the way of loans. Practically all of the recent loans made to independent countries have been considered in New York as well as in London, and competition is extremely keen at the moment for new business, in view of the manner in which new issues are being snapped up in both markets. The latest country to put out feelers in Wall Street and Lombard Street at the same time is Spain, whose officials would like to arrange a $50,000,000 twenty to twenty-five year loan, at an outside figure of 7½ per cent. yield.

NEW YORK

$11.51 a Share Made, in Spite of Heavy Loss in Revenues Due to Depression.

The annual report of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for 1921 shows gross earnings of $196,021,854, and total income, after the deduction of taxes and charges, of $33,169,867. This is equivalent to $11.51 a share earned on the $260,000,000 common stock, as compared with a total income of $32,844,083 for 1920, or $11.39 a share earned on the common stock.

"The working expenses for the year, including all taxes, amounted to 82.28 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 17.72 per cent., as compared with 84.70 per cent. and 15.30 per cent., respectively in 1920.

"The gross earnings of your transportation system during the fiscal year under review were less than those in 1920 by $23,619,494, but the net earnings increased by $1,048,693. The large decrease in the gross earnings is attributed to the general business depression which set in at the end of 1920 and continued practically without interruption during the fiscal year under review, to the decrease in passenger fares in January and July and in freight rates in December, and to a partial crop failure in some portions of Western Canada in areas served by your lines of railway. Of the expenses of the year, 53.84 per cent. was disbursed on account of labor, 25.92 per cent. for material and miscellaneous supplies, 15.51 per cent. for fuel and other locomotive supplies and 3.49 per cent. for taxes. The balance, 1.24 per cent., was necessary to meet loss and damage claims.

"By the exercise of the strictest economy and the deferring of work which could be postponed, especially during the early part of the year, when traffic was particularly light, and by the savings effected through the reduction in wages secured in September, your officers were able to reduce expenses to an amount in excess of the decrease in gross revenues due to the conditions already mentioned.

"The sales of agricultural land in the year were 155,304 acres, for $2,872,999, being an average of $18.74 per acre. The sales of land in Western Canada were naturally very seriously affected by the economic conditions, resulting in a very large decrease. Your Directors are satisfied that with the adoption of reasonable immigration laws, designed to encourage the entry into Canada of immigrants of the right type, you may look forward to a distinct improvement in the volume of land sales during the next few years."

CALL NEW HAVEN MEETING.

Stockholders to Pass On $27,000,000 Loan on April 19.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 28.—A call for the stockholders' meeting of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for April 19 in this city went out today. The $27,000,000 European loan matter will be taken up, and the question will be on the acceptance of an extension of time in its maturity date.

There will also be the question of acceptance of the equipment agreement with the Federal Railroad Administration as amended under date of Jan. 22, 1922; the approval of a lease to the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway Company of that portion of this company's right of way between Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Larchmont, N. Y., on which the railway company's tracks are now constructed and operated.

There will be propositions to issue bonds for additions and betterments, and to approve issues and other evidences of indebtedness of the last year.

Shows Net Profits of $2,675,545.

The annual report of the Computing-Tabulating-Recording Company for 1921 shows net profits of $2,675,545. After deductions for depreciation, development expenses and interest charges there remained a balance of $1,046,514. The surplus, after payment of $524,084 for dividends, totaled $522,430.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

After initial dealings in yesterday's European exchanges reflected a measure of the weakness in London, most rates starting under Monday's finals, the market turned about sharply on a covering movement which showed substantial advances at the close.

Sterling moved over a range of two cents, starting at $4.35⅛ and getting up to $4.37⅛ at the close, while French, Italian, German, the Scandinavians and Holland remittances all moved higher. Far Easterns and South Americans were firm, with Canadian at 97.7 cents against 96.9 on Monday.

In the subjoined table the quotation on sterling represents dollars and decimals of a dollar; all others represent cents and decimals of a cent. Quotations preceded by the decimal mark indicate a price measured in fractions of a cent.

*Of total $3,500,000 5% Bonds originally issued $1,000,000 have been retired by the Sinking Fund, and $79,000 are in the Company's treasury. With the present issue of $4,000,000 6% Bonds the total $7,500,000 authorized bonds have been issued, and the Mortgage is closed.

BUSINESS: La Belle Iron Works, incorporated in 1875, founded in 1852, manufactures pig iron, steel slabs, billets, plates, sheets, tubes and other finished steel products. The main plant at Steubenville, Ohio, occupies 126 acres. On the West Virginia side of the Ohio River connected with the Steubenville plant by the Company's own steel bridge, it has an additional 593 acres, on part of which is its by-product coke plant. The Company's management and quality of output are of high standing and reputation.

SECURITY: First Mortgage, now closed, on substantially all fixed property, including real estate, plants and equipment, of the Company, now owned or hereafter acquired by proceeds of Bonds of this issue. Present fixed property, after deducting all depreciation reserves, are valued at $25,726,327.

ASSETS: Total net assets, after deducting all liabilities other than funded debt, $35,621,251, or more than 5½ times the $6,421,000 total funded debt including this issue. Net current assets alone $11,656,271.

EARNINGS: Net earnings for the last 17½ years have averaged $2,513,881, or approximately 7 times the $361,050 interest requirement on the Company's entire funded debt including this issue. Net earnings for the last 10½ years have averaged $3,127,267, or approximately 8⅔ times, and for the last 5 years $4,854,147, or 13½ times this total interest requirement.

In 1921, a year requiring exceptional price readjustments together with generally reduced business in the steel industry, and the only year the Company has shown a loss in the last 17½ years, there was a net loss of $1,062,821 before interest, but after deducting all depreciation and all idle plant expense for the year.

FINANCIAL CONDITION: Total current assets upon completion of this financing amount to $12,787,314, or more than 11 times total current liabilities of $1,131,043. The Company will then have no floating debt. Current assets include $3,344,346 cash.

SINKING FUND: Annual sinking fund, for the purchase or call and retirement of Bonds, has retired $1,000,000 Bonds since 1915, and is to retire before maturity at least 66⅔% of total Bonds issued.

OWNERSHIP: La Belle Iron Works is one of the important constituent companies of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, which owns 99.1% of its entire capital stock. The Wheeling Steel Corporation has outstanding preferred and common stocks having an indicated market valuation at current quotations in excess of $45,000,000.

RAILWAY CONDITIONS FAR FROM UNIFORM

EARNINGS BIGGER, AS A RULE

Several Eastern Lines Show Gains in Gross, With Decrease in Western Carriers.

The February railroad earnings statements which were issued yesterday failed to indicate any definite trend as to traffic conditions in various parts of the country. As compared with February, 1921, gross earnings, on the whole, indicated an increase, but the wide variance of the reports prevented officials from making any approximation as to what the month might show in its entirety.

The Union Pacific reported net operating income of $1,834,729 for last month, an increase of 183.4 per cent., or $1,187,142, as compared with the net of February, 1921. Gross revenues increased from $12,800,222 a year ago to $13,853,195 this year, but while the company gained $709,963, or 7.9 per cent., in freight revenues it lost $641,465, or 23.6 per cent., in passenger revenues. Operating expenses for February, 1922, amounted to $9,704,092, a decrease of $1,071,580 from a year ago, the greatest savings being in transportation expenses, maintenance of way and structures and maintenance of equipment. The operating ratio of revenues over expenses for the month was 75.50 per cent., and for the first two months this year 77.32 per cent. This represents a decrease of 10.88 per cent., as compared with the first two months of 1921.

The Rock Island lines reported gross of $3,970,129 for February, a decrease of $962,971, as against February, 1921. After taxes and charges the company showed a deficit amounting to $306,867, a decrease of $211,883, as compared with the deficit of $518,750, which the road reported for February, 1921. For the first two months this year the Rock Island reported a deficit, after charges, of $1,271,934, as compared with a deficit of $1,716,396 for the corresponding period of 1921.

The Philadelphia & Reading, in its February, 1922, report, showed gross of $4,022,568, an increase of $330,112 over the preceding year. Net operating income stood at $1,641,367, an increase of $1,630,125, as compared with February, 1921. The Long Island showed an increase of $142,330 in gross over last year, putting the total for February, 1922, at $1,863,172. Net operating income was $131,555 for the month, an increase of $209,105, as against a year ago. The Lake Erie & Western and the Boston & Maine also showed increases in both gross and net earnings.

MIDCO-MEXICO CO. FAILS.

Petitioners in Bankruptcy Set Up $621,723 Claims.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the Federal court against the Midco-Mexico Company, a Mexican oil company, the petitioning creditors setting up claims of $621,723. The corporation has no offices in this country, according to the petition, which was filed by John S. Sickels of 51 East Forty-second Street, attorney for the creditors.

The petition states that the Atlantic Refining Company is a creditor in the sum of $125,492 for goods sold and delivered; Edward L. Shea is a creditor for $421,231, while Alexander R. Hillyard presents a claim for $75,000, the latter due on a note of the Midco Petroleum Company to the alleged bankrupt, assigned to the Irving National Bank and by the bank to Mr. Hillyard.

TAKE OVER OIL CO.

Standard Officials Control Latin-American Concern.

Officials of the Standard Oil Company of California are now in control of the Latin-American Petroleum Company, the controlling interest in which was some time ago taken over from the Transcontinental Oil Company. K. R. Kingsbury, President of the Standard Oil Company of California, recently was elected President of the Latin-American Company, and M. M. Storey and W. H. Berg, also of the California company, were elected Vice Presidents. These two, with F. H. Hillman, also of the Standard of California, were elected Directors. M. L. Benedum, Chairman of the Transcontinental Company, was re-elected a Director.

The Latin-American Company will develop the South American properties of the Transcontinental, an operating office having been established in Baranquilla, Colombia. Arrangements have been completed to drill some of the property during the Summer.

Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Co.

Reyno Truslin, Esq., President of the Company, has briefly summarized his letter of March 28, 1922, as follows:

Property and Business: Manati Sugar Company is one of the largest and best equipped sugar plantations in Cuba. It produces sugar as cheaply as any mill on the island. The property is located in the eastern end of the Island of Cuba, and includes 276,060 acres of land of which 207,027 are owned outright, or held under contract of purchase on which there remains due only $926,000; also a sugar mill having a capacity of 700,000 bags per annum upon completion of certain improvements now under way, warehouses, a community of 10,000 persons, a deep water harbor on the north coast, a network of 130 miles of narrow gauge railways and 33 miles of standard gauge railroad (Tunas Railroad) which connects the Cuba Railroad with the company's mill.

Security: These bonds will be a direct closed First Mortgage on all the fixed property owned by the Company and on its interest in lands held under contract and a First Lien on the Tunas Railroad through pledge of all its stock. The Honolulu Iron Works, regarded as among the foremost sugar engineers, has made a physical valuation of the Company's plant, as of January 1, 1922, and A. R. McLane, Esq., a recognized authority on sugar lands, has made a valuation of the lands, as of March 9, 1922. These appraisals are summarized below, and the net working capital, as of February 28, 1922, is certified by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell & Company, Certified Public Accountants.

Tunas Railroad—Cost	2,083,000
Total Fixed Assets	16,338,000
TOTAL NET ASSETS SECURING THIS ISSUE	$21,033,000

Earnings: The net income of the company available for interest, depreciation, and income and profits taxes, for the eight years since beginning operations in 1913, including the first two years when the mills were not in full operation and the year 1921, a period of demoralization in the sugar industry, has averaged $1,825,761 per annum, equal to over 3 times the maximum interest charges of $606,000 on these bonds.

Sinking Fund: As a Sinking Fund the Company will pay to the Trustee in semi-annual payments, beginning 1924 and continuing through 1941, a sum sufficient to retire $335,000 par value of bonds annually through purchases in the market up to the prevailing call price, and so far as not so purchasable through call by lot. These payments are sufficient to retire 75% of the issue by maturity. All bonds so purchased or redeemed will be cancelled by the Trustee.

Dividends: The Company has regularly paid cash dividends on its Preferred Stock at the rate of 7% per annum since January 1, 1915, and on its Common Stock at the rate of 10% per annum from December 1, 1916, until the summer of 1921, when, owing to above mentioned conditions in the sugar industry, common dividends were discontinued. Exclusive of earnings, $8,270,400 has gone into the treasury of the Company through cash subscriptions to Preferred and Common stock and conversion of bonds into Common Stock.

These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to prior sale, to their authorization by the stockholders and to the approval of Messrs. Cravath, Henderson, Leffingwell & de Gersdorff, counsel for the Bankers, and Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, counsel for the Company. Interim Certificates of Central Union Trust Company of New York will be delivered in the first instance.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

First Mortgage 7% Serial Gold Bonds

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100 (latter in 1934 maturity only), registrable as to principal only. Redeemable on any interest payment date upon 30 days' published notice (as a whole or by series of one or more of the maturities 1924 to 1933, and the 1934 maturity in lots of not less than $1,000,000), at 105 and accrued interest for the 1934 maturity and for the other maturities at 100 and accrued interest, plus a premium of ½% for each full year of unexpired life. Interest payable without deduction for Federal Income Tax, now or hereafter deductible at the source, not in excess of 2%. Mercantile Trust Company, St. Louis, Trustee.

The Mengel Company is the largest producer of shipping boxes in the United States, and its products are sold to such consumers as the American Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, P. Lorillard Company, Procter and Gamble, Colgate and Company and many others.

These bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are secured by a direct first mortgage lien upon real estate, plants and other fixed assets of the Company except timber lands now owned or which may hereafter be acquired. The real estate, plants and other fixed assets upon which these Bonds are secured by a first mortgage lien have a sound value, as appraised by independent appraisers, in excess of $7,000,000. The aggregate value of all real estate, plants, equipment, timber and timber land owned by the Company is in excess of $9,000,000.

The Company's balance sheet of December 31, 1921, after giving effect to the proceeds of the present financing, shows total assets in excess of $17,000,000, net tangible assets available for these Bonds of $15,824,312 and net current assets of $5,620,424.

During the six year period ending December 31, 1921, net profits before deducting Federal Income Taxes and inventory write-offs, as reported by independent accountants, have averaged $1,247,312.76 annually and after deducting inventory write-offs have averaged $876,409.28. Federal Taxes during this six year period have averaged $183,198.05 annually. The maximum annual interest on the Company's first mortgage bonds is $350,000.

BRITISH BANKER ASKS UNITY IN FAR EAST

PRAISES THE CONSORTIUM

Tells Luncheon Gathering Time Has Come to Deal with Autonomous Provinces.

Sir Charles Addis, K. C. M. G., Chairman of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, Director of the Bank of England and head of the British group of the Chinese consortium, told a group of American bankers at a luncheon given him by Thomas W. Lamont yesterday that it appeared to him unreasonable to hold up the development of communications in China while the Government was engaged, it might be for a generation, in evolving a new political system.

"In my judgment," said Sir Charles, "the time has come for the consortium to consider the practicability of negotiating independently with an autonomous province, or group of provinces, for the construction of specific railway undertakings within their respective borders."

The banker, who has just returned from China, spoke to some thirty leaders in the financial district at noon at the Downtown Club. Guests of Mr. Lamont, in addition to Sir Charles, were John Jay Abbott, James S. Alexander, Frederic W. Allen, A. M. Anderson, William L. Benedict, R.M. Byrnes, Lewis L. Clarke, Thomas Cochran, George W. Davison, Moreau Delano, Martin Egan, H. T. S. Green, Charles Hayden, J. A. Jeffrey, Otto H. Kahn, H. Kashiwagi, Alvin W. Krech, Gates W. McGarrah, William C. Potter, Seward Prosser, Arthur Reynolds, Jackson E. Reynolds, Walter T. Rosen, Albert Strauss, Benjamin Strong, Elisha Walker and N. Dean Jay.

"I am returning from China more profoundly impressed than ever before with the infinite possibilities for good or evil, for war or peace, which lie in the proper handling of the Far Eastern problem by the powers concerned," said the speaker. "What is that problem? It is the unification of China by the establishment of a strong and independent central government. Upon that we all agree. What, then, stands in the way?"

People Not at Fault.

Sir Charles then explained that it was not the people of China that were at fault; that they would welcome the reunion of their country; but that it was the sway of the Military Governors, so-called Tuchuns, who by unscrupulous and ruthless methods had usurped the power of the National Government. Sir Charles expressed himself, however, as confident that this unlawful régime would gradually come to an end. Said he:

"The process may be slow and tedious, and I can understand the impatience of those who would like to accelerate it by placing China under the tutelage of the foreign powers. I can understand that policy, but I am convinced it is a chimera. In the last resort, foreign intervention implies the sanction of force, and the employment of international force to coerce China is not a practical policy. China must work out her own salvation."

The speaker praised the consortium for checking corrupt Government expenditure and in encouraging the syndicate of native bankers to co-operate in the issue of silver loans. Referring to what the consortium had done for Europe and America, he said:

"There is no more urgent task, none more fraught with consequence of good or evil for the peace of the world, I might even say for the future of civilization, as we understand it, than to discover and disclose the essential unity underlying the diversity of national interests and to unite them in a common aim, a common policy, for the Far East. I claim that in this, its primary and most important objective, the consortium has achieved complete success.

Consortium Preserves Peace.

"There is nothing except the consortium which stands between China and the resumption of spheres of interest, and no one who recalls the international rivalries and jealousies which marked the period known as the Battle of Concessions, with all its aftermath of territorial aggression and international wrongdoing, will consider almost any sacrifice too great to avert the renewal of such a calamity to China, such a menace to the peace of the world. The consortium has justified itself and will continue to justify itself so long as we stand firm and stand together. Never were its claims to your consideration and support more insistent, more clamant, than they are today."

"The Young China party have been encouraged, moderately encouraged, by the decisions of the recent conference at Washington. I say moderately, because I suppose no one yet emerged from a conference, not even a consortium conference, with all the expectations with which he entered it fulfilled. No doubt its final results must await the verdict of history. But I should judge, from the conversations I had with returned delegates in China and Japan and from the variety of opinions expressed, that it was considered that upon the whole honors had been pretty evenly divided. If that is so, then I think the delegates may be congratulated on having achieved the highest result of which such a conference is capable. I hope I may be allowed to offer my humble tribute of respect and admiration for the American statesmen who, relying on the free and generous impulse of the American people, had the faith and courage, the heart to conceive and the brain to carry out, this high enterprise in the cause of international peace.

"Incidentally, the Washington conference has set the seal of international approval on the policy of the consortium and the principle on which it is based. Our view has long been that the centre of international politics was shifting from the West to the East, and that the solution of the Far Eastern problems was to be sought in the substitution of international co-operation for international competition in Chinese affairs."

NATIONAL LEATHER REPORT.

The National Leather Company, for 1921, reports net earnings after payment of preferred dividends of $197,161. The profit and loss surplus at the close of the year amounted to $1,458,952. Inventory was carried in the balance sheet at $15,766,770.

George H. Swift, President of the company, said that it was the policy of the company gradually to reduce inventory, "basing manufacturing operations to a very large extent on our ability to achieve this reduction." The plants were operated at about 50 per cent. of capacity last year.

HOMESTAKE CO. GAINS.

Mining Profits of $488,187 Are Reported.

The Homestake Mining Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, reports net income, after charges, taxes, depreciation and depletion, of $488,187, equal to $1.92 a share on the $25,116,000 capital stock outstanding at the close of last year. Gross revenues amounted to $6,328,269.

After payment of $502,320 for dividends last year, there was reported a deficit of $14,133. The reserve for depreciation and depletion at the end of the year amounted to $6,123,101, against $4,863,040 at the end of 1920.

BANK TO COMPOUND INTEREST MONTHLY

Announcement was made yesterday by John J. Pulleyn, President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, one of the largest of its kind in the country, that the bank would put into effect on July 1 a new system of computing interest on deposits whereby the interest will be compounded from month to month, instead of semi-annually.

Details have not been fully worked out, for the change involves a complete reorganization of the bank's computation department. It is expected, however, that by the terms of the new banking rules interest will be allowed on a deposit from the end of the month in which it is made to the first of the month in which it is withdrawn.

"We want to offer every incentive to the depositor to deposit his funds when he has them, rather than to await the opportunity which the present system brings at intervals," said Mr. Pulleyn. "We want to be of greater service to the depositor, and we believe that this plan of monthly balances will increase our service to him."

It is reported that several of the other large savings institutions have similar plans under consideration. Under the present system the savings banks accept deposits for the first ten days of any quarter, to draw interest from the first day of that quarter. Deposits made on the eleventh day will not draw interest until the first day of the following quarter, meaning that the depositor often loses about ten weeks' interest.

GENERAL MOTORS GAINING.

Cash Position Is Improved and Sales Outlook Is Bright.

Pierre S. du Pont, President of the General Motors Corporation, issued the following statement yesterday regarding the position of the company, and the outlook for Spring and Summer business:

"The position of the corporation is very satisfactory in us. Bank loans, which now stand at $41,140,000 have been reduced $7,800,000 since the beginning of the year, and cash which now stands at $37,000,000 decreased only $3,000,000, making a net improvement in cash position of $4,800,000.

"While it may be several weeks before final figures of sales of motor cars for the first quarter of 1922 will be available, the preliminary figures are most encouraging. Sales for January were 16,080; February 20,664, and sales for March will be approximately 30,000, a total of 66,000. This compares with 58,488 cars in the previous quarter, and, further, with 30,025 for the first quarter of last year.

"All divisions of the corporation are enjoying a substantial increase in business, and reports from our distributers and dealers indicate a strong retail demand for our product this Spring and Summer."

Jacksonville, the county seat of Duval County, is the most important commercial and financial city in Florida, and the natural jobbing and distributing centre for the surrounding territory. The growth and development of this entire section has materially increased the business and wealth of the city. It is the second largest port of entry on the Atlantic Coast south of Baltimore, being served by numerous ship lines connecting with New York, Boston, and all the important points on the Atlantic Seaboard. Besides its water facilities, Jacksonville also has direct connection by rail with all the large Eastern cities, the Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Southern, Florida East Coast, and a few local railroads having terminal facilities within the city.

The city is in excellent financial condition, its property such as waterworks, electric plant, municipal docks and terminals, etc., being valued at about $8,900,000. The net earnings for 1921 of the water and electric plants amounted to $572,643, or more than twice the annual interest charges on the bonded indebtedness of the city as of December 1, 1921.

These bonds issued for various municipal improvements are direct obligations of the entire city, payable principal and interest from an unlimited tax on all the taxable property therein.

Having sold a large part of these Bonds, the balance are offered strictly subject to supply and advance in price.

Fifteen-Year 5½% Gold Bonds

Due May 1, 1937

Interest payable May 1 and November 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500 each with privilege of registration as to principal and exchangeable for bonds registered as to both principal and interest which in turn may be exchanged for coupon bonds.

Redeemable at the option of the Company, as a whole, but not in part, on May 1, 1932, at 105% and accrued interest or on any subsequent interest date at 105% and accrued interest less ½% for each six months from May 1, 1932, to the redemption date, upon sixty days' notice.

W. H. Williams, Esq., Vice-President of The Delaware & Hudson Company, in a letter dated March 27, 1922, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned, writes in part as follows:

"The purpose of the issue is to provide the Company with funds to pay at maturity its First Lien Equipment 4½% Fifteen-Year Gold Bonds which are outstanding in the principal amount of $6,024,000 and which mature on July 1, 1922, and for other corporate requirements.

"The Bonds are to be dated May 1, 1922, are to mature May 1, 1937, and are to bear interest at the rate of 5½% per annum, from May 1, 1922, payable semi-annually on each November 1st and May 1st thereafter, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. They are to be issued under a Trust Indenture with United States Mortgage and Trust Company, as Trustee, to be dated May 1, 1922. Principal and interest of the Bonds are to be payable in gold coin of the United States of America, of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, and without deduction for any tax, assessment or governmental charge (except federal income taxes) which the Company or the Trustee may be required to pay, or to retain or deduct therefrom, under any present or future law of the United States of America, or of any State, county, municipality, or other taxing authority therein.

"The bonds will be the direct obligation of The Delaware and Hudson Company and the Trust Indenture under which they are to be issued will provide, among other things, that so long as any of the bonds of this issue shall be outstanding, the Company will not create any new mortgage or deed of trust, other than purchase money mortgages, upon any of its lines of railroad or branches, leaseholds or trackage rights, rolling stock or other equipment, or other railroad property, unless effective provision be made in such new mortgage or deed of trust that the bonds of this issue shall be secured by such mortgage or deed of trust ratably with any other indebtedness secured thereby, and that it will insert such provision in any such new mortgage or deed of trust.

"The Delaware and Hudson Company has paid dividends on its stock uninterruptedly since 1881 and since 1907 at the rate of 9% per annum. Its present outstanding capital stock amounts to $42,503,000 par value. The net earnings of the Company for the year ended December 31, 1921, after payment of all charges, except income taxes, amounted to $5,098,452.16.

"The issuance and sale to you of the said Fifteen-Year Five and One-Half Per Cent. Gold Bonds are subject to the authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission and to the approval by your counsel of all proceedings for the creation and issuance of the bonds.

"Pending the engraving of the definitive bonds, temporary bonds will be issued. Application will be made in due course to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange."

LOAN TO LIBERIA HELD UP IN HOUSE

Ways and Means Committee Decides to Make Further Investigation Before Acting.

OUR OBLIGATION IS SHOWN

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The House Committee on Ways and Means decided today to defer action on the Administration measure authorizing a loan of $5,000,000 to the Republic of Liberia. This decision was due to a desire to make further investigation as to the purposes of the measure. The bill is intended to enable Liberia to fund its foreign debt, amounting to about $1,600,000, and to get on its feet in a financial way. By its terms the present international commission which supervises Liberia's revenues would give way to an all-American commission.

Under the arrangement agreed to and which Congress is asked to sanction, all Government revenues and expenditures of Liberia would be directly under the control of the United States. This arrangement would place the United States Government in a position similar to its relationship to the government of the Dominican Republic. Part of the arrangement is the formation of a frontier patrol under American officers to insure the security of Liberia. The arrangement would continue until the foreign obligations of Liberia are liquidated.

Officials said today it was "all tommyrot" to allege that the proposed loan was to be made for the benefit of American banking interests which held Liberian Government obligations. On the contrary, it was explained, little of the external debt of Liberia was held in the United States. Only between $50,000 and $60,000 of Liberia's obligations are in the possession of American citizens. The loan which the Congressional measure seeks to have repaid, it was said, was held party in England but mostly on the Continent of Europe. The external debt of about $1,600,000 which it is desired to liquidate was in existence when a committee appointed by President Roosevelt arranged for its adjustment in 1912.

Obligation to Help Liberia.

That the United States is under a sacred obligation to assist Liberia was declared by a high official today. "The arrangement contemplated in the measure now with the Ways and Means Committee was negotiated between Secretary Hughes and a special Liberial commission which came to this country last year under the Chairmanship of Charles Dunbar Burgess King, President of the black republic. In advocating the loan Secretary Hughes sent to President Harding last July a letter containing a history of the loan negotiations as follows:

"Liberia being at war with the enemies of the United States, a loan credit of $5,000,000 was extended by the Secretary of the Treasury on Sept. 2, 1918, under the authority of the act of April 24, 1917, 'to authorize an issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend credits to foreign governments and for other purposes.' On Sept. 13, 1918, the Government of Liberia was notified of the opening of this credit and negotiations were initiated covering the terms and general purposes of the loan. The loan plan drawn up was intended to safeguard the money so advanced by the American Administration, of expenditures and collection of revenues, and also to provide for repayments of all moneys due other foreign creditors, which would mean their withdrawal from participation in the financial and other public affairs of Liberia. The Governments interested were advised of the opening of this credit. The loan plan for various reasons was not submitted to the Liberian Government until June 15, 1920, and the Liberian Legislature requested certain modifications. It was clearly understood, both by the Liberian Government and by the Government of the United States, at that time, that there was no question of a withdrawal of the offer of money already promised, the time when the credit should be made available merely depending on a satisfactory agreement as details of administration.

"Relying on the assurance that the United States was ready to enter into a definite agreement, the President of Liberia came to Washington some time ago with plenipotentiaries to conclude the negotiations. In anticipation of this journey, and at the request of this Government, the Liberian Government gave to him and his associates full and necessary authority to conclude the loan plan, and since that time it is understood they have been prepared to sign an agreement providing for the necessary administrative measures absolutely to secure the loan.

"It should also be pointed out, in appreciating the moral obligation of this Government, that the Republic of Liberia, which has her origin largely through the efforts of American citizens and at various times has sought the aid and counsel of this Government, decided, upon the entrance of the United States into the war, to make common cause with this country and the Allies against Germany. It was largely in consequence of this participation that the economic situation of Liberia was imperiled and that her Government was compelled to make appeal for aid. It was in these circumstances that Liberia was assured that the United States, her traditional friend, who had been generous in assistance to the other nations fighting against Germany, would come to her relief."

Secretary Hughes added: "In conclusion, permit me to observe that, apart from any question of our obligation or of any benefits accruing to ourselves, our people have always been especially interested in the welfare of Liberia because of the close relation which its prosperity may be deemed to have to all that pertains to the advancement of the negro race. The Republic of Liberia has been fostered through American interest and at this critical time in her history we have opportunity to give a practical expression of our continued solicitude and by coming to her aid in this severe exigency to promote permanent relations of the closest friendship."

To Vote on $15,000,000 Bonds.

Official notice has been mailed to the stockholders of the Union Bag and Paper Company that they will be requested to vote on the authorization of $15,000,000 new bonds at the annual meeting. Of this amount it is contemplated that not over $7,000,000 will be issued to take up outstanding bonds, pay off floating indebtedness and provide adequate working capital. Any future issue will be authorized only on the basis of not over 50 per cent. of the amounts expended either for new properties or improving existing properties.

BRAKE SHOE EARNINGS.

Equal to $4.41 Per Share in 1921, Against $13.08 in 1920.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company for 1921 reports net income of $1,320,371 after all charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $4.41 a share on the 148,854 shares of stock outstanding. In 1920 the company reported profits of $2,571,848, which, after the same deductions, was equal to $13.08 a share. The general balance sheet showed inventories of $2,649,304, against $4,880,130 at the close of 1920.

Joseph B. Terbell, President, in his remarks to stockholders said: "Competition is keen and our products are being sold on a narrow margin of profit. For earnings we are therefore relying on volume of business transacted rather than on a high percentage of profit. While there are many unfavorable features in the present situation, general exhaustion of stocks in hands of our customers should necessitate their now buying in amounts equal to their current consumption. This, we anticipate, will result in substantial increase in incoming orders as compared with 1921."

STEEL MERGER MAY COME.

Youngstown Shies at Rumor That Project Has Been Dropped.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 28.—Inquiry among steel men here today regarding rumors that a proposed merger of several steel concerns in this district had been abandoned, brought statements that there had been no announcement either official or unofficial that the project had been abandoned.

Walter Meub, secretary to James A. Campbell, President of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, said Mr. Campbell is the only person authorized to make statements, and he is now in Hot Springs, Ark.

THIRD AV. RAILWAY REVENUE

Total of $1,013,430 for February Is Reported.

The February (1922) report of the Third Avenue Railway system shows a total operating revenue of $1,013,430, an increase of $54,803 over the revenues of $958,627 reported for February, 1921. Operating expenses were scaled down $45,859 from last year, to $760,906 for the month, making net operating revenue $243,525 for February, 1922, as compared with $142,863 for February, 1921.

After interest charges and other deductions, the company showed a deficit for the month of $25,510, compared with a deficit of $141,937 for February, 1921. For the first two months this year a deficit of $3,200 was reported, compared with a deficit of $636,543 for the corresponding period of 1921.

N. P. TO SPEND $19,000,000.

Budget for 1922 Includes Purchase of 1,000 Freight Cars.

The approval of some of the minor projects of the Northern Pacific Railway Company will increase the company's 1922 expenditure budget to $19,000,000, R. W. Clark, assistant to the President, announced yesterday. This figure included 1,000 freight cars, it is stated.

The principal items in the revised budget include $3,092,000 for rails and track materials; $3,143,000 for bridges and trestles; $700,000 for automatic signal and interlocking equipment; $2,950,000 for passenger and freight cars; $1,300,000 for ballasting, and $2,500,000 to complete work carried over from last year's budget.

INDICATES GERMAN ASSETS.

French Finance Expert Says Insurance Reserves Might Be Seized.

PARIS, March 28 (Associated Press).—When debate was resumed in the Senate today on the question of budget expenses recoverable from Germany, Senator Fourment presented the Socialist view of the general financial problem, in connection with reparations, asking whether it was really necessary to keep 800,000 men under the colors. Was there not, he asked, a danger of giving France the semblance of militarism in the eyes of the world?

Senator Fourment advocated the suppression of bearer bonds as a preventive of fiscal evasion, and the creation of an international fund, with an international loan, for the payment of pensions.

Frederic Francois-Marsal, former Minister of Finance, said that the German Government could exact delivery of foreign securities from its citizens and that the Allies had a right to seize funds deposited in German savings banks and the reserves of German insurance companies. He declared that Germany could supply raw materials to the Allies, as well as coal, metals and potassium, or sell them abroad for the benefit of the Allies without depreciating the value of the mark.

U. S. Smelting Profits Less in 1921.

The U. S. Smelting and Refining Company for the year 1921 reports net profits of $1,455,572 after all charges, depreciation and Federal taxes. This is equal to $2.99 a share earned on the $24,317,600 preferred stock of $50 a share par value outstanding. In 1920 the company reported profits of $2,900,274 equal, after preferred dividends, to $3.44 a share on the $17,555,750 common stock of the same par value.

MISSISSIPPI JOINT STOCK LAND BANK — ARKANSAS JOINT STOCK LAND BANK

5% Farm Loan Bonds

Dated November 1, 1921 — Due November 1, 1951

Interest payable May and November 1, at Equitable Trust Company, New York City.
Denominations: $1,000

EXEMPT FROM FEDERAL, STATE, MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL TAXATION.

These bonds are issued under the Federal Farm Loan Act. Under decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, handed down February 28, 1921, the constitutionality of this act and the tax exemption feature of these bonds were fully sustained.

The bonds are secured by First Mortgages on improved farm lands at not exceeding 50% of the appraised value of the farm land and 20% of the appraised permanent insured improvements thereon. The loans are all made on farms in Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas.

The Policy of the above banks in placing loans is very conservative. For the Mississippi Joint Stock Land Bank the percentage of loans to total appraised value of lands and improvements is only 34.5%, while for the Arkansas Joint Stock Land Bank it is 35.2%.

The per cent. earned per annum on the average capital stock of these banks since date of organization has been greater than the average earnings of all the Joint Stock Land Banks. The present net earnings on the capital stock of the Mississippi Bank are 9.60%. The present earnings of the Arkansas Bank are 9.30%. They have never paid any dividends, preferring to leave their earnings in the undivided profit account, thereby strengthening the banks.

These banks have no mortgages in process of foreclosure, nor have they ever been forced to foreclose on one of their loans.

The stock of the above banks is owned by the Bank of Commerce & Trust Company of Memphis, Tenn., which is one of the largest financial institutions in the South and is the second largest bank in Memphis. The majority of the directors of these banks are also directors in the Bank of Commerce & Trust Company. This insures wise and experienced management of the banks. In addition the financial ability of the stockholders of the banks (i. e., Bank of Commerce & Trust Company) to pay any necessary assessment is assured.

These bonds are legal investments for all fiduciary and trust funds under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government and are acceptable at par for deposits of Postal Savings and other deposits of Government funds.

MOODY'S RATING SERVICE PROTECTS YOU

"Ten in a Town"

A CERTAIN prosperous town in Eastern Pennsylvania has twelve banking institutions. Ten of these Institutions make full use of Moody's Rating Service, in choosing their investments.

THE ten banks who made this uniformly favorable showing were the ten who made full use of Moody's Rating Service throughout the year.

THIS is just a concrete illustration of the way many thousand banks and trust companies are getting the protection which our Rating System affords.

EVERY bank which invests in bonds should know about this service. Make inquiry today and find out all about it.

The importance of plain humanness in bringing harmony into business relationships cannot be rated too highly. The pity is that too frequently when the door of a business office opens, the heart's door slams shut.

But you will find in The Importers and Traders National Bank none of the aloofness that keeps intimate understanding at bay. What you will find is a real "get-at-ableness" which has been brought down through sixty-six years of doing business banking on a human basis.

WHEAT PRICES VARY ACCORDING TO CROP

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Between a crop scare in the Southwest and weakness in foreign markets, the price of wheat fluctuated sharply within a range of 2¼@3 cents and closed with May ¾ cents lower and the new crop futures ½@¾ cents higher. Houses with Eastern connections sold on the bulges and bought July on the breaks, while the local element was alternately on both sides.

Sentiment is decidedly mixed, and, under existing conditions, erratic fluctuations are to be expected. There was nothing in the news from the Southwest that would induce heavy buying for a long pull, as there has not been sufficient growing weather as yet to enable accurate estimates as to the condition or the prospective loss in acreage.

Seemingly, the wheat that lay in the ground in parts of Western Kansas all Winter lost a good part of its vitality and the grain is not doing as well as it should in view of the recent moisture. The only dry spots are found in a few northwestern counties, but, nevertheless, reports of abandoned acreage are now coming from the western third of the State and from Oklahoma and Nebraska, with increasing damage claims from green bugs in Oklahoma. This is normally the season when weather and crop conditions become the dominating influence in the market.

With the exception of 200,000 bushels Manitobas sold to Norway, the export demand was disappointing. A Greek order for 1,500,000 bushels is expected within a few days. United Kingdom bids were out of line. Milling demand for cash wheat in the Southwest is slow, and Kansas City carried over 200 cars and St. Louis 100 cars of cash grain unsold, and cash prices in both markets were about unchanged.

Available stocks increased 162,000 bushels last week and are now 176,719,000 bushels, against 134,853,000 bushels last year. Gulf hard Winter was unchanged at 4¼@6 cents over Chicago May, latter for first half of May shipment.

The corn market is showing a heavy undertone, despite reports of a liberal export demand, with sales of 400,000 bushels, and unconfirmed estimates of 750,000 bushels having been sold, as Omaha, Milwaukee and other markets did a good business. No. 2 mixed is selling on track at about 2¾ cents under May, or nearly a carrying charge under the future, while May sold today at 3⅝ cents under the July, the full carrying difference being 4 cents, and some of the cash men look for the spread to go to better than 4 cents. A local house offered corn abroad at equal to about 1 cent a bushel less than the seaboard. Futures fluctuated erratically within a range of 1¼ cents and closed ½ cent lower.

Oats were firmer on wet and cold weather over the West, which is delaying seeding, and the close was unchanged. Norway took a cargo of rye at the seaboard, but trade in futures was slow, with prices ½ cent lower to ¼ cent higher.

Primary arrivals of wheat today were 668,000 bushels; week ago, 729,000; year ago, 535,000. Shipments were 413,000 bushels; week ago, 868,000; year ago, 547,000.

Corn receipts were 691,000 bushels; week ago, 777,000; year ago, 534,000, and shipments 564,000 bushels; week ago, 474,000; year ago, 609,000.

COMMODITY PRICES

Cash prices held steady in most of the staples listed below and dealt in in the local wholesale markets yesterday. The only variations reported were a fractional drop in electrolytic copper to 12⅛ cents, which matches the year's low, established little more than a month ago, and gains in butter and cotton, middling. The grains, groceries, provisions and and other metals were firm.

COTTON HOLDS FIRM IN NARROW MARKET

Unfavorable Labor News Offset by Strength in Grain and Securities.

While trading in cotton continued light, prices advanced slightly as a result of covering of hedges in old crop positions. A similar course occurred in Liverpool, indicating a disposition to shift obligations forward. Unsettled and colder weather forecasts were favoring conditions for crop preparation, though rain in Western sections was beneficial. Labor news, both domestic and foreign, operated against the market, but this was offset by the strength in grain and securities. The market displayed resistance throughout, with final quotations unchanged to 13 points higher than Monday.

Scattered covering of May hedges, with purchase of 2,000 July by a commission house, proved the extent of early trading. Prices were a few points higher on call, due to an advance in near positions abroad and rains in the South. First notice day on April contracts brought a few hundred deliveries on that position with enough May liquidation following the opening to cause a loss of all improvement. Throughout the morning quotations scarcely changed, the volume of business being the smallest since this season started, last August.

For an hour October was quoted at 16.70, without either buying or selling to change prices. Uncertainty over possible May developments on the one hand, with less satisfactory weather for planting on the other, served to produce inactivity. So little actual cotton changed hands in the South that even demand for hedges fell off materially.

Since March 1 the Inspection Bureau has classed more cotton than for over a year. More than 30,000 bales have been inspected, only about half of which has been added to the certificated stock, which now amounts to 76,000 bales. About 15,000 bales have been shipped out the last few weeks. This is taken to indicate that an increase in the local stock will be less than generally anticipated, considering the recent movement in this direction. It now remains to be seen what effect the May premium of over half a cent above July will have on shipments of cotton in the coming few weeks.

Larger exports of cotton goods were reported in trade circles, improved trade conditions in China being reflected by the demand for those goods, as well as other lines. Manchester continued to show a steady business from India and Far Eastern inquiry has improved both abroad and here. There were also evidences that curtailment in production has reduced stocks of certain lines to a point where any increase in demand would tend to stiffen prices.

The contract market, however, showed little activity during the afternoon. Room traders worked May up to 17.76, when a setback in New Orleans halted the upturn. May increased its premium to 62 points over July. Selling orders at 60 points over having been withdrawn. Fewer new crop contracts were traded in than usual. New Orleans operators took July contracts out of the ring, as differences between the two markets were only 8 points, compared with 128 points in May. Purchase of several thousand May in the last hour strengthened quotations to best figures of the session. Contracts appeared to be supplied by interests credited with holdings of new crop July and May contracts against obligations in July.

Commissioner's Report to Legislature Explains Closing of Five.

BOSTON, March 28.—Notwithstanding the closing of five Boston trust companies by him during the last two years, Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen declares that the financial and banking situation in Massachusetts is "fundamentally sound," in a statement submitted to the Legislature today.

The statement relates to the closing of the Hanover, Prudential, Cosmopolitan, Fidelity and Tremont Trust Companies, and includes a survey of the events which led the Commissioner to take them over and of the conditions which the liquidation of the institutions disclosed. The Commissioner describes the situation that led up to the closing of the companies as follows:

"A small group of Boston trust companies, controlled by men who lacked the ability, the training, and in some cases, the moral character requisite to the proper administration of a bank, were so glaringly mismanaged, and in such an unsound condition, that the most drastic of actions became necessary in order to quickly avert a situation which was inviting a financial crisis in the City of Boston.

"Regettable as were the conditions which existed in these trust companies, and grave as was the effect which the closing of them has had upon our community, it must not be forgotten that the financial and banking situation in Massachusetts is fundamentally sound; and that the officers of our banks are now, and with few exceptions have been, men who regard their duty as a public trust and execute that trust with full recognition of their responsibilities. Five trust companies have been closed by the Commissioner of Banks, but under his supervision there were 664 banks doing business on Oct. 31, 1921, with assets of $2,608,283,694.92.

"The situation disclosed during the last two years clearly emphasized the weakness in the present banking laws, especially with regard to lack of penalties for violations. The Commissioner in his annual abstract, previously submitted, called attention to this fact and recommended legislation providing severe punishment for wrongful and illegal acts of bank officials."

SEES WAGNER SETTLEMENT.

Receiver Says Broker's Creditors Are Responding.

John S. Sheppard, receiver for the bankrupt brokerage firm of E. W. Wagner & Co., issued a statement yesterday regarding the status of the proposed settlement with the creditors of that firm. Mr. Sheppard said that although the large task of sending out the plan of settlement and statements of accounts of all creditors had not been entirely completed many creditors had responded favorably. He added that he believed when understood by the creditors that the settlement would be accepted by them.

Mr. Sheppard again emphasizes the disaster he foresees if the settlement is not accepted, commenting on the long and expensive litigation which undoubtedly will ensue if a strict administration of the estate through litigation is attempted.

American Shipbuilding Co. Votes 20 Per Cent.

The Directors of the American Shipbuilding Company, following a special stockholders' meeting held yesterday, declared an extra dividend of 20 per cent. on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. The dividends are payable April 24, to stock of record April 10.

At the special meeting the stockholders approved the plan of exchanging the preferred stock for common stock and ratified an increase in the common capital from $15,000,000 to $15,500,000. This plan was approved by the Directors several months ago.

Figures on Retail Sales.

Some wholesalers yesterday found it difficult to reconcile the figures on retail sales put out by the Federal Reserve Board with the slow buying of the stores. It has been a matter of common knowledge, as the wholesalers contend, that the first quarter of the year has failed to furnish the expected business. Making all due allowance for the great number of small orders received in the wholesale trade, it is felt, nevertheless, that the total fell quite short of what was done last year in the same period.

Many Small Clothing Orders.

The wholesale clothiers find that, as the season draws near to Easter, the number of small orders is increasing. The condition is similar to that of last year, when many of the manufacturers were forced to buy additional woolens in order to produce merchandise required at the last moment by the stores. The increase of mail business just now is an especially noteworthy feature. The demand is quite largely an inquiry for sports wear. The popular price range is between $35 and $50 at retail.

Goods Are Plentiful.

Woolen buyers find no lack of goods in the market at present, and claim to be able to buy all they require at the opening prices. This is rather opposed to the impression which existed previously that there might be some difficulty in placing further orders at the desired lines, such as fancy-back overcoatings. As far as the staple branch of the industry is concerned, it was stated yesterday by one buying representative that the near future would probably see a closing down of some of the leading worsted mills, even within organizations that have been otherwise successful.

Gray Goods Show Little Life.

Little life was shown in the local market for gray goods yesterday. Reports concerning 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths had it that the goods could be bought as low as 7¼ cents, but apparently the best that was done on them was 7⅝ cents. Some fine-yarn lots were withdrawn from the printcloth market for the time being. Sheetings for the domestic trade were without feature, with 8 cents still the price of 37-inch 48-square, four-yard goods. Some good shootings are for export were put through in certain quarters of the market. Fine-yarn goods and specialties reflected the dullness of the rest of the market.

Waist Makers to Meet Friday.

At noon on Friday will be held at the headquarters of the United Waist League of America, 29 East Thirty-second street, the first of an interesting series of luncheon meetings that will be open to both active and associate members. The purpose of these meetings is to afford the members an opportunity of discussing trade problems in an informal way with a view to working out the solutions for which they may call. No formal program will be presented at Friday's meeting, but Executive Director M. Modessohn hinted yesterday at an interesting surprise for those who attend.

Want Silk Hosiery Shipped.

The effect of the warming-up of the weather has promptly become apparent in the hosiery trade, not only in the number of requests for prompt shipment of the goods due on orders, but in the placing of immediate business. A fine range of goods is wanted, but however many of the manufacturers were forced to buy additional woolens in order to produce merchandise required at the last moment by the stores. This is more especially true of the higher-priced goods. As a result of the placing of duplicate business some mills are understood to have their production about covered for the Spring season. There has been no change of late in the color demand.

To Show Summer Hats on April 17.

The week of April 17 has been adopted by the Trade Development Committee of the Eastern Millinery Association as the time for the simultaneous showing of leading lines of hats for Summer wear by leading concerns in the wholesale trade. The movement is part of the campaign for four millinery seasons a year that was started some time ago by the Retail Millinery Association of America. The success of the Summer hat showing held last year was such as to cause its repetition during the period mentioned. The time chosen by the committee was thought best for the purpose inasmuch as there is always a considerable number of out-of-town buyers in this city right after Easter.

Failures in the Needle Trades.

A complete review of the failures in the textile jobbing and cutting-up trades during 1921 has been issued by the National Credit Office, and shows there were 90 insolvencies. The records were obtained from all possible sources. The total liabilities are $58,000,000. A comparison of the various trades shows that the failures were heaviest in the waist, dress and costume industry, with 145; men's clothing manufacturers and men's wear woolen jobbers came next with 109. The failure record for last year showed a well-defined movement of decreasing insolvencies from January to June and an increase from the latter month to December. In January, 1921, there were 71 failures, and each month showed a decrease to June when there were but 43. The list grew in each of the next six months, until 154 was reached in December.

Silk Crop Estimate Faulty.

One of the largest raw silk export houses, accustomed to furnish authoritative crop estimates, has put out a new calculation for the season which indicates by a wide error in its first figures. In December the available supply for the silk season was put at 265,000 bales, not including the stocks of the silk Syndicate. This has been revised upward to 345,000 bales, excluding the 67,000 bales held by the Silk Syndicate, or a total of 207,000 bales. The error, therefore, has been 42,000 bales. Other estimates have also been upset, and the amount of silk already delivered to Yokohama surpasses, it is pointed out, the amount which many Japanese claimed would not be received in the entire season ended June 30. Until it is possible to have an actual field survey by disinterested agents, the trade here is hopeless of getting fair crop estimates.

Some Tricks That Are Tried.

Several tricks that women have tried lately to put over on local stores and shops, via the credit office, are contained in the latest bulletin which the Associated Retail Credit Men of New York City, Inc., have issued to the members. Attention is called to a woman whose practice it is to watch for the opening of new shops along Fifth Avenue and ask for accounts. On them she will subsequently prove worthless. She is said to present a very dashing appearance, and to be always accompanied by a dog. She is known to have used at least three names so far. Another shopper, whose name and address are given in the bulletin, apparently opened accounts with various stores chiefly for the purposes of getting goods sent on approval. A third woman is reported to be seeking trade discounts to which she is not entitled by claiming that she is a decorator and having charges made in the name of one of whom she was once a client.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Albert Bosman, formerly with Weissman & Kay and the Mase Bros. Fabrics Corporation, has opened up a silk department for Levy & Anspach, importers and jobbers, at 108-110 Fifth Avenue.

Arthur Levy, who was merchandising manager for L. P. Piaut & Co., Newark, is now connected with the Munser-Mann Co., Inc., resident buyers, 270 Seventh Avenue.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Knit Trades Association will be held at the Hotel Astor on April 19 and 20.

Milton Lichtenstein of Milton Lichtenstein & Co., commission resident buyers, leaves for Europe on April 11 and will establish offices in London and Paris.

Major General O'Ryan will address the members of the Lions Mid-town Club next Thursday on transit problems, at the Hotel Martinique. The club is interested in civic work.

NO RECEIVER NAMED.

United Liberty Case Sent to a Referee—Buffalo Firm Not Involved.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Although denying a motion for the appointment of a receiver for the United Liberty Company, Federal Judge Carpenter today ordered the case referred to a referee in bankruptcy. It was charged that the company had acted as a bank for foreign residents, although it had been incorporated to do a furniture business.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"HICAGO, March 27.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed here against the UNnion Liberty Company, whose operations are said to extend all over the world, and whose clients include a great many Poles and Lithuanians. The company maintained private banks in several localities, and engages in stock-selling operations. One branch is in Windsor, Canada, and another in Warsaw, Poland.

Another bankruptcy suit against the same firm was filed in Buffalo, N. Y., last Saturday. Liabilities are said to be $225,000 and assets $150,000."

The company is a subsidiary of the Union Liberty Company of Chicago, but is incorporated separately under the laws of the State of New York, and operates the largest wholesale grocery house in Western New York, formerly owned by S. Lipperichs. We have had our attorneys, Kent, Cummings & Means, investigate the paragraph of your article reading, "Another bankruptcy suit against the same firm was filed in Buffalo, N. Y., last Saturday," and they have been unable to locate any records either in Bankruptcy Court or in the District Court of Buffalo, substantiating your assertion. We have been besieged with telegrams from numerous manufacturers of food products from whom we are buying at the present time relative to press reports that an action in bankruptcy has been commenced against this company.

The only action brought was taken in Chicago against the Union Liberty Company of Chicago, and no action of any nature has been commenced against this concern.

ADDRESS BOX S 57 TIMES.

AIDING COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Another Function Added to Activities of a Trade Association.

Another development in the possible functions of a trade association was brought to light yesterday by A. F. Allison, Secretary of the International Association of Garment Manufacturers. Mr. Allison announced that he has just sent out a questionnaire on the subject of "Overall Selling Methods," in order to supply information requested by Howard Brody, a senior in the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance of the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Brody has chosen that topic for his senior thesis.

Professor Herbert W. Hess, head of the Wharton School, in a letter thanking the association for its co-operation in aiding Mr. Brody to obtain data for his thesis, expressed the hope that in the future other students might be similarly benefited by being permitted to examine records compiled by the association.

The questions asked of the members, to be used by Mr. Brody in his thesis, are: Do you sell to retailer, jobber, or direct to consumer? Do you employ salesmen? Do you do an exclusive mail order business? Do you pay your salesmen on commission, straight salary or a combination of both? Do you sell other lines besides overalls? Do you employ specialty salesmen for your overall lines? Do your salesmen carry other lines besides overalls? Do you employ side-line salesmen? Do you have a sales manager? Do you give selling talks to your salesmen? Do you have sales conferences? Is your distribution large enough to warrant the above two? Is your distribution local or national? Do you do any advertising? Do you have your own trade-name for your garments? What mediums do you use for advertising? Do you make a union-made or non-union garment? Do you bring out the above fact in advertising and selling? How many different numbers of men's or boys' overalls do you make? Does your trade demand all these numbers? Have increased freight rates had any effect on your sales?

VIENNA, March 28 (Associated Press).—Austria is rapidly developing a serious industrial situation, threatening to revive the political controversy which has been latent since the ultimatum of Lieut. Commander Edward H. Young, the British controller, that British credit was contingent upon the retention of the Schober Ministry. Unemployment is steadily increasing, and at the present time more than #100,000 craftsmen are out of work, while the advance in the cost of living goes on unchecked.

Starting from internal causes, the industrial situation suddenly became worse by the decline of the German mark. The newspapers says that foreign buyers are transferring their orders to Germany, as Austira is unable to meet German prices.

Without a working majority, the Government is faced with determined opposition and is unable to accomplish anything. The Socialists, supported by various workers' organizations, are demanding an immediate increase in unemployment pay, the initiation of State works and the placing of State orders on a large scale.

Partisan feeling is running high. The Socialists have prevented by physical force several Conservative meetings. The publication of the plan of the Vienna Conservatives to form a sort of armed home guard, to prevent any attempt by the workers to gain their end by force, has not served to allay the unrest. Talk of early elections has been revived.

MILK TO GO DOWN A CENT.

Price Next Month to Be Lowest April Rate in Four Years.

The consumers will get their April milk 1 cent a quart lower than in March, bringing the price down to the lowest April level in four years, according to an announcement by P. D. Fox, President of the Borden's Farm Products Company. Grade B bottle milk in April will be 14 cents a quart; Grade A, 17 cents a quart. Last April the prices were 1 cent a quart higher.

"There was a reduction of less than half a cent a quart in the dairymen's price to us," Mr. Fox said last night. "We are able to pass on a full cent to the public, in conformity with the Borden policy of giving every possible price concession as soon as possible, because of material savings achieved through increased efficiency."

MARCHING ON VLADIVOSTOK.

Merkuloff Forces Reported Unable to Resist Chita Forces.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Troops of the Far Eastern Republic are advancing steadily toward Vladivostok, "pursuing the demoralized and completely defeated bands of the Merkuloff troops," according to a cablegram received today from Chita by the Washington office of the Balta, the official news agency of the republic.

The message adds that the Far Eastern Government has delivered a note to the Japanese Government declaring it regards the agreement establishing a neutral zone along the railroad lines between Vladivostok and Usauri as having been annulled, "as it was violated by the Japanese command" when "they permitted armed Merkuloff bands to cross the neutral zone in December in order to take Khabarovsk."

The alleged Japanese action, the note contends, gives the Far Eastern Government "the right to send troops across the neutral zone for the purpose of finally dispersing the Merkuloff bands." The cablegram describing the Merkuloff force as "incapable of resisting the army of the Far Eastern Republic" asks "their only hope is Japanese aid."

"By March 25," the message adds, "the armies of the Far Eastern Republic occupied stations Iman and Usauri and had advanced about 275 miles south from Khabarovsk."

SCHOOL EDITORS APOLOGIZE

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., March 28.—Harry K. Schauffler or Kansas City, Mo., editor in chief, and Herbert T. M. Brune Jr. of Baltimore, managing editor of the humorous edition of The Williams Record, the appearance of which last week was followed by the suspension from college of most of its staff of thirty students, today apologized for the inclusion of objectionable features in the issue. The apology made through the columns of the regular edition of The Record said the student officials regretted deeply that the reputation and glory of Williams should be dimmed directly or indirectly by the humorous issue.

Sproul Confers With Harding.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, on leaving the White House today after a conference with President Harding, said he had talked over some official business with the President and that Pennsylvania politics had also been mentioned. He returned to the White House later as a luncheon guest of the President and Mrs. Harding.

GOODS IN CUBAN PORTS.

The undelivered merchandise held in bonded warehouses in Cuban ports has been granted a further extension of 120 days for clearance before any forced sales for the payment of customs duties are begun. This was decreed by President Zayas early in the month, according to a telegraphic dispatch received at the Department of Commerce from Chargé d'Affaires Cable at Havana, and responds to the protest lodged by Washington against the sale of undelivered goods early in April.

The invoiced value of the undelivered goods now holding in Cuban ports is estimated at over $60,000,000, a large part of which is reported to have been shipped by American merchants, but who have not yet been able to effect a settlement with their Cuban customers. The decree just issued grants the shippers of these goods assurance against forced sales for customs charges until July 6, but requires that they shall remove the goods from the bonded warehouses within that time, either by reexportation to the point of origin or by agreement with the consignee for payment of duties and entrance for consumption into Cuba.

The situation is somewhat complicated by the fact that, in the decongestion of the Cuban ports over a year ago and the hasty consignment of the undelivered goods to a large number of bonded warehouses, the exact location of particular shipments had not been carefully recorded.

Through the intercession of the American Chargé d'Affaires and the commercial Attaché at Havana, the Cuban Government has granted the insurance underwriters, involved in the major part of these shipments, the privilege of carrying through a thoroughgoing inventory of the goods stored. Locating the particular packages and identifying the shippers and consignees are regarded as the first essential steps before re-exporting or sale. Representatives of the underwriters have started this work, and the first lists are beginning to come through. The American exporters will be notified by the Department of Commerce when their goods are found, and will be urged to arrange for their disposal so as to prevent forced sales.

FIGURES OF SHOE INDUSTRY.

The production in this country of 25,173,457 pairs of boots, shoes and slippers, exclusive of the rubber variety, during January indicates that the manufacturers were preparing for the customary heavy buying of the Spring season, according to A. B. Butman, Chief of the Boot and Shoe Division of the Commece Department. The January production shows an increase over December of 3.1 per cent. and over November of 6.7 per cent. The production of January 1922 exceeded the average monthly production of 1914 by 3.2 per cent. and was only 9 per cent. less than the average of the peak year of 1919.

The exportation of 328,816 pairs of boots, shoes and slippers during the same month represented 1.3 per cent. of the manufactured output. During the pre-war year of 1914 the exports of January constituted 3.6 per cent. of the average monthly production and during the post-war boom period of the export trade beginning in 1919, the January boot, shoe and slipper exports represented 6.9 per cent. of the average monthly production of that year.

Japanese Mountain Climbers Lost.

TOKIO, March 28.—Four students who set out to make an ascent of Mount Tateyama, in Northern Japan, have been missing for ten days. Efforts by searching parties to locate them have been fruitless, and it is feared they lost their way and were frozen to death in the recent storm. All the students were members of prominent families.

Typhus Patient Is Recovering.

A case of typhus fever was reported by the Health Department yesterday. The patient is Harry Kurzmann, a 29-year-old cloakmaker, who lives in East 109th Street. He was taken ill on March 13. Kurzmann came from Russia and has lived in this country ten years. His home has been fumigated and the patient is recovering rapidly.

AUCTIONS.

UNPRECEDENTED FORECLOSURE SALE OF AUTOMOBILE TRUCKS

Facing the Most Stupendous Sacrifice in Automotive History.

Over one hundred and ten auto trucks of all sizes and capacities to be disposed of under foreclosure.

VAN TASSELL & KEARNEY, Auctioneers, have been authorized by one of the most prominent financing companies in this country to sell at public auction unreservedly to the highest bidders a tremendous collection of auto trucks which were seized all over this territory under foreclosure proceedings, and which it is absolutely imperative to liquidate at once. They have GOT to be sold and dispersed.

It has been decided, therefore, to hold three auction sales on three successive Wednesdays until all the trucks are sold. The first of the series will take place

LATEST DEALINGS IN REALTY FIELD

DEAL INVOLVES $1,200,000

Apartment house trading continued brisk in the realty market yesterday, the largest deal amounting to $1,200,000 and involving the Adelphi Theatre, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Eighty-ninth Street, and the Leslie Court apartments at the southwest corner of Broadway and 137th Street.

The theatre which includes a three-story business building adjoining the two fronting 400.8 feet on Broadway and 132 feet on Eighty-ninth Street, was recently purchased by J. Adolph Mollenhauer, identified with large sugar interests, and has now been bought by the Donovan Estates, Inc., through Nassoit & Lanning.

As part payment the corporation gave Leslie Court, a six-story structure on a plot fronting 100 feet on Broadway and 132 feet on 137th Street. It was valued at $400,000 and returns an annual rental of approximately $50,000. Purchase of this property by the newly formed Dobeas Realty Corporation, representing clients of Morrison & Schiff was reported in yesterday paper.

Buy Apartment House Site.

As a site for a nine-story apartment house the Mandel-Ehrich Corporation, composed of Henry Mandel and Seward W. Ehrich, has purchased a plot 50 by 100 feet on the north side of Eighty-fourth Street, seventy feet west of Madison Avenue.

Preliminary plans are being prepared by John Sloan, architect. The seller is the Mid-City Realty Corporation, Henry G. Barbey, President, and Alfred Seton, Vice President, which owned it for twenty-five years.

The property adjoins the large Hoffman estate dwelling just purchased by E. L. Doheny, Jr., of the Mexican Petroleum Company, for around $300,000. The Brown, Wheelock Company, Inc., negotiated the sale.

The six-story apartment house at 26 to 32 Carmine Street, was sold by Fregiglia & Lotti, as brokers, for David Silverstein to the Demarten Realty Company.

The Williams-Dexter Company sold the five-story tenement at 74 and 76 West Ninety-seventh Street, through Leonard Morgan & Co.

This property is located on the southeast corner of Ninety-seventh Street and Columbus Avenue and contains six stores and twelve apartments.

Harry Cahn, operator, purchased from Abraham Rubin the five-story new law apartment arranged for twenty families known as 104 West 174th Street, east of University Avenue, covering a plot 50 by 100 feet. McDowell & Byrne were the brokers who negotiated the sale.

The five-story double apartment and stores at 2,582 Eighth Avenue was purchased by Wollheim Brothers for all cash.

The estate of Martin B. Ochs sold 145, 147 and 149 East Fiftieth Street, three five-story apartment houses, on a plot 75 by 100 feet, to Samuel A. Herzog.

The buildings have been in the same ownership for fifty years and were sold for all cash. Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the deal.

MONEY REVALUATION WAITS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—The necessity of writing down the nominal value of some of the most grossly depreciated currencies of Europe has been one of the matters that have been before the allied experts conference, but THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns from well informed quarter that no definite recommendations were made and nothing sensational was done.

It has been long recognized, it was explained, that sooner or later some such measures would be necessary and they have been discussed in a general way at the Brussels and other financial conferences, but concrete proposals depend on many factors involved in the broad question of the stabilization of exchanges and these must be determined before demonetization schemes are formulated.

MAY END BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Colombia Instructs Minister to Make Overtures to Peru.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Instructions have been given by the Colombian Government, according to official information reaching Washington today, to Dr. Lozana, her Minister to Peru, to negotiate with the Lima Government with a view to settlement of the boundary dispute between the two nations. This would be a distinct diplomatic achievement and one making for peace in South America. The dispute has existed since 1829.

Peaceful relations between Colombia and Peru have never been completely established since they first achived independence from Spain, and war broke out between them in 1829. Since then disputes over boundary demarcation have broken out repeatedly and twice within the last twenty years the two republics have been close to war.

An Advisory Commission for Colombia has been studying the situation for three years, according to today's dispatch from Bogota, and its findings have been forwarded to Dr. Lozana, at Lima, to serve as the basis for treaty proposals to Peru.

The territory concerned includes the river valleys of the Caquata, Putumayo and the Amazon. Colombia has regarded an outlet through the Amazon as of prime importance and would be likely to offer concessions in the other disputed districts if she could gain this.

Coast Guard Boards Craft, but Crew Refuses to Leave.

CAPE MAY, N. J., March 28.—The four-masted schooner Clara H. Donnell, Captain H. Neaves, went ashore in a thick fog and driving rain early this morning on Townsend's Inlet Bar, fourteen miles north of this city.

The Coast Guard patrolman from Avalon said that he saw rockets shot up from the schooner. He quickly notified Captain Robert H. MacArthur of the Avalon Coast Guard Station, who called the crew to quarters and launched the boat, despite the heavy seas running.

The Avalon crew boarded the menaced craft, but Captain Neaves and his crew refused to desert the schooner.

Captain J. J. Hutson of the Coast Guard cutter Kickapoo was notified, and rushed to the assistance of the Donnell. Captain Hutson will endeavor to pull the craft off the bar at high water.

McMasters Leads in Dakota Poll.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 28.—Governor W. H. McAllister, majority Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, was leading George W. Egan, Independent, by 10,520 votes when 370 precincts out of 1,711 in the State had been heard from this evening. The returns to the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader gave McAllister 36,437 and Egan 15,908.

BRONX BOROUGH SALES.

Trading Indicates Demand for Apartments by Operators.

The St. John Realty Company sold to Jacob Lipschitz the five and one-half story new law apartment house at 198 Brook Avenue on a lot 41 by 90 feet. Julius Traitner was the broker.

The same broker sold for a Mr. Humbeutel the four-story double flat at 458 East 144th Street on a lot 25 by 100 to a client for investment.

Cahn & Cahn, operators, purchased from H. Harris 374 East 159th Street, near Melrose Avenue, a six-story new law apartment house on plot 50 by 100.

The five-story new law apartment house on the southwest corner of Cambrelling Avenue and East 180th Street was sold by F. DeCandido to a Mr. Neglia. The plot is 50 by 100, and the property rents for about $11,000 per year and was held at $68,000. G. Tuoti & Co. were the brokers.

Fred Oppenheimer, who recently sold the plot on the east side of Wilder Avenue, 325 feet south of Nereid Avenue, were sold by F. William Eggert for A. Desano to Q. Iannuselli.

Commercial Leases.

Mrs. May Byrne leased the three-story and basement building at 823 Lexington Avenue, between Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Street, for a term of fifteen years at an aggregate rental of $50,250, or $3,350 yearly. The lessee is Leonard H. Hardy of the London Interior Decorating Company.

As soon as possession can be had the lessee expects to make extensive alterations, putting in street level stores, parlor stores and small apartments on the upper floors. James Kyle & Sons were the brokers.

Butler & Baldwin, Inc., leased for a term of years the store at 807 Third Avenue for Robert Main to the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The Haggstrom-Callen Company leased for Rose Cahen the store at 2,173 Eighth Avenue, adjoining the corner of 117th Street, to Henry A. Dorfmann for a specialty shop.

Bert Warner leased to Hugo Heyman of the American Meat and Supply Company a 61-foot frontage in 2,503 to 2,507 Broadway for a term of ten years at an aggregate rental of $270,000, and leased to the J. H. Remick Company, music publishers, a store in 2,551 Broadway at an aggregate rental of $156,000 on a twelve-year lease.

Recent Buyers.

The buyer of 20 East Fifty-eighth Street, recently reported sold through the office of John Constable Moore, is M. B. Philipp, the owner of 18 East Fifty-eighth Street and the adjoining houses 9 and 13 East Fifty-seventh Street.

The newly formed Wiltshire Apartments, Inc., with M. and J. Lederman and H. H. Straus as Directors, is the buyer of the apartment house of that name at 604 to 610 West 141st Street, sold recently.

Operator Buys Church Property.

James L. Van Sant, the operator, purchased from the minister, elders and deacons of the First Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of West Farms the former parsonage of the church, located on the plot at the northwest corner of West Farms Road and East 176th Street. The size of the plot is 70 feet on West Farms Road and 150 feet on East 176th Street. The parsonage contains ten rooms and on the plot are a number of outbuildings. The property is located one block from the Tremont Avenue subway station. Henry Weil was the broker in the sale.

Suburban Deals.

Corina Rapp sold her estate containing fifteen acres of land with modern residence, garage, boathouse, &c. The property has a frontage of 1,500 feet on Lake Mohegan, near Peekskill, and was sold fully furnished. It was held at $125,000. The purchaser is Philip Samuels, a lawyer of New York. George Howe was the broker.

The Lewis H. May Company sold for Helen G. Cahen her private two-and-one-half-story stucco residence corner of Albemarle and Rugby Road, Cedarhurst, L. I., to Joseph Shedlin for occupancy.

Properties at Auction Today.

Bryan L. Kennelly, Inc., will sell today at auction at the Real Estate Exchange Salesroom the following properties: 247-249 East Twenty-eighth Street, two five-story tenements with stores; 84 Riverside Drive, a five-story dwelling; 38 West Third Street, a three-story brick business building, and the southwest corner Katonah Avenue and 239th Street, Woodlawn Heights, Bronx, a vacant plot 100 by 105.

Heirs Sell Riverside Drive House.

The heirs of the Sewall estate have sold the five-story residence, 24 feet wide, adjoining the southeast corner of Riverside Drive, at present leased to Andrew Mills, President of the Dry Dock Savings Bank, to a client for occupancy. The property was held at $50,000 and the brokers in the transaction were Bracher & Hubert.

Hospital for Bronx Block Front.

A six-story hospital will be erected on the south side of 188th Street, from Valentine to Tiebout Avenue, by the Hospital of the Bronx, owners of the plot, according to plans filed yesterday. The building will occupy a plot 47 by 235 feet. Dodge & Morrison, the architects, estimate the costs at $100,000.

Mme. Schumann-Heink Sells House.

Mme. Schumann-Heink sold her four-story English basement dwelling, on a lot 14 by 96.9 feet, at 123 East Thirty-sixth Street, to a buyer for occupancy. The property was held at $40,000. The Brown, Wheelock Company were the brokers.

First Sale of East Side Landmark.

A. E. Karscher sold for the estate of Joan Gardner to I. Kramer the three-story building known as Apollo Hall at 126 and 128 Clinton Street, on plot 42 by 100. This is the first sale since the original grant of the land to Joan Gardner in the eighteenth century.

Fifty-First Street Garage Sold.

QUITS RAIL LABOR BOARD.

Albert Phillips Resigns Because of Ill Health.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Albert Phillips, one of three labor members of the United States Railroad Labor Board, gave notice today of his resignation, effective April 15. He has been in ill health for several months and has been in California on leave since Jan. 1. He was an appointee of former President Wilson.

Mr. Phillips was formerly Vice President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and a member of Railway Board of Adjustment No. 1 under the Federal Railroad Administration.

The terms of three other original members of the board expire at the same time. Nominations for the new labor and railroad members are said to have been made to the White House by the unions and the roads. The new public member is nominated directly by the President.

The three members whose regular terms expire next month are J. H. Elliott, railroad member; A. O. Wharton, labor member, and G. W. W. Hanger, public member.

THE BROOKLYN MARKET.

Buying Small Private Houses for Permanent Occupancy.

The two one-family houses at 247 and 249 Ninety-third Street, Bay Ridge, were sold by John E. Sullivan and Edmund O'Connor, as brokers, to A. H. Carlson and J. Gustavison for occupancy.

Bulkley & Horton Co. sold 2,053 East Sixteenth Street, between Avenues T and U, a large detached two-family residence with garage, on a plot 40 by 100 feet, for the C. A. C. Construction Company to a client for occupancy.

The three-story brick dwelling at 65 Prospect Place West, between Second and Third Streets, on a lot 25 by 97, was sold by E. F. Newman, as broker, for Francis Lambert to a client for occupancy.

The F. C. Sauter Agency sold 19 St. Andrew's Place, a three-family brick dwelling, for Isador Taub to a client for occupancy.

Joseph McAleenan sold to Isadore Hahn two lots, each 20 by 100 feet, on the north side of Eighty-sixth Street, 287 feet west of Fifth Avenue. William F. Jones and Isaac Cortelyou were the brokers.

Private House Sales.

James H. Cruikshank purchased from Edward B. Flaherty and Eva M. Flaherty 147 West 139th Street, three-story private dwelling, between Lenox and Seventh Avenues, on plot 16.8 by 100. C. E. Hutchinson was the broker.

Moore, Schutte & Co. sold the two-family dwelling at 512 West 142d Street, on plot 15 by 99.11, for Rose Greenberg and Lillian Schwartz to a client for occupancy. The property was held at $20,000.

The Brown-Wheelock Company, Inc., sold for Charles W. Bowring the modern five-story residence at 160 East Seventy-fourth Street, on lot 15.9 by 100.5. The purchaser will occupy. The same brokers sold on this block the houses at 162 and 165 to Dr. Colin L. Begg and Arthur Wood, respectively.

Business Buildings Sold.

Shaw, Rockwell & Sanford sold for Max Levitt 2,094 Fifth Avenue, a four-story and basement business building, on lot 20 by 85 feet, to Hisdusar Aho.

William Luscher, dealer in phonographs, a tenant in the three-story building, 25 by 91.9, at the northeast corner of Third Avenue and 144th Street, has bought the property from Mabel Bernhardt.

VALUES in office buildings are relative. Every building has windows, elevators, service, equipment and all other requisites. Certain buildings stand out above the average, because in them each of these items has been carried to the highest point of development.

More windows, perhaps, and therefore more light; one or two more elevators than are absolutely necessary to handle the traffic; location a little more convenient; the equipment, the staff and the willingness to give a little better service—and, by virtue of these things, tenants of a higher character.

SALESMEN.

Commissions of $100 and Up.

Perhaps only once or twice in a lifetime do you have an OPPORTUNITY of the kind that this advertisement offers.

In the past six years, Piggly Wiggly, one of the greatest merchandising ideas in the history of American retail business, has established a steady, consistent record of remarkable growth and success. It is not an experiment. It is a proven, demonstrated SUCCESS, with over 600 stores doing a monthly business of more than $5,000,000.

These stores are principally in the South and Middle West. Naturally, the greatest possibilities for a chain system of retail grocery stores exist in the more densely populated cities of the East.

The Manhattan Piggly Wiggly Corporation purposes to operate a minimum of 300 stores in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Richmond and counties of Westchester, Suffolk and Nassau.

This territory includes the Metropolitan District, Westchester, Long Island and Staten Island, reaching a population of over 6,000,000 people.

THE BUSINESS BUILDERS

are conducting the campaign for financing the Manhattan corporation. ALREADY the Piggly Wiggly stores recently established in New York City have won the patronage of the sales-hoirboods in which they are located.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

FOR THE PRACTICAL CONSERVATIVE MAN WHO DEMANDS THAT A BUSINESS BE TANGIBLE AND REAL; WHO KNOWS HE CAN SELL WHEN HE HAS SOMETHING TO SELL THAT HAS RECEIVED THE ENDORSEMENT OF BANKS AND THE AMERICAN BUYING PUBLIC—SOMETHING THAT HE CAN SHOW HIS CLIENTS ANY DAY IN THE WEEK.

UNLIMITED EARNINGS

The work in the Financial Campaign is fascinating, and your earnings will be limited only by yourself, by the ENTHUSIASM, ENERGY and DETERMINATION you give to your job.

For the experienced salesman this is a rare chance. But, INEXPERIENCE IS NO BAR. The Business Builders is equipped and organized to train and develop its salesmen and the success of its method has been proven by the records of many men.

YOUR FUTURE.

Promotion to the many executive and managing positions in the Piggly Wiggly merchandising system will be made almost entirely from the financial sales force. These appointments will call for various abilities; no matter what your previous connections have been, they will receive weighty consideration at our hands in the matter of your promotion.

You will be engaged on a commission basis at the beginning. If you have had no previous selling experience, you EARN while you LEARN.

COME IN

and see for yourself why this advertisement offers you the OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFE TIME and why this Institution means so much to so many. Call between 9 A. M. and 5 P. M. to register for our meeting that explains your OPPORTUNITY. Ask for Mr. Wells in the Reception Room on the 12th floor.

SALESMEN.

We need men who have an earning capacity of $6,000 a year or better. We must have these by the end of this year. These men must become familiar with every phase of our business. They must learn from experience how to solve the problems that will confront their subordinates.

We cannot hope to find these men on the outside. They will come from within our organization—from the men whom we have thoroughly trained in our work.

HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO PREPARE QUICKLY FOR A HIGH SALARIED POSITION. YOU CAN NOW BECOME A PART OF THE LARGEST ORGANIZATION OF ITS KIND; ONE THAT REALIZES ITS SUCCESS DEPENDS UPON YOUR SUCCESS.

During the first weeks of your training you will have a chance to try out the work and will be paid on a liberal commission basis. THIS WILL PROVIDE YOU A SUBSTANTIAL WEEKLY INCOME.

This organization is engaged in the business of developing men into more competent industrial executives. Your work will be to sell its high-grade study course. THE ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN EXISTENCE.

COME TO US AND LET US HELP YOU BUILD YOURSELF INTO A SUCCESSFUL, HIGH-POWERED SALESMAN.

YOU NEED NOT HAVE HAD EXPERIENCE IN SELLING HOME STUDY COURSES. YOU NEED NOT HAVE HAD EXPERIENCE IN SELLING ANYTHING IF YOU HAVE AN OPEN AND INTELLIGENT MIND.

MEN WHO HAVE HAD THE ADVANTAGE OF A LIBERAL EDUCATION IN BUSINESS WILL FIND THEMSELVES PARTICULARLY SUITED FOR OUR WORK.

Call between 9 and 4 and see Mr. Dodge.

SALESMEN,
EVENING OR PART TIME.

Here are a few important facts which every man who is endeavoring to better his position should read:

The Business Builders is one of the largest institutions of its kind in America. It has more than one thousand men connected with it at the present time. Many of these men began their connection with us on a part-time basis and are now devoting their entire energies to this business. They do that because it PAYS them to do it.

The Business Builders trains men to sell. There are no tuition fees of any sort. The Business Builders also gives men an opportunity to earn substantial commissions while learning salesmanship.

If you want to increase your income, yet retain your present position, you can hardly afford to disregard this advertisement.

You will be engaged to sell the securities of a nationally known enterprise—one which every person who reads the newspapers will know about. You will receive a reasonable commission on all the business you do.

If this institution means "opportunity" for you, you want to know about it, and the only way you can know is by calling at our Main Office on the 12th floor, Monday or Wednesday evenings, between 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Come in and see for yourself why this institution "means so much to so many."

HOW ABOUT YOUR FUTURE?

Sooner or later every man who works for others is brought face to face with the problem of whether he shall continue to be some one else's man or whether he shall be his own man.

Every man in our organization is his own man.

Each is engaged in the cleanest business in the world, the rewards of which are limited only by the industry and intelligence he employs.

We have room for a few more gentlemen in our organization.

If you are a gentleman, have had some business experience, and are in the neighborhood of 30 years of age, our Mr. McWilliam will be glad to discuss the matter with you.

Those accepted will be given the advantage of a training course conducted by a faculty of successful, practical men who are willing to give new men the benefit of actual experience. Compensation entirely upon a commission basis.

LAST SOLDIER DEAD DUE ON SHIP TODAY

GEN. PERSHING TO SPEAK

Governor, Mayor and Congressional Delegation, Headed by Senator Calder, to Attend.

Impressive memorial exercises to mark the return of the last of the dead of the A. E. F. have been planned for Sunday afternoon, when the bodies of more than 1,200 soldiers will arrive this morning on the United States transport Cambral. The vessel will dock at Pier 2, Brooklyn Army Base, at the foot of Fifty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, and the services will be held there. Mayor Hylan telegraphed from Chicago yesterday a request that the inhabitants of the city display the national colors at half-mast in accordance with his proclamation of My 4, 1921.

The dead on the vessel are the last of some 45,000 transported to this country since the armistice, and the last that the Government will undertake to bring back. When the Cambral arrives this morning it will be greeted by the tug Vigilant, on board of which will be a reception committee composd of veteran organizations and headed by Colonel E. A. Simmons of the American Legion. The committee will include representatives from the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Spanish War Veterans, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Among the bodies on board the Cambral are many from the Twenty-seventh and Seventy-seventh New York Divisions. From among these one will be selected for the final honors which will be paid to the 45,000 war dead brought back. When the Cambral arrives 1,000 men from the Army of Occupation will line the rail as the transport takes the salutes of Fort Hamilton and Wadsworth, garrisoned by the Thirty-fourth Infantry, whose men, with bared heads, will line the parapets as the boat passes the fort. Flags of all craft in the harbor will be dipped in saute as the Cambral passes.

Col. E. A. Simmons Grand Marshal.

On Sunday a Congressional delegation, representing nearly a score of States, J. Mayhew Wainwright, Assistant Secretary of War, and General Pershing will be among those who will attend the ceremony. The Governors of New York and Connecticut have also signified their intention of attending the services.

The column will be formed at Thirty-eighth Street and Fort Hamilton Parkway, Brooklyn. Here will be gathered Colonel Simmons, the Grand Marshal, and his staff. The bands of the Sixteenth and Twenty-second Regiments, United States Infantry; a funeral escort consisting of hundreds of massed colors of the veteran organizations, an escort of honor of prminent army and navy officers, a firing squad, a bugler and attending clergy.

The flag-draped coffin of the soldier selected to be representative of the 45,000 dead will be on a caisson, beside which will walk six Brigadier Generals and two flag officers of the navy. These are: Brig. Gen. William Weigel, U. S. A.; Brig. Gen. J. W. Lester, N. Y. N. G.; Brig. Gen. Leo Pierce, U. S. R.; Brig. Gen. DeWitt C. Weld, U. S. R.; Brig. Gen. Charles I. de Bevoise, U. S. R.; Brig. Gen. Franklin W. Ward, U. S. R.; Captain C. T. Vogelgesang, U. S. N., Commandant, Third Naval District, and Commodore Robert P. Forshew, commanding the New York Naval Militia. The pallbearers will be accompanied by detachments from the army, navy, Marine Corps and National Guard.

Immediately behind the body will march General Pershing and the Assistant Secretary of War. The Medal of Honor men will follow. Among the organizations which will participate in the exercises will be troops from the regular army, the Twenty-second and Thirty-fourth Infantry, the National Guard, the navy and the Marine Corps.

The Congressional delegation will be headed by Senator William M. Calder of New York. Senator Calder and General Pershing will make the only addresses. Among the guests will be Archbishop Hayes; Maj. Gen. Harry L. Rogers, Quartermaster General of the army; Maj. Gen. R. L. Bullard; Colonel S. D. Moore, and Colonel George H. Penrose, Chief of the Graves Registration Service. Mayor Hylan, Commissioner Grover A. Whalen and a large delegation of city officials will attend.

HELD FOR MURDER OF TWO.

HOULTON, Me., March 28.—After being arrested on a farm eight miles from Benton Ridge, N. B., today, Benjamin Swimm confessed, according to Sheriff Foster, that he had shot and killed Harvey Trenholme and Trenholme's 18-year-old bride of two weeks. The Sheriff said Swimm declared he had acted in self-defense.

The girl had lived with Swimm for five months and they had told neighbors they were married, but Sheriff Foster said he had learned that she had been legally married to Trenholme. He said Swimm had refused to marry her, but became jealous after she had left him.

The shooting occurred at the Trenholme home in Benton Ridge last night. Immediately afterward Swimm shot himself but inflicted only a slight wound in the head. The Sheriff trailed Swimm by the aid of blood spots left in the snow. Swimm's revolver was found near the Trenholme home with four of the five cartridges discharged.

Swimm was taken to Woodstock, N. B., where he will have a hearing tomorrow on a charge of murder.

BABY EAGLE COMES TO PARK

The eagle cage in the Central Park menagerie became the home yestrday of a dark, almost black, American eagle. The bird is fully feathered, stands nearly two feet high and has a wing spread of nearly four feet. Visitors find it difficult to consider the bird a fledgling. It fell from its nest about two weeks ago on Little St. Simon's Island and was captured by Game Keeper Burt. The superintendent of the Island, Douglas Taylor, informed Chamberlain Berolzheimer, the owner of the capture, and was instructed to send the bird to the Park.

YALE CLASS VOTES HONORS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, March 28.—Malcolm Aldrich of Fall River was voted the most popular man of the Yale senior class as well as "most to be admired," "most versatile," and the member who has "done most for Yale," in the annual class ballot. Paul Crane, however, easily defeated Aldrich for the best athlete of the class, although Aldrich has been the only person on record to captain both a Yale baseball and football team. Crane had 133 votes to Aldrich's 66 as best athlete. Wells Root of Genoa, N. Y., who has been Chairman of The Yale Daily News Board, was voted the member most likely to succeed after graduation. Robert Solley of New York was voted the most original member, Albert Frost of Chicago the hardest worker and Robert Page of Madison, Wis., the most scholarly.

Tennis is the favorite sport to play, football ranking a poor third, with only 24 votes from the 300 members of the class. It is, however, the favorite sport to watch, no other receiving any considerable number of votes. English was voted the most valuable subject, with physics the hardest. Logic was voted easiest. Professor Chauncey B. Tinker was voted the most inspiring teacher. Princeton is the class's favorite college next to Yale.

PRINTERS AS CENSOR DEFIED

After Union Gives Conditions of Setting Attacks on Its Men.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 28.—Members of the Charleston branch of the Typographical Union employed by newspapers here have been instructed through resolutions adopted by the union to refuse to put into type anything reflecting upon any other member of the union unless assurance has been given that the member will receive ample newspaper space for his own defense. The resolutions were made public today.

The Charleston Daily Mail, printing the resolution, added a note in which it said that the paper would "continue to be edited as heretofore, a free press, by and under the direction of its owner without condition or censorship of any kind imposed by others."

The union resolution declared that The Charleston Mail and The Charleston Gazette "have loaned their news columns apparently to the conspiracy to inflame the public mind" against Frank W. Snyder. Snyder, a union member, drew adverse comment recently from a number of Charleston fraternal organizations for remarks he was said to have made at a labor mass meeting.

BABY WINS HIM NECKLACES.

Birth of Girl Brings Inheritance of Jewels to Father.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 28.—James C. Blum Jr., by becoming the father of a girl, has won the right to inherit two necklaces, one of diamonds and the other of pearls, valued together at $100,000. His mother, Mrs. Rosa Blum, bequeathed them to be his when his wife gave birth to a daughter.

Blum, who already had come into possession of the rest of his mother's $330,000 estate, brought suit last year to get the necklaces, because his wife had borne a son. He contended that that was sufficiently close to fulfilling the terms of the will, but the Court thought otherwise and dismissed the case. The will provided he should receive half the estate at 35 years of age, and the rest, except the necklaces, when he was 40.

The pearl necklace figured in the San Francisco courts last year when Superior Judge Thomas F. Graham ordered that it should be taken from a safe deposit box and worn once every thirty days to keep the pearls from losting their luster.

EGYPT—AN INDEPENDENT KINGDOM. The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL this week, in view of the restoration of full sovereignty to Egypt after 2,000 years devotes several pages to historic pictures of that interesting country, etchings well worth preserving. 34 vs. 66

Swift's Premium Ham and Swift's Premium Bacon are produced from only the best hogs. Many of the animals we buy do not furnish meat of Premium quality.

Since these are the choice cuts from the best hogs, cured and smoked in the best way, with scientific care and precision, they are naturally in great demand; but these cuts, with the loin from which pork chops come, represent only about 34 per cent of the live animal.

The remaining 66 per cent consists of the cheaper cuts, such as spare ribs, shoulders, trimmings, pigs' feet, lard, etc., and shrinkage in dressing and curing. Shrinkage is equal to one pound in each five, and has no value whatever.

That is why the prices of "Premium" Ham and Bacon and pork loins are higher than the price of the live animal.

Everybody wants them—and yet they are only about one-third of the entire weight. "Premium" Bacon alone is only about 8 per cent.

The great demand for the choicer cuts, and the smaller demand for the cheaper cuts, constitute the reason for the comparatively higher price of the one-third, and the lower price of the other two-thirds. (Some of the lower priced cuts sell at less than the per-pound price of the live animal.)

It is only by utilizing all possible by-products and exercising the utmost skill and efficiency that we are able to average a profit of a fraction of a cent a pound on all our business.

N. B. Some very delicious dishes can be prepared from the cheaper cuts.

THE cuff of this new shirt is made on the same principle as the VAN HEUSEN Collar. Wearers of the VAN HEUSEN Collar know that the curve and the fold of the fabric are woven into it. It folds itself. So does this new shirt cuff! Both sides are alike, and both sides are the right side! For the first time a shirt cuff has been woven to turn!

Fastidious dressers say that this new shirt is faultlessly correct. When the cuff is turned nobody knows it but the wearer—and he often forgets, for there is no sign of the "turn" in the appearance of the cuff. Like the VAN HEUSEN Collar it will not wilt or wrinkle. It is more comfortable than the ordinary soft cuff and better looking than the starched cuff.

Your dealer has the shirt in seven different styles of quality fabrics, all white, from $2.50 to $7.50. Each shirt bears the Phillips label inside the neck.
